ELECTRICITY brings new profit to Wicklow Farm

When Tom O Byrne bought a 60 acre farm in Co Wicklow four years ago was in a run down condition. Tom was fortunate however, because his area had been selected for development under the Rural Electrification Scheme saw how electricity could help him make a success of it had the house wired for light and power and one of the first items he bought was an electric pressure storage water pump. As he said himself. He reckoned that if he could remove the chances of spoilage due to bad weather that he was pretty certain to make a profit. He invested in an electric grain dryer and not only did he make a profit on his crop last season but he helped many of his neighbours as well

Mrs O Byrne makes full use of electricity in her kitchen and she prizes her electric cooker and electric iron most She says herself. With four children to look after as well as Tom the speed and cleanliness of the electric cooker is just grand The Iron is essential to do the amount of Ironing I have to do every week

Mr and Mrs O Byrne have used electricity to raise their standard of living and to provide a greater profit on the farm. Electricity can do the same for you For full details of any of these appliances write to
