Their ship came home

After sailing from Ringsend in 1695 nothing was heard of the Ouzei galley until she returned to Ringsend in 1700. In the intervening years, the ship had been captured by Barbary pirates who imprisoned her Captain and crew and used the ship for their own purposes. Later the Irishmen, under their Captain, recaptured their vessed, now laden with booty, and sailed for home. For various legal reasons it was impossible to say to whom the treasure belonged. An arbitration court decided on a fund for the "alleviation of mercantile distress in Dublin", and the Ouzel Galley Society was thus formed, from which grew, in 1783, the Dublin Chamber of Commerce.
