CEÁROACAS BAELAC IRISH CRAFTSMANSHIP

Numerous references exist in early literature to show that the art of needlework was held in very high esteem in angent (reland. No examples have survived, even of the Cut-work of the 16th and 17th centuries, although it was used to ornament the linen shirts of the period There is ample evidence, however, to show that the craft of lace-making was flourishing in the 18th century

There are three distinct types of Irish lace. The earliest of these is the 'Carrickmacross Guipure and "Applique", which has been made in that neighbourhood since 1820. The manufacture of Limerick Lace was first established in 1829 by Mr Charles Walker as a commercial enterprise. Later during the year of the Great Famine in 1846 it was revived by Lady de Vere as a relief measure. To the same purpose "Irish Needle Point" or "Youghal Lace 'owes it's beginnings having originated in the Presentation Convent of that town It was from here that the making of 'Irish Point' spread to many other centres, Kenmare Killarney and New Ross Although it was known earlier in the century, Irish Crochet was another branch of the lace industry which did not develop in Ireland until after the Famine One of the first centres was at the Ursuline Convent, Blackrock, Co Cork

TO CONTRACT OF THE POST OF THE

WHEAT, POTATOES, BEET

After wheat, the potato crop is of most importance. Potatoes will be vitally important this year in making up any deficiency there may be in the supplies of food both for our people and our hvestock.

The favourable turn in the weather has enabled a large part of the wheat crop to be sown already but we cannot be sure of yields being up to normal Every farmer should, therefore, make up his mind to plant a little more potatoes this year. It is this extra which will make all the difference between

Remember '47 -- How know that at one time a huge beech tree grew in the centre of Ballyduff Hear what our old resident whom I quoted last week had to note about it In the year of Our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Ninety-eight there grew in the centre of Ballyduff Cross a huge

when I was a young fellow it would take six of us hands joined together to go around the

As far as we can find out no one alive today remembers this great tree but it was probably one of a row which giew up to a few years ago on the west side of the village on the bank of the glen These had to be cut down glen owing to their size and age and the fact that a row of houses would be in danger if they fell In future issues we will give you further extracts from this old note book which has been kinoly lent by Mr David Tobin G A A -Ballyduff hurling team had its flist outing of the year last Sunday against Glen Rovers in a challenge game at Lismore Owing to the high wind good hurling was not possible but our boys succeeded in winning by 7 goals 1 point to 5 goals 4 points We are informed that the hurling team has been selected to represent the County against the Cork champions in the Fermoy Tournament on May 18th So now you aspirants to senior hurling fame get practising. If possible a trial match will be held before that date We are sure on form Ballyduff will be well represented on the team

Ceilidhe —A most enjoyable Ceilidhe was held in St Michaels Hall last Sunday night and the 'full house' appreciated the music of the Eire Go Brath Ceilidhe Band from Dancers came from Fermoy Tallow Lismore Kilwatermoy and in fact from all the surrounding districts It proved so popular that it is intended having another Ceilidhe at an early date
