following is the text of the Co Engineer's report — Causeway bridge in Dungarvan causeway linking on there and is a cause of continuing and in carrying on up Sexton Street as creasing worry because of the at present risk particularly to pedestrians crossing the bridge There is virus an accer tually no footpath. The problem is particularly acute in the case of mothers with prams

Several attempts have been ment (now the Department of The first proposal envisaged the demolition of the Causeway the time from both the County and Urban Councils and was abandoned for a time Subsequently the possibility of constructing footpaths cantile-vered out from the existing solution which would in fact the time considered unaccept-

Next we considered widening the existing bridge on the up-stream side on the basis that the facade of the bridge at that side was less obvious and that we could try to camouflage its appearance without in any way interfering with the downstream comes from the internal facade We got agreement from summer months with a week-end camp in Glenshelan: The difficulties with the owner of weather was kind to us and the Bridge Garage whose claim for compensation for the section of his premises we would have of his premises we would have considered possibly just using The Leaders of the Pack are the width of the existing paravery grateful to the Unit Coun-pets to give a footbath of very col of Abboyside Troop in letting modest dimensions — 3 ft on them have the site and a spe one side and 2 ft on the other cial word of thanks to the with a railing outside it It was warden who was of great help considered that this would pro

In my view neither of these is an acceptable solution. The first would result in an unsightly and from the traffic point of view awkward series of twists on the road and the second would made to get agreement with the to a considerable extent negative the effect of the relief road because we would be funnelling all the traffic through Sexton Street which is quite narrow and or which parking is virtually unavoidable I feel that even though the new bridge possibly with a causeway at either end depending on further investigation of the foundations — even though somewhat more expensive although not necessarily enormously so _ is the only effec tive solution to the problem Either of the other two lines be totally wrong on reasonable criteria I feel that apart from any other aspect public opinion would be highly critical of either of these lines for the road and in my view rightly so

THE RING ROAD

Dealing with the proposed Ring Road the report states -A considerable amount of the justification for the relief road muter traffic rather than from the through traffic and the Creamery element in the heavy traffic Another increasingly and very important element to be considered in the argument for the relief road is the number of heavy tankers carrying various chemicals that pass through the town Many of these are extremely toxic and dangerous and it is to say the least of it desirable that they be routed clear of the town centre

Having regard to all these factors I consider that a redef road is necessary and that it is need ed immediately It is not a prac ical proposition to control the raffic in the Souare effectively unless the heavy vehicles are taken from it The practical problem here at

he moment is that we are about to start work on the first section of what is our chosen line leading into the Creamery and once we build that we are virtually committed to at least that section of it although I suppose strictly speaking we could vary it in the future but only at some expense

Square and the area around there for short term parking The other problem that crops

November We wish those taking it fully mean that we would have to on the diversion road — and I mean that we would have to on the diversion road — and I mean that we would have to feel that every possible effort have a bridge the whole way be istic to expect that we would also get money for a new bridge at the causeway Accordingly if we get a promise of money for the new bridge on the diversion road within say five years I would recommend that the Council approve of the proposal to provide cantilevered footpaths on the causeway bridge because the major problem at present is that of pedes trians and what traffic there is line of the road towards the town and seeking the point at which the rock is nearest the will be considerably reduced if the diversion road is built I recommend that the Coun-

anc emphasise the importance of getting a commitment from ther to the money for the diversion road in full including the bridge This project is in fact in the Roads for the '80's document but is scheduled for the end of the decade I feel that it should be brought for ward to 1980/'81/'82

WESTERN CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Western championships will come to a close at Lismore on Sunday next after the hurlers of Tallow and Cappoquin have decided the destiny of the under 21 hurling trophy for 1979
The trophy for this championship is the Eugene O'Connell perpetual trophy which was re-cently presented by the Mercy Order of Nuns in Cappoquin to commemorate the memory of this young player who was so tragically killed last year It would be fitting indeed Carpoquin took this magnifi-cent trophy in its maugural

It is possible that the ease sociated with the team Still it pect at this time of year will come as a shock if they are beaten and I take them to score a win and become the first club to win the O'Connell Cup
