fought for this right and have been frustrated in our endeavours on many occasions But thanks to the help of local councillors and some progresive officials our ambitions have een realised.

But a club is only as strong as the commitment of its mem-bers. The club had received a very severe financial setback on the Barnawee project and so it was decided that the club members would rebuild our club house in the Park Having received the necessary planning permission our little army or ten members rose to the chal-lenge magnificently Firstly in taking down the clubhouse in Barnawee and secondly rebuilding it in the Park.

The lads set about the task with a will and were to be seen hammering away at it every evening and morning, noon and night at the week-ends in seven weeks not alone were the boats in but a slipway was built as

We are now at the decorative stage and getting along nicely at painting and plastering Also steps are being built on the low tide slipway and plans are going ahead forg a permanent high tide slipway Not one halfpenny of public funds has gone into this development and any assistance financial or otherwise, through associate membership or direct contribution, would be grate fully accepted.

Plans are also at an advanced

Your attention was drawn recently in these notes to the request from the IFSA for £2 per club to defray, not the experimental perimental perimental periments in Blackrock, Fairview and Drimnagh The Conger King was and is of the opinion that IT WAS JUST FINANCIALLY FARCICAL to put up prizes like a high priced new motor car, a coloured television and a stereo Unit The tickets were too pricey and if tickets were too pricey and if tickets were too pricey and it a 1st prize of say the coloured tele had been selected instead of the car and the tickets priced at 10p one would not hear of the SAD STORY of a LOSS TO THE FEDERATION Remember a loss to the IFSA effects you and me as it will give just another excuse it will give just another excuse to look for more finances from to look for more finances from the clubs who are running on a shoe string. The affiliation fee is slipping up nicely each year £2, then £5 and now £750 plus 5p per member from each club. To throw in a little more clubs are asked to subscribe £2 each to pay for a Juvenile Trophy (if the clubs answered the call £260 would be netted by the IFSA). His Majesty referred to a loss on the Raffle well hold your breath THE LOSS WILL BE NEAR £400 Let the members know what was collected in know what was collected in each Province? Did the home country of our parent body in charge of angling head the list?

The late Tom Kelly carried on the family tradition starting his fishing career with his fishing career with his fishing career with his father He grew up on the sea and in time became one of the best fishermen in the area and was recognised as such by his colleagues along the entire length of the south coast. As a skipper he had few equals and down through the years he was in charge, first of the "Betsle' and then of the "Vega' until he retired from active sea-going some years ago and handed some years ago and handed over to his son, Liam, who is now skipper Tom Kelly also had a long and active association with the Lifeboat Service and while there was a Lifeboat Station in Hel-vick he served at all levels from boatman to Coxswain with courage and enthusiasm A fluent Irish speaker he loved Irish music, singing and dancing and truly can it be said of this stalwart son of the sea now gone to his final rest in the graveyard at Ring Church where the winds from the waves of the Atlantic still blow about him, ni bheidh a leitheid ann

DISMAL FOREBODINGS

There were forebodings o a most dismol nature voice at the monthly meeting of the Co Waterford Committee o Agriculture held in Dungar van last Monday when severa members agreed that a bid financial crash for the country was inevitable in the nea future because of the presen economic crisis How serious is the position or is it, as one o the members of the Committee put it, on economic crisis just for some The attitude o some sections of the community would certainly seem to indicate the latter Earlier this week the magazine "US News and World gross Dr Dermot Gleeson of Co Cork who is honorary secretary of the Irish Medical Association said this yesterday following a discussion on rural practice and dispensary allowances at the Associaion's annual conference in

But it is not only doctors the are demanding more and more but members of most of the professional public services while the greatest culprits of all are the members of the Oireachtas—the Dail and Senate—government and opposition who, while crying crocodile tears and calling on the rank and file to tighten their belts and to stop looking for more than the country can economically provide, unanimously approved of whopping great increases for themselves Indeed in these circumstances it can well be asked "is there an economic crisis or not or is

There is no doubt but that he country as a whole is living far beyond its means at present Even for those not ^{greatly} versed in the world of finance the suspicion is mounting that the good times connot keep going and that there must be a stop sooner or later to this upward spiralling of wages and salaries If there is not a stop or a considerable slowing down then it must surely be a total collapse just for some!

But who cares? From whom should the example come? Who is or who should be in control? What measures are the government taking to check the raging inflation Beyond the odd sideswipe given by the Fine Gael Conservative wing of the government to the Labour socialist Wing as epitomised by the recent reference of the coiseach to the Minister for ndustry and Commerce that all of the inflationary tenlencies had not been imported and that quite a lot was due to domestic policies we have had little else What the country requires is better eadership sauced with a little good example and unless we are given some tangible evilence of both very soon then
