Mr Heskin referring to the price paid for wheat and to the recent increase stated that it was no inducement to the farmers to grow it They had been asked to increase production as much as possible but because of the many knocks with which the farmers had met last year between midge and other diseases there was little hope that they would take another risk for such a little return

Mr Oshea agreed stating that all facts are taken into careful consideration, but he was anxious to see the apple industry in Waterford developing in a real business-like fashion They had a large new factory for the purpose of building up the industry which is now nearing completion and it would be far better for all concerned if they do this then what of the far better for all concerned if they do this then what of the far better for all concerned if they had bigger orchards and more of them.

view of the danger to domestic It is desirable that farmers should co-operate to the fullest extent possible in exterminating rats During threshing opera-tions it is suggested that each stack or rick before the thresh-ing machine arrives and while being threshed should be surrounded by a rat-proof fence of wire netting 4 feet in height slightly sloping inwards and at a sufficient distance from the rick to prevent rats jumping over it from the rick. The rats can be killed within the en-closure by dogs or with sticks Mice may be readily caught in traps baited with fat bacon. Barium Carbonate may also be used with suitable precautions By Order,

Where there is dirt there are germs are germs there is danger of disease. That's why cleanliness is so vital to health and why frequent washing is so essential If possible the body should be washed all over once every day, exposed parts more frequently The hands especially should always be washed before meals Floors on which small children creep in play, can be a source of grave danger, if not kept spotlessly clean
