FORECASTING THE RESULT

I had planned to leave the writing of this article go as late in the week as possible to get a little closer to polling day in order to see how things were beginning to pan out before attempting a forecast but circumstances have ruled otherwise and as a result any forecast at this stage will have to be something of a long range nature.

The parties have reached about the half-way stage in the campaign as I write, but it is difficult, as yet, to get any kind of clear picture and it is only when things get really "hotted up" in the second half, and especially in those last vital days that this may become possible.

One thing which has so far become clear is that the government party has a fight on its hands on this occasion and the end result could well indeed be very close, if it does not actually end in stalemate. In 1969 one of the big deciding factors of the Fianna Fail victory was the "what's the alternative" cry when it came to forming a government but with the formation of a Fine Gael-Labour National Coalition on this occasion Fianna Fail are up against a very real obstacle, especially as it cannot be denied that the policy document of the Coalition contains many attractive proposals.

The manner in which the Taoiseach and senior Government Ministers have been attacking the basic idea of coalition up to the present shows that they recognise that it has an appeal for the public especially that section of the public who see in it a possible alternative to government and who may be desirous of seeing a change. But while a coalition may be anathema to Fianna Fail who have always powered their campaigns on the basis of strong, single party government in the past, attitudes among the public may have changed now that we have become part of the European Economic Community amongst whose member countries coalitions are more common than single party governments.

Another point which may also be dwelt on by the electorate relates to our own problems in regard to the overall hope of unity in our own country. If it should be such an impossibility for responsible political parties here in the south to come together and work to an agreed policy what hope can there ever be of bringing all the various parties in the north together under a single umbrella, a hope which the Taoiseach has expressed on several occasions in the past for the north.

These are thoughts which I am sure are at present occupying the minds of many people and will continue to do so during the course of the coming week. The final choice rests with those, over 21, who go to the polls on Wednesday next. Will they send Fianna Fail back with a mandate for another period in government or will they oust them from it. The people have the power to decide. It is up to them to exercise it and they should do so to the fullest extent.

HERE IN WATERFORD

Apart from what the overall result of the election will be the main interest here in Waterford is how things will pan out for the local running candidates. It is expected that the fight for the top of the poll will rest between the outgoing city T.D.'s Eddie Collins, Billy Kennedy, F.F., and Billy Kennedy, F.F., who were 1 and 2 in that order in 1969 with only 173 votes apiece. In the West of the constituency there should be a great struggle between the two Dungarvan candidates, Tom Kyne, Lab., and Austin Treacy, F.G., who had only 224 votes between them in the 1969 count in that time. A running mate in Ald. Tom Brennan, who polled 3,029 votes, but as Mr. Kyne has been run for the Labour Party on this occasion it is expected that he should do much better in the first preference count this time. Austin Deasy is expected to considerably improve his 3,171 votes and some shrewd observers think that it will be a neck and neck race between this pair as the count proceeds.

What then of the position of Mr. P. (Fad.) Browne who holds the second Fianna Fail seat. Will he manage to hold on to again edge Mr. Kyne (or Mr. Deasy?) out in the final count as he did in 1969? There are those who feel, with the attitude of change which at present seems apparent in the constituency, that he may lose the race this time although others hold that he will again make the grade.

Finally there is the third Fianna Fail candidate Charles Curran who stands in the West and while he is expected to do fairly well he cannot, on the figures for the last election, improve very much on Sean Whelan's poll of little more than 2,000 votes.

Taking it by and large the forecasters are inclined to a 1-1-1 return here with Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Collins, and in a cliff-hanging finish, Mr. Kyne, taking the seats. Should the people of Dungarvan and the Western part of the constituency want this to be the outcome, they would want to come out strongly in favour of Mr. Kyne, Mr. Deasy or Mr. Curran and vote for them in order of choice. This is the only way that we can ensure a resident T.D. for Dungarvan and the West of the county which, as the past three years have shown is a very vital matter for this end of the constituency.

HOW THEY STOOD IN SOUTH TIPP

In referring to the 1969 election count in the Waterford constituency in last week's column I forgot to refer to the position as it was in the South Tipp/West Waterford area at that time. A number of inquiries have reached me since as to the first count details in that constituency in '69 and, with apologies for being so remiss last week, I now give these as follows:

With 4 seats to be filled, the total valid poll was 37,070 representing a vote of 80.9%. The quota was 7,415. The first preference count was: N. Davern, F.F. (outgoing) 9,357; P. Hogan, F.G. (outgoing) 6,499; J. Fahey, F.F. (outgoing) 6,098; S. Treacy, Lab. (outgoing) 4,955; W. Ryan, F.F., 3,742; B. Griffin, F.G., 2,871; P. Powell, F.G., 1,705; S. Healy, Indp., 1,073; P. O'Brien, Lab., 770. In the final analysis the four candidates who topped the poll were elected in the order of the first count.

Since then the sitting Fine Gael T.D. Surgeon Hogan has died and at the time of the dissolution of the last Dail his seat remained unfilled and it is expected that his running mate in the '69 election, Mr. Brendan Griffin, N.T., will take his seat for Fine Gael on this occasion although the other Fine Gael candidate, Mr. Terry Darmody, is also expected to do well.

Speculation in the constituency is rife as to who will head the poll, and while Parliamentary Secretary, Jackie Fahey, by reason of his Junior Ministry in the last Government, will undoubtedly have strengthened his position, many believe that he will not succeed in ousting his colleague, Noel Davern, from the top. The fourth seat in the constituency should again, as on the last occasion, fall to Labour's Sean Treacy so that the possibility of any change in party representation here does not seem to be likely.

"DISGRACEFUL" EXAMPLE DEPLORED

Smoking by doctors and other members during meetings of the South Eastern Health Board was criticised by Ald. M. McGuinness at the February monthly meeting of the Board held in Kilkenny. "I think it is disgraceful," he said, "that a responsible body such as ours which deals with health should pollute this room as it is now polluted."

As well as cigarette smokers, some of whom could be placed in the "heavy" classification, the Health Board includes a number of pipe smokers.

HUGE COST OF THE CHOICE OF DOCTOR SCHEME

One of the main reasons for the huge increase in the cost of health services is stated to be the choice of doctor scheme and it would now appear that the Minister for Health, Mr. Childers, made one of his greatest blunders when he initiated it. The charges for health services have, in recent years, been the greatest single factor in driving local rates to the desperately high level at which they now stand.

At a recent meeting of the Eastern Health Board it was disclosed that one G.P. was paid over £1,250 for services under the scheme in the month of November while five other doctors got between £1,000 and £1,250 each. In the same month 181 doctors received up to £250 each; 83 got between £250 and £500; 25 between £500 and £750 and 4 between £750 and £1,000.

These figures were revealed in a report in the February 2 issue of the "Irish Medical Times" which further stated that a total of 90,301 claims costing £82,638 was submitted to the Board for November as compared with 52,196 claims costing £47,787 for last April.

Perhaps, should we have a change of government after next week's election, whatever new Minister is to be appointed to the Department of Health might have a rethink on this particular aspect of the general health services to ensure an overall reduction of the costs, whether to be borne at central level, a change promised by the Fine Gael-Labour combination or at local level, through the rates, as has been the case up to this.

THE SWEET RIVER SUIR

Following a request from a reader in Clonmel the choice for our ballad corner this week is "The Sweet River Suir":—

From Devil's Bit to Thurlies, from Golden unto Cahir,
By castle-crowned Ardinnan running pure,
Past Carrick and Kilsheelan, ever sparkling, ever wheeling,
Flow the waters of the Sweet
River Suir.

The Galtees and Sileve Ardagh send their torrents to its flood.
Bright Anner comes from storied Sileve-na-moon,
The sunshine and the shadows follow fast across the meadows,
Till the dews of the morn are gone.

By rich flowery fields of the pleasant Golden Vale,
By the broken Norman tower and hamlet white,
The laughing of the Suir man or maiden would allure,
When his glad waters dance in the light.

In cool, sheltered glens where glassy hazels nod,
The wild innlet sings a happy lay:
Blithe thrush and blackbird singing joyous melodies are flinging
Thro' briar-scented groves all day.

'Tis there that I'd dwell, for my heart is ever there,
Where Ormonde and wide Ossory stretch out,
Where the rival Gaels are dashing and eager hurlers clashing,
Make din above the throng's great shout.

And dear to me Killarney where God's smile is ever seen,
And fair thy leafy woodlands, Glenmalur,
But when this life is ended and cold earth with earth is blended,
Let me rest by the Sweet River Suir.

What do they expect you to believe?

-that Labour, which fought our EEC entry tooth and nail, is suddenly in favour of it?

-that Fine Gael, which fought its leader over the recent law and order legislation, is now united behind him?

-that Mr. Corish, who 'would rather retire to the back benches than join a coalition', now believes it is a great idea?

-that Fine Gael/Labour can pull more than £70,000,000 (the cost of their policy document proposals) out of the hat without drastic tax increases?

-that either party, without experience in government for 16 years, can guide the country in these difficult and dangerous times?

-that the so-called National Coalition is anything more than an overnight election mushroom that will turn bad as quickly as its predecessors?

Kenneally, William

For STABILITY and PROGRESS

FIANNA FÁIL CANDIDATES BUSY WITH CAMPAIGN

Waterford's Fianna Fáil candidates have been busy covering all areas of the constituency in the last two weeks. Addressing a meeting of campaign workers in Kilmacthomas, outgoing Deputy Billy Kenneally had this to say: "A General Election now is essential if a protracted period of political uncertainty and instability is to be avoided. The months and years immediately ahead will be of crucial importance for the whole future of Ireland. The decisions to be taken by the Government in the next few months could irrevocably change the whole course of future history. In these circumstances the Government must have, and must be seen to have, a clear and unmistakable mandate to speak and act for the Irish people. The importance of having a strong and effective Government has been amply demonstrated in the past few years. During that period unprecedented problems confronted the Irish people and Government, but they were dealt with calmly and resolutely."

In the international sphere, the Fianna Fáil Government under Jack Lynch successfully negotiated EEC entry terms which provided the most favourable opportunities in our history for economic and social advancement."

In relation to Northern Ireland the Government pursued the only sane policy which can bring about a true reconciliation of the communities, and a lasting peace with justice for all. The new Government after this election, in its appraisal of the British White Paper, will need the full support of the people to deal firmly with the new situation as it develops."

Only a united Fianna Fáil Government under Jack Lynch, vigorously and resolutely pursuing policies endorsed by the voters in all these crucial areas, can provide the leadership which will be essential. In this election Jack Lynch is asking the Irish people for a clear and decisive mandate."

HITS OUT AT COALITION PROPOSALS

Speaking at a series of week-end meetings Mr. G. Curran (candidate) said: "F.P. was a national and not a sectional party. F.P. did not believe in doctrinaire socialism but in pragmatic socialism—they did not merely promise services, they provided the services for all sections of the community."

It was easy to promise extra services, but they had to be paid for by extra taxation. An "economic measure" a former "coalition" had cut old age pensions by 10 per cent. A document produced by the Dublin based leader of the Labour Party had as its slogan — "Tax the farmers." It should be remembered that two-thirds of the farmers in Co. Waterford are classified as small holders, whose average weekly earnings are less than £15. Was it proposed by Labour to tax these further?

The coalition did not promise to reduce taxation but to "shift" it. This, it imposed, would result in an increase of 20 per cent in income tax and would fall most heavily on the workers."

Extra services always required extra taxation—there was no easy way out. Too much taxation would lead to further inflation, which in turn lead to massive unemployment and economic disaster, as happened in 1955, under the last coalition, which broke up in 1957. Two years ago Mr. Corish said that another coalition "would be a national disaster." Why had he changed his views now? When he was Minister for Social Welfare from 1954 to '57 he provided a total of half-a-crown to old age pensioners and the disabled over the 3 years (10d. per year). F.P. provided 10/- per week the following year."

INCREASED FARM OUTPUT

In a wide ranging speech in Waterford last week, outgoing Deputy Fadh Brownie told an attentive audience: "1972 was a good year for farmers. Total value of farm output increased to a record of £460,000,000, £70,000,000 more than in 1971. The volume of output of cattle, milk and pigs all reached record levels. The major increase in the value of output was in cattle. The increase in output was much higher than the rise in farm income should be up by more than £50,000,000 in 1972. Farmers have re-invested a significant part of this income in increased breeding stock, thereby laying the basis for greater prosperity in future years."

Farmers will continue to reap the benefits of EEC membership. In the years ahead, farm exports will continue to grow substantially both in volume and in value. This, in turn will help to generate economic growth throughout the economy and will mean more money in rural Ireland."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR DELEBRAL PALSEY

A flag day in aid of the above will be held throughout County Waterford on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 23, 24 and 25th. The association which has 3 clinics in Ireland need a sum of £75,000 per annum to keep these clinics open. Despite contributions from the Local Authorities there is a balance of about £40,000 needed and this has to be raised by voluntary efforts. The public are asked to purchase flags, contributing as generously as possible to this most worthy cause."

BALLYSGAGART IN FOOTBALL LEAGUE

The dedicated few who turned up at Ballinameela last Sunday saw the home side emerge as winners over Ballysgagart in the junior football league. Ballysgagart certainly showed promise and their mentors must have been well pleased with them especially when they kicked some nice long distance points in the first half.
They are a young team and with development must merit serious consideration for the championship in this grade.
Ballysgagart, who are much more at home in hurling, never seemed to be able to cope especially when play was out in the open. One would have thought that with the smallest pitch they might have fared better as the training which they undoubtedly put in for their hurling campaign must be reaping rewards even still. But it was Ballinameela who invariably won the ball in "rucks" around the goalmouths. Their ability to take the high ball cleanly was the big difference. Tom Scanlon (Aftane) was a capable referee.

COUNCIL TO CONTRIBUTE TO DUNGARVAN PIPE BAND

Following a brief consideration of an application from the Committee of the Dungarvan Pipe Band for a contribution towards the cost of providing a bandroom, members of Dungarvan Urban Council at their meeting last Monday night unanimously agreed to provide the same amount as granted under similar circumstances to the local Brass and Reed Band, the provision of one old penny in the £ from the rates of approximately £70.
The Pipe Band letter pointed out that the Council had already agreed in principle to make a donation towards the cost when the Band procured their own site or premises. It added that through the good offices of the Augustinian Community they had now acquired a premises which they proposed to buy outright, when the occasion arose.
The proposal to grant the donation was made by Mr. P. Whelan and seconded by Mr. T. Wade.

CO. WATERFORD VOLLEYBALL ASSOCIATION

At last we have succeeded in communicating with the schools. On Thursday night a meeting was held in Lawlor's Hotel at which officers of the Association and school representatives discussed the possibilities of participation in County Championships and Tailteann Games. For the county championships, trophies would be sponsored by the Board for this year. It is hoped that next year a schools' committee will have been organised to look after schools' championships. This Board will cater for the Tailteann element also. The trophies for this are really exquisite.
A further meeting is venue for Lawlor's Hotel on February 22nd at 20.00 hours, where draws will be made for these championships. Any schools wishing to take part should avail of this opportunity.
Next meeting, Lawlor's Hotel, Thursday, March 8, 20.30 hours.

TALLOW AND ROUND ABOUT NOTES

A bid of £14,500 was made for 16½ acres of land, put up for public auction at the Hotel Tallow on Friday last. The vendor was Mr. Patrick Curley. Bidding started at £8,000 and increased rapidly. The bid was withdrawn as the reserve had not been reached. Private bids will now be taken.
Ten dairy cows in calf to a Friesian bull were afterwards put up for sale and were sold at prices ranging from £140 to £175.
Mr. William Fennessey, auctioneer and livestock salesman, Fermoy, had charge of the sale and Mr. O'Meara, Solicitor, Fermoy, had carriage of sale.
The death of Mrs. Mary E. Aherne (nee Power) took place at her residence Bridgepark, Connaught, on Sunday, February 11th, following a brief illness and at the early age of 52 years.
Deceased was daughter of Mrs. Power and the late James Power, Glenagloagh, Tallow. She was wife of Mr. Augustine Aherne and was a member of a very highly esteemed family and was held in high regard by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her death at such an early age came as a great shock to her husband, mother, brothers, sisters and relatives to whom on her sad occasion we tender our deepest sympathy in their sorrow and loss.
The remains, accompanied by a large and representative cortege were removed to St. Catherine's Church, Tallow, on Tuesday evening and were received.

At a meeting held in the Hotel Tallow on Tuesday, February 13th, Mr. Tom Beecher, Chairman of the Dungarvan Fair Festival Committee, resigned his office as a result of a personal matter. In a statement to the meeting Mr. Beecher said his resignation was due to personal reasons and was in no way connected with the committee. During his three years as chairman he said he was always given full co-operation by the other officers and committee members and the public in general.
Mr. Dick Tobin, Vice-Chairman, has taken over the chair pending the annual general meeting of the Festival Committee.

COURT SEQUEL TO PILTOWN CHILD'S DEATH

Motorist Convicted On Dangerous Driving Charge

A fatal accident at Piltown near Youghal, on October 26th last in which a five year old schoolboy was killed, has now had a sequel at Youghal Court last Friday when the motorist, James Corbin, Kildinan, Rathcormac, Co. Cork, was charged and convicted of dangerous driving on the road.
The defendant said he was driving at about 40 miles an hour as he came to Piltown. He first saw schoolboy on the road about 150 yards away but didn't observe a school sign. He wasn't familiar with the road but was driving carefully. Suddenly about four or five yards in front of him a girl dashed out and he didn't have a hope of avoiding her.
The case examined by Supt. M. English, Dungarvan, who prosecuted, witness denied that he was travelling at a much faster speed than 40 miles an hour. He conceded he left a brake mark of 93 feet. He did not sound his car horn.
District Justice Carroll said having regard to the brake marks left by his car, he had to come to the conclusion that the defendant was driving at a speed of 40 to 50 miles an hour and consequently his driving was dangerous. Justice Carroll imposed a fine of £25 on the defendant and ordered that he pay £11 expenses and also ordered that the conviction be endorsed on his driving licence.

CAPPAGH FARMER FINED £25 AND DISQUALIFIED

A collision between a car and an E.S.B. van at the Master McGrath Junction, Ballynamague, Dungarvan, on the night of November 15th last had a sequel at Dungarvan District Justice B. J. Carroll when a farmer, Thomas Walsh, Lisroe, Cappagh, appeared on charges of dangerous driving and driving with excess alcohol in his blood.
Sgt. M. Hayes said he was summoned to the scene of the accident that night and found the defendant's car had crashed into an E.S.B. van. He spoke to the defendant, formed the opinion he was drunk and arrested him and took him to the Garda station. There he gave a blood sample which subsequently revealed that the concentration of alcohol in his blood exceeded the legal limit.
Michael Norris, Keating Street, Dungarvan, told the court he was a passenger in the E.S.B. van and the defendant's car drove across their path and collided with them. The car seemed to move off and witness had to run after it and it was only when he hammered on the back window that Walsh stopped.

Mr. A. V. Maher, Solr, defending, said he was not calling his client in evidence.
Convicting the defendant on the charge of driving with excess alcohol in his blood, Justice Carroll imposed a fine of £25 with £12.75 expenses on the defendant and also disqualified him from driving for 12 months. He reduced the second charge to one of careless driving and imposed a fine of £10.
Supt. M. English prosecuted.

FORMER WATERFORD HURLER BEAVERED

At their monthly meeting last Monday night, Dungarvan Urban Council, on the proposal of Mr. D. Goode, extended sympathy to Mr. Tom Grady, Drumcondra, Dublin, a former Waterford All-Ireland hurler on the recent death of his wife.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Appeal For St. John's College

Dear Mr. Editor — Last year about this time you were good enough to publish our first annual appeal to the diocese on behalf of St. John's College. I can assure you that you helped very much towards making the collection the success that it turned out to be. I assure you also that I am grateful for your help.

This year we are having the diocesan collection on Sunday, 25th February, and a letter of appeal is being read in all churches throughout the diocese on Sunday 18th. I enclose a copy of it. I would be most grateful if you would be good enough again this year to publish it on 22/23rd February edition.

Thanking you for your kindness and help in the past,
Yours sincerely,
Thomas J. Canon Fitzgerald, President.

St. John's College,
Waterford,
17th February, 1973.

(Our Appeal)
"When we appealed to you last year we had two problems: in control of the diocese, an outbreak of fungus had to be paid for, and inadequate income from fees because of reduced numbers left a gap of some four thousand pounds between income and expenditure in our yearly account."

This year, happily, we have had nothing in the way of major repairs to worry us. But the problem of reduced numbers of students is still with us, and it makes it increasingly difficult to run the College.
Last year, as we told you, the ordinary yearly income from students' fees and all other sources was four thousand pounds less than was necessary to run the College for year. With difficulty we have been able to maintain that position for the last year, but now with costs rising we know that the gap between income and expenditure will be even greater in the present year.

The response from our diocese of Waterford & Lismore to our first annual appeal in February of last year was really magnificent. The collection brought in to the College a sum of £9,690. This far surpassed anything we might have hoped for.

I know that you thanked your good people when I wrote to you gratefully acknowledging the amount they had contributed. I should like now, through you, to express our sincere thanks.

Some three thousand pounds of the collection of last year was spent on alterations to the College Chapel and the installation of shower-baths. The deficit in the ordinary running of the College amounted to four thousand pounds. The deficit in hand at the beginning of this year, on 1st September, 1972, two thousand pounds. Our Bishop, the Right Reverend, the Priests and generous people of the diocese showed last year how dear to them was the missionary effort in Waterford. St. John's College is encouraged by this.

Praying God to bless you and your good people,
I remain, yours sincerely,
T. J. FITZGERALD,
(President).

One Channel Television

Dear Sir,
Please permit me some space in your newspaper to comment on a subject that is topical in political circles at present and about which proposals are being put forward. The subject is one that many people besides myself have been involved in for the last two years and I am sure that you will be interested in the proposals for people in areas not presently able to receive British programmes. We who have been involved in the campaign in areas around the country have not very little response from the Government and Ministers in power. The Opposition parties, who are not in a very good position to help in the subject (due to the absolute Government control of all broadcasting matters) gave us a little help, but not as much as we wished.

The election at the end of the month means that we all (over 21's that is) can use the power of our votes. I do not belong to any political party and the following comments are my own.
Flannia Fall a few years ago saw the demand arising for a choice of television programmes in areas not already enjoying the four or more British channels and tried their best to curb it. Surely the provincial councils could not be allowed to view "Foreign propaganda and pornography" as artificial (to that world) restrictions were brought in to make sure the demands got nowhere.

It is in fact very technically feasible to extend four or more channels of television to 90% of the country's population but we in the single channel areas would be satisfied with just one extra channel for the present. After all we have had to put up with RTE for 11 years. Flannia Fall have been deliberately slow in discussing the whole subject of television choice but in the next week or so we shall see the subject discussed to our advantage I hope.

At present our national broadcasting organisation RTE have aerials erected on the Donnybrook mast for the purpose of receiving television from Northern Ireland (in orange and other colours?).

Flannia Fall bowed to fanatical minority demands last year in setting up Radio na Gaeltachta. The law breakers that used illo-

Education

The "electors of the County and City of Waterford will have the opportunity on Wednesday next of affirming their confidence in Eddie Collins who, as Fine Gael's Shadow Minister for Education in the 19th Dail, made a great impact because of his progressive outlook in this very important field.

Possessing a Master's degree in Economic Science, Eddie Collins is fully equipped and expertly qualified to deal with this very important aspect in the lives of everyone whether they be children, teenagers or parents. Mr. Collins has made his position clear on this when he stated that the Public Education of the Fine Gael Party: "As Shadow Minister for Education I would like to see compulsory education for all. I feel that teachers and parents should have a greater say in education in Ireland. I maintain that no government has the right to deny established schools from expanding, which the incoming government has attempted to do and I demand that parents have the right and privilege to choose the school in which their children are to be educated which is, so, under present conditions, is the right of the parent."

In a statement issued during the week Mr. Collins said: "Fine Gael's policy will be to bring immediate assistance to those in need. It is conservatively estimated that under Flannia Fall a quarter of our people live in poverty. Our priorities are the plight of the aged, deprived children, the widowed, orphaned and deserted and the physically and mentally handicapped. We will apply the money saved as a result of EEC membership to a radical improvement of pensions and social benefits such as the payment of old age pensions at an earlier age without a means test to both men and women."

Mr. Collins added that housing would be increased to 25,000 houses a year while the unjust aspects of differential rates will be removed and rates drastically reduced by transferring health charges and housing subsidies to central taxation. Estate duty on property passing on death to widows and their children would be abolished as would V.A.T. on foodstuffs.

On the situation in the North, Mr. Collins said: "We recognise a particular duty to promote a peaceful solution in the North which will bring an end to bloodshed, injustice and sectarian division and we also assert as a first responsibility the need to protect the liberty and safety of the individual citizen and to uphold the democratic institutions of our State." Mr. Collins headed the poll in the 1969 election. You can see that he maintains that position next Wednesday—M.V. seems to support this view.

Mr. Michael Yeats, Pipe Band enthusiast, has justly deserved many people of a decent livelihood. Estate duties are an important issue and he has been an advocate of change in the system long before it came to the notice of the general public in recent times. Mr. Michael Yeats, Pipe Band Director of Elections said: "My way of thinking, Austin Deasy is a politician with a future and the vote on Wednesday next may well see him in Leinster House. Local opinion seems to support this view."

REMEMBERED NOTHING AFTER ACCIDENT UNTIL HE WOKE UP IN HOSPITAL

A 19 year old youth who collided with a car while driving a motor cycle last night, remembered nothing more until he woke up in Ardkeen Hospital. District Justice B. J. Carroll was told at Dungarvan Court.

Anthony Simms, Ballinroad, Dungarvan, was charged with dangerous driving at Abbeyside on August 17 last and driving without insurance or driving licence on the same occasion. Simms failed to appear and was not professionally represented. Mr. J. Aherne, Monagh, Abbeyside, told the court that his car was stopped and indicating that it was making a right-hand turn when the defendant collided with his car from the rear. The motor cycle careered on towards Molech's supermarket and Simms was thrown off and ended up unconscious on the ground. Garda M. O'Connell took a statement from Simms subsequently in which he said the accident on the road was remembered nothing about the accident until he woke up in Ardkeen hospital. The defendant failed to produce driving licence or insurance. He had the motor cycle on loan but it was insured for owner only. Supt. M. English said the defendant had a previous conviction under the Road Traffic Act for being drunk in charge of a vehicle.

The District Justice said he would reduce the dangerous driving charge to one of careless driving and in imposing a fine of £5 he said he was taking into account the fact that the defendant had already suffered considerably as a result of the accident. He also fined him £10 for not having a driving licence but the remaining insurance charge to the next court to enable the defendant to produce a certificate if in fact, he had one.

NEW ROUND THE CLOCK CASUALTY SERVICE FOR DUNGARVAN

Dungarvan is to have a new round the clock casualty service. The news, which was learned following a two hour conference held on Friday last in Dungarvan, at which it was decided to set up this long service, will be welcomed by the people of Dungarvan and West Waterford in general. Present at the conference which was held behind closed doors was Waterford County Medical Officer, Dr. K. Kelly, the Assistant, Mr. M.O.H. Dr. M. O'Neill, a number of Dungarvan based doctors, local health officials and Mr. C. Curran, M.C.C. and Mr. J. Quirk, M.C.C. Waterford's two representatives on the Regional Health Board, while the plans are subject to the approval of the Regional Health Board it is felt that this is nothing more than a formality. The new casualty service will not, however, include surgery. Dungarvan based doctors working on a rota system and will be operational round the clock seven days a week with a higher level service on Sundays to cater for such emergencies as injuries in games played in the locality.

West Waterford Deprived of Dail Representative LABOUR CANDIDATE SPEAKS OF ELECTION ISSUES

Speaking at after Mass meetings in Ring and Old Parish on Sunday last, Tom Kyne, Labour Party sole candidate for Waterford said the people of West Waterford had been deprived of a representative for the past 34 years due to the three T.D.s being resident in the City of Waterford.

If the voters from Kilnash-thomas to Youghal wanted a Dail Deputy that could be reached with the minimum of trouble they should give him their No. 1 Vote. If elected he would do as he saw fit and would be ready to help anyone who sought his aid, irrespective of their religious or political beliefs.

The issues before the people which the National Coalition Parties had pledged themselves to implement had as a first priority the following three points:—

(1) Rising prices of essential foodstuffs. As a first step to put a halt to this hardship on all families and especially those in receipt of Social Welfare money the present Value Added Tax (V.A.T.) would be removed from all essential foodstuffs. A system of control of prices in the country as a whole would be introduced to check the cost of living.

(2) Rising Rates and Rents.—To achieve this objective they would remove the Health Services charge from the local rates and make it a charge on the Central Fund. This would mean a substantial reduction of rates in the country as a whole. A revision of the Rent's system and of home purchase would help to reduce the present burden on people of low income.

(3) The present housing shortage would be overcome within a reasonably short number of years by fixing a wage increase in the method. A Government aid to Local Authorities to enable them to grant and reach a fixed target of 25,000 houses each year.

To help achieve these three objectives he asked for a No. 1 Vote for himself as the sole Labour Party Candidate and for the voters to continue on that day the other two National Coalition Parties in the order of their choice.

NATIONAL COMMUNITY GAMES

At the annual general meeting of Co. Waterford Committee above, held on January 31, the next meeting was arranged for February 28. Since the General Election is being held that day the National Community Games Meeting has been postponed to Wednesday, March 7, at the Christian Brothers Schoolrooms at 8 p.m.

All interested are asked to note change of date as no further notices will be sent.

"NO BLOOD" CLAIM IN DRUNK DRIVING CHARGE

A Stradbally man had refused to give a blood sample when arrested on a drunk driving charge because he claimed his blood, District Justice J. A. Carroll was told at Dungarvan Court when James Sheehan, 30, Stradbally, was charged with dangerous driving and refusing to give a blood sample on October 23rd last.

Dr. C. P. O'Connell, Dungarvan, said he was called to the Garda station to examine the defendant. Sheehan, however, declined to be examined and also refused to give a blood or urine sample.

Sgt. Carthy said he was driving home at 7.30 p.m. on the date in question when he saw a motor-cycle being driven erratically. He stopped and saw it swerve from side to side. When he stopped him the defendant claimed that the motor cycle had been swerving because of the weight of his pill box passenger.

UNFIT TO DRIVE

Sgt. Carthy said he formed the opinion Sheehan was drunk and unfit to drive and he arrested him and took him to the Garda station. When told a Garda doctor was being called in to examine him the defendant asked who was going to pay for him because he was not. When the doctor arrived the defendant refused to give a blood sample because his doctor had told him he had no blood in him. He then went out into the station yard and invited the Garda to witness a demonstration by him to prove that he was not drunk. Sgt. Carthy said the defendant began walking around in difficult steps at a time and was shouting "look at me now." As he did so he continued to stagger.

Garda M. McGrath who was orderly when the defendant was brought in gave corroborative evidence and said he had no doubt but that Sheehan was unfit to drive.

When the defendant who was not professionally represented, declined to give evidence on oath, the District Justice said he would have to convict him of drunk driving. He fined him £10 and disqualified him from driving for 12 months. The Justice, however, reduced the dangerous driving charge to one of careless driving and marked it "proved" and dismissed the remaining charge of refusing to give a blood sample.

THE CONGER KING'S ANGLING NOTES

Something to Boast About.—A giant skate of 224 lbs. was caught in the Parana River in Argentina, 310 miles north-west of Buenos Aires. The German Fishing Research Ship, the "Walther Herwig," fitted with the most up-to-date technical equipment, is to help deep sea fishermen acquire new knowledge and learn new catching methods. It has the world's largest net windlass which will enable it to trawl at depths of up to 6,500 feet. Its windlass for ocean geographical research can reach even further to depths of some 20,000 feet.

The "Walther Herwig" is to be the first ship to experiment with electric fishing methods on a major scale. Another new innovation is the "panorama" echo sounder which can locate schools of fish at vertical and horizontal levels. There is accommodation on board for thirteen scientists.

A New Look for Spring, Summer and Autumn.—D.E.S.A.C.—Yes the Committee have departed from the usual dates and have introduced a new look into their angling dates. It is felt that this new idea will mean an assured increase in shore entries. All Club competitions will be held on Thursdays and the Committee feel this will give a chance to anglers to spend more time with their families on Sundays and also opportunity to participate in other Clubs' programmes usually held on Sundays.

New Conger King has pleasure in supplying the following information and suggests that readers cut out the information and keep it handy as then they are up-to-date with Club and competition dates:—
 May 6, Club Deep Sea; June 17, R.N.L.I. Checkpoint, 2.30 p.m. to 6 p.m.; June 24, Club Deep Sea; July 2, Club Deep Sea; July 15, Club Deep Sea; August 26, Club Deep Sea; September 9, Club Deep Sea; September 16, R.N.L.I. Checkpoint, 2.30 p.m. to 6 p.m.; September 23, Club Deep Sea; October 10, Club Deep Sea; October 17, R.N.L.I. Checkpoint, 2.30 p.m. to 6 p.m.; October 24, Club Deep Sea; November 7, Club Deep Sea; November 14, Club Deep Sea; November 21, Club Deep Sea; December 5, Club Deep Sea; December 12, Club Deep Sea; December 19, Club Deep Sea; December 26, Club Deep Sea.

The above programme for shore and deep sea should please members who can now participate in shore and deep sea events as none will be held on same day.

Now is the time to get your D.E.S.A.C. membership card and qualify for the Master Angler in the three sections, Junior, and Adult Shore and Deep Sea. A new Committee, a new look and let us hope for better results in fishing and Club comradeship.

A last reminder—all deep sea anglers must have their entry with boat fee paid to Hon. Secretary Sean Hearn, four clear days before the start of the event. The hours for Deep Sea will be p.m. to 6 p.m. and it is hoped, with your co-operation to leave punctually.

Ardmore S.A.C.—The usual "Ray" beamed The Conger King his newest fish. Ardmore open shore competition will be held on Saturday, February 24, 7 p.m. to 10.30 p.m., on Ardmore Beach. Prizes: Adults—1st, Clock (donated by Mr. J. P. O'Dublin); 2nd, Electric Fire; and 3rd, Tea Set. Juveniles—1st, Tankard; 2nd, Plaque; and 3rd, Set of Eggs. There will be a special Ladies Prize.

When will the Hon. Secretaries send in news from their clubs—remember, His Majesty wrote you recently?

Tremore-Waterford S.A.C.—The first Committee meeting of this Club was held on Saturday night. There was a full muster of members and the Chairman and Hon. Secretary state that they felt assured the 1973 season would be a most successful one, as everyone looked forward to one of their best seasons with the fine spirit of good fellowship expressed by each and every member.

Amongst the correspondence before the meeting were letters from I.P.S.A., Waterford Glass Ltd., Bord Fáilte, Independent Newspapers and the R.N.L.I.

The following Club fixtures were arranged: March 24, 6 to 10 p.m., on the beach; May 5, Beach, 6 to 10 p.m. and May 26, 7 to 11 p.m. The second leg would consist of the following dates and all dates were to be fished from the Rocks from 3 to 7 p.m., on June 9, July 14 and August 11. Keep these dates in your diary.

Synagh.—A vote of sympathy was passed to Assistant Hon. Secretary, Mr. Tony McEvoy, on the lamented death of his father, Mr. Richard McEvoy and a Mass has been offered for the repose of his soul. R.I.P.

Pike.—Mr. Dan Cooper, a member of the Club, captured a fine 14 lb. Pike on a strip of herring at Bell Lake after the first cast and after a struggle for twenty minutes, the fish is being preserved and will hang in The Commodore Bar.

Inland Fisheries.—The Field Officers of this body are doing marvellous work in ridding our lakes of Pike. The Pike caught are highly prized as a fish dish and fetch prices as high as £1 per lb. Pike is one of the most delicious dishes, sliced into steaks and fried in butter you could not ask anything better. Fifteen years ago touring anglers brought in only a few thousand pounds to the economy each year but now as a result of bodies like Inland Fisheries Trust and Bord Fáilte this has meant an income from tourists seeking game fish and noxious fishing of over £4 million. Clubs in the South East area should become members of the Irish Specimen Fish Committee and The Inland Fisheries Trust. Encourage your Club's Committee to become members. Did you know that it takes 300 lbs. of fish to feed a 25 lb. pike in a season? A 43 lb. Pike was captured in the Lower Corrib this year—what fish must that Pike have done away with!

Speed of Fish.—Scientists have found that a trout of 8 inches (one of those you should put back) can swim at 4 miles per hour. Larger trout from 12 inches long can swim at a speed of 6 miles per hour. Gold fish can travel at a speed of 3 to 4 miles per hour. A salmon reaches a speed of 5 miles per hour. A 4 foot Barracuda can reach 21 miles per hour. Fish can reach their maximum speed within 1/20th of a second from a standing start.

Flying fish can glide gracefully a few feet above the water for a distance up to 500 feet. A salmon is capable of leaping 2 to 5 feet up and 12 feet forward in the air. To achieve this it must leave the water in a burst of speed of about 14 miles per hour.

A Tarpon can jump 7 to 8 feet. This fish is found in Atlantic and Pacific waters. Mullet when disturbed leap 1 to 2 feet out of the water. The Atlantic majestic Tarpon weighs 300 lbs. or more and measures 8 feet in length. The Pacific Tarpon is smaller. It is a fine fighting fish jumping clear out of the water when hooked.

Trout Flies.—Iron Blue Dun is a very small fly and appears on cold days in April and May and intermittently during the season to end of September. It is a very dark olive inky blue tint with a tinge of purple or mauve showing through. The body and legs of the male are of a very dark olive shade the wings keeping their inky-blue colour. A really good pattern can prove a killer anywhere.

Hook size 000 or 00 New numbers or size 17 or 16 Old numbers. Body Mole fur on claret quilling silk, or Dark Peacock quill dyed claret or Celindoid over claret tying silk; Thorax Mole Fur, legs, one turn short dark blue dun hen hackle. Whiskers—three short soft white fibres from a moose's hackle. Wing cases—water hen's secondary feather.

ADVICE TO BEET GROWERS

FARMERS INTENDING TO GROW SUGAR BEET THIS YEAR SHOULD TAKE IMMEDIATE STEPS TO ENSURE THAT:

1. Their local factory is notified of the acreage they wish to grow.
2. Fields chosen are soil sampled quickly and treated with lime where necessary.
3. Ploughing completed without delay.
4. Fertilisers and weed control herbicides are ordered now.

PREPARE to sow as soil conditions permit after March 17.

REMEMBER:

- i. experiments over many years have shown that one ton PER WEEK in yield can be lost in beet sown from end of March to mid May;
- ii. the early sown crop brings higher sugar content;
- iii. These and careful preparation determine the measure of profitability.

The Sugar Company extends credit of up to £50 per acre to all growers requiring it, for the fertilisers, sprays and lime it supplies.

PLEASE NOTE THE SUGAR COMPANY'S ADVISORY SERVICES ASSIST GROWERS IN ANY PROBLEM THEY MAY HAVE OR ANY PROBLEM ARISING DURING SEASON.

We have an adviser as near as your phone—just ring your local factory.

Fianna Fáil's Message to the Farmers of Ireland.

JIM GIBBONS, Minister for Agriculture.

"At last our people have won the key to unlock the Golden Chest of Ireland's Pastures. No one must be allowed to take that key away from them".

The Significance of Agriculture

Agriculture, as our largest single industry, involves very much more than farming. It determines the income and welfare of many thousands in our cities and towns. A very large section of our work force is employed in processing of agricultural products — a major industry of itself — in supplying farm inputs like fertilisers and feeding stuffs; in providing transport and other services to agriculture.

But it is in the vital area of the export trade that agriculture is most important to the nation. Sales of agricultural produce abroad earn the foreign currency with which we purchase the equipment and raw materials needed for the jobs in our cities and towns. These exports are particularly valuable because of their very low import content. For every extra £1 million received for agricultural exports, the net addition to our capacity to purchase imports is nearly as high.

As an island nation in the modern world, our economic and social progress depends simply on our success as an exporter. That is why, in the years immediately ahead, national prosperity so strongly depends on our capacity to earn the maximum from our sales of agricultural products abroad.

Progress

Prior to the Irish people's decision to enter E.E.C., the market conditions for agriculture were most unfavourable to expansion and progress. We were almost totally dependent on Britain to purchase our produce and on her own terms. What the British cheap food policy meant for Irish exports was restriction of quantities by quota, poor prices and price instability. Above all, price instability is the bane of progress.

Despite these impediments, sound steady Government planning and resolute adherence to these long term plans brought about immense development in recent years. Output more than doubled in the past ten years. Exports earn more than twice the foreign currency they did a short ten years ago enhancing considerably the nation's capacity for industrial development.

In a market environment hostile to investment, huge investment was achieved. Cattle stocks rose to over 6 million head and the cow population is now about to break the memorable two million barrier for the first time in our history.

The fertility of our soils has been extensively raised through unprecedented increases in lime and fertiliser application. Investments in farm buildings, equipment and machinery have geared the industry for a volume and quality of production hitherto unknown.

This solid progress is the fruit of intelligent Government plans and of unwavering confidence by the Irish people in the Government and its policies.

Future

Now that we are in Europe, everything at home is set fair to exploit the great opportunities it offers. Europe has given us economic freedom for the first time. Assured markets at attractive stable prices guarantee prosperity in the years ahead. At this crucial point in Irish history nothing must be allowed to endanger the great future that our people foresaw when they decided to join the European Community.

It would be disastrous if the proven plans and policies of Fianna Fáil were put at risk now. Generations would suffer from any setback. With the knowledge and insight from experience at home and abroad, Fianna Fáil intends resolutely to continue with steady, balanced progress in agriculture — the product of long-term planning — something that cannot be left to the whims of "instant policy" political lightweights.

Cattle and Beef:

We intend to push progressively forward to increase cattle production with all the skill and vigour that has brought such striking success in recent years. The potential for additional output is still very large. With the co-operation of the meat trade, we will promote more processing of our meat at home to raise the added value and to give more employment. Current investigations point to a lucrative meat trade in both the Continent of Europe and in Britain particularly. On the farm, every possible assistance will be given to the breeding and keeping of better stock, from the best breeds.

Dairying:

The dairy farmer on whom so much depends, can look forward with confidence. The Fianna Fáil Government will see to it that his hardships in the past will not be repeated. Like all farmers, he has manfully faced the temporary burden on him of eradicating animal disease in the national interest. Fianna Fáil is about to lighten that burden by raising the level of compensation for reactors.

We will further streamline this great national enterprise by reorganisation and rationalisation but this will be carried out on a voluntary basis.

Sheep:

We see much brighter days ahead for our sheep farmers on mountain, hill and lowland. External unfavourable factors have been prevented from having their effect by our hogget, ewe and mountain lamb schemes. World meat price trends ensure a more attractive price for mutton and lamb. We have been pressing strongly in Brussels for the common organisation of the market and will continue to do so. We are very confident that this will materialise bringing assured outlets at good stable prices for our sheep producers.

Pigs:

Concessions very recently won in negotiations between the Ministers of the Nine have improved considerably the outlook for pig production. Irish farmers can now compete on equal terms with other suppliers unhampered by the quota restrictions and feed price disadvantages of the past. We look especially to raising the smaller farmer's income from pig production and we propose to promote efficiency in fattening and processing.

Tillage:

Tillage farmers are well aware of the bright prospects that lie ahead for them. For sugar beet, the position is stable. Our wheat standards are such that growers have nothing to worry about while barley prices are most attractive and will remain so.

Land:

Our land, our great heritage, has now a value undreamt of by any generation. This great blessing has lately brought some problems in certain areas about its purchase. Fianna Fáil will ensure that farmers, particularly small farmers, who need to acquire more land for development in an area will not be denied that land by non-farmer speculators. Measures of this kind can be taken only by a strong stable Government.

The return on every acre of our land is such that it will pay to reclaim and improve large areas now underproductive. For that purpose, the Land Project given a new impetus particularly to help farmers in the less favourable regions in the West to a better way of life. As to the people on the land, Fianna Fáil's overriding philosophy is to preserve the family farm.

The Golden Chest

Even the most bitter opponent of Fianna Fáil cannot deny all the evidence in town and countryside of the prosperity which Fianna Fáil's policies have created with the unfailing support of our people. These policies emerged from intelligent planning for sustained progress and stability. They were launched in difficult times and were pursued with the unwavering vigour and determination that can be applied only by a Government with conviction and unity of purpose.

In agriculture, Fianna Fáil policies have successfully defied the impediments of the external market conditions of the past. They have created an infrastructure which can reap the full benefit of the new era of market stability for our products.

The whole nation, in the towns and on the land, saw the wisdom of Fianna Fáil policies in guiding our people to a new destiny. This they strikingly demonstrated in their overwhelming vote in favour of entry to Europe which was to give us economic freedom.

The Labour Party teamed up with a motley crew to oppose entry to Europe and so to deny the nation this unique opportunity to break out of its economic strait-jacket. But the Irish people once more showed their innate wisdom in a massive vote of no confidence in that Labour move. A self-styled Coalition Government including the Labour Party would be seriously encumbered in handling affairs of greatest importance to the country now — affairs at Brussels. It would not have the freedom to operate as a unified body on major matters of European policy affecting this country. Such a Government could not be expected to speak convincingly for Ireland especially on matters related to agriculture.

The innate wisdom of the Irish people will once again assert itself. Particularly in agriculture and all that it means, Ireland never had so much to gain and never so much to lose. At last our people have won the key to unlock the Golden Chest of Ireland's pastures. No one must be allowed to take that key from them.
