CENTENARY OF ONE IRELAND'S GREATEST SONS

Founder of Christian Brothers' Order Honoured

Dungarvan Joins In Paying Tribute

IN this year of the Lord 1944, the whole Christian World has joined in celebrating the Centenary of the death of Rev Brother Edmund Ignatius Rice, history Founder of the Irish Christian Brothers

Naturally, in our own country the celebrations were widespread, as every town in which the Christian Brothers were established wished to show the regard in which this great Irish Congregation is held, and the gratitude due for the wonderful work accomplished during the last 140 years Church and State joined in doing honour to one who is rightly held as one of the greatest Irishmen, not only of his own time, but of all time

The Irish youth of today provided as he is with Primary Secondary, and Vocational Schools, and University Colleges can hardly realise the condition of education in Ireland at the beginning of the last century. With our modern system of

He was now in his prime and blessed with an uncommon blend of physical and mental robustness, which is supposed to be the ideal of perfect education But Edmund Rice was not satisfied Even before wealth came to him a text that often set him thinking was that great question of St Paul Lord what will Thou have me to do? The many underscored passages in his favourite book the Bible showed his pondering and his dis-satisfaction with earthly things The neglected state of boys in the streets growing up without religion or education and whose speech and conduct often shocked him during his evening rounds of mercy, was at last to decide his vocation.

charge against him I am satisfied Morrissey took the bicycle, he had a guilty conscience and told lies to the Guards and I convict him and sentence him to three calendar months with hard labour to be served in a military prison Drunk And Disorderly

Guards Begley Enright Burke and Giblin were complainants in a series of charges of being drunk and disorderly against Mrs Mary Moylan Cathal Brugha Place, and Bridget Connors, no fixed abode was stated that Bridget

Connors was a regular nuisance in town while Mary Moylan was also an intolerable nuisance and the source of many complaints from the people in town The Justice said that there was too much of this going on and sentenced Bridget Connors to one calendar month's imprisonment on each of two charges, the sentences to be served consecutively The cases against Mary Moy-in were on Supt O'Mahony's application, adjourned to next court.

CAPPOQUIN NEWS

WELCOME VISITORS—

Mr Daniel Fraher and his amiable and esteemed wife arrived last week to spend a holiday in his native town

Son of the late Mr E J

Fraher and Mrs Fraher Mr

Champion has, undoubtedly, brought honour on the Cappoquin cycling and athletic club, of which he is the Hon. Treasurer, and one of its most popular members, while he has also shed lustre on his native town of Lismore, as well as on the town of his adoption, Cappoquin and now at the end of WELCOME VISITORS—
Mr Daniel Fraher and his amiable and esteemed wife arrived last week to spend a holiday in his native town
Son of the late Mr E J
Fraher and Mrs Fraher Mr
Daniel Fraher went to Dubling while cuite volume and was and while quite young and was en-gaged in the drapery business for several years

Due to his great ability enterprise and high business acumen, he was able to start business on his own account in later years, so that for a many years past he is the proprietor of one of the leading and most successful drapery establishments in Tal-bot Street Dublin. But, like most Cappoquin men who have been out of the town for years he never misses an opportunity of re-visiting his native town so that year after year he and his popular wife always make Caping no effort to make their holi-days as interesting and enjoyable as possible

Having lived in Dublin for so many years, Mr Fraher loves to come south every year, where the pure and invigorating air of the Knockmealdown mountains in the east and the refreshing breezes from the "Irish Rhine" in the west always prove a wel-come change from city life His many friends now wish him and Mrs Fraher a most healthy and happy holiday in the old "Cornertsone"
