ABBEYSIDE BRIDGE

The dangers to pedestrians who have to negotiate the Causeway Bridge between Dungarvan and Abbeyside were once again raised when Clir Billy Cotter referred to them at the March meeting of Dungaryan Urban Council Cllr Cotter asked that a footpath be provided on the quay side of the Bridge to enable pedestrians and especially mothers wheeling prams to cross the Bridge with some neasure of safety

These dangers have been spotlighted on numerous occasions in this column The County Council brought forward plans for a new flat bridge a couple of years ^{ago} but they never got farther than the drawing board Then the plan for the companies to the current posi-tion is that there was no need for any emergency measures to Employers who have not received the usual documents required for the operation of PAYE/PRSI deductions for the year commencing on 6 April, 1979.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Revenue Commissioners regret the inconvenience caused through inability in the present circumstances to deliver these documents. Pending delivery the procedures to be followed are set out below

TAX-FREE ALLOWANCES

For persons in continuing employment on 6 April, 1979, employers who use tax deduction cards should operate PAYE on the basis of the tax-free allowances set out on the most recently issued tax deduction card for the year 1978/79 and where such a tax deduction card is not held, the emergency procedure should be operated Employers who use an approved alternative system to tax deduction cards should operate PAYE on the basis of the most recently issued tax-free allowance certificate for the year 1978/79 and where such a certificate is not held, the emergency procedure should be operated

Information regarding the emergency procedure was set out in the notice to employers (emergency basis of tax deduction) issued in January, 1979.

For persons who commence or resume employment on or after 6 April, 1979, all employers should operate PAYE on the basis of the employee's form P45 or certificate of tax-free allowances. Otherwise, the emergency procedure should be operated.

So that they may be in a position to complete 1979/80 tax deduction cards when these become available, employers who use tax deduction cards should keep a record for each employee with effect from 6 April, 1979 onwards on the basis of the sample copy of the new tax deduction card which was issued to them with an explanatory notice at the end of January, 1979. The essential details to be recorded are reproduced at the foot of this notice.

Employers in the building industry in Dublin and Cork should, if necessary, refer to their PAYE tax districts for instructions

TAX TABLES

The appropriate tax tables at present in use-Table A (1978/79), Table B (1977/78) and Table C (1977/78)-should continue to be used until the new tax tables for 1979/80 have been received by employers.

PAY-RELATED SOCIAL INSURANCE

The vast majority of employees-men and women-are insurable at standard class rate, called Class A1. These include persons in industrial, commercial and service-type employment, male and female agricultural workers; domestics, whole-time share fishermen whether employed under a contract of service or not, out-worker male weavers employed under a contract of service, seamen who are EEC nationals employed aboard ships flying the Irish flag and engaged on home trade.

APRIL

Class A1 rate is 13.15% (employee's portion 4.4% and employer's portion 8.75%).

Details of all contribution classes and rates were published recently in the daily newspapers by the Department of Social Welfare

Employers who use tax deduction cards should, pending receipt of the cards for 1979/80, record the essential details of PRSI contributions in the same manner as PAYE - see the foot of this notice.

IMPORTANT NOTICE to Employees

The Revenue Commissioners regret the inconvenience caused to employees by the delay in present circumstances in issuing to them notices and certificates of tax-free allowances for the year 1979/80. When these are issued in due course, employers will make any necessary PAYE adjustments

REMINDER of essential details to be recorded for each employee by employers who use tax deduction cards.

For example the first £200 of capital will not be assessed against applicants for non-contributory Old Age Pension non-contributory Widow's Pension Deserted Wife's Allowance Unmarried Mother's Allowance or Prisoner's Wife's Allowance

In addition where there are qualified children, applicants for these pensions and allowances who are working will have £104 a year of their earnings disregarded for each of their children Unearned ncome of children will also be disregarded The value of owner occupied dwelling houses and farm buildings will no longer count against the categories mentioned above and will also be disregarded when assessing the means of persons applying for Single Woman's Allowance and Unemployment Assistance If you have been refused any of these payments or if your claim was allowed only at a reduced rate and you think the improvements mentioned would benefit your case you should now re-apply Claim forms for Old Age and Widows Pensions are available at all

Post Offices, Claim forms for Deserted Wife's Allowance Prisoner's Wife's Allowance or Unmarried Mother's Allowance are available from the Department of Social Welfare Phibsboro Tower Dublin 7 and for Single Woman's Allowance from the Department of Social Welfare 157-164 Townsend Street Dublin 2

Small-holders whose entitlement to Unemployment Assistance is asessed on a notional basis may opt to have their means from land factually assessed where this would be to their advantage

Enquiries regarding Unemployment Assistance should be made at your local Employment Exchange or Employment Office

Due to interruption of postal services, payment of the increases may, in certain cases, be delayed Any balance due will be paid retrospectively as soon as normal services are restored
