they met and beat a side of the calbre of Dungarvan Many forecast an easy passage for the winners But on a day when Dungarvan hurling reached a new dimension they were made to fight every inch of the way in a final which produced some great hurling and a close no holds barred made.

It was a day which did not suit hurling The heavy rain and the late start mitigated grinst the finer artistry of the game, but in fairness to with sides they mastered the conditions extremely well to serve up a classic in which the one was in doubt right up to Both sides were committed otally from the start and as fluctuated first in one play fluctuated first in one side's favour, and then in the other, there was seldom more than a puck of the ball between the sides. This was more true of the first half in which the sides were level on five different occasions. After a see-saw truggle the half finished with both sides level at 0-8 each Neither side had gained an dvantage aithough Dungarvan had looked more potentially dangerous when they raced into an 0-3 to 0-1 lead in the opening period. Cappoquin hit the ront only once in the half and this was in the 27th minute but it was a measure of Dungarvan's tenacity in this period that they had levelled the scores again before the

"300" DRAW

With our monthly "150" draw now ended the club has decid-ed to hold one confined 300" draw which takes place on December 18th With our involvement in so many championships (we won both the under 14 hurling and under 16 football) the financial drain on the club has been heavy this the death of Mr Thomas Murphy

PHASING OUT?

There has been widespread ratecism in the press and at nublic meetings at local level meent months about the monner in which health seryioss, based at the District Hospital in Dungarvan, have been downgraded Public representatives of different political colours have all poken with one voice condemning the Regional Health loard as being responsible for the position. The Board's resonse to the occusations are published elsewhere in this

Whotever the intentions of the Board's Administration ore now, there can be little doubt that, for whatever reason the various health services which had been avoildole in Dungarvan ithrough the years were being allowed to run out Despite the public clamour for a casualty service particularly iat week-ends, i has never been provided, existing proposals allow for no future for the maternity unit at the District Hospital while there have also been changes in the transport ser- O vice for patients from Dun-in gorvan and West Waterford who must travel to Dublin hospitals or clinics

Latest development in the phase out has been the almost total disappearance of the senior staff officers from the old administrative headquarters at Arus Brugha in Dungarvan Up to ithis a number f the senior staff were in regular attendance here and i beople with problems were usually able ito have their gueries dealt with without a ony undue delay. Now even ( these have gone, and if not B entirely they are obsent on

As a result public repre-it sentatives are once more up 5 in arms as ithey find it increasingly difficult, if not mpossible, to make representive tations or to obtain adequate a and speedy replies to the p enquiries they make This was, one of the points pressed by a deputation from the County Council which attended a recent meeting of the Regional Health Board in Kilkenny and the officials have now come back with an offer that a senior member of the administrative staff would be availdole in Dungarvan "on meetmg days of the Council Committee of Agriculture and Library Committee for the convenience of public repre-
