ACCOUNTS AND ADDRESS TO SHAPE AND ADDRESS TO SHAPE ADDRES These words are inscribed upon the statue of Drummond in the City Hall, Dublin Surely they could be fittingly applied to road behaviour in our time The eager driver with the eager car is dangerous, unless tempered by a profound sense of responsibility The possession of a car must be accompanied by the requisite moral maturity and the determination to become not merely a good driver but a considerate good driver Remember that there are other people on the road who may not be so quick as you are Remember that in certain circumstances the words "It was not my fault" are futile
