GREETINGS FOR CHRISTMAS
I wish to extend greetings and best wishes for a very happy and peaceful Christmas to all readers of this column. These include the family at home and also those scattered to the four corners of the earth.
In this terrible year for our people in the North it is only right that we should think in a special way at this time about the internees in Crumlin Road Jail, Belfast, and in Long Kesh Internment Camp and of their wives and families for whom this Christmas can bring little happiness or peace. Let us remember them and pray for them and hope that they may have the courage to face up to the terrible things that are happening to them. May God comfort them all in the trials and tribulations they are now passing through.

CHRISTMAS CARDS
Christmas Cards continue to roll into me by every post and while I wish to acknowledge receipt of these and return thanks to the senders again wish to point out that I have firmly made up my mind not only to give up the practice and to donate to a charity a sum equal to what it would cost to purchase and post these cards.

GIVE IT NOW
Christmas is a time for giving and for those who give wholeheartedly and generously there can be few greater satisfactions in life.
This point is very well made, not only for giving at Christmas but throughout one's life, in the story of the cow and the pig.

HAS OUR GERIATRIC UNIT BEEN SCRAPPED
In the last months of the life of the Waterford Health Authority certain actions were taken in an effort to get certain things done before the new regional boards look over the administration of the health services.
Part of the lands owned by St. Otteran's hospital in Waterford City were sold and from the funds realised by the sale certain capital projects were planned. One of these was the provision of a new 100-bed geriatric unit in Dungarvan to be erected at Springmount adjacent to the present St. Joseph's Hospital.
The members of the Health Authority tried to speed up the processes through which such projects have to pass before becoming an actual fact. They were suspicious of what the outcome would be when the regional situation became operative and suspected that this money, realised from a sale of property in Waterford, might be diverted to finance projects in some other area of the region. How well founded their suspicions were!

It now appears most likely that the idea of the Dungarvan Geriatric Unit has been shelved, temporarily if not indefinitely, by the regional board and that the money earmarked for it has been channelled into some other undertaking for some other town in Kilkenny, Wexford or other district in the region.

If this is so and if the people of Waterford and in particular the people of Dungarvan take it lying down then they are not worth their salt. This project was agreed in principle for Dungarvan by the Department of Health and our representatives should fight tooth and nail to see that it goes through. I know that what Mr. Jim Quirkie said at the last meeting of the County Council is only too true that the County now had only two representatives on the regional health board and their influence did not count for much.

But what about the County Council themselves? Cannot they lead a protest and get the people to back them. If the hospital for Dungarvan has in fact been shelved by the regional board then it is a scandalous decision and the public should show their disapproval of it in the strongest possible manner. Nothing was ever won by taking things lying down!

WHAT CHANCE HAS PROGRESS?
Twenty-four ways in which ideas are killed are listed in the current issue of "The Harp," they are:
Don't be ridiculous.
We tried that before.
It will cost too much.
That's beyond our responsibility.
It's too radical a change.
We don't have the time.
That will create other equipment obstacles.
We're too small for it.
Not practical for operating people.
The union will scream.
We've never done it before.
Let's get back to reality.
That's not our problem.
Why change it, it's still working O.K.
You're two years ahead of your time.
We're not ready for that.
It isn't in the budget.
Can't teach an old dog new tricks.

THE OLD SUNDAY DINNER
I think that this old ballad tells of the ritual of the Sunday dinner of olden times is most appropriate for this week as it could equally be the story of what happened at Christmas-time in many homes long ago.

I've a fond recollection of days long departed
That carries me back to my home like a dream
When I was a lad so gay and light-hearted
And cars went and came like a merry sunbeam
There is always a thought like a last glowing ember
That reflects in my heart like a log's merry glow
There is always the thought I shall always remember
Our old Sunday dinner of long, long ago.

Sure we had the best market could be had
Her bread was as light as the first fall of snow
There was plenty for twenty and

THE CHRISTMAS ROSE

A child was born in Bethlehem
As the stars shone bright above
And the Wise Men travelled from the east
With gifts of joy and love,
Humble shepherds brought their lambs
But one small shepherdless
Had nothing for the Infant King
But tears of deep distress
But lo! where each wee tear did fall
The maiden did behold
A tiny flower of pure, white
With heart of deepest gold
With eager hands she gathered them
Into a small bouquet
Her one small gift for the Infant King
On that first Christmas Day
Then kneeling by the tiny crib
With joy she did behold
A smile as His small arms crossed
The flowers of white and gold,
And so long centuries ago
On that first Christmas morn
From the humble tears of a shepherdless
The Christmas Rose was born.

REGIONAL HEALTH BOARD RE-ELECTS CHAIRMAN AND VICE-CHAIRMAN

EXPENSE ALLOWANCE OF £500 APPROVED

Mr. Thomas F. Hassett, M.P.S.I., was unanimously re-elected Chairman of the South-East Regional Health Board at the December meeting in Kilkenny.

He was proposed by Ald. Thos. Brennan, Waterford, who said that the Board had not got into full swing. It had had its teething troubles, and was still having them. At this stage, it would be a mark of the Board's confidence in the Chairman if they re-elected him as well as the Vice-Chairman Mr. Charlie Curran. He was an unrepentant believer in the retention of office, he said, and felt that the next Chairman should be a public representative. He wished however, for the coming year, to propose Mr. Hassett again. Mr. Hassett had given everyone on the Board a fair hearing in the last year, and the re-election should be a mark of confidence in his work. As a form of "get-well" greeting to the Vice-Chairman, Mr. Curran, they should also re-elect him.

Scconding the proposals, Mr. T. F. Byrne, Wexford, said that he himself had been one of the major contestants for the office of Chairman in the initial stages, but no words of his could pay adequate tribute to Mr. Hassett for the wonderful way in which he had conducted the affairs of the Board in the past year. His impartiality and stewardship at meetings were remarkable.

The outgoing Chairman and Vice-Chairman were re-elected unanimously.
Mr. Hassett said that he was very honoured to have been re-elected and he was surprised and very glad to see that the members of the Board were willing to accept him for another year. He said he wished to place on record his appreciation of the help Mr. McQuillan, Miss Redmond and the Programme Managers of the Health Board had given him during the past year. Paying tribute to the help given by the Vice-Chairman, Mr. Hassett said that he had occasion many times to call on Mr. Curran unofficially for advice and help and it was always forthcoming.

EXPENSE ALLOWANCE
I would not accept a sum of £300. To suggest that the Chairman of a Board which in the last 12 months has spent £7 million, should only be allowed that much for expenses is ridiculous," said Mr. T. F. Byrne, Wexford, speaking during a discussion on the allowances which would be given to the Chairman and Vice-Chairman (jointly) of the Board in order to permit them attend functions other than Board meetings at which they should be represented.
The Chairman said that he had kept a record of his spending since last April, which had come to £300. It covered the expenses of Chairman and Vice-Chairman, but he felt it should be reviewed in 12 months time.
The proposal to allocate £300 was moved by Mr. R. I. Gallagher, B.D.S., Waterford and seconded by Colr. J. Cummins, Waterford, who said that this amount was the sum, which in the opinion of the Chairman, would be required.
Mr. Byrne disagreed, saying that this "palty sum" could not be accepted, and proposing an allowance of £500.
The proposal was seconded by Ald. T. Brennan, Waterford, who said that the Minister for Local Government, in his White Paper on Local re-organisation, had in-

BY COACH TO FAR-AWAY PLACES

A journey from Christmase time to bright summery places where the sun shines warmly and the cold of an Irish Christmas is forgotten on the way.

By MAI O'HIGGINS.

If I could have a signature tune, it would be the grand old song "Faraway Places." I have always had a hankering to travel, as a young child I was regularly rescued in the strangest parts of our country...

Le Mans, of car racing fame. Here we stayed overnight, a night which was regularly disturbed by the grinding of brakes, and revving of engines.

On the following morning, we drove along the racing track, on our way to Tours.

ALONG THE BEAUTIFUL VALLEY OF THE LOIRE The road to Tours took us along the beautiful valley of the Loire, with its storied chateaux, like a string of precious gems on its peacock banks.

Tours, a picturesque town, with gay flowers and the Gothic Basilica of St. Martin, grandchild of St. Patrick.

Some unusual features of the countryside struck me—the many Calvary shrines by the wayside, the ox-drawn carts, the many open-air markets, and the giant supermarkets, near the towns.

LA BELLE FRANCE Our night aboard this luxurious mini-liner was a wonderful experience. Superb food, a delightful lounge bar, where we sang, danced and sipped our drinks at the gay little tables surrounding the dancing space into the late hours.

ARRIVAL We were now entering the great transatlantic port of Le Havre, and the coast of Normandy, famous in modern history for the events of D-Day in June 1944.

LISELIEUX We had our first continental lunch at Lisieux. I had certain reservations about how I would adjust to French food, but I found myself enjoying every course from the delicious salad and chicken, to the cool, sparkling Calvados, the famous cider of Normandy.

ON TO LA MANS Leaving Lisieux, with its gay flowers, and pink-red houses, we travel southwards, past the hundreds of cider orchards to Alencon, the birthplace of St. Therese.

SHOPPING FEVER Leaving our coach at the beautiful Marie Christine Bridge we rushed to the nearest bank to change our spending money, and then, with our share of peccets, invaded the Old Quarter of the city, for its bargains of leather goods, wines and rum.

Shopping finished before seven, then a rest in a sunbaked Square, and "packed-lunch time." (Mine was left far behind in Lourdes). It was intensely hot, so movement was impossible. Only the children and the skinny dogs showed any sign of energy.

THE ROAD TO ROCAMADOUR Waving a prayerful goodbye to Lourdes, we set out for Tabares, and then eastwards for Toulouse of the enchanting red brick houses and Basilica of St. Sernin, with its relics of the Grail.

HOME AGAIN We sailed into cold, wind-swept, Dublin Bay, on the morning's tide. It was time to say goodbyes. Fifteen happy, sun-filled days had gone by, days which brought to me the happiest and holiest of memories of Lourdes and Lourdes.

A PRIEST IN POLITICS Can He Be A Revolutionary? Priests in politics? Religious as revolutionaries? The January issue of "REALITY" magazine examines the problem from various angles.

CHAIRMAN'S ACTION CRITICISED To the Editor Dungarvan Leader: A Chair—May I trespass on some of your valuable space to protest about a matter which may, perhaps, have been overlooked.

DEPARTMENT WARNS OF 'CONFIDENCE MAN' The Department of Local Government has issued a warning that a confidence trickster, claiming to be an inspector of the Department has been getting money from the public—sometimes substantial amounts.

ON LEAVING SCHOOL To the Editor Dungarvan Leader: Dear Sir—I have read some of the poems which have been sent into you recently and was impressed by them. So now I have decided to have a go myself.
