Chrisimas break a real lengthy Yuleride holiday.

Nour PLANS
Here as the "Dungarvan Leader" it has been decided to break with an old tradition and to move with the times this year by closing for Christmas. This will mean the slipping of the issue of the "Leader" which world be due for publication on New Year's Eve (Friday, December 31) and readers and especially all advertisers would do well to make note of this now.

We arrived at this decision for cluctarity having taken all the circumstances into consideration. Business generally will everywhere be at a standstill, all sublic affairs will be suspended for the period postal services will be restricted and possibly crratic with their result that normal contact with our office would be as near impossible as to make no difference.

Added to this our staff are entitled to three other free

A HAPPY GRUP
Last Friday morning I had the privilege by invitation of wishing a very happy little group who were srug, warms and being well looked after away from the winter cold. The group consisted of seven small handicapped children who were being, trained at the Sesame Training Centre in Dungarvan.
Located on the upstairs floor of the Gate-lodge at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan, he children have a comforthold in the restricted especially able a further four children have a kildren between the ages of 2 and 5 years, but due to the restricted especially able a further four children have to be placed on a waiting list until adequate accommonation have to be placed on a waiting list until adequate accommonation.

Added to this our staff are entitled to three other free days in lieu of the public hotidays as mentioned at the outset of the previous article above.

The combination of all these circumstances would make not only the gathering and collating of news items, the receipt of advertising material but the actual printing process of the paper as well so uncertain as to be next to impossible.

We have, therefore decided, with reluctance as I have already stafed above, to slip the issue of December 31, and we feel sure that our caders and the general published will understand the position. In this regard it would be well for Club Scerearies and all those who might be advertising activities over the New Yoar to note that they should use our issue of December 24 for hall purpose as the next issue after Christmas will be published on January 5.
