The County Librarian reported that a Central Juvenile Library for Dungarvan would be opened very shortly in Mary St. There could not be a really satisfactory service for Dungarvan until such time as adequate finance was provided for building staff and stock. The Thomas Davis Centenary had been lately celebrated throughout the country and had received official support and recognition from both Central Government and Local Government bodies. Thomas Davis was an ardent advocate of Public Libraries for Ireland Members of the Central and Local governing authorities should read and fully consider those passages in which Davis refers to Libraries and show their practical apprecia-

Extraordinary Outrage

Within the past two years the splendid farm owned by Mr Eugene O'Keeffe at Shanbally about a half-mile from Cappo-quin on the eastern side, adjoining the main road from Cappo-quin to Mount Mellersy was acquired by the Agricultural Branch of the Cistercian Order at Mount Mellersy and as the property was in a rather neglected condition, the Monks son set to work to improve it in various respects and for several months last year a large num-ber of men were employed in building new fences facing the road while four ornamental iron gates each surmounted by a pretty iron cross painted white were erected at the various en-

The entire work was successfully completed under the personal supervision of the Rev Brother Finnian O Cist and added greatly to the ornate appearance of the countryside in this particular district
