Legality Of "New" Committee Of Agriculture

Questioned

At the first meeting of the newly structured County Committee of Agriculture now under the jurisdiction of ACOT (the council for Development in Agriculture) held in Dungaryan on Wednesday of last week the legality of the constitution of the new body and of decisions taken at the meeting were ques-

Under an Order made by the Minister for Agriculture, the new body comprises of 16 members 10 of whom are appointed by the County Council from its own membership and six nom-inated by the following voluntary organisations (one each) ICA, IFA Macra Na Feirme Sheepbreeders Association IC MSA and Co-operative Movement the nominees to be so ap-pointed to be approved by the County Council at its first meeting in September bodies complied with this the Sheenbreeders naming Mr T Sheepbreeders naming Mr

Fine Gael man Michael Quealy who was Chairman of the old' committee was again re-elected to the position unani-unanimously by Fine Gael Councillor James A Walsh who was proposed by other party colleagues Oliver Coffey and Jerry O'Brien

Returning thanks for his elec-tion Mr Quealy welcomed the three new members appointed to the Committee but pointed out that the constitution of the Committee had not so far been completed as three of the nom-mating bodies had failed to name their representatives

A DEFINITE LEGAL POINT

At this stage Mr C Curran said that he wished to raise will carry a fuller report on this very point as in his opinion this next week when they thaw the question arose as to whe- out! Nuts raisins eating out of ther the Committee was now properly constituted at all There was definitely a legal point involved and while he was not objecting to any of the nommees he queried the fact that they could not proceed until the Cont They tell me he's good at Committee was properly constituted and the situation was one GO KARTING which he would like to have that names did come in to him after the last County Council only and added extras—Foxy J meeting but he had referred watch-out them to the County Council Secretary as he felt this was a matter for the Council to deal spies They say they will whip

THE FODDER PROBLEM

With reference to all a recent discussions about the fodder crisis and the attempt made to ease the situation. feel many of the points raised show the general lack of under standing of the actual prolems facing farmers today It extremely naive to think that the fodder and silage true will in any way solve chor to income crisis that farmen in now experiencing

I would question if individual Agricultural Advisers in 1007 are chemselves 100 per cent cop vinced of the unformation m advice they are transmiting to farmers on the present fodie problem Is it really justification. to advise a farmer to spend in per acre (less £117 great) a get 5 tons of indifferent ma terial in October? 2 tons pr acre could be got without expenditure in any case he there really 70 per cent of the on the dole

we work like blacks so don't country's hay saved? Perhap

70 per cent of it has been in moved from the fields but to where? Much has had to be burned or dumped

One would get the impression from the media that ACOT solved the fodder problem at stroke Farmers are solven their fodder and cash flow problems alright-by disposing d their divestock in ever incress ported or slaughtered in the 1 months of 1980 compared to the same period in 1979 They like Other makes are like Christ the emigrants are passing inciment with their feet

Li is equally naive to this farmers either Their loans are for new development and de They'll close our car plants not allow existing loans to be restructured Meanwhile agricultural commodity prices and input costs do not justify any new development prices and a concerted effort w control inflation are required and are of greater important right now than new loans

Trish Dairy and Beef Farmen are receiving 20-30 per cent less of the EEC guide prices than their European counterpart while our rate of inflation is two to three times higher Some time in the future hopefully perhaps the power mers. In the meantime how ever they hand addy by white one of the few resources agolowed to dwindle and dram away at an alarming rate It is a great pity that the confidence that took years to

e Editor, ingarvan Leader. THE FODDER PROBLEM

Dear Sir.
With reference to all the cent discussions about the sider crisis and the attempts and the attempts age to ease the situation, I al many of the points raised on the general lack of under anding of the actual probanding of the actual prob-me facing farmers today It is account to think that a fodder and silage grants in any way solve either the deer problem or the severe come crisis that farmers are we experiencing...

receives 100 per cent conreed of the information and vice they are transmitting to the present fodder them. Is it really justifiable advise a farmer to spend £70 et acre (less DIR grant) to $ 5 tons of industrial rial in October? 2 tons per rie could be got without any penditure in any case is pere really 70 per cent of the unitry's hay saved? Perhags per cent of it has been re-tived from the fields but to here? Much has had to be prized or dumped.

One would get the impression the media that ACOT leed the fodder problem at a Farmers are solving eir fodder and cash flow prob ms alright—by disposing of heir livestock in ever increas-members. The figures speak themselves — 300 000 more title and cows have been exoths of 1980 compared to the me period in 1979 They like e emigrants are passing judg-ent with their feet is equally naive to think new Euro-Loans will aid rmers either Their loans are new development and do tructured. Meanwhile agn itural commodity prices and put costs do not justify any development rices and a concerted effort to noted inflation are required and are of greater importance gir now than new loans drish Dairy and Beef Farmers re receiving 20-30 per cent less t the EEC guide prices than heir European counterparts hile our rate of inflation is to three times higher Some time in the future opefully, perhaps the powers hat be will take some action restore confidence in Agriultural Development and farver they stand idly by while of the few resources agrialture has - livestock - is alwed to dwindle and drain way at an alarming rate It is a great pity that the uid up has now been torn

Yours faithfully

_ P. CASEY Waterford County Executive Chairman IFA aha Bridge tilmacthoma 9 September 1986

Many Co. Managers And Co. Council Chairmen Are In Contempt Of The Supreme Court Over Rates Demands

Under no circumstances hould farmers pay rates on hear buildings. This advice was himp by Michael Borbary Secre tiven by Michael Berkery Sec-letary of IFA's National Pig committee who said an a statenent that County Managers in many parts of the country bould well find themselves in ontempt of court. He pointed out that in the Supreme Court, Mr Justice Henchy in a Court tuling last December made it buite clear that intensive cattle, big and poultry production are in integral part of modern far hing and that Section 14 Val estions Act exempts such ildings from rates Mr Berkery said Legally larmers do not have to pay rates on farm buildings. The present attempt by Local Authorities to lave rate demands on the payers. brities to levy rate demands on biggeries and other such build ings to farmers is a disgraceful abuse of the legislation.

I.F.A. advises any farmer who receives a rate demand to beint out to the Co Councils that the Councils are in breach of the Supreme Court judge

Farm buildings have had a remission of rates since 1966 untermission of rates since 1966 untermission brought in by her legislation brought in by the legislation brought in by the legislation brought in by the legislation brought in by the legislation brought in by the legislation brought in by the legislation of the legislation impose rates ago tried to impose rates rears ago tried to impose rates and poultry on intensive pig and poultry on intensive pig and poultry on intensive hat both security had become tors of the industry had become tors of the industry had become tors of the industry had become the industrial rather than farm entirely in the courts, year legal battle in the Supremental rathers in the supremental rath Mr Henchy in the Supreme Ocurt held that intensive farm buildings were not liable for rates.
