BOOKS WORTH READING

(Selected by Thomas Tobin) Once again readers I am resuming my column on books worth reading During its unbeen many letters requesting its immediate reappearance and so it is with real pleasure that I present today s column which is the first in my new series.

The seniors under Chief Cook Liam Whelan served the Troop of the Jumble Sale was held—you remember "Bang Bang anything for the Jumble Sale There was a Band Parade on St. Pattable was a beautiful cake with avoidable absence there have been many letters requesting its Hunting in that jungle is forbidden except by special permission For a time Mr Wheeler's camp was only a stone throw from the huge tame elephant Kaddah and the wild elephant trails led past it One night indeed the roar-

He meets the girl whom he suspects of hawing stolen his wallet and that meeting is but a prelude to others in which the girl Anna behaves most strangely The story is full of exciting and in-genious situations and the author employs his usual inventiveness in tying up all the loose ends to the satisfaction of all Unusual, Thriller — David Whitelaw author of THE HOUSE IN CAVENDISH SQUARE has written a new book which will also prove another great seller "The Yellow Door," published by Mac-Donald and Co., London at 9/6, it presents a most unusual and entertaining story and one which only an author like Mr Whitelaw can handle with such a masterful touch He deals with the problem of a man who
