THE RATES BURDEN Waterford County Council will hold their Annual Estimates Meeting in Dungarvan tomorrow (Friday) and I can tell you it will be no picnic. The total expenditure for the year falls for a rate of 69.3d, an increase of 8.3 on the present figure. It is a desperate jump and the worst part of it is that there will be very little leeway to make anything like a substantial reduction as I understand the County Manager has already gone over the figures very carefully.

RENT REVISIONS Publication of the rent revisions proposed by the County Council for Dungarvan Urban Council houses in last week's "Leader" caused some foreboding in all quarters and it would appear that when they come before the next Council meeting they will be rejected. Similar proposals for Local Authority houses have been turned down by the Councils of Dublin, Waterford and other local bodies.

THE FLOWER OF SWEET STRABANE A request comes this week from a reader in Crickeewell, London, for the words of "The Flower of Sweet Strabane," so here they are: "I were King of Ireland and all things at my will, I would roam through groves and all valleys to combat my fill. But the combat I would like is to win the heart of Martha, the Flower of Sweet Strabane."

WATERFORDS TOM CUNNINGHAM MASTER OF BOTH CODES

Written in the January 14 edition of the New York "Irish World and Gaelic American" the well-known American G.A.A. writer, John L. Devine, under the above caption, pays the following tribute to Tom Cunningham who recently retired from inter-county competition. Tom Cunningham may well be a player whom versatility has stopped from reaching the greatest heights of individual stature. Footballer and hurler he has of course been a rare performer for his club at school days, for his county for a far above average number of years, and for his province. Like Alexander there is little left for him to conquer and his name would surely rest in the repository of greatness if he had not been such a great team-man, such an adaptable player and so willing to take up any position and play his heart out there. At school, in Dungarvan C.E.B. he claimed the end of a great era which produced some of the best hurlers that this nursery has turned out—Johnny O'Connor was his senior by a year or two. He played most of his time on a moderate team, and no wonder he left the school team came again with a team of younger stars like Liam Shalloo, whose field was his position then. When Waterford crashed the All-Ireland barrier for the first senior title in 1948, the minors made it a glory day for the county with a double Tom Cunningham was at left half back, on that minor team which contained such others as Mick Flannery, Joe Condon, Donal Whelan, Eaddy O'Connor, Vincent Walsh and one of the best minors of any year who never survived the transition to other grades, Michael Kelleher of Cappoquin. When he came on the Munster senior championship scene, it was at centre-field and half-forward that he figured first. By this time he was a fixture at centre-half back with his club, and he was not without some experience subsequently in that position for the county. In the 1959 final he was back in the attack at full-forward. Then he took over from the busy farmer Joe Harney, whose loss to Waterford was bound to be fatal were it not for the fact that Cunningham then turned himself into one of the very best corner-backs that I have seen. Then two years ago when a vacancy occurred, the Munster selectors honoured him by choosing him at centre-forward. What a remarkable record of service, and what a remarkable testament to the complete skill of the Dungarvan man that he has brought success to so many positions. It has always struck me that he must surely make one of the very best men for the purpose of coaching courses and for the training of youth in the skills of the game. For it is not on the lowest common denominator of all the positions in which he has played that he has placed the basis of his success, but on the purest of timing and skill. Cunningham's brilliance is a product of a wonderful ball-sense. Intuitively, you can see by his approach to a situation on the hurling field, by his judgment of the flight of the ball and by the subtle though unconscious adjustment of his position, that he is one of those born ball-players who would be good at any game. If you were at all observant, and did not know the name by name, you could surely judge that he must be a good footballer, table tennis player, billiards, snooker, darts, and golf player—though for all I know he may never have played the last six of these games, but if he should care to try, he must be good at them. There are people like that. Ball-sense, I like to call it. Football of course has been the other big success story of Tom Cunningham, and here for a wonder he has been better known for his adherence to one position—centre-half back, which seems to be his preference of all positions in both games. A great and versatile player surely is Tom Cunningham from Dungarvan.

ABBEYSIDE QUALIFY FOR SARGENT CUP FINAL

Twenty Points Victory Over Cappoquin/Tourin

Abbeyside, who are in the final of the 1966 Sargent Cup Competition, qualified for the final of the 1967 Competition with a twenty points victory over Cappoquin/Tourin in the semi-final played at the Abbeyside grounds on Sunday last. After a hard fought and exciting first half, Abbeyside held the advantage at the interval when they led 3-3 to 1-3. The first ten minutes after the resumption was the most exciting period of the game with the result hanging in the balance as Cappoquin/Tourin crashed home two great goals with Abbeyside replying with a goal and a point. At this stage the winners were in front by 4-4 to 3-3 but with their superior fitness and better skill beginning to show itself Abbeyside took complete control and from 10-10 to the finish there was only one team in it as the Village lads added 3-7 without reply from the group team.

TEAM EFFORT

The team effort by a very young Abbeyside team which included seven of last year's county championship side, with each man playing his part to the full, was the key to their success. Back for the losers were Gine Wilkinson, Andy O'Keefe, Thomas Langan, Pat Morrissey, S. Scanton and M. Power. Scorers—Abbeyside—M. Power (3-1), D. Whelan (2-2), J. Flynn (1-0), B. O'Connor (1-1), P. Enright (0-4), P. McGovern (0-2), J. Cosgrave (0-1), Cappoquin/Tourin—S. Scanton (2-0), M. Fraher (1-0), P. Morrissey (0-2), E. Fraher (0-1). Abbeyside: B. O'Brien, J. Brown, A. Flynn, J. Walsh, J. Cosgrave, J. McGrath, J. Power, J. Flynn, P. McGovern, P. Enright, P. Enright, B. O'Connor, J. Hogan, M. Power, D. Whelan, Sub.—J. Hogan for B. O'Brien. Cappoquin/Tourin: F. McGrath, J. Gorman, G. Wilkinson, T. Sullivan, A. O'Keefe, T. Langan, T. Langan, G. Mason, T. Regan, E. Fraher, S. Scanton, P. Morrissey, M. Fraher, P. Quinn, J. J. Scanton, Sub.—J. Fraher for Morrissey, L. Sullivan for J. Scanton. In the absence of a referee, Western Board Secretary, Seamus O'Brien, took control and handled the game very competently.

WATERFORD DEFEAT LAOIS IN FINAL STAGES OF N.H.L. GAME

Waterford 4-6; Laois 3-7.

A very unimpressive display saw Waterford through with two points to spare over Laois in their National Hurling League game at Tramore on Sunday last, but it was only in the final stages that Waterford edged on by good work from Gerry Gunan at midfield, made the points safe against a surprisingly good Laois attack. Waterford were short, Seamus Walsh, Austin Flynn and Frank Walsh of the original lineout, but nonetheless, took control and justless performance and some drastic changes will be needed in the side if the county hope to do good in the championships this year. Their forwards saw enough of the ball to win the game well but a lack of cohesion in this sector played havoc with a large number of easy chances. They were equally happy in defence, also on a good few occasions and had Laois displayed a little more steadiness in attack they could have taken the points. The scores were level 2-2 each at the interval but Laois led by four points going into the last quarter when Waterford produced their effort. Mick Foley had a good game in goal for Waterford. Gunan played top class hurling at midfield, while Cheasty was the most dangerous of the forwards. He was given good assistance by Winny Conner and Danny Mahon.

SEMINAR FOR CREAMERY MANAGERS

Subjects covered in a two-day seminar for creamery managers in Cork last week, included the production of quality milk on the farm and factors affecting it, such as milking machines and manuals, the collection and assembly of milk at intake points including mechanical washing of cans, grading milk at creameries, testing for bacteriological and chemical quality and developments in the aspects of the dairy industry. Research work on all these being carried out by An Foras Talmhais and in many cases the findings are being applied at ordinary level. For example, the Dairy Research Centre at Moorepark, has been co-operating with the Waterford Co-Operative Society and Ballycough Creamery. Dairy Society in the development of continuous butter making in Ireland with successful results. With this new process Ballycough Creamery won the Road butter competition in 1966 and obtained the highest marks ever received in this competition.

MILK CHARGES

Work on milk cartage both from an economic and technological point of view is also proceeding in the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries. This is a highly important study to view the latter last year nearly 90 per cent. of the milk suppliers in Munster delivered their milk to some extent themselves. It has often been claimed that the dairy farmer could use the time saved in bringing his milk to the creamery more profitably on his farm and the cartage study will throw some light on this subject when completed. The amalgamation of co-operative societies in Co. Waterford has posed the problem for the emergent Waterford Co-Operative Society of the best utilisation of resources. An Foras Talmhais has been studying this problem in co-operation with the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society. This again is an important study in view of current emphasis on the rationalisation of creamery enterprises, and the methodology developed will assist further rationalisation plans.

OVER £3,000 FOR TIDY TOWNS COMPETITION

Entries are now being received for the 1967 National Tidy Towns Competition organised by Bord Fáilte. There will be 21 national awards and a total of £3,425 in prize money. A special drive is being made on the litter problem. The marking system has been extended to encourage greater attention to litter, wrecked cars and indiscriminate dumping and avoidable untidiness in general. A total of 150 marks—the maximum heretofore was 100—will be awarded this year as follows:—Effort involved (35); general cleanliness and tidiness (20); absence of litter (15); condition of streets and open spaces (15); appearance of public, private and commercial premises (5); colour harmony and general appearance (10); planting, gardens, trees, shrubs and flowers (10); condition of hedges and footpaths on approach roads (10); standard of fences and paved and grassed areas (10); absence of unsightly objects (10). The judges in past competitions have pointed to the growing problems of litter in all centres, and in some cases the problem has reached serious proportions. Bord Fáilte is aiming for an entry of about 500 towns and villages—last year 438 centres.
