THAT U.F.O.

When I wrote my last column before I went on holiday three weeks ago, I referred to the sighting of a U.F.O. by Mr. Pat Power, 19 Keating Street, Dungarvan, on the night of August 20 and asked whether any other reader had seen any strange object in the sky on the same night. I have since been informed by one Mrs. Mary Condon, Helix Street, Dungarvan, that she also saw a strange brightly lighted object in the sky that night and her description of it tallied with that given me by Mr. Power. What the object was I cannot say, nor can I say where it came from either. Like the other strange sightings which we have recorded from time to time it can only carry the tag U.F.O.—an unidentified flying object!

SOARING PRICES

Hardly a week passes, indeed I was almost tempted to write this column, without some increase or service being announced and those concerned have now begun to adopt the line of announcing their increases in a two-phase method — one operative at once and the other within a period. Indeed things have become so bad in recent months that people seem to have become just plain mesmerised by the speed with which increase has followed increase.

But what causes concern more than the increases and the economic consequences is the non-chalant and "couldn't-care-less" attitude with which the general public accepts this soaring spiral of prices. Ever since the introduction of decimalisation the pace of the upward trend has accelerated and there can be no doubt but that change-over was taken of the advantage to jack up prices in practically every field.

Four and bread prices have made a big jump—with the second of the two-tier phase set to come up by 1p per pint, which in old currency was equal to almost 23d. In all other milk, having been increased by more than 1d. per pint at any time.

Then we have had C.I.E. announcing a rise in bus and rail fares and charges; one Dungarvan business man came to me on Tuesday last and indignantly complained that the minimum charge to send a small parcel from Dungarvan to Ardmore on the bus was now 8/-.

Some of the latter concerns which are State or semi-State affairs, particularly C.I.E., are theoretically in the public domain but ever seem to do as well as privately owned concerns. Down through the years this appears to have become an accepted fact but I cannot understand why this should be so. The fact that these concerns are unable to pay their way would, to me, show a need for a better commercial approach and it is not just good enough for them to hide behind the excuse that they are providing public social services.

I could go on reciting the litany of price increases which has lengthened and ever-lengthened in recent months but there is no point in doing so. What I do want to comment on, though, is the manner in which the people who have to pay the piper have accepted these increases. There has been little or no protest except from the odd group here and there and with Government and State departments and semi-State bodies setting the bad example, other manufacturing concerns cannot be blamed for going the same road. It is only when the people make their collective voice heard in loud and vigorous protest that notice will be taken of their plight.

SEEKING RELATIVES

During the week Miss Ciss Fleming of Grange called to the "Leader" Office to pass on a request for publication which she had got from a New Zealand visitor from New Zealand who was touring Co. Waterford seeking relatives.

He was Major C. K. Fleming whose address is given as "Flat 2, 10 Heldereth St., Upper Hut, Wellington, New Zealand." Major Fleming's father, John Francis Fleming, was from some part of Waterford where he was born about 1876. He went to sea at the age of 14 and subsequently settled in New Zealand. Incidentally it is of interest to note that Major Fleming's daughter, Miss C. J. Fleming, LL.B., is the first woman to plead a case in the Supreme Court in New Zealand.

THOSE ALLOWANCES

I note that during my absence on holiday, Mr. Curran made a protest at a meeting of the County Council concerning a paragraph which appeared in this column some weeks ago alleging that allowances of £500 and £350 per annum were to be made to the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Regional Health Board. This point had already been cleared up before Mr. Curran ever referred to it in a letter from the C.E.O. of the Health Board and in a further reference to the matter in this column. Mr. Curran acknowledged that the amounts stated by me were incorrect.

Apparently this was not sufficient for Mr. Curran who at the last meeting of the County Council set himself up as a martyr for the cause whose character I had taken from him. Mr. Curran went on in his sweet way to point out that while he had no desire to infringe the freedom of the press, they had a responsibility to ensure that things published in the papers were accurate. I accept that such a responsibility exists but equally one cannot be expected to be perfect all the time. Indeed if I do say so, it is very seldom that any inaccuracy, even of the smallest kind, has crept into this column. But I might also say to Mr. Curran that a responsibility rests on him, just as it does on other public representatives, to be equally accurate in statements which he makes. How often has Mr. Curran been inaccurate in what he has said or how often has he made statements which later just blew away in the wind?

Mr. Curran was attempting to be naive or perhaps not just completely accurate when he stated at the last County Council meeting that the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Regional Health Board were not in receipt of any special allowances or that they were entitled to them. The Health Act under which the Regional Boards were set up provides for the payment of special allowances to the

SIMPLE CEREMONY BREAKS WITH TRADITION

Simplicity was the keynote of the ceremony which marked the blessing and installation of the new Abbot of Mount Melleray, 42 years old, Rev. Dom Paul Hennessy and which was performed at the famous Cistercian Monastery on Tuesday last by Most Rev. Dr. Michael Russell, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore. Dom Paul is now the youngest Cistercian Abbot in Ireland.

LOVELY BANNA STRAND

The ballad of Sir Roger Casement's landing at Banna Strand on the Kerry coast about 9 miles north of Tralee on Good Friday in 1916 must be our choice this week following a most earnest request from a young Irishman who has returned home to take up a job here after spending a number of years in the U.S. It is "Lovely Banna Strand".

"Twas on Good Friday morning all in the month of May, A German ship was signalling beyond there in the bay.

"We've twenty thousand rifles here, all ready for land" But no answering signal came from the lonely Banna Strand.

A motor-car was dashing through the early morning gloom, A sudden crash and in the sea they went to meet their doom.

Two Irish lads lay dying there just like their hopes so grand They could not give the signal now from lonely Banna Strand.

"No signal answers from the shore," Sir Roger sadly said, "No comrades here to welcome me, alas they must be dead; But I must do my duty and at once I mean to land."

So in a boat he pulled ashore to lonely Banna Strand.

The German ship was lying there with rifles in a glare, Up came a British ship and spoke to the shore.

"You are our Empire's enemy and so we bid you stand, No German foot shall ever pollute the lonely Banna Strand."

They sailed for Queenstown Harbour, said the Germans: "We're undone, The British are our masters man for man and gun for gun."

"We've twenty thousand rifles here, but they never will reach land, We'll sink them all and bid farewell to lonely Banna Strand."

The R.I.C. were hunting for Sir Roger high and low, They found him at McKenna's farm; said they: "You are our foe."

Said he: "I'm Roger Casement, I come to my native land, I meant to free my country on the lonely Banna Strand."

They took Sir Roger prisoner and sailed for London town, And in the Tower they laid him as a traitor to the crown.

Said he: "I am no traitor, but his trial he had to stand, For bringing German rifles to the lonely Banna Strand."

"Twas in an English prison that they led him to his death,

"I'm dying for my country," he said with his last breath, He's buried in a prison yard far from his native land,

The wild waves sing his Requiem on the lonely Banna Strand.

Mount Melleray's New Abbot Installed Without Mitre Or Ring

SIMPLE CEREMONY BREAKS WITH TRADITION

The ceremony consisted of a concelebrated Mass at which his Lordship, the Bishop, presided. The Epistle was read by the Abbot-elect's father and Rev. Dr. John Wand-Armstrong, Church of Ireland Bishop of Cashel and Emly, Waterford and Lismore read the Gospel.

CREATED A CONFUSION

The simplicity of the ceremony was explained as being part of the community's effort to find the new form of monasticism should take in the world and in the church today. They are convinced that it does not lie in the direction of easy identification with familiar institutions. This is what tended to happen. Ring and mitre gave abbots something of the prestige of bishops and created a confusion which people never sorted out.

NEW LINE RESIDENTS WANT NEW FOOTPATH AT ABBEYSIDE

A letter from eight residents of New Line, Abbeyside, seeking to have a footpath laid in that area was considered at last Monday night's meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council.

Mr. R. Walsh who was one of the eight signatories to the letter said this work was to have been done two years ago but had not been carried out.

The Chairman, Mr. T. A. Kynce agreed that a footpath there was very badly needed.

On his suggestion it was agreed to refer it to the County Council as the roads authority for the area.

FINAL COST OF KILMAC VOCATIONAL SCHOOL SOARS TO ALMOST £60,000

The final all-in cost of the new Vocational school at Kilmacshom, was £59,000. It was revealed by the C.E.O., Mr. D. Kelleher, at last Monday's meeting of Co. Waterford Vocational Education Committee in Dungarvan.

This represents an increase of £2,500 on the original contract. Mr. Kelleher said the increase was brought about basically by increases in the cost of labour and materials. However, the foundations of the school had been so cast that it would take another storey overhead if the occasion merited it and that would effect quite a saving to the committee.

The C.E.O. went on to state that the Vocational Committee had already adopted a resolution proposing that another overhead block be added to the new school. This resolution had been submitted to the Department for sanction, but so far no reply had been received.
