Darey said that both charges uose out of the same set of cir-cumstances. In the year 1943 the Waterford Co Council operand fertilisers about which the time some of the farmers on the jury rested the some of the farmers on the jury would know more than he did. The general purport of the scheme was that the Council helped farmers to buy seeds and the way the scheme operated to state that the farmer required the money to do so he applied to the Co-Co-merl for a certain the Co Council for a certain imount of seeds in the early spring and the Council issued to him a form under which he undertook to pay back the money so advanced when the harvest had been saved and sold

Two Sureties The undertaking counsel went on to explain had to be signed by two surcues as a guarantee that the money would be repaid. In the present case Molumphy applied to the Co Council in the ordinate way for his facility in ordinally way for his facility in March 1943 and he subsequently procured from a seed merchant named Mr Barry of Mitchelstown 80 stones of seed outs and Nuts, Plow Bolts, etc. in the remainder of seed outs and nured lengths and thickness wheat 98 stones of seed oats and seed barley

Rate Collector's Approval The form when received by Molumphy had Mr D Arcy said to be filled in by himself and two sureties of which the rate collector approved The accused did eron the form himself and did sign the form himself and he made one of his sureties a man named Edmund Joyce who also signed it The other name which appeared on the guarantee was that of James McCarthy and the State case was that the latter never signed it and that the accused must have known that the signature was a forgery

Counsel continuing said the amount involved was £30 11s which sum was paid to Mr Barry for the seeds The entire amount would at the end of the amount would at the end of the harvest have to be repaid by the accused to the Co Council but he only paid back about £20 leaving the balance outstanding Mr D Arcy emphasised that the scheme was intended by the Council only as a help for farmers and it was not intended to give them a present of the mers and it was not intended to give them a present of the money For that reason he said the Council issued civil proceedings against James McCarthy for the recovery of the balance outstanding and the latter would tell them that the receipt by him of the civil bill was the first he had ever heard that he had signed his name to the guarantee As a result of a complaint the matter was investigated and it was then discovered that quite obviously the signature appearing on the guarantee and purporting to be that of
