This road, one of the most dangerous in the country for many years, has been the scene of three crashes during the year. In the early hours of Sunday morning, the 15th inst., the occupants of a car narrowly escaped death when they were practically mangled by the car which was roughly half way along. The factory traffic is quite enough, but now residents are asked to endure the roar of bedding cars every Saturday night from 11 p.m. onwards and returning from a dance and returning from a dance. These so-called drivers wish to speed in Police Court, and return to court, let them say by all means, but why should other people have to suffer on this road as a number of people and children who have retired for the night are this racket starts. Before long, there will be a tragedy on this road, as it speeds seem to be upmost in the minds of many of these people, and then perhaps the authorities will wake up.

ANNUAL COLLECTION FOR ST. JOHN'S SPECIAL SCHOOL
At the Annual General meeting of St. John's Association for Handicapped Children held last week, Dr. M. E. O'Neill, Assistant Chief Medical Officer for the County and Medical Officer for St. John's Special School in Dun. Dr. O'Neill reported that at present there were 64 children on rolls in the school from areas all over the county which stretches from Stradally to Ballyduff Upper and over to Youghal and Ardaraun.

Dr. O'Neill pointed out that this was the maximum number which could be enrolled at the school in the present accommodation available. Plans to build a new school in the grounds of the Presentation Community in Dungarvan have been a set-back but it is hoped that once this has been rectified no further delays will occur.

Naturally delays of this kind are somewhat inevitable because they mean that the number of children to be admitted must be limited on account of space restrictions in the present school but also because of, and especially building costs, are shooting up month after month.

This makes the need for more funds more acute than ever. Besides the building fund required to meet the local contribution to the cost of the new school there is also the need to finance the day-to-day running costs of the school which also, like everything else, are increasing by leaps and bounds. Despite the many headaches they have because of all these difficulties those people in the Association concerned with the running of the school feel that it is worth all the trouble to see so much done for so many underprivileged children from the region. The progress made by most of the children since they started attending the school is almost unbelievable but nonetheless a fact.

Next Sunday the Annual Church Gate Collection in aid of the funds for St. John's School will be taken up at all churches throughout the region. This is the main source of money which the Association has each year. It is a very worthy cause; it is one well worthy of the support of everyone, married or single. Great work is being done for our mentally handicapped children; help those who are doing this to do more for greater numbers by putting your hand over the top of your pocket or purse as you go to church next Sunday and then go in and thank God that you have had the privilege to do so.

POLLUTION
Last week I referred to air pollution in Dungarvan and this week I feel that we must consider the likelihood of increasing pollution in Dungarvan harbour and its possible consequences.

From reports made in recent weeks it is apparent that there has been some pollution above the normal in the harbour due to the minor, untraced oil spillage. The extent of the damage caused by even so small a leakage really goes to show the terrible disaster which could be caused by any major spillage. But oil is but one of the many possible pollutants which we must accept as a fact. The possibility of increasing pollution in this is one of the inevitable dangers of industrial growth. The danger will increase but if the authorities are properly prepared they will see to it that all possible sources of pollution are properly neutralised before being discharged and that action against offending firms will be taken.

Actual Bodily Harm Charge Against Dungarvan Man Dismissed

WERE "SPARRING" WITH SHOVELS
Evidence that the parties involved were "sparring" with shovels was given during the hearing of a case at Dungarvan District Court last Monday in which Edward Connolly, 13, St. Garvan's Terrace, Dungarvan, was charged by the Attorney-General with assaulting William Bumster, 61, Cathal Brugha Place, Dungarvan at Shandon, Dungarvan, on January 15 last and causing him actual bodily harm.

Supt. M. Knight, prosecuting, said that he was a builder's labourer employed by Connolly and on January 15 he was working at Mr. Dempsey's farm. He was around when the row took place. He said that he saw Bumster backing the tractor and Connolly told him that unless he was careful he would break the concrete mixer. Witness said that he then went into the piggery which they were building and he was there a while when he was called out by Bumster who said that he was sparring with shovels. He then saw Bumster and Connolly sparring with shovels and the row then quietened down for a while until Bumster hurled a bucket at Connolly.

Witness continued by saying that Connolly then hit Bumster with the shovel and knocked him to the ground and may have hit him again but the shovel caught in the water-lose. Witness said that he then went to the other side of the road and saw Bumster and Connolly sparring with shovels. He said that he saw Bumster hit Connolly on the head with the shovel and that he saw Connolly hit Bumster on the head with the shovel. Witness said that he saw Bumster hit Connolly on the head with the shovel and that he saw Connolly hit Bumster on the head with the shovel.

Witness continued that he saw Bumster hit Connolly on the head with the shovel and that he saw Connolly hit Bumster on the head with the shovel. Witness said that he saw Bumster hit Connolly on the head with the shovel and that he saw Connolly hit Bumster on the head with the shovel.

THE MAY MORNING DEW

We had the "Irish Emigrant" as our halloo choice last week because it was appropriate for the month of May. Since then I have had a letter from a reader in Birmingham enclosing the words of the ballad "The May Morning Dew" with the comment: "What could be more suited to the month of May than this one?" Indeed I fully agree so here are the words: "How sweet 'tis in winter to sit by the hob, Listening to the bark and the howls of the dog, And to wander through the green fields where the wild daisies grew; Or to pluck the wild flowers in the May morning dew.

VISIT OF DUBLIN NATURALISTS CLUB

S.E. REGIONAL I.M.I. COMMITTEE PLAN NEXT YEAR'S COURSE

At a recent meeting of the South-East Regional Committee of the Irish Management Institute, chaired by Mr. T. Daly, draft proposals for next year's lectures, talks, films and seminars were discussed. This programme has been designed specifically to assist Managers within the Region in meeting their training requirements.

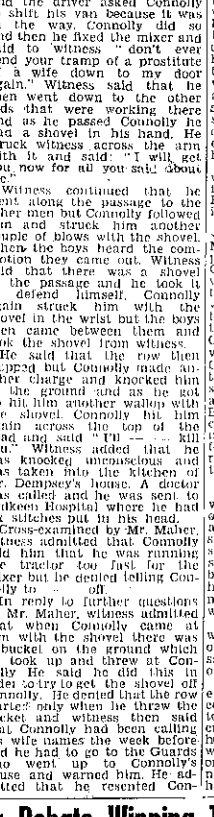

PATHS TOO WIDE ROADS TOO NARROW

When the lay-out plans for any future housing schemes in the Dungarvan Urban area are being drawn up I hope that Architects responsible will apply a little more practical sense to the lay-outs than those which they planned in the case of Murphy Place and Caseyville.

Murphy Place becomes a nightmare at night as residents park their cars outside their homes for the night. On many occasions when this happens it is almost impossible for another vehicle to be driven through because the roadway is so narrow.

Preparing Debate Winning Tape
