this situation by joining in the deputation and having the matter clarified Both parties the Council and Commissioners had the opinions of Senior Counsel and both differed all they wanted was to have the matter cleared up as to who was right and this situation. Mr Leahy—According to Mr Power we haven ta leg to stand on but just the same I will now propose that we do not send the deputation. ed up as to who was right and who was wrong The whole cause of the trouble was the legal interpretation of Section 50 led legislation and it was his beof the Sanitary Services Act 1948 as affecting the levy of separate charges The Minister wanted the rates spread over the County Health District while the County Council wanted to have County Council wanted to have Tramore separate charges retained Tramore felt they were right as did their Counsel while as did their Counsel Tramore sumed that the Commissioners wanted their Counsel Tramore right as did their counsel Tramore right as done nothing to prevent the minister from bringing it in it he had wanted to do so He presumed that the Commissioners wanted this to be made retrospective and was informed that the rand were in fact the color of the country of the coun can clarify nothing in this matter the only thing he can do is to bring in amended legislation by stating that Tramore is right and we are wrong That is what I can gather when you say what I can gather when you say you want this matter clarified Mr M M Hally. Council Solicitor at this stage informed the Council that he had drafted a resolution (which was passed and as set out at the outset of this report) and added that it would amount that Section 50 of this report) and added that it would appear that Section 50 of the Sanitary Services Act had been created loosely Senior Counsel had given their opinions on the matter both in favour of Tramore and the Council which was right who could say? As a result of the manner in which it was set out, this Council would be plunged into litigation which would cost the ratepayers thousands of pounds He said that the only way to ratepayers thousands of pounds. He said that the only way to have it clarified was by litigation and to have the rates attacked or by the Minister bringing in amended legislation. The important thing to remember was he said that supposing ber was he said, that supposing the matter goes to litigation and the County Council wins, then the Minister will follow it by amending legislation, saying that the section meant what he intended it to be Not what he
