ACTIVE COUNCILLORS We have had a spate of meetings since the new members of the Urban and County Councils took office Between the two Councils four meetings have taken place in the course of a week Well now, new trons always sweep clean—for these scholarships alone from the cost of administering them. The subsidisation of education is a very laudable thing but I am afraid that the rules and regulations covering the award of these scholarships have been a while but it takes the old dog stretched too far in recent years. a while but it takes the old dog to travel the hard road—and to travel the hard road—and there is a long hard road to be that in most cases the ratepay-traversed in the next five years traversed in the next five years when the rest are subscribing to educate young boys and girls for immediately at the control of the rest of the ratepay-traversed in the next five years.

ALL SOLVED While admiring the enthusi-asm of the new Urban Council in Dungaryan I think perhaps of education from which the sooner they get down to ratepayers could expect some practical realities and take the long view the better for all concerned — themselves and the ratepayers included

In a two hour meeting on last night solutions were suggested to the many problems which occupied the whole time o. the old Council In that short time of two hours plans were made for the laying of a twin-main to solve the water supply problem in the town the erection of 100 houses to solve the dual problems of housing and unemployment were tackled and one member had the novel that idea of acquiring the Cunnigar to 8
