GOING THROUGH THE MOTIONS

Waterford County Council at the moment is having its usual annual session. It is the usual time of the year when the County Council meets to discuss the various matters which are brought before it. It is a time when the County Council is expected to make a number of decisions which will affect the County for the next year. It is a time when the County Council is expected to make a number of decisions which will affect the County for the next year.

A LOT OF COODOLOGY

Already the hysteria has spread and the fever will have reached high pitch by Saturday night when the 1971 Eurovision Song Contest will be held at the Grand Hotel, Dublin. The contest is a massive event in which millions find themselves caught up in the name of some vague concept of nationalism for when it is examined closely the songs are far from top-flight.

THE COUNTRY I'M LEAVING BEHIND

This is one of the old ballads now seldom sung but still appropriate for the occasion when one of our young men leave us for foreign parts!

THE CONSEQUENCES

What will the consequences of the doubtful honour of hosting this song contest this year mean to Irish television viewers? It is expected that cut-backs and severe economies will follow RTE's £35,000 extravaganza which is the cost of it all. Drama and light entertainment programme schedules, are already reported to have been hit and many programme producers are standing by waiting the fall of the economy axe. It is said that the actual effect of the show will involve the RTE Authority in the expenditure of £140,000 for equipment besides the production costs which will not be felt until later in the year. How could such a triviale be worth so much money or the sacrificing and curtailment of so many other good programmes? It's worth thinking about!

A WORD OF THANKS

I publish the following letter without comment:

"Dear Sir—I am now to thank you for my request a few weeks ago for the 'Old Claddagh Ring' which you got printed on 'Dungarvan Leader' for me. I am most grateful to you, and was so glad and happy when I got this last week's 'Leader' and saw my old song on it. Thank you once again.

"My many thanks, too, to the reader of paper, Mrs. Helen Foster for being the sender of 'Leader' to New York, also my very sincere thanks to the nice lady, Mrs. Theresa French for sending on the words of the song. Thanking you

Urban Councillors Adjourn Dungarvan Rate Decision

FATALISTIC TO ANTICIPATE MINISTER'S DECISION ON COUNTY COUNCIL STAND

The shadow of the inquiry ordered by the Minister for Local Government to be held into the stand taken by Waterford County Council on the rates issue loomed over the adjourned estimates meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council last Monday night and the members decided rather than "wesh" on the members of the County Council in the fight they were making, to defer the striking of their rate until the matter of the County Council rate had been finally settled.

The Chairman, Mr. T. Kynne, stated that before making any decision about the rate he thought it would be best for the Council to first consider the Manager's report on the present position as it affected them. This was agreed and the Town Clerk, Mr. J. P. Robinson, then read the following report from Mr. C. A. O'Connor, County Manager:

"As you probably know, a rate was determined at the adjourned Estimates meeting of Waterford County Council which was held on 19th March. The effect of this rate is to reduce the County Demand from the amount shown in the Estimates dated 5th March, 1971 (£48,853) by £6,380, giving a revised Demand of £42,473. However, this rate is considered by me to be inadequate to meet the statutory demand from Waterford Health Authority and accordingly, I have submitted a report on the position to the Minister for Local Government.

"This leaves the Urban Council in a rather difficult situation in considering the estimates for 1971/72. Despite the fact that the County Council rate is considered by me to be insufficient, the County health charges could be solved if all Councils acted in unison. The present rating system was an antiquated one, he said, and would have to be changed and it was just as well that this be done now rather than later.

Referring to the suggestion in the County Manager's report, Mr. Deasy thought that it was rather fatalistic in assuming that the Minister might allow the rate as struck to stand and he did not go along with the idea that the Minister was going to impose the original rate. There was a possibility that the lower rate would be allowed to stand. The increases were appalling and unbearable and he felt that they should all get together and fight this issue of the health charges.

In reply to a question by Mr. Deasy, the Town Clerk said that if the rate as struck by the County Council were allowed to stand it would mean a saving of 38p (777) on the Urban rate.

Mr. D. Goude said that this was a kind of remote thinking on Mr. Deasy's part. There was an obligation on the Council to strike a rate and the health services were a statutory charge and they had an option but to meet them.

UNIQUE POSITION

Mr. Kynne said that the position as it now stood was unique as it was the first time that this had ever happened. The health charges were a statutory charge on the County Council and when they in turn made their demand on the Urban Council this included the Urban Council's proportion of the health charges. This year the County Council had cut the health charges and that was reflected in their demand on the Urban but the Manager had put up the suggestion that they provide for the equivalent of the County Council cuts by approving of the debit balance.

"I," said Mr. Kynne, "agree with Mr. Wade that action on this question of the health charges should come from all Councils but from press reports I have seen, about half of the local authorities up and down the country have already struck their rates, including Dublin. So that I can't see any unanimous move on the matter, at least for this year."

At this stage Mr. Deasy asked the County Manager whether they were obliged to reach a decision on the rates at that meeting. Mr. O'Connor replied that the Council could either strike a rate at that meeting or adjourn it (await the outcome of the Minister's inquiry into the County Council rate.

NO REDUCTIONS POSSIBLE

The Council then proceeded to discuss the Co. Manager's report on the estimates (based on a full demand from the County Council) which provided for a total expenditure in the coming year of £100,533 requiring a rate of £5.59 (111/9). This is an increase of 94p (18/9) over last year when the rate stood at £4.65 (93/6). The County Demand at £48,853 was up £7,407 on last year and accounted for £2,727 (54/4) of the total rate of which approximately £2 went towards the cost of health services.

The cost of Town Services jumped by £10,542 from £41,138 to £51,680 and accounted for £2,877 (57/5) of the total rate.

The report pointed out that were it not for the valuation increase in the urban area the rate would have increased by a further £0.08 (1/8) or by a total of £1.02 (20/5) over last year.

It then listed the main heads of increase as follows: Roads £0.03 (7d.); Sanitary £0.11 (2/3); Housing £0.23 (4/7); County Demand £0.39 (7/9); General Urban Purposes £0.18 (3/7). Included in the estimate for Urban Roads (£3,100) is a sum of £200 to be used towards the establishment of a Junior Traffic Warden Service.

The increase in Sanitary Services which jump from £29,246 to £34,903 are accounted for by the 12th round salary increases and other wage increases; a very considerable increase in the estimate for sewerage from £1,172 to £2,205 due to the main also to salary increases and to the provision of pump-houses at Fr. Twomeys Road and the Sluisheen; an increase of £2,045 (in a total of £7,179) for scavenging also stated to be main-

WATERFORD MAKE SURE OF PROMOTION

Deserved Win Over Wexford Waterford 0-14; Wexford 2-4. Waterford made sure of promotion when culminating a great National Football League campaign with a well merited win over Wexford at Walsh Park, Waterford, on Sunday last. A magnificent fight back in the second half when a very good Westford fifteen looked destined to take promotion carrying points was for Waterford the distinction of entering the first division of the League next year, and judging by their form in the closing stages of last Sunday's game they will prove no company for the best.

BALLINACOURTY'S RESOUNDING WIN

Ballinacourty set out in defence of their under-21 football title with a resounding win over Stradbally in a first round game of the current competition played at the Frasier Field, Dungarvan, on Sunday last. So impressive was Ballinacourty that they must now rank as favourites to retain the title. They were expected to relinquish 'claim to Stradbally who provided the stiffest opposition last year, but it was the Govenan who came off second best in an entertaining but at times a rough contest.

DUNGARVAN DOMINATE TOUGH ENCOUNTER

Dungarvan 0-9; Geraldines 0-6. Dungarvan's under-21 footballers had a surprise win over more talented Geraldines (Anglo) fifteen in a first round game of the current under-21 football championship played at the C.B.S. Grounds, Dungarvan, on Sunday last. But despite Jimmy Moran must take the honours from this clash which was rough, tough and robust for managing to keep control of a task which was at times quite difficult. The exchanges were hard fought and the rivalry keen but in many occasions Jimmy Moran must take the honours from this clash which was rough, tough and robust for managing to keep control of a task which was at times quite difficult.

AFFANE HAD LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN DISPOSING OF EMMETTS

Affane 3-12; Emmetts Nil. Hot favourites Affane found little difficulty in disposing of Emmetts side devoid of spirit and talent when they clashed in their first round under 21 football championship game at the Frasier Field, Dungarvan, on Sunday last. Even with the aid of the strong breeze in the first half Emmetts failed to make any headway whatsoever and were trailing 0-8 to all intents and purposes after this stage when the end result would be four minutes after the restart Affane made their passage into the next round safe when D. McCarthy goalied following a melee in the Emmetts goalmouth.

CO. WATERFORD MACRA NA FEIRME NOTES

CO. WATERFORD MACRA NA FEIRME NOTES. The opening five minutes in the second half belonged to Stradbally as they fought to get control. They had their second score of the game, a point from a free point Sean Heaney after three minutes but just when they looked to be gaining the initiative Matty Hanrahan crashed them with the score which decided the issue.

DUNGARVAN MATERNITY SERVICE

T.D.'s TO AGAIN SEE MINISTER

The problem of providing a maternity unit in Dungarvan was again discussed at a meeting of the Waterford Health Authority held in Waterford and it was agreed that the three local T.D.'s should again approach the Minister for Health to see if an acceptable solution could be reached.

The members at their previous County Manager about hospitalising in Dungarvan three weeks ago, decided to reject a suggestion made by the Minister that a unit be placed in the District. He put it as a short-term solution for the moment.

Mr. C. Gorman said that the efforts of the members of the Authority were shut down by pressure groups. The majority was not taken into account by the Minister but they were people going through a very difficult time and he was not going to take any initiative from anybody.

Mr. W. Kennedy, T.D., said that no pressure group had anything to do with his decision on the matter. Mr. R. Jones said that at the last meeting he spoke very strongly about the matter. Maybe he was pressured by some people but he voted against having the four-bed unit. He still hoped that the Minister would, in his wisdom, do something for the town of Dungarvan.

Mr. K. O'Riain said that at the last meeting in Dungarvan they received a reputation concerning the maternity unit. There was pressure brought to bear and there was false and misleading information given by people. The poor people of Dungarvan did not know what was happening and all they knew was that they had nothing.

Mr. S. Whelan said that he agreed with Ald. Brennan and he was of the opinion if they pressed the Minister they would get the hospital. It was finally decided to ask the three T.D.'s to approach the Minister about the matter.

BALLINAMEELA GUILD I.C.A.

The Ballinameela guild of the I.C.A. held its monthly meeting in the local hall on Wednesday March 24th. Mrs. Eileen O'Brien was president in the chair.

Unfortunately, owing to a car accident, Miss Brona Hollowood was unable to attend. Mr. M. Gailion, always ready to come to the rescue, was a very able substitute.

He spoke to a large audience on a subject dear to all parents hearts—the new curriculum in the primary schools, and parent-teacher relations.

The next meeting will be on April 13th, Miss Quill and Miss Ward from the Sunna Centre, Aris Muintir, Dungarvan, will speak about the services they offer to members are invited to bring a friend.

DETECTION AND PREVENTION OF GRASS TETANY

Hypomagnesaemic Tetany is a disease of cattle and sheep. It is also referred to as grass staggers and more commonly grass tetany.

Hypomagnesaemia means that the magnesium in the blood has fallen to a dangerously low level. The blood contains a number of minerals. The body normally maintains them at the required level but should any of them fall below this the animal becomes disturbed.

The condition occurs usually in cows recently transferred from winter and stall conditions to lush pasture grazing. It has been observed in recent years that single suckler outdoor cows are especially at risk during a six week period after calving. Cows forced to nurse their calves for too long a period are also prone to develop the condition. Occasional cases have been observed in stall-fed animals.

COWS

Symptoms vary considerably. Usually in the early stages there is excitement, muscular twitching especially of the ears and eyelids, stiff and unsteady gait and sometimes aggressiveness. This stage progresses rapidly to a state of muscular spasm, when the cow falls and struggles convulsively. Death follows quickly. In other cases the symptoms can vary from this state of marked excitement to a depressive state, similar in many respects to milk fever. Here the animal appears slow to react, unsteady and stiff. She may fall down and go into a coma. No excitement or muscle twitching may be obvious.

There is no clear-cut division between the two types. A correct diagnosis is essential to enable proper preventive measures to be taken. Analysis of blood calcium and magnesium levels will assist in the diagnosis of doubtful cases.

Treatment aims at immediate restoration of the magnesium level in the blood. Your Veterinary Surgeon is equipped to do this and should be consulted immediately. While awaiting his arrival keep a close watch on the affected animal. She may fall down or do herself some injury. If she is lying down prop her up at the shoulders with bales of straw and make her as comfortable as possible.

Prevention — In herds where grass tetany has been a problem, it is desirable, especially in the case of cows, to dose individual animals with 2 to 3 oz. of calcined magnesite for the first four weeks they are on Spring grass. Alternately, the pasture may be dusted in such a way as to provide for an intake of magnesite similar to the dosing method. A mixture of dolomite and magnesite, equal parts by weight, thoroughly mixed and left in troughs for ad lib. consumption is sometimes used and is particularly suitable for control in unwatered single suckler cows. When turning animals out on to Spring grass the daily grazing time should be limited at first and increased gradually. Supplement the ration with hay or straw.

CALVES

Hypomagnesaemic tetany of milk tetany in calves is invariably associated with animals whose ration is a milk or almost a whole

NEED FOR BETTER INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS STRESSED IN "REALITY" ARTICLE

The history of industrial relations in Ireland has not been a happy one. We've had lockouts, pickets, strikes, broken promises, needless suffering. The lot. To many, the future doesn't look too bright. This month, "REALITY" examines some of the questions raised by the present situation.

Mr. Noel Griffin, managing director of Waterford Glass, contributes the article entitled "Towards Peace in Industry". He takes a critical look at the role of labour relations and concludes that unless a more reasonable approach is taken by both management and unions, the economic future of this country looks very bleak indeed.

Mr. Michael Mul'een, General Secretary of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, deals with "The Role of the Trade Union". His conclusion: "The unions and the workers they represent are more than anxious to make a positive contribution to the industry in which they serve. Until such time as management realise that worker participation is everybody's interest, then a great deal of the discontent that is reflected in our streets and that damage both sides will continue."

The Morality of Strikes is the subject of an interesting article by Fr. George Wadding, C.S.S.R., who teaches moral theology at Milltown Park. He offers no handy rule as to when a strike is justified or not. Instead, he examines the "rules for just strike" recognised by theologians, shows how they need to be developed, and concludes with some general ideas which would make for better relations in industry.

This month the Mental Health Association of Ireland is organising a Mental Health Week from the 18th to the 24th. Mr. J. F. Reynolds, Secretary of the Association points out some of the lessons many of us have still to learn about Mental Illness in Ireland. Some other aspects of the same problem are dealt with by Maria O'Connor in her article "All Our Children." Mrs. O'Connor is Director of the Training Programme at Lota, Glannire, Co. Cork.

A hundred years ago this month John Millington Synge was born. He died a young man, aged 38, after writing some of the most memorable plays of his time. These brought him fame, but little personal happiness. Fr. Richard Tobin, C.S.S.R., writes of "The Legendary Road of John M. Synge."

In an interesting review article, Rhea O'Regan discusses "Change in Styles in the Theatre". Fr. Sean Purcell, C.S.S.R., writes a thought-provoking article for Christians under the title "Christ is Risen: Does It matter To You?" Besides the articles mentioned, this issue contains the usual REALITY features, and a rather unusual short story.

A QUESTION OF LOGIC

by ASDAL

The other day, while out counting the parish pubs, I stumbled across several astute local gentlemen having a rather dumpy discussion on education. The rhetorical fire-works were delicious to the ear, as usual.

Setting in with a glass, to enjoy the comfort of this well-favoured plonk-palace, I was determined to listen only. I should have known better! The banter increased in pitch, amid much scorn and sneers of derision for each acclaimed institution, until most immediate targets had been shot to ribbons.

All but one!

From their midst, a school teacher friend wanted to know what subjects had been taught in any school I might have attended in his phrase: "in my youth." I occurred to me to tell the truth, and duly having attended very much at all, but I had reason to consider that he might believe me.

After my slight enumeration of what little I remembered of the three R's, football, history, and other fixtures to which one is exposed in grammar school, he inquired if "Logic" had been taught. Knowing full well that I was already looked, I admitted that I probably had, in my youth. It occurred to me to tell the truth, and duly having attended very much at all, but I had reason to consider that he might believe me.

"But, I didn't study Greek either, only Latin a little bit," a truthful admission that left me exactly where he wanted me.

"Sure, doesn't Latin come after the Greek, like your American comes after the English?" he reasoned, with no little pleasure, the look being well set.

"But, we don't study American either," I blurted out, much to his satisfaction.

"That's logical," he said solemnly, as he reeled me in.

VALUE-ADDED TAX WHITE PAPER

New System To Come Into Force Next January

The White Paper containing the Government's proposals for the replacement of the existing turnover tax and wholesale tax by a value-added tax was published this week. It sets out that the principal reasons for the adoption of the value-added tax system are that — as it would accord with E.C. requirements, which envisage the adoption of a common system of value-added taxation for all member countries, and (b) it is the most efficient system of collecting a turnover tax extending to the retail stage, with greater safeguards against evasion.

There will be detailed discussions with trade and industrial interests preparatory to the introduction of a Bill to implement the new tax system. The Government will also be considering the opportunity to amend the new system to take place on January 1, 1972.

HOW THE TAX WILL WORK

The switch from the existing wholesale tax and turnover tax systems will be a gradual one in the method of collecting the tax. The question of altering those rates of the sales taxes does not arise. The current operation is confined to the substitution of a new tax structure for the present turnover and wholesale taxes.

Under the present systems the full taxes are paid by the wholesaler and retailer, respectively, whereas under the proposed system collection of the tax is spread over all stages in the chain of production and distribution. This is achieved by charging all business sales to the appropriate rate of value added, the rate being ascertained by the retailer, as a credit against that charge, suffered on goods sold and services purchased by the business. The value-added tax is simply another way of collecting the same amount of taxation.

IMMEDIATE CREDIT OR REFUND

It is proposed that the credit to be allowed on purchases during an accounting period may be claimed against the tax on sales during the same period. The trader will not, therefore, have to wait, as at present, until goods are sold before recovering the tax already paid thereon. Where, in any month, the credits allowed exceed the tax chargeable, the excess will be repaid to the trader.

RATES OF VALUE-ADDED TAX

The value-added tax will have three rates, corresponding broadly in scope and effect with those now chargeable. However, the tax will be charged on tax-exclusive prices and not on tax-inclusive prices, as under the existing system. The present rates of the sales tax will therefore, be maintained in their present form. The rates of value-added tax will therefore, be: 10% on goods and services; 5% on food, drink, tobacco, clothing, fuel and medicines; and 0% on goods and services.

A zero rate will be applied to exports and to certain other activities which are mainly concerned with exports. The zero rate ensures that no tax becomes chargeable on the goods and services exported. All other farmers will be required to register or to keep detailed accounts. They will pay tax on purchases of farm inputs (mainly at 5.2%) but all will be compensated for this by a percentage addition to the prices paid to them for their products which will rank for credit in the subsequent stage. The percentage addition will be designed to compensate them fully and it will be worked out in consultation with farming organisations and the Department of Agriculture.

TREATMENT OF FARMERS

Due to the all-embracing nature of the value-added tax it will be necessary to apply the tax to all farm inputs, such as seeds, fertilisers and machinery, most of which are now exempt. However, only a small number of farmers, mainly specialists such as market gardeners, will be required to register and pay tax on sales. In the same way as traders in general, all other farmers will be compelled to register or to keep detailed accounts. They will pay tax on purchases of farm inputs (mainly at 5.2%) but all will be compensated for this by a percentage addition to the prices paid to them for their products which will rank for credit in the subsequent stage. The percentage addition will be designed to compensate them fully and it will be worked out in consultation with farming organisations and the Department of Agriculture.

BUILDING AND RENTS

The tax will also extend to building. At present, building materials, as well as the service of building, are exempt from the sales tax but many items used in construction are taxed (e.g. timber, glass, fittings, etc.). In consequence, the taxes constitute, on average, about 3% of the selling price of a building. To preserve the incidence of tax unchanged, the value-added tax rate of 5.2% will be charged on newly-constructed houses and other buildings, will be assessed on only 60% of the consideration. (The second and subsequent sales of buildings will not, normally, be taxable. Rents will continue to be exempt from sales taxation.)

SMALL BUSINESSES

Special arrangements will apply, as at present, to small businesses. The arrangements will ensure that the tax is collected at earlier stages and that, consequently, such businesses need not come within the system.

CAPITAL EQUIPMENT

The relief at present applied to most purchases of capital equipment will be extended to all capital purchases (including buildings) by registered persons. This will be achieved by allowing tax on purchases of such equipment (exclusive of private motor cars and certain other items) to rank for credit against tax liabilities.

TRANSITIONAL PERIOD

Registered traders who have already suffered tax under the existing system at the date of the changeover will be required to pay the amount of that tax. When these stocks are sold they will be subject to value-added tax and the payments are designed to avoid double taxation.

EASTER TRAVEL

Free booklets containing full details of extra trains and buses for Easter, with timetable alterations and cancellations, will be available at stations, offices and depots.

There will be many additional trains from Dublin on Holy Thursday and Holy Saturday, but no week-day services will run on Good Friday. On Easter Sunday, the usual Sunday train will run in all areas. The issue of 3-day or Week-end tickets will be suspended during the Easter period.

Cheap Day Excursion tickets will be issued on Easter Monday for travel between most stations.

RT. REV. MONSIGNOR P. TOBIN, P.P., C.B.E.

We regret to record the death of Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick Tobin, P.P., C.B.E. of Burnham-on-Sea and formerly of Coadunassur, Dungarvan. The late Monsignor Tobin died unexpectedly at the Parochial residence Burnham-on-Sea, on Friday, March 19th. He was aged sixty-one.

He had been Parish Priest at Burnham-on-Sea since his retirement as senior chaplain to the British army. The late Monsignor Tobin who was a Privy Chamberlain to the Pope, was educated at Mount Mellary and St. John's College, Waterford. He was ordained in 1934 for the Diocese of Clifton. At the outbreak of World War II he commenced his twenty-seven years as a Chaplain to the British army and served during the war with the Eighth Infantry Division in Africa, Sicily and Italy. He was also with the Guards Division (Irish) when they were in France and Germany.

Monsignor Tobin was a zealous and dedicated priest who won the esteem and affection of those with whom he came in contact; wherever he performed his sacred duties.

Bishop Radderham of Clifton presided at the Parochial Requiem Mass at the Sacred Heart Church, Burnham-on-Sea on Wednesday morning, March 24th. Subsequently Monsignor Tobin's remains were flown to Dublin Airport and conveyed from there to Mount Mellary Abbey where they were buried and received by Very Rev. P. Power, P.P., Cappoquin, assisted by a large choir of clergy. Many state and church dignitaries were among the huge attendance.

It will again be held at Gormanston College for boys and girls aged approx. 8 to 14 years; and will be a medically supervised holiday with resident doctors, nurses and dietitians. The aim is to give the children a holiday; to encourage them to be independent as possible within the limits of their complaint; to restrict them regarding personal diet; and to give their parents a break. The cost of the holiday is £24.50, and the Department of Health will contribute £10 of the amount for each child normally covered by the Health Act (Green Card or Blue Card) plus travel expenses in certain circumstances. Through the generosity of various firms throughout the country, the Association has limited funds available which will be used to offset the balance of £14.50 per child of hardship, although parents are asked to pay what they can genuinely afford. Children will be taken in order of application, and holiday forms are available from the Irish Diabetic Association, Ballynacreevy House, St. Lawrence Road, Clontarf, Dublin 3. (S.A.S. please.) (P.
