In Dungarvan, Mass was cele-rated at St Mary's Parish Croke Park we soothed Byrne, CC, came out on the Altar the huge edifice was thronged to the very doors. The scene was reminiscent of midnight Mass Many who attended the Mass had already looked after the necessary chores for the day especially the farmers who had to do many odd Jobs before they could leave. before they could leave lucky ones as they got the seats, but more about that anon

Dead on time the long train pulled away from Dungaryan station and it was not long until we pulled up at Cappagh for a big contingent from that district. It was to be a non-stop run for the rest of the way but when we reached Cappoquin there was another halt where more passengers got on I understand that these had been late for the train that had commenced from that station at 7 am and which had also pulled away on the stroke of time

FAST TRAIN

The time was short to Mallow utes after the first where we changed direction and The remark which came to headed north-east for Dublin's me out of the dark at Cappagh fair city On we went through north Cork into Tipperary and at Goold's Cross there was an ing—twas long but twas unscheduled stop for a short worth it all period (more of this anon also) and then on we dashed again with the giant electrically powered diesel drawing its huge load at great speeds Despite powered diesel grawing and powered diesel grawing and powered diesel grawing and powered diesel grawing and the last passengers at capture unscheduled steps we were poquin on sunday morning I grily eight minutes behind in am told that there were 850 passengers aboard While most passengers aboard were lucky to have

ALL IRELAND SUNDAY
A big percentage of the seventy odd thousand spectators that Jammed Croke Park for the All-Ireland Senior Hurling Final on Sunday last travelled to the game from Waterford County and City Most places throughout the county were "depopulated for the day and it looked as if every able bodied man woman youth, and maiden had struck out on the rocky road to Dublin

Many went the leisurely way they took off on Friday and Saturday by cars and trains, but for the bulk of us it was a case of up and back on the same day. With memories of the early comfortable run provided by the CIE diesel excursions to the semi-final still fresh in our minds most of us again plumped for the iron horse In order to meet the time schedule it meant an early rise for all

FAR FROM DISGRACED

Church at 6 am to facilitate wound of defeat and comforted the travellers and as Fr Dan ourselves with the knowledge Byrne, CC, came out on the that although beaten we were supporters back to Kingsbridge and the rush to get a seat. We settled down for the long norney cards to while away the time

The witching hour had passed before we stopped to drop the first ones home at Lismore then on to Cappoquin, Cappagh, and Dungarvan where the train emptied and all made for their homes and bed train which was extended on to Dungaryan on the homeward

Cruel fate which has dealt many shattering blows to our fortunes on the senior hurling field was never more cruel than at Croke Park on Sunday last when our team with a commanding lead and in rampant mood had the sweet cup of victory dashed from their lips in the very dying moments of the game and had once more to taste the bitter dregs of defeat.

Limerick Even tlough he beat Biophy in the run for the ball on a number, of eccasions has and har in the selectors left twenty three minutes of the half pass before they made a switch at this sector and then they brought out Mickey O Comnor who was playing a great game in his usual right half back position. The Cappoquim man did not find the midfield berth to his liking and Kilkenny continued to hold Dumbfounded amazement was the immediate reaction among the players and the thousands of solution was found Solution was found Mickey O Connor was allowed back to Waterford supporters alike as referee Stephen Gleeson his own place and Seamus blew his whistle and spread his hands to signify the end of the titantic struggle. Kilkenny were victors by a single point. The under dogs had held on and come midfield where he turned in a from behind at the crucial moment; their craft, guile wonderful display O Conwent to Power's position, and tradition had indeed stood them in good stead. although he obviously tried he could not seem to get going It is difficult to describe the numbness that followed Then Mickey O Connor switchthe realisation that we had been pipped at the post Johnny O Connor moved again this time to the centre-back position where he changed with impossible that Waterford could be beaten as they held a six points advantage and were playing fresh great blow as Waterford followers looked to him to be one of and confident. But they seemed to rest on their oars, the big men of the game

content to await the victory that the final whistle GREAT FULL BACKS must bring them instead of going on to press the issue

Our best line on the field of the huge attendance for his diving them instead of going on to press the issue was the full-back trio of Austin lion-hearted display. THE PLAY AND THE SCORES to the last moment We did not reckon, however, Flynn John Barron and Tom away two stone and several
