DANGEROUS INSTALLATIONS INFRA-RED LAMPS

The Electricity Supply Board wishes to draw the attention of consumers to the risk of serious electric shock from Infra-red Heater Lamps, such as are used in chicken brooders and piggeries, unless they are correctly connected

The fact that these lamps heat up is no assurance that they are so connected The risk is particularly serious if these lamps are used from plug sockets or lampholder adaptors

In their own interest consumers should have the wiring to these lamps examined and tested by the Board If this has not already been done, the use of the lamps should be discontinued until the Board's District Engineer has been communicated with

Carlow, 1—14, Waterford, 0—7
With the League points the exential element of competition of no bearing to either side and a chi'l northerly wind whipping the length of the field on Sun-day last the Football League clash at Dr Cullen Park, Car-low settled down to a leisurely pace from which it never snapped Carlow behind a point at half-time notched up a goal and eleven points in the second half hour mostly from irees for minor infringements. This was a costly failing for Waterford as Liam Quigky missed no frees and in all scored points

Both sets of selectors were obviously contemplating on building up a championship team and there were frequent switches Ahearne and McGuire were weak m the Waterford back-line and it was left to N
