UNFORTUNATE OCCURRENCE
A feature of everyday life in Dungarvan, therefore, the past week is the factory hooter. It reminded us of the passage of the hours practically a dozen times every day and the townpeople looked to it almost as they did to the hooter on the Angelus bell. But as I say the hooter is silent and the factory is quiet. The men who normally make it a hive of industry are no longer tending their machines—they are on the outside doing picket duty carrying the placards which scream out strike on here. The pickets are out almost a week today for it was on last Thursday night that the men decided that they could not accept the Company's proposals and that their only redress lay in strike action. A total of 210 workers are involved in the cessation.

The strike was the climax to an extended period of unsettled conditions among the men. Difficulties arose about a demand by the Management for increased production in the factory and yard which was also made on the part of workers who were also involved. The latter arose when two men who had been employed were subsequently let go and new-comers were taken on shortly afterwards. The employees' support effort to set up the Union, the T & G W U objected to this and held that the principle in operation since the last strike during the winter of 1944 should be observed and that the two men concerned should have been taken back when work again became available.

The Management on their side held that these men were taken on purely on a temporary basis and that it was on these conditions that they accepted the work. They further held that there was never any agreement concerning the hiring and dismissal of workers which was as far as they were concerned a matter reserved to the Management alone.

Last Effort To Settle
The workers met on Wednesday the 30th October and following an open vote 183 voted to strike while only eight opposed it. Strike action to expire in a week, was then served on the factory by the Union. At the eleven o'clock meeting the workers agreed to suspend the strike notice for 24 hours to enable a Conciliation Officer of the Labour Court to come to Dungarvan to try and resolve the difficulties.

Representatives of the workers and of the Management sat late into the night on Wednesday of last week as proposals and counter-proposals came up one after the other. When the conference broke up after midnight no workable solution had been reached but the parties agreed to meet again the following morning. More long hours of discussion followed and when the conference ended things did not look too rosy.

The men who were still working while the conference sat had been notified to attend at the local town hall after work on Thursday night. When I arrived, the approaches to the hall were lined with bicycles and motor-bicycles. The men congregated for the late vote I observed Union Secretary P J Breen PC and members of the Workers' Committee Phil Cashin and Dan Coughlan among others in the hallways. When I asked them of the prospects there were no smiles—the outlook of the men agreeing to the proposals were gloomy.

Almost two hours later their forecast was proved correct when I was officially informed that the men by unanimous vote rejected the proposals and decided to strike. The break had come.

Not Taken Lightly
Strike action is the last resort left to the worker to obtain what he considers is justice for himself and his colleagues. It is an action that should not be taken unless every avenue has been explored without success. On the other hand employers have moral obligations to fulfill where their employees are concerned and they are in a very delicate bound to do the very limit before allowing a cleavage to occur.

Strikes are always an unfortunate occurrence no one gains by them. They are doubly unfortunate when it is the time of the year and it looks ridiculous in this civilized age and with the season of goodwill towards all men only five weeks off that the workers and employers have been in a Catholic factory in an Irish provincial town, cannot sit down and iron out their troubles. Besides the factory and the workers and their families there are many others who will feel the effects of the strike. The weekly payroll of the men was about £1,200 and the big bulk of this was spent

VEGETABLE AND MUTTON SUPPLIES TO ARDKEEN CRITICISED

The report of the Visiting Committee to Ardkeen for the month of October and the reply of the R.M.S. to the criticisms contained in it are discussed in an lively discussion at the quarterly meeting of Waterford County Council held in Dungarvan on Monday last.

The Secretary read the report of the Visiting Committee and Councillors R Keane and H R Dowd as follows—
“We visited all wards interviewed most of the patients and noted a co-operation between patients and staff. All patients were unanimous in their appreciation of the care and attention given them by doctors, nurses and all members of the staff.

New window-panes and effective door-fittings have replaced the broken and defective ones previously complained of. Many patients expressed their appreciation of the withdrawal of fresh beef from the menu as it had been “tough and almost uneatable.”
“We received a lot of complaints about the quality of the beef which served once a week and some about the quality of potatoes and root vegetables.”

“Most patients seemed to be disturbed by the change of beef from the menu. We feel that in the interest of the patients the matter should be clarified by a definite official statement.”
“We inspected the kitchen and food-stores and found all very clean and tidy.”

“We examined stocks of meat potatoes and vegetables and decided that there is great credit due to the kitchen staff for producing palatable meals from the materials available. Here is what we found—
Potatoes, Carrots, Parsnips, Onions in a very unsatisfactory condition.

“The saving of those items shown to us as they had been received from the suppliers contained a shockingly high proportion of small defective and unusable tubers and roots.”

“We examined the stock of mutton. Each piece looked most unappetising—a small proportion of lean mutton surrounded by large masses of fat. It was estimated that about 60 per cent of the fat would be cut away before cooking the piece and used to make dripping.”

“We recommended that greater care be exercised in the selection of the meat purchased from the suppliers and that the vegetables generally supplied were in the main satisfactory. “I feel” it stated that if Councillor Keane and other members of the Visiting Committee were contacted on the completion of their visit as arranged they would have agreed that the vegetables seen by them represented only a small fraction of the total supplied in each case.”

“With regard to potatoes the R.M.S. stated that the amount rejected as unsuitable was generally relatively small and these were returned by the stores to the suppliers and replaced with sound potatoes.”

WAGE INCREASE FOR ROAD WORKERS

Waterford County Council at their quarterly meeting in Dungarvan on Monday last agreed by 15 votes to 1 with 5 members not voting to approve a recommendation of the County Managers granting an increase of 6 1/2 per cent in the wages of the Council road-workers.

Mr J G Dowling, Secretary, stated that following a conference between Mr P J Breen, County Engineer, and Mr T D Walsh, and Mr T D Walsh, Secretary of the Union, the County Manager the latter had made an order granting an increase of 6 1/2 per cent in the wages of the road-workers subject to the approval of the Council and the sanction of the Minister.

Mr H Dowd said that a deputation of workers from the Lismore area had called on him and told him that they did not want an increase of pay but more work.

“For that reason” he said, “I propose that this increase be not given but that the money required to meet the increase be put to other uses devoted to providing additional work.”

“I feel that this increase is not given but that the money required to meet the increase be put to other uses devoted to providing additional work.”

“The Acting County Engineer told Mr Heskin that it was right that a lot of single and some married men had recently been let go.”

“Mr Heskin—I feel that continuity of employment would be better for the men than an increase of wages.”

The Western Junior Hurling Final contested by Lismore and Colligan Rockies at the Gaelic Field, Cappoquin on Sunday last produced to the near record crowd a fast and clean game of good if not very great hurling marked only by some of the strange one-sided referee decisions ever given by a referee. Reference was made to the strike at the Dickens Leather Factory when Mr. N Kelly asked if there would be any point in the Council intervening to try to bring about a settlement. This was a bad time of the year for Christmas no one wanted to be idle.
