EQUIPMENT

It is yet a further sad commentary on the immaturity and irresponsibility of some sections of the community that it was thought necessary at the last meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council to invest in the purchase of one special type unifor holding life buoys as an experiment to see if it would survive the varidakism which has seen so much stashing ropes attached to the buoys.

The new units, which cost £33 each, consist of stands which are either lidded or open for wall mounting. All outside surfaces are moulded smooth for maximum weather resistance and 27.5 metres of rot-proof rope is stored inside the lifebuoy case. For emergencies, access is extremely simple. The lidded version is fastened by means of a weather and corrosion proof quick release rubber toggle fastener and on the open version the buoy is held in position by nyton setting.

Holding that each of the parties was equally responsible for what cocurred, Judge Fawsit at Dungarvan Circuit lass Friday ruled that each side involved in a collision should pay 50 per cent of the claim and counter-claim made against them arising from it.

Mr. M. Feehan, B.L., (instructed by L. F. Lanigan, Solr.) was for the plaintiff and Mr. F. Morrisse, B.L. (instructed by Farrell & Morrissey, Solrs.) was for the defendant.

Walsh, B.E., also gave evidence. Judge Fawsitt remarked that neither of the motorists had blown a horn and had this been done the accident would probably have been avoided. Due to a traffic block; both had taken detours because they did not have the patience to wait which put them on a collision course. He held that both were equally responsible and liable and ordered that each pay 50% of the cost made against him on the claim and counter-claim with costs and expenses in each case.
