BEHIND THE SPOTLIGHT

with PENSMAN

ANOTHER RATES CRUX
 I understand that there is a move afoot among not a few of the ratepayers of the County to hold up payment of their rates until the position concerning the temporary increases in water rents recently imposed has been clarified. This is the second time within a few years that legal opinions have had to be obtained before the rates in County Waterford were paid and it is a great pity that there should be such a necessity to do this.

If there was more co-operation between the officials charged in the administration of the "Managerial" functions of the County, and the Councilors representing the ratepayers, I think there should be no need for all this trouble. The facts of the case are that the ratepayers feel, and I believe reasonably so, that they have been mulcted for the past few years and are now up in arms. They have lost confidence in the system of local administration and have a distrust and suspicion on everything that goes on at the County Council Offices and Arus Brugha. As I have said before, the ratepayers' attitude is not unreasonable in the light of facts as shown by the record over recent years.

The sooner that the officials recognise and accept the fact that they are the servants of the people and not the masters, the sooner will that much needed harmony between all concerned return. People will allow themselves to be pushed just so far but in the end they are forced to stand and face the issue or else go to the wall. That I understand is the reason in a nutshell why the ratepayers are now making their present move.

DAIL NA MUMHAN
 Continuing my synopsis of the lectures at the Summer Session of Dail na Mumhan at Colaisle na Míne (see last two issues) we turn to the lecture of Rev. Father O'Leary, S.J., who spoke on the spiritual and national life of the country. He referred to the great work of Ireland's scholars and scholars spreading the Faith in many lands from the time of the coming of St. Patrick to the destruction of the Monasteries during the Reformation. Dealing with the present, the Rev. Father said that many of the children could not point out places bearing Irish names with the result that many of these ancient names so steeped in tradition were fast disappearing. At the same time they knew all about modern pictures and he asked if we were forever going to remain under the influence of foreign pictures, papers and radio. It was time to re-awaken the soul of Ireland from stupidly following countries that had neither a tongue nor a culture of their own. The remedy he concluded for this was faith and nationalism.

The lecture of Mr. Donnchadh O'Cuileainn P.O.F. Dungarvan on 'Ireland Of To-day' has already been previously published. Mr. Annráid Liathain lecturing on 'The Progress of the National Tongue' said that the only way to achieve success was to work together and a definite line of action should be taken by all National bodies in the revival of Irish was a task for ourselves and not one to be left to anyone else. He closed by appealing to all to push the Gaelic League publications until they reached every home.

A GOOD IDEA
 About a fortnight ago I watched the L.E. Maeve on Fishery patrol duty arrest two French trawlers about three miles off Helvick Head. Earlier in the day there had been as many as seven trawlers fishing well inside the limit in the same locality. The arrested trawlers were taken into Waterford City port where the gear and catch was confiscated and a small fine imposed. This action does not seem to be a sufficient deterrent to keep these poachers away as they are continually to be seen well in shore trawling away.

A man I discussed it with and who knows the subject well said that the only way to stop it is to take, not only the gear and catch but the boat as well, and send the crew home. I agree that this is a good idea and the only way to frighten off these unwelcome visitors.

JIM O'CONNOR OF NEW YORK
 I had the pleasure of being introduced to a very enjoyable "after the match" party in Dublin on last Sunday evening by my good friend Jack Phelan of New York (and Dungarvan) who was one of the Flight of the Gaels which arrived for the match at Shannon Airport on Saturday. Included in the party were Tim O'Donnell former well-known Kerry footballer now resident in Dublin and Jim O'Connor of Bailey Ave. Bronx, New York, an Irish-American who was just concluding a three weeks visit (the first in his life) to this country.

Jim and I got into conversation and as he said himself we have a lot in common. He told me that he was absolutely delighted with his visit and without much persuasion would extend it for another three weeks but personal commitments had first call on him. He told me that his Orchestra plays for a lot of the Irish-American dances in New York and he had a standing booking to play at Croke Park at 240th Street and Broadway, New York, every Sunday.

HUSBAND TELLS LAWYER TO HAVE SENSE

Breezy Exchanges in Cork Court

Continuing the report of Simkins v M'Ostrich, (see last issue) Mr. Alexander M'Ostrich was then sworn. During the course of his examination by Mr. O'Connell, he claimed that since his marriage he had been paid large sums of money for Mrs. M'Ostrich and that although Mrs. M'Ostrich had settled her property on their daughter, it was only by Will at her death and that she enjoyed £300 or £400 a year from it.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lawrence—"Did you send your servant to Youghal?"
 "Not last year."
 "Did you send none of them there last year?"
 "No."
 "Had you a French cook?"
 (laughter) "None sense, man, I had no French cook."
 "Well, one who used to cook in the French fashion?"
 "Never. She is out of my service for eighteen months."

Mr. Lawrence (to defendant)—"I believe you are a good while at house-keeping?"
 Defendant—"How do you know that?" (laughter)
 Mr. Lawrence—"Don't you remember telling me in the Recorder's Court, 'I believe the only thing you used to do was to take in the milk'?" (laughter)
 Defendant—"Ah, what a fine memory you have. I hope it will serve you."
 Mr. Lawrence—"As an old house-keeper I want your opinion."
 Defendant—"I won't give you my opinion on house-keeping" (laughter)

Mr. Lawrence—"Well you must be aware that a house requires repairing from time to time."
 Defendant—"They can repair them who get the rent for them. I don't know whether this house in Youghal required repairs. I am no judge. I had no interest in the matter at all."
 Mr. Lawrence—"But suppose you got cold through a broken window. That would not be pleasant for an old gentleman" (laughter)

LONG-AWAITED TOURNAMENT ON SATURDAY SEPT. 11th.
 The long-awaited Tournament of the Dungarvan Boxing Club will take place in the Town Hall on tomorrow night (Saturday, September 11th) at 8.15 p.m. As can be seen from the posters the Club have succeeded in getting an attractive programme together, and it should be well worth seeing.

All boxers in the special contests are all fairly well known and should all give a good show. Unfortunately N. Sheehan would not be allowed box, due to the fact that he is boxing for his place on the Irish Team next week in Dublin. Apart from the special contest, the other bouts will be well worth seeing as they feature nearly all Dungarvan boxers some of whom will be making their first appearance in Dungarvan and they should be given plenty of encouragement as it will help them to give of their best.

FIFTY YEARS OF MUSIC

A Simple Tribute To A Great Bandsman
 (By TOM TOBIN)

Dungarvan Brass and Reed Bands played with deep feelings as they marched along the streets of their town last week. But their conductor was not there to hear them. They were playing the Dead March as they led his remains to the Parish Church of St. Mary's, where in the adjoining cemetery they were laid to rest. This was the final parade for Michael Clancy—a bandsman who had spent fifty-six years of his life in the music business, a man who overcame untold difficulties to keep his band together. Now the friendly conductor in the bowler hat would lead them no more. He played with his fellow-musicians to the end and now silent in its well-worn case his clarinet lay a simple reminder of half a century's love of music.

The last occasion Mike Clancy led his band was one of Dungarvan's most memorable—the occasion of Fr. Peyton's Rosary Rally, when both the band and choir were conducted by Mr. Clancy as they marched through the packed Gaelic Field and across the Colligan river to Abbeyside and Knockateamore.

That night Fr. Peyton personally invited him to stand to the strains of a rousing march. Mr. Clancy led his band home for the last time—a fitting finale to over fifty years of music.

12 years of age the late Mr. Clancy remained the brisk and efficient conductor right up to a few weeks before the end. He was a man of many memories for since that day fifty-six years ago when he entered the band, he was actively associated with every development in the public life of Dungarvan.

Mike had been six years in the band when it was decided to change the name from the Brass and Reed to the Dungarvan Band. Mr. Clancy's death leaves but three survivors of a hectic era. They are Messrs Tommy Walsh, James Atridge and Luke Dalton, all of whom still live in their old hometown. For all the rousing welcome they got from the cheering crowds along the railway line from Waterford to Dungarvan is still one of their most cherished memories.

Down through the years Mike Clancy remained first clarinet player. He saw young men across the room practicing the chromatic scale. It was with real pleasure he later heard them play Bressanone's "Belphégor" (march). He saw them come he saw them go and many of those who stepped back scattered across the plains of the earth.

Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band like most others throughout Ireland suffered through the years of radio and cinema. No longer would parades pack the old town parks for the band's evening recital, and day by day the drift increased. Then came the split through political opinions and while the band tried to remain a band, the political there were Redmonites and Volunteers and the band broke up. Twelve years later, in 1923 it was re-organised and Mike Clancy was back again on the clarinet.

The years quickly floated by and the end of the First World War gave the band the brilliant services of a musician of rare qualities in the person of Mr. M. J. McHugh, an ex-Army Bandmaster. Within a short time his work showed amazing results and Dungarvan once again had a band that ranked among the finest in the country. Mr. McHugh arranged several works and composed numerous marches which proved exceptionally popular.

ARDMORE GOSSIP

Rev Michael Hurley, S.J., who was raised to the priesthood at the Irish Jesuit College of Louvain, on Sunday, 15th August last, is elder son of the late Mr and Mrs Martin Hurley of Tig Aullinagh House, Ardmore, and brother of Mrs R. Lincoln and Miss Eileen Hurley of Ardmore.

At Ardmore many guests and relatives present at the ordination ceremony were the sisters of the young Jesuit priest—Mrs R. Lincoln and Miss Eileen Hurley.

Two Young Priests with whom I had been interviewed during the past week, seem to be enjoying their well-earned rest in their old home town and both are happy to be back old friends and acquaintances.

Rev Fr Victor O.P. is at present on holidays at Tig Aullinagh, with his mother and sister. Some few weeks ago his only son, Rev Fr Victor O.P., was killed in a motor accident.

By the recent death of Mr Joseph Keane of Lower Curragh, Ardmore, of 70 years of age, was a familiar name in the town and the area has lost one of the old true Gaelic stock—one who was truly a genuine lover of his native language and of his native people.

The turning point of the game came with the untimely death of the late Mr James (Jim) Spratt as he was usually known to all in the Ardmore and Grange area.

The Minor Game certain was a classic exhibition and although the boys from Dublin found it hard to make progress against a very sound defence in the first half, they eventually wore it down and gained the upper-hand.

Charlie Conway from Blarney well-known in Munster, as a referee was making his debut in that capacity at Headquarters when he performed his duty well and it was generally accepted by all that he handled the game in excellent fashion.

A POWER FOR PROFIT. An electric motor can be the most useful unit on your farm, giving you handsome savings in time and labour. One motor can be used for many operations and do them more quickly and more cheaply than ever before. Modernise your farm NOW with an electric motor. Electric motors are misers on units, using only the amount of electricity required for the job. A 1 h.p. motor uses 1 unit on hour when fully loaded, but if the same motor is doing a lighter job it uses proportionately less electricity. Do v Mary and Bridget Flynn, no fixed abode begging. Defendants were each sentenced to one month in jail not to be enforced if they kept out of the town for 12 months.

Accident Near Leamybrien. Arising from a collision between a motor car and a wandering cow near Leamybrien on July 12th, Stephen Coogan, Green Street Kilkenny, was charged with dangerously driving the car on the occasion, and with not having and failing to produce his driver's license. James Walsh, Drotavickery, Kilkenny, and Thomas Power Curraheen, Kilrossanty, were charged for allowing their cattle to wander on the public road on the same occasion.

On the application of Mr Farrell, a restaurant license and a special exemption to 12 midnight on Saturday, Sept 11th on the occasion of the Boxing Tournament was granted to John Gray, Park Hotel, Dungarvan. The Minister for Industry & Commerce was complainant in 10 summonses under the Factory and Workshop Act against the Duncans Leather Company Ltd, Dungarvan.

Mr Counihan, State Solicitor prosecuted, and Mr J. F. Kenny, Solr defended. Mr Counihan said that four of the breaches came under the nature of the regulations which required a regulation that suitable washing facilities with the provision of towels soap etc, should be available for the employees and also proper accommodation for the drying of the protective and ordinary clothing of the men. The object of the regulation he said, was to counteract the incidence of industrial dermatitis. The other six summonses arose from the failure to protect several parts of factory machinery on April 5th a very serious accident had occurred to a young man operating a hydraulic pressing machine as a result of which he had lost the palm and three fingers of his right hand.

Mr Barrett, Factory Inspector, gave evidence of carrying out inspections at the Factory and said that the washing facilities were not quite suitable as there was not sufficient warm water, clean towels, soap or nail brushes. There was not sufficient or suitable facilities for drying the protective and ordinary clothing of the employees. He then gave details of the lack of protective guards on shafting and pulleys in the buffing shop machine shop, offal setting machine, turner shaving machine, further that behind fleshing machine and pressure plates of hydraulically operated pressing machine.

Mr Kenny then cross-examined witness at length and the latter said that the fact that the record of the factory in the Department as far as accidents and other matters went, was fairly good. Mr P. Durand, Manager of the factory, said that the factory space was very confined, the manufacturing floor space which they occupied was 70,000 square feet and they had a further 50,000 square feet of storage space rented. He said that the height of the building was provided were adequate as there had been no previous complaint following earlier inspections made. One pound of soap was provided at each of the washing machines and the soap disappeared and was sometimes washed by being left in the water. Nail brushes were provided or could be got on demand from the foreman and fourteen clean towels were provided and these changed twice a week.

In the dressing room a hook was provided for every man and there were hot pipes there to dry the clothes. Recently the firm had acquired further property which will allow more accommodation to be provided in this respect.

With regard to the provision of protective guards on the shafting, he said that there was no danger to the operators from it, but it was now cased All the other recommendations made by the Inspector since his last visit had now been carried out. He added that they had 176 men on the roll at the factory.

The Justice dismissed the four summonses under the Hides and Skin Order. He adjourned the two summonses referring to the protection of the machinery, the shaving machines and marked the four other cases P.O.A. He allowed £3 15s. 0d. expenses to the Inspector.

Michael McInerney and his mother Mary, lunatics, were charged with the larceny of a donkey which was kept outside Dungarvan last June. Superintendent Flanagan said that defendants later sold the donkey in Youghal for £1 and it had later been sold again for £5.

The Justice applied the P.O.A. in the case of the boy but sentenced the mother to one month's imprisonment not to be enforced if she paid £1 compensation within twenty-eight days.

Plaintiff in evidence, said that after him and stood below him in the street, James Wright then came out and following some talk the latter hit him a wallop and the two of them then caught him. He backed into the street, the latter locked the Wrights out. The trouble between them arose because their horses were trespassing on his land. John Wright said that he was in the street with his brother when Connelly came in after them. As witness went out the door, Connelly was outside and struck him a blow and knocked him to the ground.

James Wright said that he saw Connelly hit his brother, the latter went out the door. There had been no exchange of words between them. To Mr Farrell witness said that he was not annoyed with Connelly because he would not give them free grazing for their horses.

ELECTRICITY SUPPLY BOARD

ANNUAL REPORT 1953-54

Load Despatch Office
The equipment indicating the switch position and for tele-messaging at all generating stations was almost completed and was brought into operation at the central Load Despatch Office in Dublin the automatic trunk exchange was commissioned giving dialling facilities over the carrier telephone network. A contract has been placed to extend similar facilities to the Marina generating station, Cork, and the 110kV transformer stations at Waterford, Killybeg, (Cork) and Tralee.

Plans are in hand for similar extensions to the Lee generating stations and to other 110kV stations.

Progress of Rural Electrification
Sixty new rural electrification areas were completed during the year bringing the total to 289. 3,769 miles of rural transmission lines were erected and 20,323 new consumers connected bringing the total of rural consumers at March 31st 1954 to 101,318.

Early in June 1953 it was decided to increase the rate of development under the scheme by 50%. Additional materials were placed on order extra staff was recruited and trained and the design and survey of new areas were undertaken. By October the full increase of 50% was achieved and at the close of the year work was proceeding at the rate of several areas per annum. It is intended to effect a further increase in the course of the coming year, bringing the rate of construction to one hundred areas per annum.

The 289 areas completed cover 7,411 square miles or an average of 25.5 square miles per area. A further 54 areas are for development making a total under construction or selected of 343 areas or 8,903 square miles. This represents approximately 43% of the total areas of the country excluding waste or very sparsely populated regions. Supply is now available to 38% of the rural population. The proportion of dwellings connected in the completed areas is approximately 67%.

The total value of materials needed for a 75 area programme is approximately £2,000,000. A growing proportion of the materials was obtained from local manufacturers, the amount so ordered being 66% of the total.

The use of supply for domestic purposes still accounts for the greater part of the consumption of electricity in rural areas. In addition to the smaller appliances—irons, radios and kettles—larger equipment such as cookers, waterheaters and washing machines are being installed in steadily increasing numbers.

An investigation of the utilisation of electricity was carried out in a number of representative areas. The following schedule gives the percentage of consumers in some of the better developed areas who use the following appliances:

Main radios 79% Electric irons 64% Electric kettles 44% Electric cookers 25% Electric fires 22% Washing machines 17% Wash boilers 17% Electricity water pumps 11% Root pulper motors 9% Intra-red lamps 9% Milking machines 8% Grain grinders 6%.

The survey also disclosed that approximately 78% of the consumers had power sockets installed in the dwelling houses but in only a small number of cases were power sockets installed in the out-offices. 26% had yard lights and about 25% had an average of four lights in their out-offices. The average number of lights in the domestic portion of the premises was six.

Capital expenditure during the year amounted to £2,622,126 and the total invested in the scheme to 31st March 1954 was £9,659,433. Sales of current amounted to 127,266,000 units.

or 47% more than in the previous year. The revenue earned was £1,406,000 which represents a price per unit of 2.65d. Although many new consumers were connected to the mains the average units per domestic consumer increased from 885 to 910.

Water Power Investigations
The further tests of the underground conditions at the site of the dams or the Avonmore River Development project Co. Wicklow were completed and the results were under consideration at the end of the year. It is hoped to have a final report on the project completed early next year.

The feasibility of the hydro-electric development of the Cimmeragh River Co. Kerry, was under consideration in preliminary scheme for the hydro electric development of the Torc Waterfall Co. Kerry, which was prepared in 1944 was under review in the light of present day conditions and building costs. Preliminary investigations were also in progress on the economy of the hydro-electric development of the Fisk River Co. Kerry.

The collection of data with a view to the investigation and possible later development of the further water power resources was continued. The total number of undeveloped areas including the Lee and the Glady under observation was seventeen.

Fisheries
On the Shannon Fisheries the sales of salmon, eels and hatters the leasing of angling rights and miscellaneous income amounted to £24,086, as compared with £19,472 in the preceding year.

There is a deficit of £144 compared with a deficiency of £11,044 last year.

The recorded run of 17,408 salmon through the Thomond Weir was the highest since 1944 and the quantity of eels taken also increased.

On the River Erne the recorded run of salmon through the fish counter at Cathaleen Falls from March to November totalled 6,283.

No commercial fishing was possible and owing to the drainage works in the river at Belleek there was no angling. A trout hatchery is being erected at Cliff and should be in operation during the next spawning season.

The Board's regular staff at 31st March 1954 was 4,730. In addition there was a casual staff of over 3,000.

The accounts were audited by Messrs. Kennedy, Crowley & Co. in the Dungarvan area the total number of consumers increased from 2972 in 1953 to 3,187 this year. In the same period industrial motive power in use in the area increased from 2,271 hp to almost 3,000 hp.

Rural areas completed in the County during the year included: Keadueen Whitechurch and Poverstown and further development is in progress at Ardmore and Ballinamult.

Tallow and Round About

Pretty White Wedding at Tallow—The marriage, solemnized with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing by Rev. M. Condon, C.C., Tallow, between Mr. Francis Nugent and Miss May Navin, took place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Tallow, on Wednesday, September 1st. Miss Bridget Navin (sister of the bride) was bridesmaid, and Mr. James Nugent (brother of the groom) was best man.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Michael Power, Killosera, Dungarvan. The groom's father, Mr. James Nugent, of Armagh, and his bride's eldest daughter, Mrs. Navin, Chapel Street, Tallow, were the bridesmaids.

The ceremony over forty guests sat down to the wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother. A party of relatives and friends travelled from the North of Ireland for the happy occasion and all thoroughly enjoyed the festivities. Cupid seemingly doesn't recognise any Border.

Amongst the party from the North of Ireland, were—Mr. and Mrs. James Nugent (brother and mother of the groom), Mr. James Nugent (brother of the groom) and several other relatives.

The bride has always been a very popular young girl and we all join in wishing her and her husband, every possible joy and happiness.

After the reception, the happy couple left by car for the honeymoon. The honeymoon will be spent in the South of France.

Sheep Dipping—Sheep dipping in the Tallow district has been carried out in the usual efficient and thorough manner under the careful supervision of the Local Sheep Dipping Inspector and his competent staff. The sheep raising community of today fully realise the benefits derived from this order and many of the diseases and consequent losses in stock and wool are avoided.

Craftsman—We are pleased to know that the proposed Marian Year Memorial Shrine is to be built to a design painted by Mr. Sheehan, Tallow. Mr. Sheehan has many proofs of his artistic abilities, some of which have been praised by noted artists and expert decorators.

He designed and completed most of the interior work at Lisnabrin Hotel, Arch Ballroom Tallow, Marian Year Panel at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, the Altar used for the Annual Eucharistic Procession etc. etc.

Junior Hurling—So play is all fixed up for Sunday, September 19th at Cappoquin, with a referee all the ways from Waterford. Well, Geraldines certainly have the first lick of the whip, they will dispose of a thrashweed if the match is played in Cappoquin or Timbuctoo. Providing that the Bridesiders get any fair crack of the whip, they will dispose of Geraldines on form.

The men from Aglish are trained to a turn, they were at the top of their form at Lisnabrin yet they could not defeat the Tallow lads. Tallow are a much better team now and training and the study of the finer points of the art of hurling are bringing out the best that is in them. If Geraldines beat Tallow in the junior hurling replay match, the Tallow men and all their supporters will be the first to congratulate them and say well done. We can safely say that the winners of this game will be this year's County Junior Champions.

A Tragic Game of Football—Many years ago football was played under very different rules to those of today. In the village of Belleek, there was no limit to the number of players allowed on each team. Every boy and girl worth his salt turned out for his side. The largest field, located half-way between the rivals headquarters was chosen as the venue. A gap was broken at each end of the fence surrounding the field, and the chief object of players was to carry the ball through the gap at your own end and then take home the ball.

Needless to say there were many incidents and frequently broken bones were souvenirs of the game.

One such game was played at Bishopstown, some 80 years ago between Kilwatermoy and the Moorehills. Three fine young men from Kilwatermoy managed to secure the ball and set off for home with it.

Fleet-footed rival players were hot on their heels. Attracted by the cheering, a number of people gathered on the Moorehill bank of the river and saw the three young men jump into a cot or small boat. To the spectators' horror, the boat overturned and the three unfortunate lads were drowned. Those who witnessed the drowning stated that they saw the three players walking down the bank some ten minutes later and when they (the players) reached the tragic spot they vanished.

These lads lie at rest at Old Kilwatermoy graveyard. Three rushes which grow conspicuously alone, mark the spot where they met their tragic end.

Marian Year Grotte—Work has commenced on the Marian Year Grotte at the Regal Ballroom, Tallow. Each evening voluntary workers many of them from outlying parts of the parish, report for work. Many hundreds of tons of rubble have been cleared from the site and sand, gravel and stones, have been drawn from Gortree and Ballymartin. Local traders and farmers have given their vehicles for transporting building materials. A grand atmosphere of good fellowship exists at the workings, and much good-natured banter is heard.

It is grand to see our Tallow men working so hard for the noble purpose and should the weather conditions continue favourable, the Grotte will be erected in a very short space of time.

Drag Hunt—The All-Ireland Drag Hunt Club will hold their annual event at Killeagh, on Sunday, September 12th. This event brings entries from all over Ireland and is a red-letter day for those who follow the sport.

Grotto at Kilwatermoy—A Lourdes Grotto is to be erected at Kilwatermoy. The cost of erection is said to be in the neighbourhood of £600. This will be borne entirely by a local trader.

Horse Fair Dances at the Arch Ballroom, Tallow—On Horse Fair Night, a very enjoyable dance was held at the Arch Ballroom, Tallow, when one of the best nights since the Ballroom opened was spent by a merry crowd. The music was by the Regal Dance Band, Bantry and all present enjoyed a tip-top night's dancing and amusement.

Scenes at Tallow Horse Fair—Tallow Annual Horse Fair was held on Friday, September 3rd. There was a very large number of animals offered for sale. English buyers bought up several hunters and colts.

Mr. Halloran of Clashmore, sold a horse by "Ambassador" for £225. Mr. Walsh, Ardmore, sold a hunter to Mr. James for a similar figure. Mr. J. Fenton, Tallow, successfully got a year-old Mr. T. Hickey, Colligan, Dungarvan, sold two horses for £180 and £140 respectively. Mr. M. Young sold a 4-year-old Mr. J. Bamberg, Colligan, for £165.

One English buyer bought 21 hunters. A hack which was bought early for £45 was resold for £90. Several colts were sold at an average of £80, and local breeders featured well in all the dealings.

Mr. Connell Kinsalebeg sold a hunter to Mr. James for £130. Mr. O'Brien, Killeagh, whose father the late Mr. John O'Brien, successfully got a year-old Mr. T. Hickey, Colligan, for £50. Mr. O'Brien sold a hunter for £135.

After lunch time many of the horses had been taken from the street and refreshments were the general order. The Horse Fair of 1954 was one of the best fairs held for years and many Tallow traders stated on Saturday following that the fair that business was never better ordered on the occasion of this year's horse fair.

Sympathy—Our sincere sympathy goes out to the family and relatives of the late Mr. E. Ballymote, whose death occurred at a Cork hospital on Saturday last, September 4th.

We also extend sincere sympathy to the relatives of the late Mr. David O'Keefe, Aglish, who died at Tallow in the hospital on Saturday last, September 4th.

Transport—A meeting of the parents who wish to send their children to Cappoquin Technical School will be held at the Temperance Hall, on Sunday next, September 13th, at 8.30 p.m. We appeal to all those interested to attend this meeting.

Postponed—The minor hurling championship game between the Temperance Hall and Cappoquin, which was postponed on Sunday last, September 5th, was postponed, as a mark of respect and sympathy to James Morrisson of the Tallow Minor Club, whose father, Mr. Edmund Morrisson, died at Cork on Saturday last, September 4th.

Film Fare—At the Regal Cinema Tallow, on Sunday next, September 12th at 3.30 and 8.30 p.m. we will see "Atomic City" all the stars in this interesting film are Gene Barry and Lydia Clarke. It is a real thriller of secret agents and the U.S. Federal Police.

Monday and Tuesday nights, Sept. 13th and 14th, the film all have been waiting for. "Titanic" will be screened. This is the story of the tragedy which shocked the world in 1912 when the so-called floating palace met her doom in the North Atlantic. It is one of the best pictures of the year and should be seen by all.

"Man of Bronze," is the big picture for Thursday night, Sept. 16th, with Burt Lancaster, and Charles Bickford, in the leading roles. It is a film that can be recommended to all film fans. See Phyllis Thaxter and Steve Cochran, in this thrill-a-minute action drama.

On Friday, Sept. 17th, we will see Hugh Williams and Elizabeth Allan, in "Twice Upon a Time." You will be delighted with this picture in which two little girls are so much alike in appearance that they cause many very amusing situations. Supporting stars are Jack Hawkins and Violetta Elvin. A warm, human story it will suit the taste of everyone.

Stradbally Objection Overruled

A meeting of the above was held at the G.Y.M.S. Hall, Cappoquin, on Wednesday night, Sept. 1st, Rev. Fr. D. Slattery, C.C., Chairman presided. In attendance were Messrs. D. O'Connell, Secretary, T. Walsh, Treasurer, and a large number of delegates.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as read.

Stradbally Objection
Stradbally objected to the awarding of the junior football championship game against Ballinacourty to the latter which was played at Dungarvan on Sunday, August 15th. The Stradbally delegate, M. Flynn said that towards the end of the game the referee blew for a foul on one of their players but the referee blew the full-time whistle before the free was called to take the free, when the referee blew the whistle.

Mr. T. Foley, Stradbally, said that he saw Ballinacourty line their backs and he went in to await the free and there was people on the pitch.

After some discussion the referee's decision was upheld when following a vote the Stradbally objection was defeated.

CONNA CASTLE

(By Andy Fox)

The Castle of Conna as it stands today is a mere model of the original. The Castle was built in 1554 by the 14th Earl of Desmond for his eldest son, Thomas.

Thomas had six children. The eldest child James claimed the title Earl of Desmond on the death of his father in 1585.

Now James was by no means a wealthy man. He seems to have been less inclined than the other Normans of the time to add to his possessions by plundering and marauding though, as he proved beyond doubt he was a fighting man of high merit.

Nearly at Castletyons lived Lord Barrymore. Barrymore a typical conqueror had driven out the Irish and was not above adding other weaker Normans to his list of victims. Barrymore openly feuded James calling him The Sugau Earl (Earl of Straw) hinting that he was a mere pauper. James collected a large army of Geraldines and attacked Barrymore. For many months a terrible war raged along the valley of the Arde. Many of the conquered Irish took sides with James. James was victorious in all encounters but there was much slaughter, burning and plundering on both sides.

ine army had disbanded and then he and Barrymore seized the Castle of Conna slaughtered the garrison and dismantled the Castle. Richard Boyle, bought the Castle in 1603 and replaced the Geraldines who remained its masters until 1645. Lord Castletyons in a famous march struck at Dromans and on to Lisfinny thence to Conna, which he battered into submission.

It is said that Castletyons camped at Parkkotta near Tallow the night before he attacked Conna.

In 1653 a terrible fire caused the death of three young ladies who were visiting the Castle. Conna Castle is now the property of the Nation.

It received a note to the effect that a very popular play by one of our leading playwrights is based on the life of The Earl of Sugaw. Dramatic Clubs should please note!
