THE BOLD RAPPAREE

Our ballad choice for this week is "The Bold Rapparee," for the words of which I received a special request last week-end I hope this is the version which has been sought

He came oer the hills at the dawning of day,

With his troopers and pike men in battle array

Mong his clansmen the proudest and bravest was he

Oh! the chief of them all was the bold Rapparee battle was o er And the sheen of his green was all ruddy with gore, *

But I knew by his bearing unconquered was he
In the cause of his country

Oh! sweet was the promise

he whispered me when We mournfully parted adown

m the glen,
He vowed he'd come back
when the old land was free,
And claim me his bride did
the bold Rapparee

My mother she chides when I mention his name And tells me to wed for his riches and fame

A soft Saxon lordling of noble

But my heart's o'er the hills

with my own Rapparee

Oh ! I wish I was back once again in my home Among the green woodlands of sunny Tyrone,
To roam through the

o roam through the meadows light-hearted and

And bask in the smile of my

SHAMROCKS CONFIDENT OF BEATING MOLLERANS

WATERFORD/KERRY CLASH FOREGONE CONCLUSION

(By Commentator)

NEXT SUNDAY

pionship clash between county semi-final close rivals, Dunhill, who are FOURMILEWATER the only remaining club now, left in the battle for hurling and football county honours The eagerly awaited clash between Fourmilewater and Colligan in the losers group semifinal of the intermediate hurling championships is another very interesting fixture listed for the West on Sunday afternoon, while Sunday evening's clash between Geraldines and Ardmore in junior hurling

LONG KESH TYPE SECURITY SUGGESTED FOR DUNGARVAN TOWN DUMP

The latest problems in regard o the Dungarvan town dump last week's Circuit Court decisobtained against Dungaryan Urban Council were referred to at the Council's monthly meeting last Monday mght Mr J Murphy who referred to the matter said that he raised it as it was no longer sub judice and it was no secret any more that the Council had lost the action They had been involved in a similar action last ages paid and costs of both actions would run into £1000

Under the latest injunction he said that the dumping of bited from now on and he thought this was a good thing He pointed out that much of the problem arose from the unauthorised dumping went on dump and he also referred to the gate at the dump had been continually broken It's looks he said, 'as if something like the wiring at Long Kesh will be required at the dump to stop on this type of dumping ' Mr P Walsh Town Engineer said that the problem in fencing off the dump was that the place had to be left so that fishermen could have access to the nearby river Colligan as It was agreed to defer the gate leading to the dump had treme fly menace at the dump Urban Council opened with dump in matter until near meter been locked and that locks but this year he was rather sur-inearby. WESTERN CHAMPIONS

Ballyduff/Shamrocks

Tallow are once again the Western King Pins" of the Waterford minor hurling championship having defeated group side Ballyduff/Shamrocks impressively in the decider before a large attendance at Cappoquin on Friday evening last From the word go Tallow met the challenge head on and hurling in superior fashion led by 1—4 to nil at half-time

However the best hurling in this game came in the second-half with the group side throwing down the gauntlet to Tallow but in fairness' the issue did not ever seem in doubt so confidently were the winners

REJECTS ENGINEER'S RECOMMENDATION ON TOWN PLAN

URBAN COUNCIL

When an application from Mr John Enright for additional land around his shop premises at the Causeway, Abbeyside, was considered by the members of Dungarvan Urban Council at their monthly meeting on last Monday night, they decided to change the Town Development Plan in order to enable them to change the Town Development Plan in order to enable them to grant the application Mr Enright sought an additional 15 feet at the front and a strip 15 feet wide along the side and back of the premises He pointed out that under existing arrangements he had to bring his food stuff through the shop from the front and had no back from the front and had no back door in case of fire The adjoining land, part of a reclamation project, is the property of the Council

In a report on the application, Mr P Walsh, Town Engineer, pointed out that such develop-ment of any more of this land of Donegal —

The only sure way of avoiding these tragedies is not to put yourself at risk and so don't ever take chances DEAR OLD DONEGAL Our ballad choice this week is one which treats with the beauties scenic and otherwise,

Tho I may range in foreign lands, beyond a dreary sea.
The home I leave in Ireland shall still be dear to me And as the river seeks the sea my thoughts to it shall flow

To rest on scenes I dearly loved in the days of long or wheresoever my path shall lead and whatsoever shall befall, Ill ne er forget the hills and dales of dear old Donegal

Let Italy boast its myrte groves and skies of doug-less blue The bogs of dear old Ireland have got their myrtles, too And tho' her sky is often dark her sun is seldom seen,
"The the weeping skies of kin that keep old Ireland green.
The sweetest breath that nature breathes the sweet.
est dews that fall Falls on the beach that

Falls on the heath that clothes the hills of dear old

I hear them praise the glint that lights the Spanish maiden's eye, I hear them praise the Sam maid and laud her loud and high, But there are girls in Ire land fair as the flowers in spring, With eyes as black as Irish sloes and hair like raven's wing You'll find them in the rugged glens where mountain tor-rents fall By moor and lake and ten and brake in dear old

Oh how I leved to listen to She sang when spinning at the wheel in her soft Gaelic tongue. Or when she told some legend of ancient Irish kings.

Or when the elfs in boisterous mirth waltzed round the fairy rings You offer books wealth I fling you back them all For the love songs and the legends of dear old Donegal
