NOW AND THEN

A column in the "Cappoquin News" of the Leader dated the 7th May entitled 'Dungarvan In The 1820's" has intrigued me very much since I read it, and I have been trying to visualise what the Old Boro' was like in those times Having conjured up a picture in my mind s eye I find the comparison between then

Square (now) was then known as Devonshire Square while names that have stood the test of time include Main Street such onlines are unfair and unof time include Main Street Fair Lane (recently changed to Wolfe Tone Road), Buttery Bohereenatra, Bridge Street, and Church Street
The Post Office was located in

Bohereenatra, Bridge Street, and Church Street
The Post Office was located in Main Street at that time and it was there that the mail coaches used to call to collect the outgoing mails twice daily There was one Apothecary in the town then—we have a half dozen chemists now, while four physicians practiced as against physicians practiced as against almost double that number now Would it be wrong to assume from this that the health of the people was better then and did not require to assume the second of the people was better then and did not require the second of the people was better then and did not require the second of the people was better the peop ber of in the 1820's, but one could not be listed now—barrels Since you and I were young could not be listed now—barrels are no longer required Linen drapers concentrated in Main Street—there were thirteen listed with premises there, besides some others who traded in the Square The Main Street also housed two pawnbrokers then, but we haven't one in the whole town now | Could this be another sign of the passing times? One of the most significant comparisons was that Dungar-For we sang just as gay as they, comparisons was that Dungar- For we sang just as gay as they van had ship-builders, sail- Maggie, van had ship-builders, sail-makers and ship-owners in When you and I were young makers and ship-owners in plenty at that time Beyond a few small boats there is not a single ship owned in the Old Boro' now Truly does this fact Maggie, My steps are less sprightly than then, point the finger at how Dungar-van once one of the most flourishing ports and fishing centres in the South has fallen centres in the South has failen into decline in this respect. They say we are aged and gray, With the passing of the saling vessels and the advent of more modern methods of propulsion, the death-knell for Dungarvan was sounded as a seaport. With regard to the people who carried on the various businesses it can be said that there are carried on the various businesses it can be said that there are still a big number of families in Dungarvan bearing the same names today but the shops are not owned by people of the same names, which poses the question, how many businesses are there in Dungarvan now which are being carried on by the third with interest my recent articles Count them yourself and see "The Erin's Hope" and the The passage of time indeed sees

AS I SEE IT Dungarvan Urban Councillors met on last Friday night to con-sider the County Manager's estimate of 42/10d in the £ for the coming year I noted that this does not include a sum of about the time fought on the Fenian the Union for a weekly increase issue and succeeded in ousting of 7 6 to the Council's workmen the candidate sponsored by Dub-£190 to cover the application of nor a sum of approximately £150 to cover portion of the loan charges for the proposed new watermain at Kilrush These additional items will push the estimate up about another 7d in

However, if Senator Butler's suggestion that the County tional Music Festival organised Council demand can be reduced by Comhaltas Ceoltoiri na hEire by £1,400 holds goods, this will ann taining to the life of this great priest If so I would be very grateful to hear of any details, no matter how small, so that they may be included in Fr Martin's biography

Lambda Science | Science period and the matter adjusted next year The matter will be a picture in my mind seye I find the comparison between then comparison between the cannot be said of a screen to 28lbs of Bran per countries from June 5th to June mere shells of their former importance in the intervening years

G.A.A. NOTES

defeat of Waterford unior hurling team by Kerry came as a surprise It once came as a surprise It once again focuses attention on the present very unsatisfactory method of selecting junior teams in Waterford

Rough play appears to have become an accepted part of the Wateriord senior football championships Until this is stopped the standard of football in the county will continue to deteriorate The clean stylish footballer has no protection at present Small wonder then that many parents wont encourage their children to play Gaelic football About time the Powers that be tackled the problem seriously

The Waterfold senior hurling team selected to play Limerick at Cork on Sunday next has met with a mixed reception eleven of the team drawn from the city clubs (seven from Cnoc Sion) it certainly has a city look" For the first time for For the first time for amongst all the country clubs there is not a single player of niter-county standard?

Charges At Dungarvan-Last year and on previous years the charges for senior games at Dungarvan field were 2/- for a double fixture and 1,6 for single fixtures. These charges were described by the present Co Board Chairman as grossly excessive. It is worthy of present of the present of the control of t Board Chairman as grossly ex-cessive It is worthy of note that the charge for last Sunday's single fixture was 2/- Did the Co Board Chairman know of tnis?

DANCING STAGE AT SPRING

(To The Editor) Dear Sir—A group of young men have got together for the purpose of erecting a dancing stage at the Spring, Dungarvan and should be encouraged in every way They made a collection some time ago which realised about £14 (much short of the required sum) They have also run some dances to try and reach the required amount but have not succeeded as yet It is a good sign to see young men like those getting together and as I have said they should be encouraged, as should they succeed in erecting the stage it would be a nice way for the young people to pass a few hours away during the long evenings They already have the ground cleared and are waiting to go ahead with the stage as far as the money will go and I appeal for anyone who has not subscribed to the Stage Fund to do so, whether the amount be large or mall it will all help those young men realise their objective Subscriptions can be sent to Lynch or to R Keane O'Connell Street, whom the promoters also wish to thank for his generosity in giving them materials free towards the buildmg of Stage

Powers Under Street Trading Act.

Arising from the letter from Messrs J F Williams & Son Solrs on the powers of the Street Trading Act, 1926 which was read at the last meeting Mr. Lardner solr representing Messrs Williams attended the meeting to discuss the various aspects of the Act

The Act was adopted by the Council on the 28th Feb and came into force in the Urban of items show including a point of the street of expenses of the Act

A number of items show included Rates

The following explanatory memorandum on the rates for Manager Mass circulated to the members of the Council demand on the Urban Authority was calculated on the gross valuations of the County and Urban area. That was the law as it stood then, but it has since been changed by the new Local Goy-leading and the council on the state of the Act was adopted by the council on the 28th Feb and came into force in the Urban of items show in-

Mr Lee—So the Act only applies to the fish sellers and those others trying to make a few shillings on week days Mr Casey said that the traders of the town had objected to peo ple from outside coming in on fair days They created a lot of dirt which had to be cleaned after they had gone by Council workmen This was the unfair aspect of the matter He had no objection he said if these outsiders paid their way when

Mr Lee—What about the fardirt and they have to pay nothing either

Mr Walsh — They are two different things the farmers are keeping the town going but the hawkers are no good at all and are only looking for what they can take out of it Deputy Kyne said that when the deputation came from the traders' he had told them that the Act would not solve their problem but they refused to

Now he said as the Council had adopted the Act all the
