Waterford County Council have a record almost unique now for the outbreak of controversial discussions at their meetings Even at last Monday and the countrol of the country of th annual meeting which one The daily papers contained usually expects to be one of accord with the Mutual Admiration and to the fact that a monument was being made to replace him Be that as it may, I think that when he was re-elected by the odd vote in twenty-three he should have let the occasion pass without firing off a volley that started further fireworks The Chairman appealed to several members to stop acting like schoolboys and get down to doeral members to stop acting like schoolboys and get down to doing the business of the Council in a serious manner I am all in favour of this plea but I think that the Chairman should also apply it to himself A firm hand at the tiller is required if the Council is to get along on an even keel if discussions are allowed to ebb and flow with every undercurrent that comes along, then there's bound to be dissention and discord dissention and discord

While on this matter of doing the business of the Council in a proper way I think that Council or should try and do as much of the routine business as possible with the officials in the officials in the officials in the succeeded in rallying a number of pikemen and managed to take part in several minor skirmishes

In 1803 following Emmet's property of the offices without taking up so abortive rising in which Byrne much valuable time during the was entrusted with the compublic meetings of the Council mand of the Wexford and Wick-I suppose Council members are low men who were to seize the entitled to propose what they entrance to Dublin Castle the like, (and look for the publicity latter went to France There in like, (and look for the publicity latter went to France There in they expect), but would it be too much to ask them to be reasonable and to stop putting up proposals which are aimed solely at buying popularity with certain sections, at the expense of the ratepayers as a whole Everyone is entitled to a fair crack of the whip but why should anyone or any section be coddled Is the answer that the coddled Is the answer that the public representative must allis gone ways have his eye on the ballot in the ranks of death you il find look-out for fair and square local administration At the conclusion of last Monday's meeting 1 heard several members complain about the "sacrifices" they had to make to attend meetings of the Council If the "sacrifices" so many and so hard why is there so much fighting to be elected on the Council Does that honour alone merit all these subsequent 'sacrifices' Your subsequent 'sacrifices' guess is as good as mine the tail-end of last week-end under must form a certain amount of The harp he lovd ne er spoke men of Ring and Helvick A For he tore its chords asunder considerable time ago representations were made to the Fishery Branch of the Department of the Department of the Penartment of the Pena Branch of the Department of Thou soul of love and bravery 'Agriculture to allocate at least Thy songs were made for the one boat under the Gaeltacht scheme to Ring With the pass ing of time those in the know nodded their heads wisely and held secret conversations in corners and at back-doors. They telling the world that a boat was coming to Ring great air of expectancy rose among the men interested sure were they that the boat was coming after all they had been told that it was only a question of time—a few months at most They can still be sure that the boat is coming and that it is still only a question of time but will be "in how many years" instead of 'in how many

It would appear that Donegal Kerry and Galway are to get all that's going first and the Gaeltacht in Waterford will get what's left over after These western sea-board counties command too many big guns in the Government and its Department and t ir political represen-tatives can 'out-angle' the men representing this southern seaboard county The facts

However the disappointment f the Ringmen can be tempered with the knowledge that Mr O J Flanagan to whom the fisher-men looked to do so much in the Fishery Department told Deputy Kenneally in the Dail last week that as the boats became available, the fishermen at Ring, who came under the scheme would receive every considera-Phone 60

Superintendent P Flanagan who prosecuted said that defendant was a married man with a family who was at present unemployed. On the date in question he visited the house of Mr Landers to collect a young goat he had been promised. He found no one there and went around to the back where he heard some chickens in a house and took them. When questioned he at first denied the charge but later admitted it. He had a good record up to this.

The Justice remarking that it was a pity for defendant to blot his good record like this gave in the henefit of the POA.
