COUNTY COUNCIL STRIKE RATE

The estimates meeting of Waterford County Council for the purpose of considering the estimates of expenses and the determination of the rate in the pound for the financial year ending on December 31, 1982 was held in Dungarvan last Monday. It goes without saying that this is one of the most important (if not the most important) meetings of the year for the County Manager, Mr. Dan Hurley, correctly pointed out at paragraph 2 of the very full and frank report which he had prepared to accompany the Book of Estimates. "As a consideration of the Annual Estimates is one of the most important functions of the Council I feel that the members should consider deeply the implications of the deteriorating financial position that is evident."

However when the Council met last Monday for these serious considerations only 14 of the 23 members were present and this prompted the newest member of the Council, Labour Councillor Billy Kyne, to very rightly criticise the fact that only a small number of Councillors had turned up for such an important meeting.

Cllr. Kyne went on to say that since he had been elected to the Council six months ago to replace his late father) two Councillors had been continually absent from all meetings. "If," he then said, "Councillors cannot see their way to attend meetings, there is an honourable course open to them. Today the Council is faced with a crucial decision and it is surely less than satisfactory that so many members are absent."

We find ourselves in absolute agreement with Cllr. Kyne's remarks and must join in strongly criticising those members who for one reason or another decided to absent themselves from the meeting. As we have already said, the rate should, for all members, be a top priority over all other activities in which they may be involved as this is one of the few real powers which County Councillors still have. The absence of as many as nine members from last Monday's meeting must indicate that they just did not want to become involved in performing a duty which, as elected representatives is theirs—their responsibility to provide the money to maintain the Council's services within the county for the coming year.

Of course, as was habitually the case last Monday, the meeting was 15 minutes behind the scheduled time of commencement before the order bell rang and the prayer to start the meeting was recited. There was a shower of certificates from all over the county in appreciation of the election of the Senate lobby, across the road from the Courthouse where the meeting was held. This ceremony, which could have accounted for the absence of four members from the meeting, are involved in the race for Senate seats and they were probably not there for any other reason.

However, those members who did turn up unanimously decided to strike the rate suggested in the County Manager's report, £16.64 in the £ for the coming year. In doing so they were doing their duty.

FACING UP TO THE ISSUE

The subject of this paragraph may not be the most pleasant but it is one which I have heard discussed on a few occasions in recent times. It deals with terminal illness and how much a terminally ill patient should be told.

At a recent seminar in Cork, a British specialist in the care of the dying, attached to the Countess Mountbatten Home in Southampton, Dr. Graham Thorpe, stated that it was both ethically and morally wrong for doctors to tell relatives about a patient's terminal illness, if the patient himself had not already been informed.

The only occasion on which relatives should be the first to be told, Dr. Thorpe added, should be when the patient's mental faculties were impaired.

"It is totally wrong to inform relatives while concealing the truth from a patient about his condition. That is a very bad start to a relationship that must continue on the basis of trust between the patient and the relatives, he, or she, has known for perhaps 50 years.

It is also a bad start in the relationship between patients, doctors and nurses," he is reported as saying.

Dr. Thorpe added that it was important to keep communication open between patients and their relatives because if one told lies and a patient suspected that they would obviously lose trust. I went on to say that in Britain, a recent survey had suggested that 70% of patients knew without being told that they were terminally ill. In cases where they had not been told directly, they had learned of their condition from relatives, the attitude shown by people around them or from hospital staff.

Dr. Thomas West, Medical Director of St. Christopher's Hospice, London, who also addressed the seminar said that it was never necessary to tell the patient "You usually tell them as much as they want or need to know. It is a continual process and we work hand-in-hand with the family," he said.

I have always held the view in this matter that it cannot be right to remove from the mind of any patient all hope of making a recovery. This hope will, of course, vanish if the patient is informed that a terminal illness is involved, so on that score I would find myself opposed to the views expressed by Dr. Thorpe. Patients in these situations have two main fears—fear of pain and fear of isolation and once assured they invariably feel happier and on that basis I would find the views of Dr. West on the subject more acceptable.

However the subject is one about which there will always be an ongoing debate.

CO. COUNCIL BUDGET

£10 Million Plus And It's Not Enough

Waterford County Council at their annual estimates meeting in Dungarvan last Monday unanimously adopted a rate of £16.64 in the £ for the coming year, an increase of £2.17 over last year's rate of £14.47.

The estimate presented by the County Manager, Mr. Dan Hurley provides for a gross expenditure of £16,100,000, an increase of £3,840,000 over the 1981 figure. The estimated income (excluding rate account) of £4,810,000 with the Dungarvan Great share at £10,100,000 left a rate account requirement of £15,150,000. As the rate of £16.64 requested would yield a sum of £5,104,672, it left a deficit to be met by the Council of £9,045,328. The new rate represents, in accordance with a directive from the Minister of the Environment, the permitted increase of 15 per cent.

At the outset the Chairman, Cllr. Paddy Kennedy stated that a different job for the Council in striking the rate for the coming year. Local authorities were, he said, started off by the Council in the labour force and he could not raise sufficient money to provide services to the standard usually provided by the Council. The State has got a considerable grip on the finances of local authorities and this is a very bad thing for the community in general as the State is now taking over the work of local authorities.

Cllr. James A. Walsh complimented the Co. Manager on the fact that he had presented to the Council and in succeeding to provide such a standard of service on a diminishing income. He said that he had gone through the report and thought there was little or no change which Cllr. O'Connell suggested. "One thing that comes through on reading the Manager's report," he said, "is that a new system of funding local authority requirements must be found or else we will find ourselves coming back year after year with further diminished incomes."

Cllr. O'Connell also raised the fast deteriorating condition of the roads in the county and said that they should put pressure on the State to provide enough money to repair them. Maintaining the services as they are is not enough, he said, and money must be made available for the improvement of our county roads.

Cllr. Billy Kyne agreed that striking the rate was an important matter for the Council and for the County generally. He said that the fact that there was only a small number of Councillors present at the meeting was a disgrace and he urged to the Council six months ago two Councillors had been absent from every meeting.

A by-election was held on 23rd of March and a total of 23 were present at this stage.

PUBLIC MUST PAY IN FUTURE

Commenting on his report, the County Manager, Mr. Dan Hurley said that the preparation of the estimates meant cutting everything right to the bone. He pointed out that there was a growing impetus for local authorities to maintain services not to mention expanding them and they were now being asked to balance their books in an impossible position. In this regard he said that the amount charged to the Council by the Health Board was away and beyond the 15 per cent by which they were allowed to increase the overall rate.

Mr. Hurley said that there were many improvements which he would like to see carried out but the amount charged to the Council by the Health Board was away and beyond the 15 per cent by which they were allowed to increase the overall rate.

Mr. Hurley said that there were many improvements which he would like to see carried out but the amount charged to the Council by the Health Board was away and beyond the 15 per cent by which they were allowed to increase the overall rate.

MANAGER'S REPORT

In his report to the Council accompanying the estimates, the County Manager pointed out that the financial resources available for the coming year were, he said, only two options—a reduction in the labour force and a serious reduction of or a serious reduction of certain maintenance works.

The strategy they had adopted had been based on maintaining the labour force while providing for a number of proposals which had a major cost implication such as 1) Passage East Ferry, 2) Contribution to Waterford County Council, 3) East Waterford Water Scheme, 4) Library Building at Lismore (£38,000) work on which is scheduled to commence on Monday next, 5) Dogs Home at Waterford and 6) Sports Complex at Dungarvan (£15,000).

The report also outlined the difficulties facing the Council in attempting to maintain employment. The report then stated and went on to list proposals towards this end including a reduction in the roads programme, an embargo on all overtime except in emergency situations, a full acceptance of development of staff to the various services during the year and an increase of approximately 5 per cent on water charges.

The report also summarised the allocations made for the various group programmes included in the estimates as follows: Housing and Building £2,129,300 (£1,110,100); Road Transportation and Safety £1,200,000 (£837,000); Water Supply and Sewerage £1,442,000 (£4,229,500); Development, Centres and Control £1,854,000 (£1,650,000); Environmental Protection £768,900 (£1,096,250); Recreation and Amenities £661,600 (£1,074,900); Miscellaneous £426,300 (£231,000).

Mr. O'Connell suggested that the large reduction in the amount payable for Malicious Injury deaths in 1982.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Having spent almost two hours in going over the Co. Manager's report, Cllr. O'Connell stated that there was no way in which the estimates as presented by the Manager could be reduced and as the Council had no alternative proposed that the rate of £16.64 be adopted.

He was seconded by Cllr. O'Connell who stated that trying to make any further reductions would be disastrous and was carried unanimously.

TOPS OF THE TOWN

Once again "Blackwater Sparkies" took in the honours on last Saturday night in the Cork Opera House when the group put on a superb performance against Ferraro of Cork. On the night, the Blackwater Group were by far the best and as the final curtain came down the huge audience showed their appreciation with a standing ovation.

Conna group and the Drinks group were the overall winners and go through to the quarter final.

We congratulate them on their achievement and assure them of our support in the next stage of the competition.

KNOCKANDRE, GLENDINE AND KILWATERNOY
 Congratulations to Miss Ruth Giles of Co. Wick, Knockandre on winning £10 in the Mullin's Big Game Lottery. The top prize of £500 was won by Laurie McDermott, Bruff, Co. Limerick.

Individuals and schools wishing to participate in arts and crafts competitions at the Fete which will be held in July should decide on the projects by now and prepare their entries well in advance.

The parish was represented at a Federation Meeting which was held in Dungarvan on Wednesday, March 10th. Future meetings will be held in different communities areas in the county in order to allow local participation in Co. Federation affairs. Ashlin, Community Council has agreed to host the next meeting on Tues. March 23rd, and it is hoped that every Community Council in the county will send at least two or three delegates.

If properly supported at local level this Federation of Communities Councils has the potential to improve and increase the level of community involvement in all areas in the county by improving communications between communities, comparing and developing local projects, and by a united approach to statutory bodies, increasing effectiveness by minimising the risk of duplicating events in neighbouring areas.

So if you feel that your community council development association etc. would benefit from contact with similar groups in other areas please be represented at the meeting in English on Tuesday, March 30th.

TYRE CENTRE CUP
Both Yougal and Lismore have qualified for the final of the Dungarvan Tyre Centre Cup competition as a result of their successful wins over Valley Rangers and Clashmore respectively — both games were played on St. Patrick's Day.

Both sides were very closely contested and the winners of the first semi-final, Yougal had to go to penalties, having drawn the game after a 2-1 score. In the final, Yougal was the winner, Clashmore, the rank outsiders here, gave the winners a rare and exciting match for some first class saving in front of a large crowd. Yougal, in the Red House League it is still Modelling leading the club, followed as they followed in the 1st division by Valley Rangers, Modelling beat Pilltown by 3 goals to nil while Valley Rangers were awarded the points in Cappoquin, Allianz by virtue of a 2-1 win over Killagee, have moved into the 1st division. Yougal were dropped a point to Bride View with a 1 goal each draw. Shamrock's were unable to field a player in the 1st division. Killagee had a free day.

LISMORE G.A.A. NOTES
Sunday games in their interest are long to Mrs. M. Lawton, before the start of the week. Since the letters were handed out at a players meeting three weeks ago, the response has been very disappointing, how big or small as quickly as possible.

The club would like to extend their hearty sympathy to the wife and family of the late John Regan, whose recent death shocked the whole community. May his soul rest in peace.

On Sunday next (March 28), in the hurling field we play Shamrock's when both their Junior and senior set dancers figured on the winners list and received very nice prizes at the All-Ireland Finals of the Cool Ah Gheumhridh competition, held in Ballyhanigan, Co. Mayo.

This was a great achievement since this branch was formed only twelve months ago.

Our congratulations also to the Ballyduff adult set on winning their way to the Munster final of 32,32 to be held on Yougal, Ballyduff, Co. Mayo.

Again congratulations to their trainer, Tom Hyland and Bord Pailte, for the highest priced Irish-bred horse sold at the sales.

Competition stands at Mr. James Hanon's Carrageon Stud, Lismore.

BOOM IN MUNSTER ADVERTISING RECRUITMENT
 Bell Advertising, one of Ireland's ten largest advertising agencies, has reported a substantial increase in recruitment advertising in the Munster area. This increase in real and potential business has prompted Bell to appoint James O'Connell, a native of Cork city, to handle the development of recruitment advertising with particular emphasis on Munster.
 Mr. Lavan, with over eight years experience in the advertising industry, has been specialising in recruitment advertising for a number of years. In recent months several Munster-based companies have contracted Bell to handle their recruitment advertising, including Bective Ireland, Bourne Electronics, Janssen Pharmaceutica, Liebert International, Moog and Tycoosa Ireland.
 According to Mr. Lavan "the increasing number of overseas companies establishing Irish-based facilities has led to an unprecedented boom in recruitment advertising. This year alone, it is estimated that over 45 million will be spent throughout the country on this specialist area of advertising."
 In response to the demand, Bell Advertising recently set up a special Recruitment Advertising Division based in new premises. This year Bell anticipates billings of £25 million based on the "International Billings Formula." This figure includes recently acquired business amounting to more than £1 million. The business potential in Munster is likely to increase both figures substantially.

St. Patrick's Day Parade A Huge Success

Despite the fact that the weather again proved a spoilsport and a down near the end sent the large crowd in the Square scurrying for cover, the Annual Industrial Parade in Dungarvan on St. Patrick's Day proved to be another huge success.
 Once again a large crowd thronged the route and all were greatly pleased with the preparation of the large number of floats.
 Although numerically down on last year, the standard was way higher and the colourful scene as the parade moved down May Street and into the Square was breathtaking to say the least.
 Adding to the colour were the bands, the Dungarvan Pipe Band, who organised the parade, the Langigan/Burke Pipe Band, Abbot's, the Dungarvan Brass Band who provided welcome music for the people in the Square and the Waterford County Council who led the Civil Defence, the various Boy Scout Troops and Girl Guides were all helpfully turned out to lend that "extra flavour" to the parade.
 Mr. C. J. Walsh, Chairman of Dungarvan U.D.C. in a brief address thanked the members of the Organising Committee for the work they put into organising the parade, those who took part and the people who came out to see the parade. He referred also to the fact that Dungarvan was to have its own Museum and appealed for help from the people of Dungarvan for what he termed "a very worthwhile project."
 The following were the winners of the various categories - Best Overall Float - Hogan School of Dancing, Best Advertising - Molloy's, Best Music - Castleton's Pipe Band, Best Club Float - Dungarvan Hospitable, Best Vintage Effort - Christy's Gymnastics, Most Colourful - Combined Scouts - "75 Years of Scouts".

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS DUNGARVAN COMMUNITY INFORMATION CENTRE

Q - How much holidays are workers entitled to get each year?
 A - Usually annual leave is agreed between employers and employees so you will find people's holidays vary from job to job.
 However, there is a minimum holiday entitlement, which is useful to know about, especially where workers are not well organised or feel they are not being fairly treated.
 By law, those working at least 120 hours per month are entitled to 16 working days holiday per annum if they are on a 5 day week or 18 days holiday if on a 6 day week of a 5 day week for each calendar month. This gives everyone 3 weeks holiday.
 Four extra days holiday were negotiated under the last public holiday arrangements but this does not mean everybody gets them - it's up to each employer to decide if he can give them.
 As well as annual leave, everyone is entitled to eight public holidays each year, which, incidentally, need not be given on the specific day.
 You can find out what holiday arrangements apply in your job by asking your employer for your "Terms of Employment". He is obliged by law to give you these, in writing, or to see that they are easily available to you.
 The Dept. of Labour issues an explanatory leaflet on the Holiday Act 1974. If you contact regularly by Dungarvan Community Information Centre which provides a free and confidential service to the public on Tuesdays and Wednesdays 7.30 to 9 p.m. Thursdays 4.30 to 6 p.m. and Saturdays 11.30 to 1 p.m.

District Justice Welcomes New Solicitor

When Supp. M. English, Dungarvan, introduced recently qualified Solicitor Mr. Niall King to District Justice W. F. O'Connell at Fallow Court, he wished him a long and successful career in his chosen profession and assured him of the fullest co-operation from the Garda at all times.
 Mr. King son of Mr. Eamonn P. King, Solicitor of F. Williams & Co., and Mrs. King, "Four Winds" Abbeyside, Dungarvan, was making his first professional appearance at a District Court.
 The new Solicitor was welcomed by District Justice O'Connell who stated that a high standard of advocacy prevailed in his courts and added: "I know the new solicitor has received his apprenticeship at the hands of the most distinguished in the area, his father, and I have no doubts about his future."
 Mr. King, Solicitor, District Justice and the District Court Clerk joined in the expression of welcome to which Mr. King, happily replied.

St. Patrick's Day Parade A Huge Success

Despite the fact that the weather again proved a spoilsport and a down near the end sent the large crowd in the Square scurrying for cover, the Annual Industrial Parade in Dungarvan on St. Patrick's Day proved to be another huge success.
 Once again a large crowd thronged the route and all were greatly pleased with the preparation of the large number of floats.
 Although numerically down on last year, the standard was way higher and the colourful scene as the parade moved down May Street and into the Square was breathtaking to say the least.
 Adding to the colour were the bands, the Dungarvan Pipe Band, who organised the parade, the Langigan/Burke Pipe Band, Abbot's, the Dungarvan Brass Band who provided welcome music for the people in the Square and the Waterford County Council who led the Civil Defence, the various Boy Scout Troops and Girl Guides were all helpfully turned out to lend that "extra flavour" to the parade.
 Mr. C. J. Walsh, Chairman of Dungarvan U.D.C. in a brief address thanked the members of the Organising Committee for the work they put into organising the parade, those who took part and the people who came out to see the parade. He referred also to the fact that Dungarvan was to have its own Museum and appealed for help from the people of Dungarvan for what he termed "a very worthwhile project."
 The following were the winners of the various categories - Best Overall Float - Hogan School of Dancing, Best Advertising - Molloy's, Best Music - Castleton's Pipe Band, Best Club Float - Dungarvan Hospitable, Best Vintage Effort - Christy's Gymnastics, Most Colourful - Combined Scouts - "75 Years of Scouts".

Q - How much holidays are workers entitled to get each year?
 A - Usually annual leave is agreed between employers and employees so you will find people's holidays vary from job to job.
 However, there is a minimum holiday entitlement, which is useful to know about, especially where workers are not well organised or feel they are not being fairly treated.
 By law, those working at least 120 hours per month are entitled to 16 working days holiday per annum if they are on a 5 day week or 18 days holiday if on a 6 day week of a 5 day week for each calendar month. This gives everyone 3 weeks holiday.
 Four extra days holiday were negotiated under the last public holiday arrangements but this does not mean everybody gets them - it's up to each employer to decide if he can give them.
 As well as annual leave, everyone is entitled to eight public holidays each year, which, incidentally, need not be given on the specific day.
 You can find out what holiday arrangements apply in your job by asking your employer for your "Terms of Employment". He is obliged by law to give you these, in writing, or to see that they are easily available to you.
 The Dept. of Labour issues an explanatory leaflet on the Holiday Act 1974. If you contact regularly by Dungarvan Community Information Centre which provides a free and confidential service to the public on Tuesdays and Wednesdays 7.30 to 9 p.m. Thursdays 4.30 to 6 p.m. and Saturdays 11.30 to 1 p.m.

BOOM IN MUNSTER ADVERTISING RECRUITMENT
 Bell Advertising, one of Ireland's ten largest advertising agencies, has reported a substantial increase in recruitment advertising in the Munster area. This increase in real and potential business has prompted Bell to appoint James O'Connell, a native of Cork city, to handle the development of recruitment advertising with particular emphasis on Munster.
 Mr. Lavan, with over eight years experience in the advertising industry, has been specialising in recruitment advertising for a number of years. In recent months several Munster-based companies have contracted Bell to handle their recruitment advertising, including Bective Ireland, Bourne Electronics, Janssen Pharmaceutica, Liebert International, Moog and Tycoosa Ireland.
 According to Mr. Lavan "the increasing number of overseas companies establishing Irish-based facilities has led to an unprecedented boom in recruitment advertising. This year alone, it is estimated that over 45 million will be spent throughout the country on this specialist area of advertising."
 In response to the demand, Bell Advertising recently set up a special Recruitment Advertising Division based in new premises. This year Bell anticipates billings of £25 million based on the "International Billings Formula." This figure includes recently acquired business amounting to more than £1 million. The business potential in Munster is likely to increase both figures substantially.

COMHALTAS NEWS

At a recent meeting in Dungarvan of Comhaltas plans were discussed for the forthcoming Junior and Senior Scoraclacht at which members will be coached.

The object of both events is to provide activity for as wide a range as possible of Comhaltas members, and to encourage initiative in the preparing of Irish traditional music, songs and dance.

Scoraclacht is intended for those with a flair for inventive presentation, and depends very much on the skills of a producer with a "know" of all the principles of stage presentation.

Scoraclacht na nOg is similar to scolar Scoraclacht, but is intended for performers, under 18 years of age, and the same attention will be paid to presentation details.

MINOR HURLING CHAMPIONSHIP We open our 1982 championship campaign at Cappoquin next Sunday when the minor footballers meet St. Oliver's.

Although Tramore came back for Tom Fleming's point a minute later it was the Touraineans who controlled the play for the remainder of the half and but for some atrocious hitting would have had the game sewn up at the interval.

Third Time Lucky For Sliabh gGua

"Perseverance is a virtue" - a saying proved true by the footballers of Sliabh gGua at the Frasher Field, Dungarvan on Sunday last.

That Tramore, who played with the wind in the first half, were still in the game with a chance to win the trophy.

Tramore made their bid in the third quarter when they took the game to Sliabh gGua.

They waited a long time to celebrate. But it was obvious to all that it was all worthwhile when referee John Moore blew the long whistle and the horses of Sliabh gGua supporters in the nice sized attendance rushed on to the field to salute the champions.

That Sliabh gGua are worthy champions was clear to all at the Frasher Field on Sunday. They completely dominated the game from beginning to end.

SOW ONLY CERTIFIED SEED SAYS ACOT

With tillage operations now in full swing, ACOT advises growers to make sure to sow only certified seed in 1982.

Cereals production has developed into a high input, highly technical farm enterprise in recent years. Long gone are the days when a farmer sowed his seed and sowed whatever seed was available from the local merchant.

Over the years the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the seed assemblers, has established an elaborate and detailed system of ensuring that seed of the highest standard and true to type.

Most farmers are aware that varieties do deteriorate in value, especially in the case of winter wheat and winter barley.

Going certified seed reduces this possibility considerably. Some farmers believe that seed saved from the previous years crop, which was grown from certified seed will perform just as well.

The use of certified seed prevents the spread of wild oat and other weeds, such as dock, blackgrass and sterile brome. Wild oat is becoming a serious problem in some of the more fertile areas and sterile brome have become serious problems in Britain.

The extra cost per acre of certified seed is a large measure to this problem. Farmers should not take risks with a basic input like seed. It is a fair deposit on the number of plants per acre.

ACOT advises each farmer to consult his local advisor about the most suitable varieties of certified seed for his farm.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY All sections of our Unit took part in the St. Patrick's Day parade as usual on Pipe Band led the Deise region units.

On our way home from the parade we got a heavy hail shower on the Gatuway and experience not to be missed - ask Geraldine or Breogha but some made 'tracks' for the day while the Troop took the longer route down Strand Road.

There was no troop meeting on the 27th of March as the 27th of March was being used for Mass as part of the Mission which is on in the parish at the moment.

Treacy Fails To Find Form In Paris

Muhammad Kedir, fated to toil so long in the slipstream of his Ethiopian team-mate Mirvis Yifter, last Sunday emerged as an international celebrity in his own right after he had broken the American iron man Alberto Salazar at the end of a superb duel to win the World cross country championship at the Hippodrome Racecourse outside Rome.

Yifter, like so many of the world's outstanding runners, was numbered among the pieces of fatosam as Kedir and Salazar wrecked much of the pre-race strategy by dominating for the greater part of the 12,000 metres.

Sadly, nobody suffered more in the ensuing chaos than John Treacy. The Irishman was among those who decided to ditch themselves from the scramble at the off, gambling on his rhythmic stride to take him to the leaders as the pace settled out in front.

Yet, nothing compensated for Treacy's crash, far more shattering in its impact than his failure in Paris two years ago when his attempt to win the championship was cut short by a sudden illness.

The American, the world's fastest marathon runner and a man who claimed a place in the world 5,000 and 10,000 metres rankings last year, fairly dwarfed his tiny opponent, Mirvis Yifter, in 14 minutes, 28.3 there were occasions out in the seconds.

TALLOW G.A.A. NOTES

The End In Sight ?

Is football Gaelic football, on the way out? When have you last seen a game which has really enthralled, which remained fresh in the mind? Apart from the successful championship season which was distinguished by fair play and who wouldn't enjoy and savour the memory of that game...

The emphasis nowadays is on stamina, strength, durability and speed. All very laudable if this didn't mean that the physical build-up to an important game meant a war of attrition, a glorious opportunity for the big bulls to impose his presence on the game...

The referee at present, under constant pressure to maintain the continuity of play, has an almost impossible job if he has to interrupt play every minute and thereby ruin the game as a spectacle because, make no mistake about it, every effort made nowadays to tackle the player in possession results in a foul...

TALLOW & ROUNDABOUT NOTES

THE LATE MR. WILLIAM O'BRIEN

It is with deep regret that we record the passing of Mr. William O'Brien, Knockree, Tallow, which sad event took place at his residence recently. The deceased, who was in the 80th year of his age, had been in failing health for some time...

Michael Donnelly who is a candidate on the Administrative Panel in the election to be held in the Dungarvan area...

He was a former P.D. Senator from 1977 to 1981 having been elected to a by-election on the Administrative Panel. He is a Chartered Accountant and a senior partner in the nationally known firm of Oliver Frimley & Company.

In a special interview Mr. Donnelly told our reporter: "As a nation we are facing many problems no matter what we do or what we do. These problems must be looked into urgently and a solution must be found that will ensure a better life style for each of us now and at the same time lay a solid foundation for our children's future..."

RED HOUSE LEAGUE

On Sunday afternoon our second team gained a very creditable 1-1 draw with Lismore at the Castle Park Grounds. Lismore went ahead after 15 minutes but 'Middy' Curley had Bridge View's equaliser in the half hour when he scored from a penalty. Both sides were unable to put away any of the many chances they created after this.
