UNSTABLE OUTLOOK

Despite all the mileage which the political commentators had pumped before getting out of the stalemate result of last week's general election, the fact of the matter is that irrespective of whether we are to have Charles J. Haughey as Taoiseach with a minority Fianna Fail government or Garret Fitz-Gerald as Taoiseach with a Fine Gael-Labour combination, the immediate outlook is unstable.

While it can be said that Mr. Haughey did not receive the mandate which he sought neither did Mr. Fitz-Gerald achieve his stated ambition that Fine Gael would be the largest single party in the Dail after the election. On the other hand the Labour Party made a particularly poor showing especially in the Dublin Constituencies where they lost not only their leader Frank Cluskey but also two party stalwarts in the persons of Ruairi Quinn and John Horan.

With Fianna Fail having 78 and Fine Gael with Labour support mustering 80, the balance of power would appear to rest with the independents of whom there are eight as against four in the last Dail. Whether Labour will choose either to coalesce with Fine Gael to form a government or whether they will give support to Fine Gael in a minority Fine Gael government has yet to be decided by the voters before reaching a decision on the matter. It must first choose a new Party leader and having done so they will then hold a delegate meeting later to decide what road they will take. These decisions will prove of great importance to the future of the party as many blamed the losses which they suffered on the apparent ambivalence of running on one programme yet being prepared to compromise with a stronger party on another after the election. But power in the hands of the game and there could be divergent opinions within the party between those who would aspire to cabinet positions and those who might feel that a continued Fine Gael embrace would further suffocate the party.

On the other hand Fianna Fail would require the support of at least four of the independents if they are to form a government and to say the least, the majority of the independents elected could be most unpredictable. If they hold down to the fact that all we can hope for is a caretaker government until a fresh election is held. This is a situation which can only be bad for the country as either of the alternative governments will not really be strong measures necessary in an effort to restore the country to a correct economic course.

However while the welfare of the nation should be the prime interest the game of politics will still be played and the wheeling and dealing and backstairs trading will continue until those elected to the 22nd Dail come together on June 30 for their first meeting when these issues will be decided.

DID YOU KNOW?

Some 30 miles above us lies a layer of protective gas known as the Ozone layer. Its function according to scientists, is to shield the earth from the harmful effects of the ultraviolet radiation from the sun. Indeed, depending on latitude some parts of the earth are only seven miles from the Ozone layer and its preservation is a matter of considerable importance. This scientific background is highlighted in a recent European Commission report which says that chemical discharge over the years, particularly the increased carbon dioxide and aerosol emissions have reduced the density of the Ozone belt thus affecting climate and atmosphere circulation. Many researchers believe that if certain chemicals continue to be discharged at their present rates, the Ozone layer could be reduced by a third in from five to ten decades.

The rate at which substances harmful to the Ozone layer are being used has fallen dramatically since 1976. Notwithstanding this, greater controls are necessary.

The most harmful substances to the Ozone layer are chemicals used in aerosols, plastic foam and refrigeration. Since 1976 the sale of aerosols in the EEC has fallen by 23 per cent. Dangerous chemicals in the plastics industry have, however, increased by 47 per cent over the 1976 level. Savings from the decline in aerosol sales are more than offset by the use of the chemicals in other areas.

Now the European Commission is to be asked to adopt policies that will reduce the amount of harmful emissions from the plastics, refrigeration and solvent sectors. The Commission is also seeking a mandate from the Council to enable it to pursue precautionary measures.

A HEARTY NONAGENARIAN

It is always a pleasure for me to talk with people of the older generation and it was a particular pleasure for me during the past week when I met an old friend in the person of Ardmore man Con Downey from Crusheen Co. at present a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital in Dungarvan and he told me that he had celebrated his 91st milestone in his life there a few weeks ago.

For a man of such a great age Con is still hale and hearty and possesses a great memory being able to roll off old poems and ballads, verse after verse, without a moment's hesitation. He told me that he wanted to go on record to thank the Matron, Nurses and Attendants (male and female) at the hospital who had made his birthday celebration such a very happy occasion for him and he asked whether we could obtain for him the words of an old poem which was included in a CBS textbook of years gone by, "The Bridal of Malahide". Perhaps some reader may still remember it and oblige. I avail of this opportunity, even though belated, of wishing Con many happy returns on the occasion of his 91st birthday.

UNEMPLOYED

The most recent information available shows that a total of 3,571 persons were registered as unemployed in the city and county as at April 24 last. This figure was 1,093 more than at the same time in 1977.

Of the 3,571, the following are the numbers registered at local employment exchanges, with the comparable figures for 1977 in brackets: Dungarvan 556 (415); Lismore 239 (107); and Waterford City 2,776 (1,956).

Although these are the official figures I very much doubt that they tell the whole story.

ANOTHER POSTAL DELAY

Due to yet another postal delay there was a "news blackout" from the Tallow area in last week's issue of the "Leader". Two letters, one with the news for the weekly Tallow and Roundabout column and the other from the PRO of the Tallow Community Centre, posted in Tallow on Tuesday, June 9 did not reach us until Thursday, June 11. Both letters were date franked "Tulach An Iarsain, 9-VI-81" which proved beyond doubt that they had in fact been posted at that time.

NOTE

Last week I referred to a batik as the form which the monument to the founders of the Dungarvan Co-op Creamery sponsored by the Maher Memorial Fund Committee has taken. I have had a number of inquiries since as to what this is. According to my dictionary, a batik (from the Malayian 'mbatik') is an ancient Javanese method of designing in colour on fabrics by waxing parts not to be dyed.

THE ROSE OF ALLENDALE

Our choice for the ballad corner this week, "The Rose of Allendale" is of Scots origin but has become quite popular in our country as someone remarked it is one of those ballads which just blew across the sea.

The morn was fair, the skies were clear,
 No morn came o'er the sea,
 When Mary left her highland home,
 And wandered forth with nun,
 Though I know she deeked the mountainside,
 And fragrance filled the vale,
 By far the sweetest flower there,
 Was the Rose of Allendale,
 Was the Rose of Allendale.

Where'er I wandered, East or West,
 Though late began to lour,
 A solace still she was to me,
 In sorrow's lonely hour,
 When tempests lashed our lonely barque,
 And rent her shivering sail,
 One maiden form withstood the storm,
 'Twas the Rose of Allendale.

And when my fever'd lips were parched,
 On Africa's burning sands,
 She whispered words of happiness,
 And tales of distant lands,
 My life has been a wilderness,
 Unless by fortune's zephyr,
 Had fate not linked my lot to hers,
 'Twas the Rose of Allendale.

West Waterford Under 14

14 hurlers from Tallow on Wednesday night next, June 24th in the final of the West under 14 hurling championship.

The game is fixed for Cappoquin with a 7.30 p.m. start.

Under 12 Hurling Semi-Final in Lismore. This score electrified the crowd under 12 hurlers scored a hard earned win over Tallow on Tuesday night last.

Lismore took the lead on the breeze in the first half when they scored a goal and a point in the first five minutes. In spite of their best endeavours Lismore were first in score when Michael Barry scored a long point after five minutes.

With defeat staring them in the face Tallow could not read the writing on the wall and realising something had to be done, they began to lodge attacks on the Lismore goal, but defenders David Barry, Patrick Sheehan and Kevin Roche were quick to see danger and cleared many of the Tallow raids.

To Promote Waterford At London Irish Festival

Waterford County Development Team will for the first time present Waterford to the U.K. public at the London Irish Festival on July 5th at Roundwood Park, Willesden, London. This annual festival, which is in existence for a number of years, promotes Irish music, song and dance. Participation in the Festival is arranged in co-operation with the Waterford Association in London. The County Development Team is using this festival to promote the County on two fronts, viz. (1) Industrial (2) Tourism.

On the Industrial side it is a two-pronged operation. Firstly to display some of the goods produced in the County and to encourage trade between manufacturing units in the County and in the United Kingdom. Secondly, to attract manufacturing units or entrepreneurs to make Waterford County their manufacturing base, through the provision of sites or buildings and making them aware of I.D.A. incentives. July 5th will be devoted to the latter exercise.

Waterford County is endowed with natural beauty and resorts and it is proposed to advertise these features in co-operation with the South East Tourism. Waterford County has a variety of manufacturing units from the agricultural associated enterprises to the sophisticated world-renowned Waterford Glass. Native industry and native service make work side by side with Quigley Magnetics from U.S.A., Cypias International from New Zealand, Jyden from Denmark and Blockberg Incorporated from New Jersey, U.S.A. WILL DISPLAY AT FESTIVAL

The following have willingly agreed to display their products at the Festival: —
Waterford Cream Liqueur,
Waterford Glass Craftsmen,
Industrial Liqueurs, Perfumery,
Villiersdown Hand-Crafted,
Villiersdown,
Jym, Tallow,
and Tourism will be represented through:
South East Tourism,
Tramore Public,
Gold Coast, Ballinacourty.
The County Development Team is conscious of current industrial recession and will work with the state agencies to consolidate existing industry and to attract new industry to the County.

DUNGARVAN YOUTH CLUB NOTES

DISCO
Last Friday night we had our monthly disco with the crowd was not as big as usual. This week's disco is changed to Tuesday night because of a Council meeting.

Don't forget we have discos every Monday night in the Town Hall at 8.00 p.m. This week's disco is changed to Tuesday night because of a Council meeting.

PAINT SECTION CLUB NIGHT
Last Sunday night we played a game called 'Holy Dido' which was a comedy of laughs, especially for 'Guislin'. The rules were, no laughing, grinning or talking without permission. The most holy ballerina could not control the congregation, so in the end he was deposed (sacked).

Next week we will be having a mixed football on the Eric O'Connell pitch provided that the weather is fine. Everyone to be outside the Town Hall at 7.45 p.m. sharp. If the weather is bad we will have our club night in the Town Hall.

JUNIOR SECTION CLUB NIGHT
On Friday night we will be going to Collihan for a treasure hunt. The bus leaves the Square at 7.30. Don't miss it. Cost 30p.

PLAYSCHEME
As there are over 500 applications returned, a public draw will now be held to pick those for the 100 places available. This will be held in the St. Vincent de Paul rooms on this Thursday night (18th) at 8 p.m. This has been a fantastic response to the playscheme and it is unfortunate that all cannot take part.

Perhaps, if sufficient finance is available next year we may be able to cater for many more children.
Don't forget your payments for the birthday party on the 20th June. All is set for a great night with a great club night.

Co. Waterford Muintir Na Tire

COME AND SEE DAY. The Waterford Muintir Na Tire Federation is planning a "Come And See Day"...

There were 130 delegates present at the AGM of the Waterford & Limerick diocesan branch of the F.N.T.A. These representatives...

The new Standing Committee elected for this year is as follows: Chairman, Very Rev. Dean Thomas J. Cassidy, P.P. Y. Dungarvan...

Four resolutions were adopted and are being forwarded for further discussion to the forthcoming National AGM.

1. That we, the Boards of Management deplore the exclusion of parent-members of Boards from interviewing candidates for assistantships in their schools...

2. That we, the Boards of Management, are willing to find substitutes on the occasion of the absence of teachers and to consider Miss Noreen O'Leary, Federation Secretary, 2 South Terrace, Dungarvan, Tel 058/4199 (9-5).

3. That in view of the ever increasing cost of fuel oil for heating that the Department be requested to consider the special grant given in January 1980.

4. That the Department be requested to make available a special grant for the painting of schools.

As was to be expected, much time and discussion was given to the proposed changes in the method of appointing assistant teachers and the almost unanimous opinion of the delegates present was that any banning of Board members from the interviewing of candidates would be a serious diminution of the standing of Board members and might well have serious repercussions for the future of Primary Schools in the county.

5. That the Department be requested to consider the special grant given in January 1980.

DUNGARVAN H-BLOCK/ARMAGH COMMITTEE The above committee wishes to congratulate those brave people who set aside their traditional political allegiance in the election to vote for Kevin Lynch, the H-Block hunger-striker. Despite the complications of a general election (unlike a referendum), and the economic situation in the country, the very credible poll and the threat the H-Block committee posed to the major political parties, indicates the widespread support the prisoners have for their demands. It also puts down a marker for the political parties and the government, that the people of Waterford and the South in general are not indifferent to the Northern Question and that it is now a major issue in politics down here. Aglish Publican Fined

When gardai failed to get a response to their knocking on the front door of a county Waterford publican, they eventually went round to the back and eventually admitted by the licensee. District Justice W. P. O'Connell was told at Cappoquin Court. Before the court was William Irwin, Aglish, Cappoquin, who pleaded not guilty to charges of permitting persons on his premises after hours and refusing to admit gardai on September 23rd last. The defendant claimed that the persons on the premises were his invited guests and were not by the licensee's section but in the kitchen; he also said he did not hear the gardai knocking on the front door. Irwin was acquitted on the charge of permitting persons on the premises but was convicted of refusing to admit the gardai and was fined £10 with an order of payment of the licence. Supl. M. English prosecuted.

INTERMEDIATE HURLING CHAMPIONSHIP (WEST) We will meet Stradbally in the first round on this Saturday evening at Cappoquin and look forward to a good hard, close game, and if the team produce the form which has been shown in the recent league games then we should hope to advance to the semi-final, Lou Stradbally who play a good, hard type of hurling will make it difficult for our lads to do so. TALLOW & ROUNDABOUT NOTES

Athletic Notes — Members of the Tallow club travelled to the recent N.A.C.A. Sports in Cork and one of our new-comers, Denis O'Flaherty was really in top form. He got 2nd in the boys under 9 years 100m. Well done Denis. The girls under 11 years got 3rd in their relay — Helen Curley, Elizabeth Ryan, Jacqueline Henley and Margaret O'Brien. Billy Curley came 4th in the boys high jump, while Roger Smith did very well in the long jump. Jacqueline Henley qualified in three semi-finals but pulled a muscle before she ran in the final. Training is continuing in preparation for the Community Games on 28th July. Curley Curley. The late Mr. William Coleman — It is with deep regret that we record the passing of Mr. William (Bill) Coleman, late of Coolduff, Ballyduff, which sad event took place at his home, 181, Coleman Road, on Tuesday last. The late Bill Coleman was a gentle and most inoffensive man and was a general favourite over a wide area. He is survived by his sisters, Judith and Mary O'Hara, Tallow, and by his wife, Mrs. Coleman, who is being looked after by her daughter, Mrs. M. Walsh, P.P., and the interment took place after Requiem Mass, again in the presence of a large and respectable attendance, with Very Rev. Fr. M. Walsh, P.P., again officiating. Club members — Mrs. O'Neill, Ballyduff, Mrs. O'Hara, Tallow, Mrs. McSwiney, Tallow, Mrs. Dooling, Carrigeen, Coona, (sister), Patrick Kirby, Coolduff, Patrick O'Neill, Ballyduff, Benny O'Hara, Tallow, Tom McSwiney, Tallow, Joe Dooling, Carrigeen, Coona (brother-in-law), Mrs. Coleman, England (sister-in-law).

OPPOSED TO CAR RALLIES

All those car rallies should be banned and stopped as they are only a waste of fuel in these times when so much is being preached about energy conservation. Mr. J. J. O'Ryan of the same meeting of Waterford County Council in Dungarvan when an application from the Tipperary Light Car and Motor Cycle Club for permission to hold a rally over County roads in the Ballymarlary-Newcastle districts on August 15 was discussed. Mr. J. D. Hally, County Engineer said that no great damage was caused to the roads by these rallies but they were most inconvenient for those people residing along the roadways which had to be closed for them. For this reason he had indicated that the Council had not given permission from everyone on the roads in question. They had done so and on investigation he had found everything to be in order. On the proposal of Cllr. J. Coscy the application was granted.

BRIDE VIEW UNITED SOCCER NOTES

Secretary Joe Tobin gave a good detailed report on the club's activities over the past year and stressed the need for extra commitment from all members for the coming season. Treasurer Leonard Fraser stated the club to be in an increasing position. Liam Mulcahy also had a report on the progress of the club and underscored the need for all five with Bride View missing one. A centred-half J. A. Tobin had a splendid match as did Paul Curley and David Henley. Team — S. O'Brien, G. Cullinane, G. O'Brien, G. Murphy, D. Henley, P. Curley, M. McCarthy, B. Barry, M. O'Brien, M. Murphy, J. Ahern, J. J. Henley and P. Marlin. Bride View Notes—Results for June 8—1st, Mrs. J. Cullen and Mrs. B. Cahill; 2nd, Mrs. M. Hales and Mrs. J. Roche; 3rd, Mrs. E. WAS IT A MISARRANGE OF JUSTICE?

This was the heading of a trial which was taken from an article in the 'Waterford Mirror'. It concerned the trial and conviction of one 'Daniel Savage' charged with having murdered his wife at Trillickmichael in the parish of Knockmore, County Waterford, on 24th August, 1883. Pursuant to his sentence he was executed in front of the county prison on Saturday, August 25th. He died almost without a struggle. He was penniless or rather resigned. It would not strictly be said to have been an offence in which he utterly disclaimed all participation. The trial had no difficulty but that of identifying the prisoner, but although before the execution the verdict might be said to have not an unanimous concurrence from the public, yet circumstances have since been made known which have made quite a different impression upon several persons. The convict was a man of very obtuse intellect, represented himself as named 'Edmund Byrne' which name he certainly bore when arrested, and as a native of the village or neighbourhood of Guranemichael in the parish of Kilmichael, about twenty miles from Cork in the direction of Doneraile, within a neighbourhood he left about twenty years ago for Cashel, where he resided about fourteen years and then went to Cahill and afterwards to Touraneena and finally to the neighbourhood of Trillickmichael. The sufferer said he was never at Trillickmichael in his life. 'Persons in power may think it not becoming to institute further inquiry. One or two valuable objects may be obtained in vindication of justice or reparation of character. When the accused was condemned, Christian Brothers from St. Peter's Monastery at Mount Zion prayed with him in the prison, tried but failed to secure a postponement of the execution so that whether he was 'Daniel Savage' of County Waterford or 'Edmund Byrne' of County Cork could be properly investigated and stood by him as he waited on the gallows for the hangman. 'Daniel O'Connell protested in the British House of Commons against the 'Waterford innocent man'. It was generally agreed at the time that there had been a miscarriage of justice—caused in part by the prisoner's lack of co-operation with the authorities.
