GOOD CROP ROTATIONS

- Give better yields and better returns from all crops, including grass.
- Build up soil fertility, because different crops make different demands on the natural food in the soil.
- Make weed control cheaper and more efficient.
- Prevent the establishment of diseases and pests like Root Eelworm in cereals, Beet, Potatoes and other root crops
- Produce good grass with high milk yields and thriving stock.
- Provide home grown fodder of high quality at low cost and keep money on the farm which would otherwise go for purchased feed.
- Spread: the risks of farming and avoid having too many eggs in one basket:
