Trespass and Damage

Matthew O'Brien Kilnafrehan summoned two men for trespass, abusive language and damage to fences

Mr. Williams, solr., appeared for the complainant.

Matthew O'Brien, in evidence said that on the 15th Nov last he saw the defendants on his land and taking stones from the fences. When he approached them and ordered them off his land they adopted a fighting attitude and one of them grabbed at the shot gun he was carrying at the time. He had two notices posted on his lands giving warning that trespassers would be prosecuted. He was having trouble with the defendants for the past 6 years over trespassing and ferreting on his lands. One of the defendants threatened aim on the public street. The dogs which the defendants had with them chased his sheep into other peoples land.

One of the defendants in evidence said that when O'Brien came up to them in the field he pointed the gun at him and that was why his brother grabbed the gun. I did not see any notices on that day.
The Justice said he could not allow this trespass to go on and he fined one of the defendants 10/-, with 10/- compensation and 10/- costs, and the other was fined 10/- with 10/- costs.

Occasional Licence
Mr. L. F. Lanigan, solr., made application on behalf of M. J.
O'Halloran, Main St., Tipperary, for an occasional licence on the occasion of a dance at the Tower Ballroom on 18th January

There being no objection the application was granted. Hours 12.5 to 3 a.m.

Censorship Of Publication Act
The Attorney-General at the suit of Supt O'Mahony, Dungar-van, prosecuted Mrs Catherine Wilcox, Mary St., Dungarvan, that she did sell or distribute two books namely "Boom Town," and "My Son, My Son," due sale and distribution of said books being prohibited by a Prohibition Order contrary to the Censorship of Publication Act 1929

Mr. A. R. Farrell, (Farrell & Morrissey solrs.) Dungarvan, appeared for Mrs Wilcox Sergt. Liddane, in evidence stated that in consequence of a complaint made to him he visited the shop of Mrs Wilcox on the 13th Oct. and as a result of his investigation he found on looking up the records kept that the books in question were out and in circulation. Mrs Wilcox immediately recalled the books and sent them down to him that evening.

In answer to the Supt Sergt.
Liddane, said that several other people had the books out on dates previous to that.

Justice—Is it a good book Sergeant?

Sergt.—I haven't read it, sir, (laughter) Mr Farrell held that the word distribute could not be applied to a single book which was only given to one person at a time.
He quoted the Act under which the prosecution was brought and said his client could not be held responsible.

In answer to Mr. Farrell the Sergt. said that Mrs Wilcox said she did not know the books were banned. He went through the books and found several pages torn out and those were the pages that contained the objectionable reading. She had not to his knowledge any other copies of these books. The books were not for sale. It was only a Lending Library Mrs Wilcox had.

Supt. O'Mahony claimed that the books was distributed according to his reading of the Act.
The Justice said he could not agree with the Supt and said that to make matters more clear, he thought the Act should be amended and after some legal arguments on this point the case was adjourned to the first court in March.

Some cases listed for hearing were adjourned until the next Court

FIANNA FAIL

Public Meeting In Dungarvan

A public meeting under the auspices of the Dungarvan Fianna Fail Cumann, was held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on last Tuesday night.

Mr P. J. Little, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, and Mr M. Morrissey, T.D., were the speakers, Senator Sean-Gould-ing was unavoidably absent.

Mr. James Curran, Harbour Master was Chairman and introduced the speakers to the meeting.
Mr. M. Morrissey, T.D., said the object of the meeting was to strengthen the local Fianna Fail Cumann in Dungarvan. He said he was delighted with the large attendance and particularly the presence of the ladies, whom he hoped to see in strong force in their Cumann in the future. The General Election said Mr Morrissey seems to be inevitable at the moment unless complete agreement can be come to between all the Parties in the Dail.
If that agreement is not forthcoming and the Government don't get the full co-operation of all, the election then would be held and it was up to them to get the Fianna Fail Cumann tuned up to be in a position to return the Government with a strong working majority again.

Let us speak plain about the whole matter, said Mr Morrissey. I want to assure you all that the Government has no intention of holding power without the consent and support of all the people and the co-operation of other political parties.
He said that while he realised that an election at the present time was uncalled for in the hard and difficult period we were going through, it is not the making of the Fainna Fail Government, but because the Opposition Parties want it. The Fianna Government has a record that it can feel proud of and from 1932 up to the present day both from an national and international point of view, our position has improved in many ways. Could we have our neutrality under the agreement of the Treaty if the Fianna Fail Party had not brought in a new constitution under which the oath was abolished and the ports returned to our charge.

Mr Morrissey then referred to the rationing scheme and said while many complained, he held that it was a blessing particularly for the poorer classes, as if rationing was not brought in the poorer section would stand very little change of getting anything in the line of clothes or other commodities. Our Minister for Supplies is receiving nothing for the splendid work he is doing but severe criticism is up and down the country. The Minister for Supplies said, Mr Morrissey is one of the most efficient Ministers we have and he deserves the best thanks of all for what he has, and is doing for our people.

Labour accused us of monied interests, that is not so, for I can say that our Government have always legislated for labour and only for the present war that would be proved by the various schemes and works that were to be started. We have to thank our present leader for the happy position we are in today and we must make sure that we will again return the one man—Eamonn de Valera—who is the only one that we can depend on to see us safely through and return him and his party with a strong working majority.

In conclusion Mr Morrissey referred to the Six Counties and said that the Fianna Fail Party were the only Party who were capable of uniting the Six Counties with the rest of Ireland. I hope and trust said Mr Morrissey that if an election is held that it will not cause any disunity in our ranks. (Applause)

Mr P. J. Little, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs in his opening remarks said that everybody seems to be convinced that the election is to be held. If the election is to be held he sincerely hoped that the people would put back a Party who will attend to all sections of the community.

Our national faith must be guided through thick and thin and by putting into operation the principles of Sein Féin, we must have self-reliance and not be dependent on anybody outside.

If Governments are to be judged by their records, then the present Government have every reason to feel that they will receive the support of the vast majority of the Irish people. Since 1932 they have done wonderful work and everybody knows as well as I do the splendid work done from a national and economic point of view. Since the advent of the new constitution our nationality has been safeguarded and our neutrality in the present global war is fully recognised. These are big matters to consider and we must thank Providence that we had a Party able to do these things. We feel that all our old friends who always gave us their support will again rally to Fianna Fail this time and return the present Government with a big majority to enable them to guide us safely through the present emergency.

Mr Little then spoke of the enormous difficulties we were going through and said that from a start of 20,000 acres, we have now a half a million acres of tillage, and our neutrality would have been useless if we could not feed the people. The four beet factories were giving us a very vital commodity, and the beet scheme though not all that could be desired, had very much relieved the coal shortage and have supplied the sheer necessities of the people.

One matter he would like to speak about was the Standstill Order. The Government only meant this as a brake and if wages were allowed to soar, the cost of living would rise to such proportions that it would be almost impossible for the poor people to exist. It was all very well for the brass hats of labour who are earning 25 or 26 a week to speak of the Standstill Order, but we had to take into consideration the poorer people, and we did it to prevent the cost of living going up by the vicious circle. They were only putting as it were road blocks in the way so as not to allow the cost of living to rise beyond the reach of the poorer section and that was the real reason for the Standstill Order. The cost of living did undoubtedly rise, but not in the same way as if wages were allowed to soar at will. He said that his Department had plans for a big scheme for laying underground cables after the war, the labour content of which would be 70 per cent. We are not forgetting labour and never did and we are preparing other big schemes to be put into operation after the war. We are going through difficult times and Mr de Valera has said time after time that the longer the war goes on the more dangerous will it become. During this coming election I hope there will be no bitterness between parties. We intend to take our courage in our hands and go to the people for their support as our Leader must have the fresh, active support of all.

Mr Little referred to recent references made by the "Irish Times" who seemed only to sneer at the political parties in this country. The people don't like the politics of the "Irish Times" when they speak of a Coalition Government, and their

LIGHTS ARE BADLY WANTED

EVEN though there is a big stretch in the evenings now the mornings are still very dark up to a late hour. At dusk each evening the street lamps light and remain lighting until midnight. In other words they are lighting as long as there is a chance of people being up and around. These lamps are maintained out of the rates, and the ratepayers should then be entitled to get the full benefit

This, however is not the case as we have heard many complaints voiced recently. The fact that there is darkness up to 8.30 a.m. now seems to be forgotten as is also the fact that people are on the go from 7.30 a.m. If they venture on the streets then they are plunged into a well of darkness and have to trust their luck for not being injured. Factory-workers and people who attend at early Mass should be facilitated more and we suggest strongly that the street lamps should be lighting from 7.30 a.m. until 8.30 a.m. until the mornings get brighter and the artificial lighting can be dispensed with. It is hard enough on these people to have to be about early besides running the danger of being seriously hurt in the dark

If our Councillors consider the workers and those others, we are sure that they can have this much done for them, and we hope to see the matter remedied without delay as each morning is a new source of danger to those who have to be out and about their business before 8 a.m. in the morning

Waterford Co. Board Of Public Assistance ESTIMATES MEETING

Mr D Coghlan, Chairman, presided at a specially convened meeting of the Waterford Board of Public Assistance on Thursday morning, Jan 14th, to deal with the estimates for the financial year ending on 31st March 1944. Messrs P Caulfield, D Foran, G Torpey, W Kenneally, and L A Veale, were present

Mr S. J. Moynihan, Co. Manager, and Mr M Flynn Sec attended

The Manager in a short address, said that the amount of his estimate for the ensuing year was £80,658. This made provision for several special items as well as the ordinary ones. The first of these special items was the provision of fuel for householders in receipt of Home Assistance during next winter, the second was the certain emergency increases in the wages of lower paid officials, and the third was the granting of extra Home Assistance next winter to very deserving cases. Mr Moynihan stated that the amount was practically the same as last year and that he would expect a debit balance at the end of the year, but that the Board would be in a sounder position than the previous year. He paid high tribute to Mr Flynn, Secretary, and to the staff, who did magnificently during a very difficult year in changing over to the Managerial System

Mr Veale alluding to the estimated amount for Home Assistance £24,800, asked if this was the same as last year or whether it showed any increase. Manager—I do not intend to

General Election

A Meeting will be held in TOWN HALL, DUNGARVAN, on Saturday, 23rd JANUARY, 1943, at 1.30 p.m., to plan the campaign.

Very important and urgent matters to be discussed, and it is the duty of every Farmer in the County to be present generally increase the amount as that would mean an increase in the rates

Mr Veale—Anyone getting 10/- last year would want 15/- now to meet the increased cost of living. Manager—There is provision made for very deserving cases

Mr Phelan the Assistance Superintendent said that there were 1,200 recipients of Home Assistance and the Manager stated that allowing 1/4 increase to each of these would increase the estimates by £3,000

Mr. Veale held that some increase was necessary.

The Manager said that it was better to grant really deserving cases an increase of 3/- or 4/- than to have a general increase of 1/- which was no good.

It was then decided to accept the Manager's proposal. Mr Caulfield—There is nothing to do now but to move the adoption of the report and estimate and I propose that it be adopted.

Mr Kenneally seconded and the adoption was moved unanimously.

The Next Meeting

Mr Caulfield said that it was unfair to expect members to come up again next Monday for the next meeting as the Secretary said that there was no business to do

It was decided that the meeting on Monday be not held

Vote Of Sympathy.

Mr L. A. Veale proposed and Mr Coghlan seconded a vote of sympathy to Mr Wm. O'Meara, Town Clerk, Dungarvan, and his family on the death of Mrs O'Meara

CAPPOQUIN NEWS

GRAND ENTERTAINMENT FOR WEST WATERFORD HUNT

We hinted last week that our local "Vesuvius," the Rowing Club, would, probably be soon again in eruption after a short period of inactivity, so we were not surprised to learn early this week that our prediction is about to prove true. The Rowing Club, in conjunction with the Committee of the West Waterford Hounds, has now arranged to hold a grand concert and variety entertainment in the Boathouse Hall on next Wednesday night, 20th inst., as well as a most interesting Question Time Contest in aid of the funds of the West Waterford Hunt, and both these attractive events should be generously supported, not only by all the people of Cappoquin, but also by all the leading sporting ladies and gentlemen in every district in West Waterford.

Valuable prizes for the Question Time Contest are being given by the Hunt Committee, and as the Contest will be open to teams of four from the Army, I.D.F., L.S.F., and the Hunt, this should provide a most interesting feature of the night's entertainment. We understand the Hunt is putting up an exceptionally strong team of gentlemen well-versed in legal lore from Dungarvan, but their undoubted intellectual attainments may be severely tested by the teams of "Hob-lawyers" which Cappoquin, Lismore, Sailerbridge and Belmont will also produce on the occasion.

The Concert promises to be an outstanding treat as all the leading vocalists and instrumentalists in West Waterford will be amongst the artists, while an appropriate finale will be provided by a grand Cinderella Dance until 2 a.m., which will follow immediately after the Concert.

It should be remembered that owing to the restrictions on motor cars at present, the West Waterford Hunt is not now receiving anything like the same measure of financial support which it had received in former seasons, so that the object of next week's entertainment is a most worthy and deserving one, as Mr. R. J. Mulcahy, Ardmore, the popular and sporting M.F.H. of this old-established pack, deserves every measure of support in his praiseworthy efforts to keep the fine Irish Sport of Hunting still alive in West Waterford in face of the innumerable difficulties which beset his path at present.

Mr. M. J. Sargent, Vice-President and Treasurer of the Rowing Club, Mr. Sean Bell, Hon. Sec. do, Mr. L. D. Dunne, Vice-Captain, do, and the officials of the Hunt Committee, are in charge of all the arrangements, so that Wednesday night should be a great night of sport in Cappoquin.

IMPORTANT AUCTIONS BY MR. M. F. WALSH, P.C.

On Thursday next, 2nd inst. Mr. M. F. Walsh, P.C., Auctioneer, on instruction from the Department of Lands (Forestry Section) will sell by public auction at Dromana, (Ballingown side), the huge quantity of 2,083 Larch Spars in lots of six and twelve, respectively.

As these spars are admirably suited for cart-making, shafts, ladders, fencing, and a variety of other useful purposes, there should be a very brisk demand for them on the part of the farming community, so we expect to see a very large attendance of bidders and some keen competition at this attractive sale which starts at one o'clock (S.T.) sharp.

On the following Wednesday, Jan. 27th Mr. Walsh will offer for sale for Mr. Thomas Hallinan, Ballingown East, Villers-town, his compact holding of 34 acres, held as a yearly tenancy from Mr. James Ducey, Ballingown, at the low yearly rent of 15/- payable on March 25th each year, the Poor Law Valuation being only £1 10s. 0d.

There is a dwellinghouse, with out-offices, covered with about 50 sheets of galvanised iron, and these will be sold separately, if desired.

A donkey with trap and harness, a donkey dray, tackling, fire machine, and other valuable articles are also included in the sale and as the holding comprises very good land, and the rent and P.L.V. are exceptionally low, this attractive property in the most fertile and picturesque part of famous Ballingown should find a ready purchaser at a good price on the occasion. See ads. for both sales in this week's "Leader".

OPENING OF THE SALMON-FISHING SEASON

The season for net-fishing for salmon on the river Blackwater will formally open on Monday morning, Feb 1st and the fishermen usually engaged in this hard and trying industry are already busy in completing their final preparations for the event. We have been informed that considerable difficulty is being experienced this year in obtaining the particular form of cord or twine used in the making and repairing of salmon nets, as this had been largely imported from England in previous years, but owing to war conditions, only a very limited supply is available at present.

This is an unexpected hardship for the poor fishermen, as "mending their nets" is one of the most essential features of their business before the opening of each season, but we trust they will be able to get over the difficulty so as to enable them to take part in the first "hauls," which are usually the best of the year.

Salmon are reported to be very plentiful in many of the Irish rivers this year, and we trust the same applies to the Blackwater because after a fairly "lean" season last year, the fishermen from Villersstown to Youghal deserve a more successful and prosperous time this year, especially as the price of salmon in the English markets has been considerably reduced from last year's figure.

It will be good news to the fishermen to learn that Messrs. J. O'Connor & Sons, Egg and Poultry Exporters, who proved such satisfactory buyers of their salmon last year, are again purchasing salmon for Export this year, and will pay the full controlled prices during the season so that this reliable firm should be well supported.

THE BACON FACTORY

The Cappoquin Bacon Factory celebrated its 34th birthday on last Saturday week, Jan. 2nd, as it was on Jan. 2nd 1908, it was first opened for the purchase of fat pigs here.

It was founded by the late Mr. R. H. ("Harry") Keane, afterwards Lieut-Col Keane, younger brother of Senator Sir John Keane, Bart., Cappoquin House, both being members of a distinguished family which for many years previously had been prominently identified with the industrial life of Cappoquin, as their late father, Sir Richard Keane, Bart., was the head of the prosperous "South of Ireland Wagon and Wheel Co.," better known as the Sawmills, while their cousin, Mr. "Fred" Keane, was the founder and head of the famous Foundry which had flourished for many years here on the site of the present Co-Operative Society's premises in Green Street.

The spirit of enterprise was, therefore, in "Harry" Keane's blood, and when the important Bacon Factory was opened by him on Jan. 2nd 1908, and which at once gave remunerative employment to large numbers of the young men and women of Cappoquin, he received the blessings and best wishes of all for the success and prosperity of his costly undertaking.

Mr. Keane's immense popularity, both in town and country, was the means of making the factory a huge success, almost from the start, and for many years it proved an untold blessing to his native town, not only for the large amount of local employment which it gave, but also for the hundreds of farmers, with pigs, who visited the town every week, so that every day of the week, except Saturdays and Sundays, were like "Fair Days" in Cappoquin.

After Mr. Keane's regretted and tragic death in Nov. 1925, his plucky and enterprising widow bravely carried on the business, and when his son, Mr. R. L. Keane, came of age, he stepped into the breach and took his mother's place, so that between the three members of the Keane family, the concern has been able to weather all the storms of widespread opposition and adversity until it was able to celebrate its 34th birthday a fortnight ago.

Through no fault of the present Management, business has suffered considerably since the outbreak of the present war, as it has with most of the older-established Bacon Factories in Ireland, owing to the introduction of the Quota System, which prevented it from killing little more than a fraction of the number of pigs killed in earlier years, while the decline in the number of pigs fattened in the country within the past year or two has also seriously hindered its activities of former years.

The fact that it is still going strong, is a very high tribute to the tenacity of purpose and business ability of Mrs. Keane, Mr. R. L. Keane, and the Manager Mr. Gillsple, and that it may long remain amongst us as a fitting memorial to the revered memory of its enterprising and generous founder, Mr. "Harry" Keane, is the fervent wish and prayer of all classes of the people of Cappoquin!

G.A.A. CONVENTION

The local Gaels can be depended on to have adequate arrangements made to ensure the comfort and convenience of the large number of delegates who will visit Cappoquin for the Annual Convention of the Western Division G.A.A. on next Sunday week, 24th inst.

HURLING MATCH AT CAMPHIRE

Should the weather prove favourable, a very interesting junior hurling match will be played in Camphire on next Sunday at 3 p.m. (S.T.) between the local team and Cappoquin, this being a return match for the one played here on Sunday week, when the Camphire Gaels sportingly travelled over 6 miles to play Cappoquin in their own stronghold.

Cappoquin won this bout after a good game, but the Camphire lads will have the advantage of being "at home" on Sunday so they should be able to put up a better fight against the runners-up for last year's Junior Co. Championship.

This will be Camphire's first year in the Divisional Championships, so they deserve every support, and we hope they will have a big "gate" on Sunday for a good send-off.

FIERCE WEATHER

As a result of the fierce rainstorms which prevailed over the week-end, a large portion of the hoarding enclosing the sportsfield has been blown down and broken, while the remainder has been considerably damaged and a complete new hoarding will be necessary before the sportsfield will be properly equipped for G.A.A. matches this year.

GONE TO ENGLAND

This week another batch of young men from Cappoquin left for England, while several others are only awaiting their passports to follow suit. Cappoquin has been severely drained of its young manhood during the past year, and if the present drain should continue at the same rate for another year, a very serious problem will arise owing to the acute shortage of labour which will be experienced in every branch of industry in the town and country.

PRESENTATION

On her retirement from Villersstown School Mrs. O'Keefe was presented with a chiming clock by past and present pupils.

Memorial Ceilidhe—The Ceilidhe under the auspices of the Republican Memorial Fund Committee was held in the Cinema Hall, Tallow, on Little Christmas night and was a great success, being attended by one of the largest crowds ever seen at a ceilidhe in town, large numbers attending from all the surrounding districts. The hall was gaily decorated, the floor in perfect order, everyone was in a happy mood so there were few dull moments, for it was a night enjoyed by all. The music was supplied by the ever popular "Erin go Brath" Ceilidhe dance band, Fermoy and it seemed to surpass all previous performances, and the ceilidhe was brought to a conclusion by the playing of the National Anthem.

We congratulate the ladies, they showed the men that they "did not mind the weather" on Sunday night, "bravo" girls.

Remembered—At Killwatermoy Church on Sunday last, prayers were offered up for the repose of the soul of Mr. Michael Baldwin, Moorehill, the anniversary of whose death occurs about this time, and for whom Masses were offered.

Ten-Mile Run With Aghish Hunt Club

FRIDAY, 1st JAN—CLASHMORE (BYE DAY)

"He's away!"—With a quickened wild beat of the heart Every horseman responds riding hard for a start. While back on the breeze with insistence is borne The clamour of hounds and the call of the horn. Wm. H. Ogilvie.

After a gale on Thursday and a pouring wet, wild night, it required some courage to turn out at Clashmore on Friday. The following was small, but those that did turn up enjoyed the rare felicity of a good hunt under rather unfavourable conditions embracing some nine or ten miles, though point lacked.

The first draw was Flavin's lawn which was blank. Hounds were then put into Maher's Bogs. An open grass country lay behind and there were at least a few of the field ready and anxious to sample it. "Mus-Reynolds" scented of the same frame of mind and he took followers at a strong gallop to Sleibheen. Turning left-handed he crossed the main road into Ballinamultina. When hounds had gone a few fields there was a check. The fox had turned back and it is always difficult to persuade a keen pack that he has done so because it is their natural impulse to give him the credit for having gone forward. The line was soon recovered and hounds went back to Sleibheen. Going at a slower pace they took much the same line as before back to Maher's Bogs. Having made a wide circle to the left hounds were beaten at Sleibheen where their fox got to ground. There were a few checks during the second part of the hunt.

Scent was of a volatile kind, which is a quick vanishing sort and has a habit of going "bang" like a burst wheel. Hounds were all the time fairly close on their fox and he was viewed several times. The third season bitches "Violet" and "Vanity" hunted particularly well. Those mounted were—Mr. M. Terry (who carried the horn owing to the absence of the Master), Mr. R. O'Keefe, Whipper-in, Mr. V. Bowen, Ballinaparka, Mr. N. Flynn, Aghish, Mr. T. Collis, "Melrose" Ardmore, Mr. J. Troy, Clashmore, Master Curran, The Glebe, do, Mr. J. O'Brien, Kereen. L. H. R. Reynolds—Thompson Sunday 17th—Clashmore 2 p.m.

(Continued from Page One) preaching will not have any influence on our people. The only thing that will decide whether we are to have an election or not will be the interests of the people. In conclusion, he said he hoped each and everyone would do their best. This is certainly a time for great good or evil to the country and we must consider very carefully our decisions in the coming election. (Applause) Mr. Morrissey said that before the meeting would end that anybody present could ask them any question which they would like to have answered and they would answer them to the best of their ability. The Chairman, bringing the meeting to a close thanked Mr. Little and Mr. Morrissey for their fine speeches and also thanked all present for their attendance.

Co. Waterford Committee Of Agriculture

A special meeting of the above was held at the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Thursday evening, Mr. M. F. Walsh, Vice-Chairman, presiding. Also present were—Messrs G. Torpey, Ml, McGrath, N. Sheehan, and D. Coghlan, Mr. D. Hurley, acting Sec., attended.

Lime Subsidy Scheme. A circular from the Department bearing on the above was read, and after a discussion, the following resolution was proposed by Mr. McGrath, seconded by Mr. Torpey—

"That we recommend the Co. Council to grant another 1d. in the £ for the Lime Subsidy Scheme to bring the total to 3d. as there is a prospect of some more kilns opening in the county."

Dublin Conference

Mr. Walsh gave an account of the recent Conference in Dublin with representatives from the other Co. Committees all over the 24 Counties. Mr. Power and himself made some suggestions that the Minister received very favourably. The main discussion centred about the increased price of wheat, oats and barley. Dealing with binders and blinder twine, the Minister said there was little hope of getting any, and he advised the delegates to get their Committees to repair all the machines available.

Concerning the export of fruit trees and forest trees, Mr. Walsh said that the matter was to be considered. Taking it all round, the Chairman said that it was a very satisfactory conference.
