There it is a merry occasion while away it can be most lonesome

All the visitors look fine and prosperous and seem bent on making Christmas 1955 a real

In all our Churches the usual Christmas Cribs have been called it "Over The Hills To Bethlehem" ing crowds who come to pray to the Holy Family The children especially are attracted to these vonderful representations of the first Christmas Night, and it is only right that they should grasp the essential religious aspect of the festival at an early age Soon the congregations wil be gathering in the Churches for the Christmas Masses and the Choirs will be singing "Adeste Fideles" and "Silent Night, Holy Night '—there we have the true spirit of Christ-

The Social side of the fes tivities is well catered for with dances on both Christmas and dances on both Christmas and St Stephen's Nights at Clonea and the Town Hall Dungarvan while over at Piltown the Annual Carnival in aid of the Church Renovation Fund will commence on St Stephen's Night The amusements will again be supplied by the Tower Amusements and patrons can be assured of a wonderful time with plenty of opportunities to win most valuable prizes

WHY CONTINUE IT When a deputation compose of three leading members of the County Extcutive of the National Farmers Association came be fore last Saturday's meeting of the County Committee of Agriculture at Dungarvan, they sounded what must be the death knell of the Committee's Buil Premium Scheme

Members of the deputation were not hesitant in stating that this was a scheme which had now outlived its usefulness With the spread of artificial insemination there is no longer the same demands from nature and the opinion was expressed that the scheme should be more or less scrapped

I am not going to argue the merits or demerits of artificial insemination I am far from qualified to do so, but I think that the young farmers of County Waterford should now their own minds and I will know their own minds and I will accept their word

There is always a reluctance to accept new ideas, especially among the older generation, and many there are who are always loathe to break with the traditions of the past But progress must be served and youth will have its way

The only interest I have in the subject is that these bull premiums cost about £400 a year and if the farmers are satisfied that there is no need for them I cannot see why the Agricultural Authority should more or less stuff it down their throats by continuing it

An effort was made by the Committee to refute the claim

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS of the deputation by flourishing returns (sheaves of forms) made ome around again For the by the holders of premium bulls of the great festival—no matter the paper they were written on what the cost as they could be "arranged" for ment may permeate the atmos phere of every home in this holy and joyful season

Thow this is a very serious situation as it amounts to the fact that one of the Agricultural Committee's principal schemes down through the years has been more or less abused That the ratepayers money has been spent on something which has not given a proper return Here is further food for thought for the ratepayers

With a position such as this, few lines the familiar airs of all then I cannot for the life of me the best known Carols are in see why the Committee should my ears from a wireless in the have continued even for this have continued even for this year, a scheme which those to whom it is directed do not want
