A VALID RATE BUT—

Although the County Manager named the members that he would like to report to the Minister for Local Government the fact that the rate suggested was passed would be inadequate to meet the cost of all the public services required for the coming year. Waterford County Council went ahead and passed the rate, one of £4.86 in the £, at their estimates meeting in Dungarvan last Friday.

There was a certain amount of confusion after the meeting when it was disclosed by the Chairman, Mr. C. Curran, that he was refusing to sign the official resolution until he had obtained legal advice as to whether the resolution was in order or not.

There were some heated exchanges between Mr. Norman Walsh and Mr. Curran as a result, even though the meeting had, at this stage, ended and some members were led to believe, rightly or wrongly, that no rate had, in fact, been struck.

In a nutshell the position is that Mr. Curran, the Chairman, was, as I see the matter, in error in refusing to sign the resolution proposed by Mr. Walsh in the second place for showing such reluctance in allowing the resolution to be put to the meeting and in the third place in refusing to sign the official resolution form once the proposal had been passed by a majority vote of the Council.

The fact that Mr. Curran did not sign the official resolution form as Chairman of the meeting did not invalidate the resolution in fact a valid rate was determined by the Council at the meeting.

But, and here is where the first snag arises; the warning issued by the County Manager that in reaching their final decision the Council were not providing adequately to meet the costs of the various public services for the coming year has not been placed in the Council's hands.

Once the Manager has so informed the Minister the position is that the Minister, if satisfied with the Council's decision, will see no reason why the Minister should be other than so satisfied with the Council's estimates and that the members proceed to determine an adequate rate or else a commission may be set up to inquire into the whole affair. One way or the other we have not heard the end of the matter yet.

I, and I am sure, all my readers will accept the fact that the rate as struck was one of protest against the failure of the Government to do something more to subsidise the health charges. Promises have been made by the Minister for Health and by officials of his Department in recent years that some action would be taken to at least stabilise the position and absorb any further increases in central taxation.

But while a great deal of talk has taken place, nothing tangible has been done and because of the spiralling cost of health services the rates have rocketed until they have reached the £5 in the £ bar this year. This is nothing short of scandalous as the entire system is unjust and unequal, bearing so heavily and one-sidedly on a minority of the community.

I am afraid that I must agree that it now looks as if the Government have no intention in facing up to their responsibilities where this problem of local rates is concerned. The ratepayers have to absorb year to year for action but have been lobbied off with the usual promises. Much as we all like to be law-abiding citizens, I feel that this unhappy policy of putting off the evil day until it is now here will be pursued by the Government unless a concerted stand is taken by all councils and all ratepayers. Let us be taxed, but only in accordance with our ability to pay. If it goes beyond that and it has now, and we refuse, then all civil disobedience of what you will, I think we are morally justified in taking that stand.

CANADIAN UNIVERSITY HONOUR FOR RING MAN

According to a recent issue of "The Windsor Star" of Ontario, Canada, a young Ring man has won the distinction of being scholar of the year at the University of Windsor.

This is what "The Windsor Star" reports: "A travelling Irishman is the University of Windsor's scholar of the year in the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation's annual selections."

Patrick Henry Curran, 25, a fourth year English Literature student, was named a finalist in the competition along with 76 other Canadians.

"Being named a finalist carries a recommendation for fellowships and assistantships for graduate work. Mr. Curran has also received a teaching assistantship offer from the University of British Columbia.

"He plans to study modern English and Irish literature at the master's level and to teach there."

Mr. Curran was one of 946 Canadian and United States senior university students to receive fellowships or be named finalists by the Foundation and more than 9,000 U.S. and about 900 Canadian university students were nominated for the awards by their professors."

This is an outstanding achievement and one on which Mr. Curran is to be most heartily congratulated. Born and reared in the heart of the Ring Gaeltacht at Ballinacorney, Ring, he is the son of the late Michael Curran and Mrs. Nellie Curran. He entered the University of Windsor in 1968 after meeting Rev. John O'Donoghue of the University who has spent some time in this country studying Irish. Mr. Curran will complete his studies at Windsor this spring.

FAMOUS BRITISH 'BARD' IN DUNGARVAN

Resting and getting medical treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital (Dungarvan) for the past 10 days, is an Englishman of fame, as a Bard, Musician, Journalist, Poet and Broadcaster.

Mr. Francis Kendall-Husband (34), last of the wandering Bards in Ireland and Great Britain, has bronchitis, after being compelled to sleep out between Knock Shrine and Dungarvan. He is awaiting an empty bed at St. Otteran's Psychiatric Hospital, Waterford, and hopes to be found employment as a fitter and turner in a Waterford factory.

Francis, who last came to Dungarvan 6 years ago, has walked 8,000 miles through 22 Counties of the Republic in 21 years.

The food, at St. Joseph's, he said, was very good, and much better than 90% of other homes.

However he said, there were not enough beds for casuals, who, like the Home in Cashel, were forced to sleep on the floor. He estimates that over 1,500 men were forced to sleep out between Knock Shrine and Tinkers could get caravans and dole.

Mr. Kendall-Husband, has walked a large part of Western Europe, but never had to sleep out. Here in Ireland only people in the far West had any charity to the homeless he said.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Gorta, the Freedom from Hunger Council of Ireland has sent an acknowledgment for a donation of 50p received from "Anon," Leader Office, Dungarvan dated March 11 for its Freedom from Hunger Campaign Fund.

I wish also to acknowledge receipt of £5 cheque from an anonymous donor in England towards the Sean Murray Fund which I have passed on to the hon. treasurer of the Fund Committee.

THE OLD CLADDAGH RING

At last I am able to meet the request of Brig. M.P. of Youghal who at the beginning of the month asked for the words of "The Old Claddagh Ring."

Now thanks to the help of Mrs. Theresa French of Deane, 212 Avenue, Bronx, New York, we can oblige our Youghal reader. Mrs. French who states the author of the song is James O'Neill writes that she received the Leasda from her sister-in-law Mrs. Eileen Power, "Shanbally," Abbeyside, and that was how she happened to see that there was a request in the words. My sincere thanks to Mrs. French for all the trouble she went to in order to help us out. And now here are words of the song.

The old Claddagh ring, it belonged to my granny. She wore it to me, her life time and gave it to me. All through the long years she wore it so proudly. It was made where the Claddagh rocks down to the sea.

What tales it could tell of trials and hardships. Of the grand happy days when the whole world could sing. So away with your sorrow it will bring back tomorrow. Now everyone loves my old Claddagh ring.

With the crown and the crest so comely on its hummer. And blessing our hearts that God's blessing would bring. The circle of gold always keeps homes contented. With all the love entwined in my old Claddagh ring.

And she knelt at her prayers and thought of her loved ones. Her sweet, gentle smile sure would charm a king. On her worn hands as she told me her story. You'd see the bright gift of the old Claddagh ring.

It was she who gave it to me and it made me so happy. With it on my finger my heart-beats would sing. No queen on her throne would be half so happy. As I am when I wear my old Claddagh ring.

When the angels above call me up to heaven. In the heart of the Claddagh their voices will sing. Sing away with your sorrow, you'll be with us tomorrow. Be sure and bring with you your old Claddagh ring.

Valuation Placed On Ballinacorney Magnesite Factory

At last Friday's estimates meeting of Waterford County Council in Dungarvan, Mr. A. Deasy referred to a portion of the County Manager's report which stated that the increase in the Water Supply Loan Charges £4,800 for water and sewerage loan charges were allocated to meet the charges on a new loan of £36,000 sanctioned by the Department, as also the additional charges on Ballinacorney Raw Water Supply as well as provision for charges on the output for the water charges recoverable from the supply to the Magnesite factory at Ballinacorney.

In reply to questions by Mr. Deasy, the County Accountant said that £2,000 of the water charge to the Ballinacorney plant. He added in reply to further questions that a valuation on the buildings at Ballinacorney had now been fixed at £50,000.

Mr. Deasy remarked that this would mean that the Council would now get back much more from the Magnesite factory than the water scheme had cost and it was well that the public should be made aware of this.

INQUEST STORIES OF TWO YOUGHAL TRAGEDIES

Sitting without a jury at the Court-house, Youghal, over the week-end, Dr. Michael O'Dwyer, Coroner, held an inquest (opening the death of Patrick M. Loughlan, aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McLoughlan of Raheen Park, Youghal. Supt. P. McMahon represented the gardai.

Mr. Michael Mangan, the first witness examined by Supt. McMahon, said that he remembered February 25 last. He was just finishing work at 5 p.m. on the Ferry Strand when he saw a boy falling into the sea. He waded into the sea himself and was only 15 feet from the boy, who was floating outwards at the time and was alive, but could not reach him.

William O'Riordan said that he was fishing on the pier and saw a boy fall into the sea. He saw Joe Ring, who indicated where young McLoughlan was in the water. He took him into the boat and applied artificial respiration and kept doing so all the time he was in the boat.

Dr. R. O'Neill said he carried out a post mortem examination on February 25 and in his opinion the death of Patrick M. Loughlan was a result of drowning.

A verdict in accordance with the medical evidence was returned. Sympathy was extended to the parents and family of the deceased by the Coroner, Supt. McMahon and Mr. T. K. Keane, solicitor.

ROAD ACCIDENT VICTIM

At another inquest at the Court-house, Youghal, concerning the death of Miss Loreto Rohan, formerly of Friar Street, Youghal, who was involved in a road accident, Mr. Sylvester Rohan, brother of the deceased, giving evidence of identification, said his sister was 65 years of age and always in good health.

Michael Hogan, Aglish, Co. Waterford, driver of the car, said as he passed the Water Raiche Hotel (two people appeared on the road and he heard a third and saw one person lying on the ground. One of his passengers went for a priest.

Sergeant W. Doyle said at the time of the accident it was dark and the light was not very good. Miss Rohan died at 1.25 a.m. the following day.

Dr. T. Riordan said he was called to the scene of an accident, about 11.30 p.m. and Miss Rohan died at 1.25 a.m. the following day. The cause of death was fracture of the skull and laceration of the brain and the injuries were consistent with having been involved in a road accident.

A verdict in accordance with the medical evidence was returned and the Coroner, Supt. McMahon, Messrs. T. K. Keane and P. Kelly, solicitors, and Mr. P. J. Lynch, U.D.C., joined in the expression of sympathy.

WHAT IS A CREDIT UNION?

In recent times we have read and heard a great deal about Credit Unions. Both nationally and locally they have been in the limelight. R.T.E. spotlighted them on its T.V. "Outlook" programme a couple of weeks ago and they were referred to most creditably in the findings of the T.V. inquiry into money-lending.

Reports of the annual general meetings of the Dungarvan and Tallow Credit Unions and the formation of a new Union in Lisamore, have aroused local interest, and many people are asking "What is a Credit Union?"

Briefly it is a co-operative movement whose objective is to promote thrift and to extend loans to its members. The membership is confined to persons having a common bond of relationship. This bond exists among the residents of a small community, a well defined geographical area, an industry, a factory or the members of another bona fide organisation.

All persons of a common bond may join, regardless of race, creed or colour and all members have an equal say in the control of their Credit Union. The common bond in Dungarvan is residence or employment within the Urban Area.

An extension of this is that a relative of a person having the common bond and living in the same house with such person is also entitled to become a member.

Each Credit Union is an autonomous body. It is not a branch of another Credit Union, and controls its own destiny within the framework of the laws of the land, and the general principles of Credit Unionism. The policies of a Credit Union are decided by its members at an annual meeting and each member has one vote irrespective of the member's shareholding in the Union.

In Ireland the minimum shareholding is one pound and the maximum one thousand pounds.

Credit Unionism is a word wide and in the weeks to come we hope to bring you the story of its origin and growth. Its structure in the United Kingdom and its development here over the last decade.

Rev. Rovers, Ardmore were winners by a large margin, the Under 21 hurling match between Dungarvan, Ardmore were the losing side.
