for each other on the roads There appears to be no shortage of money in circula- ip tion and as usual there will be It parties and celebrations when old acquaintances meet to have their Christmas drinks. It is in this regard that many of us display a great lack of charity Having drank not wisely but too well, we think nothing of getting behind the wheel of a car and, to use a common term, of motoring on In doing so drivers put their own lives in jeopardy and also; their cars not to mention those in the other cars they meet and the pedestrians and cyclists ithey have to pass

It is a time of extra heavy traffic on the roads and a time when the weather conditions for driving are not always the best. So do be charitable when on the roads over the festive period Take! care of yourselves and show the same care and consideration for others Let Caution, Care and Consideration be your three big Cs for Christ-

AND COUNSEL

since I wrote about the wigs and gowns worn by judges and counsel and the outmoded they still tended to maintain in our Courts I was pleased therefore to see reported lost week where Rev Professor Enda McDonagh of Maynooth advised the judges and counsel to get rid of their wigs and gowns as "this extraordinary gear" did not uphold the dignity of the law He said that the system tolerated in Irish courts damaged vulnerable individuals

A move was made in the early 1960s by the then Minister for Justice in the Flonna Fail government, Air Charles Haughey, to bring rish courts more up-to-deta by modernising the form of address to the court one dispensing with the wear m of wigs and gowns. There wa little enthusiasm at the tim for such a move and man judges, counsel and barrister regarded let as unnecessar interference with an historic association and tradition going back for more than 20 years They saw in the w and gown something the added dignity and honour the legal profession Rev Dr McDonagh correctly pointed out that t dignity of the law was uphe by farmness and competend At the time he was speaking at the final session of a thre day seminar on "Crime a Punishment" organised by t Mental Health Association Ineland He soid that whole court procedure begi ning with the moment occused person walked in a sow people in their "ext ordinory gear" was terrifying" Their might appeal to someone w g perverse sense of humo but at awas part of a co system that had a very Plotting, distressing and pa ful affect on people brow before it

I find myself in compl Ogreement with these se ments as expressed by McDonagh and think that is beyond time to have necessary changes made to away with such things wigs and gown and the fa of oddress still used in Counts
