THE UPWARD SPIRAL

Here we come again with our annual protest against the continuing upward rates spiral and this year we have indeed cause to protest in the loudest and most vigorous fashion. The pattern of increases up to this year has been in the region of five or six shillings a year but this year the increase has jumped to almost 12% in the £ or roughly 16% of the current rate for the total of the demand for the coming financial year of 83/4d in the £.

Will this upward trend ever cease? Personally while the existing rating system continues to operate I can see no hope of this happening; either that or until the system falls under by completely overhauling those who have to meet the demands. On the credit side I think that before the rating situation arises the Government will make a change in the system as the volume of protest from all parts of the country grows, to at least have the Health Services charges removed from local level.

In the current demand before the County Council for the coming year of 83/4d in the £, the amount for Health Services comes to almost 33% or nearly 40% of the total. Before the Council at its Estimates meeting in Dungarvan last Friday was a letter from the Department of Health directing the Council to request the Health Authority to have a second look at its proposed expenditure for the coming year with a view to effecting "very large economies." If this letter is to be taken as an indication of the Department's belief that estimates passed by Health Authorities at local level are not regularly pared to the minimum, either that or the letter is just user ideology for how otherwise could "very large economies" be made in an estimate already passed.

TIDY TOWNS 1969

Preparations for the 1969 Tidy Towns Competition with a total prize fund of £3,675 are already well advanced in towns and villages with a serious intent of winning an award.

The purpose of the Tidy Towns Competition is to stimulate local communities into eliminating unsightly things like derelict sites, fly-posting and dirty streets which mar the otherwise pleasant aspects of their towns and villages.

If they have not already done so, local committees must, without further delay, take a critical look at their localities. They should keep in mind the unusual but possibly neglected features which may have historic associations or may be the remains of a previous industry, craft or way of life of the community. Many villages are losing these old links with the past and are the poorer for it.

Special emphasis should be paid to derelict buildings (there are still a few left in some areas), local stone-work, houses of historic or other interest, shop fronts with interesting fascia boards and lettering and open spaces such as a town square.

Apart from obvious faults, marks may be lost where the community effort is not extended to the margins of approach roads. Weeds, rusty corrugated iron, derelict sites, abandoned cars, and unsightly dumps are certain to catch the eyes of the Adjudicators as has been proved by the reports of the competitions in recent years.

These, then, are the things that each local tidy towns committee in the county should be looking at as of now if they are, as I have pointed out, serious in their efforts. Each locality must be fully prepared for adjudication from June 1st. The results of the adjudication will be announced not later than the first week of September.

A SONG OF THE NORTH

After being treated ad nauseam by RTE and the daily newspapers to comments and interviews by Captain Terence O'Neill declaring on the merits of Liberal Unionists as against the "hard-core" Unionists in the Six Counties for the past month (to me all Unionists are the same) I think that we should get back to a proper sense of priorities and for that reason my choice of ballad for this week is Brian Na Banban's "A Song of the North."

I sing a song of the Northern Land,
Where the young Republic was bed and born,
Where men of all creeds joined hand in hand
To meet the Sasanach might with scorn;
Where heroes fought and where martyrs died
For Ireland's honour and Ireland's weal;
Where faith is stronger than England's pride,
And love more lasting than English steel!

Antrim and Down and Donegal,
Cavan, Fermanagh and green Tyrone;
Derry, Monaghan, Armagh—we love them all
For the tales they tell us of days long flown;
For the songs they sing us of Ninety-Eight;
Of Orr, McCracken and brave Munro;
Of Hope and Russel and Betsy

CAN'T BE POOLED

Mr. Walsh said the Minister and his officials knew very well that they couldn't make substantial reductions in the health estimate. "We can't be fooled by him but let us do as he says and go back again on the estimate," added Mr. Walsh.

Council Defers Striking Of Rate

HEALTH AUTHORITY ESTIMATE TO BE RE-EXAMINED

The members of Waterford County Council met in Dungarvan on Friday last to consider the estimates of expenditure as presented by the County Manager, Mr. C. O'Connor, for the coming year, and to strike a rate for 1969-70. The estimates called for a Rate of 83/4d in the £, an increase of 11/10d on the current year's rate of 71/6d in the £, but a proposal by Mr. N. Walsh that they defer striking a rate until the Health Authority's estimate had been re-examined was carried, and the County Rate will now be determined until the Council's next meeting on March 10th.

In presenting this estimate of expenses for the coming year, the County Manager said it provided for expenditure from Revenue totalling £1,863,887, excluding Town Charges for Lismore and Tramore, which would require separate rates of 2/11 and 2/2 respectively to meet the cost of services administered by the Town Commissioners. In addition, he said, separate charges in respect of malicious injuries would involve an expenditure of £13,345, and a rate of 1/08d in the £.

Mr. O'Connor went on to state in his report that the cost of the Health Services would rise from £429,406 in the current year to an estimated £474,891 in the coming year, which was an increase of £45,485. Public Assistance, Sanitary, General Purposes and Housing Services would all cost more in the coming year. Health alone would cost £210,72d of the total.

The Manager said grants and other receipts and credits were estimated at £742,520 in the coming year. The Council, he said, was aware of the continued demand for new, improved and extended services from the public, in all spheres of activity, and it had been the Council's policy, within the limits of the community's resources to meet these demands as far as possible.

REDUCTIONS

Since his report had been finalised for circulation, however, a circular had been received from the Department of Health urging their estimates carefully in an effort to achieve substantial reductions in their projected expenditure.

The Department's letter stated that on the basis of the estimates submitted by Health Authorities, the total cost of the services in the year 1969-70 would show an unprecedented increase over the costs in the current year. The total revenue expenditure of Health Authorities in the coming year would be in the neighbourhood of £49 million as compared with a figure of £41 million as originally estimated in respect of the current year. It was particularly disturbing, the letter added, that this situation should be expected to develop in a year in which no substantial extensions to services were budgeted for.

The letter also stated that unless very large economies were effected, further increases in taxation would be necessary.

Grey: And a thousand others who faced the foe!

From proud Cave Hill up to Breffni's Vales,
From the eastern billows to Inishowen,
The breezes are telling a hundred tales
Of the ones who battled to hold their own;
O boys like Neilson, the young and brave;
Of maids and mothers and manly men,
Of priest and parson who gladly gave
Their lives, that the land might be free again!

Men of the North! no shame is yours;
You are still unbeaten by greed and hate;
The hopes of the centuries eye endure,
And the faith that was flaming in Ninety-Eight.
The day is dawning when Northern men
Shall sweep the foemen from sea to sea;
And songs of joy will be sung again
At Northern firesides—in Ireland free!

DUNGARVAN MAN IS MEMBER OF NEW LAY CHURCH COUNCIL

The Council for the Apostolate of the Laity, a new structure within the Catholic Church in Ireland, was inaugurated at impressive ceremonies at St. Patrick's College, Day-Roath, last Sunday.

Its stated efforts are to promote the Apostolate of the Laity in Ireland; to co-operate with the Holy See's Council on the Laity and to assist the Irish hierarchy with advice and practical help.

The ceremonies opened with a Mass at which the Bishop of Waterford, Dr. Morris, Archbishop of Cashel, Most Rev. Dr. Russell, Bishop of Waterford (one of the Vice-Presidents of the Episcopal Commission on the Council of Clergy), Most Rev. Dr. Ryan, Bishop of Clonfert, were among the other clergy in attendance.

A.G.M. OF ST. JOHN'S REGIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

The annual general meeting of St. John's Association for Handicapped Children was held at the school on Tuesday night and was attended by delegates from most of the parishes in the region. Mr. N. Walsh, M.C.C., Cappoquin, Chairman of the Association, presided and in the course of his annual address referred to the "establishment" of new learners at Dungarvan in January.

Mr. D. O'Neill, Assistant Chief Medical Officer, whose services have been most commendably contributed towards the establishment of the school, gave a report on the progress that has already taken place in a number of areas.

Mr. D. O'Neill said that the results to be achieved by providing special educational facilities for slow learners and commented on the progress that has already taken place in a number of areas.

FOREST FIRE DANGER

The early Spring is a time of grave danger for forest lands. During the Spring, dry dead vegetation which has not been covered by new green growth is highly inflammable and can carry fire with great speed over long distances. There are now in this country 500,000 acres of State plantations and a substantial area of private woodlands. All these woods, and particularly the young plantations, are very vulnerable to damage by fire.

The burning of gorse and heather by farmers with the object of improving mountain and moor grazing often gives rise to very extensive fires. By law such burning must not be carried out unless at least one week's written notice has been given to the Garda and to the owners of any plantations within one mile radius. Heavy penalties are prescribed for failure to comply with this requirement.

Many fires also occur as a result of the carelessness of people who throw away lighted matches or cigarette-ends or who light pipe fires in close proximity to plantations. Carelessness of this kind can easily cause widespread destruction and may involve the culprit in prosecution as well as civil proceedings for any damage caused.

State forests are the public's own property and everyone has a duty to ensure that heavy loss will not be incurred through carelessness.

THE SURGE TOWARDS UNITY

Unity and Harmony—these are the words that have been on the lips of farmers at the grass-roots for a long time now. The cry for unity has become clearer and more definite since the Farmers' Rights Campaign. In a way, the tremendous surge generated by the Campaign, the sense of sacrifice and dedication to ideals, the feeling of togetherness as men marched and went to jail for a cause, had to be followed by a desire to hand over check together.

On the question of phasing of cattle supplies, Mr. Maher said that a guaranteed price would encourage farmers to hold cattle over to the Spring, thus getting the benefit of the higher prices available at that time.

Mr. Maher said that the British Minister for Agriculture, Mr. Cleverly Hughes had been quoted as saying that he was not happy with Ireland's failure to meet the store cattle target of 638,000 head a year.
