who went to the Town Hall to hear a talk by Professor Wyle on Ireland's Traditional Songs and Music and I must say that it was as fine a lecture as I have heard and one that was worthy of a bigger audience

The lecture was given under the aegis of the Dungarvan Branch of the Comhaltas Ceol-

At the outset the Branch Chairman Dr K McCann himself an enthusiastic traditional musician told the audience that next year the 6th Festival would be held in Dungarvan during the Whit week-end The fixture he said, would mean a big invasion of the town and 40 to 50 thousand people would spend an estimated sixty to seventy thousand people in the town during sand pounds in the town during "The success or failure of the festival" said An Doctuir "depends on the people of Dungarvan and I hope that all will co-operate in making it a recordbreaking function
