THE KING OF ALL BIRDS

Most popular and oft-mentioned wild bird at this time of the year is the little wren—associated with the old St Stephen's Day custom, now fast dying of "buryih' the wran"

Everyone is familiar with the opportunity arises groups of children who travel about banging off door knockers on St Stephen's Day with their holly bushes and chanting "The wran, the wran the of all birds, St Stephen's was caught in the furze Despite much research by naturalists and others interested no reference can be found.

ed no reference can be found for the origin of hunting this little mite of a bird and the only fact which has been established is that the hunting and killing of the wren has been going on for hundreds of years

There is however, a legend about the bird and it is most probably from this that the practice has its origin. It is related that when the first martyr St Stephen was being hunted by his persecutors he climbed up a tree and hid from the soldiers in the ivy that grew about it While the saint was hiding quietly a wren flew into the same tree and when the soldiers drew near it flew out with much clucking and noise thus drawing attention to the tree as a result of which the soldiers searched it and found

Whether this can be blamed for the annual persecution of "the king of all birds" or not I cannot say but I am sure that most of those who do the rounds collecting to bury his highness know nothing of even this

A Christmas Wish by JP.— Addressed to the Little Unes — I d like a stocking for a giant

For the poor little girls and the Glen to Mr Walshe's Kilbeg boys where he found himself safe for

Before the sun went down One would want a new Jack knife sharp enough to cut

One would long for a doll with And eyes that would open and shut One would ask for a china set

I'd buy soft flannels for little frocks and a thousand stockings or so. And the jolliest little coats and cloaks to keep out the frost and snow

I'd load a wagon with carmels and candy of every kind, And buy all the almonds and pecan nuts and toffy that could find And barrels and barrels o

TWO SAVING SUGGESTIONS

Beautiful soup so rich and green Waiting in a hot tureen! Who for such dainties would not stoop? Soup of the evening beautiful soup!

So sang the Mock Turtle in "Alice in Wonderland" and so could sing your whole family after tasting rich green pea soup, made with ham water and flavoured with onion, celery, carrot, dried peas and a sprig of mint and to an accompaniment of toasted garlic croutons. And it's cheap, you haven't thrown the water the ham was boiled in down the sink, dried peas are cheap, and the toast crusts make your sophisticated croutons Andersons of Buelton, California, are famous throughout the United States for one dish-green pea soup, and here is their recipe Well wash a cupful of dried peas, and put them in a bowl of cold water and leave for twenty-four hours Drain off the water and put the peas in a stew pan with your ham or bacon stock, an onion with a clove stuck in it, a column of celery, acarrot cut in small pieces and a sprig of mint. Bring to the boil and simmer for twenty-five minutes Remove the onion and rub the remainder through a sieve, add a cup of hot milk and a nut of butter. Serve very hot with your croutons, which you have prepared thus Fry inch long crusts cut from the morning's toast in a little olive oil in which you had allowed a clove of garlic to scent. This is as good as you'll get in Buelton on the Pacific, and you don't have to pay dollars for it
