Following my recent request for old stories, songs etc Mr M J Landers 205 Water Street Leominster, Mass, writes on April 15th "I see a request for folkloir stories in your very nice paper which a friend of mine sends to me quite often She is Miss Eileen McCarthy of Tallow I spent a few weeks with them last summer and it was my first time home since I left 40 years ago Your paper brings me home again every time I read it for it takes in all the places where I lived and it brings me great pleasure and joy God Bless you all

I should say in 1882 or thereabouts we lived in one of in view thereabouts we liven in one of the greatest which is situated in a place called Killeenagh Co Waterford we tended school at Knockanore We lived in this house only about six months before anything happened The living room as you know had a cement floor and had a fire-place On the first night of the disturbance we three boys slept in one bedroom My father hearing the racket came to our room and we got a sound beating up with a warning that we would get more if it happened again It was quiet for a while but soon started again while but soon started again to the living to the living to the living room of the greatest human interest stories that I happened two people from such far away countries to the same house in Dungarvan on the self-same errand is really amazing. The following are the details as I got them.

The young American was Bob Gallagher, godson of Mrs Connery's brother and presently serving with the US Army of Occupation in Germany.

sunshine welcome the coming of May

Let us hope those responsible will see to it and have it cleandy to have the same on this subject there is another ruin not far removed from the graveyard mentioned above—the historic Molana Abbey at Ballintray which also seems to have been badly neglected of late as portion of the walls have collapsed We understand that some years ago the Board of Works wanted to have this Abbey taken over as a National Moniment, but the then owner of the property refused and guaranteed to have this undertaking will now be honoured and that this old and historic building will be saved from crumbling into dust

Saimon Fishing—The salmon fishermen on the upper reaches of the Blackwater have had the worst season in memory as practically no fish have been caught Many fishermen have given up fishing altogether and nobody seems to be able to pinpoint the cause of the scarcity of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the property of salmon The nolly thing that an account for it is, said to be the property of the scarcity of t
