A LOOK BACK
 Now that it is all over I can look back with some relief on the Christmas just past. By and large it was a good Christmas and despite the gloom and doom I think that most people will be able to say the same.

While Christmas Day itself is a day apart for family gatherings there were a number of other occasions over the festive period which proved particularly memorable for me. First of these happened on the Tuesday night before Christmas when pupils of Abbeyside School under their principal Mr. Pat Veale and accompanied on the organ by Mr. Finbar Keohan, a member of the teaching staff, recited the story of Bethlehem and sang many beautiful carols, old and modern. The venue was at the Causeway where a beautiful Crib had been erected and which was blessed that night by Very Rev. Canon Farrell, Parish Priest of Abbeyside who was accompanied and assisted by Very Rev. Fr. Michael Brennock, O.S.A. Priest of St. Augustine's and "Mayor" of the Village. Despite the bitter cold that prevailed there was a representative gathering of parents present at what, to me, was one of the simplest but one of the nicest happenings for Christmas.

The next thing that stands out in my mind, following Mass on Christmas morning, was the great crowd which gathered at Clonea Strand for the Lions Club Christmas Day swim. Without doubt the very mild weather conditions which prevailed were responsible for the huge turn-out not only of swimmers but of spectators and as a result the Lions Club charities will benefit greatly. As usual there was hot soup for the swimmers and something a little stronger for anyone who wanted it, to banish the cold after the splash in the briny. It was an occasion which met with favour by all who were there.

Another function which has a special place in my memory for Christmas '82 was the Lions Club Christmas Party for the girls at Carriglea Training Centre held at Lawlor's Hotel, Dungarvan last Thursday evening. Over 60 were brought by bus to the hotel where for over three hours they danced their legs off and indeed off several of the Lions Club members as well as those of a couple of very "co-operative" gentlemen who turned up to help. The music was provided by Jim Duggan and a grand sit-down meal was provided and before the party ended each of the girls received a small gift. Lions Club President Michael Holland welcomed the guests and thanked all who helped while Sister Margaret on behalf of the Community and staff at Carriglea and on behalf of their charges very suitably replied.

This was a most satisfying and fulfilling evening for those involved and showed how much even the smallest gesture can be appreciated. There are many other memories such as the jovial crowds which jammed the streets and shops on Christmas Eve, the welcome change in the weather which was a great help that day and above all the fact that there were no untoward incidents or tragic accidents to mar the happy time.

I did not venture out to join any of the revels on New Year's Eve but stayed at home and watched television and quietly bade farewell to the old year and welcomed in the new.

RTE 1 put on what they were pleased to describe as a 3-hour extravaganza to mark not only the occasion but also the fact that they were celebrating their coming of age. But what genius thought up the idea of placing Mr. Frank Hall before the camera, in tails, shortly after midnight with his tale of woe about having no money to run the station. We could certainly have done without that as a welcoming gesture to the New Year and they could have stuck to their champagne!

MY THANKS
 To the many readers of this column and to the Secretaries and PRO's of the several societies and organisations who took the trouble to send us greeting cards for Christmas and the New Year we would like to place our sincere thanks on record. It is a time of the year when it is nice to be remembered and to have appreciation expressed for whatever pleasure and help which this column has provided in the past year. Again our thanks to all concerned.

WHAT THE JOB PAYS
 When Dr. Garret Fitzgerald stepped into the shoes of Mr. Charles J. Haughey as Taoiseach last month he took a big lump in salary to £37,295. That is double what he would have had as a Deputy, along with his pension for previous government office.

And Labour leader, Dick Spring's pay of £13,802 as a T.D. rose to £31,112 when he was appointed Taoiseach. Each of the new Ministers have now found themselves earning £29,255 a year while the Ministers of State are on £22,457.

The income of the new Attorney General, Mr. Peter Sutherland who is taking up the post for the second time will rise to £24,930. For the newly-elected Ceann Comhairle, Mr. Tom Fitzpatrick, there is a salary of £29,258 while his deputy will be on £22,457.

And sure we're a great little country to be able to afford all this—and more!

A CHRISTMAS BOX FOR JOE SOAP

In contrast didn't the people of Ireland receive a grand Christmas Box from the government. On the Wednesday morning before the great festive day while most were too busy to read the newspapers or listen to radio or watch television, the news was announced.

Price increases made up the "Box" (take whatever meaning you wish out of it) and I think it was a sneaky thing for the government to do two days before Christmas. The increases included the price of tea, coal and bottled gas which are three items essential in almost every home and particularly in the homes of the older folk and those on small incomes. An increase in the price of children's foods was also included.

The announcement followed close on the heels of a free school transport scheme while subsequent announcements brought news of further increases in transport charges (rail and bus) and in the prices of drink which came into operation last Monday.

As regards the hike in the booze prices—the government will get its answer in reduced income to the exchequer. They will of course point out that the increase is for the publicans but the government should realise that income from drink is on the downgrade, that countless pubs have been placed on the market and that it is only a matter of time before some of them go out of business altogether.

The government have been at pains to couple with each announcement of these increases that they were sanctioned by the previous administration—a lame excuse. And all this before the Budget comes to place what will undoubtedly be a further crippling burden on us!

BIG DRIVE AGAINST ILLEGAL DUMPERS AND LITTER-BUGS

It will be the biggest "operation clean-up" County Waterford has ever known. And for the illegal dumpers and litter-bugs 1983 is going to be a year of "no mercy" as far as the various local authorities throughout the county are concerned.

The man behind the drive is the County Manager, Mr. Dan Hurley, whose end-of-year pledge was that Waterford Co. Council will "unrelentingly pound down" those engaged in illegal dumping and bring them before the courts at every given opportunity.

Mr. Hurley in an interview disclosed that the County Council's most recent survey provided them with "alarming findings".

"There are in excess of eight hundred derelict cars, vans and other vehicles dotted throughout the county," said Mr. Hurley, "despoiling some of the most picturesque and popular tourist areas."

"The owners of these wrecks are being warned to remove them forthwith or suffer the consequences."

Mr. Hurley said the Co. Council would unhesitatingly take legal action against anyone found dumping indiscriminately or illegally. The same uncompromising stance he added, would be adopted by Dungarvan Urban Council, of which he is also Manager.

In the event of an undue delay on the part of the owners of abandoned derelict cars in clearing them, Mr. Hurley has warned that in addition to initiating legal proceedings, the County Council will also undertake the job and pass on the bill to the offenders.

"We really do mean business," the chairman is on as never before," said Mr. Hurley. The sincerity of the County Manager's intentions can now be seen in his decision to have legal proceedings against a dance organisation whom he claims recently despoiled Dungarvan town by putting up advertising posters.

Mr. Hurley has instructed by official managerial order, the Urban Council's solicitors to institute court proceedings under the terms of the 1982 Litter Act against some offenders.

"Members of Waterford County Council, Dungarvan Urban Council, Lismore and Timonore Town Commissioners will be throwing their full and influential weight behind "operation clean-up."

SPORTSTAR OF THE WEEK

Congratulations to Dungarvan's Paddy Kitley, the doyen of National Hunt riders who was chosen by the "Irish Independent" last week as their "Sportstar of the Week."

His stated reason for their choice was that seldom had he ridden a better race than on the previous Tuesday when he returned to the saddle following injury to bring Ivan King, trained by his brother John, home first in a thrilling finish to the Findus Handicap Chase at Leopardstown.

Paddy had only abandoned his crutch a few days before the big race after three weeks on the "castle list" with a damaged foot sustained when a horse crushed it.

DUNGARVAN RUNNERS IN YOUGHAL ROUND THE HOUSES

The annual New Year Round the Houses race run by Youghal Athletic Club attracted one of the largest entries for years, especially in the Novice and Senior Races.

The senior event over 6 miles saw a group of 3 runners who included Dungarvan teacher Tony Ryan, open a big gap after the first lap. Tony eventually finished in 3rd place close behind the first two runners, Liam O'Brien, Midleton and Joe Hartnett, St. Finbarr's.

In the 4 mile novice race another well-known Dungarvan Cross-Country runner, Michael Roche was up front from the start and finished a close second behind Aidie Burns of Waterford City A.C.

FINED £200 AND DISQUALIFIED FOR TWELVE MONTHS

John Kieley (29), Adramone, Leamybrick, was fined £200 and disqualified from driving for the mandatory period of 12 months when he pleaded guilty at Dungarvan Court to a charge of driving with excess alcohol at Sexton Street, Abbeyside on October 4. He was fined an additional £10 when he was convicted on a reduced charge of careless driving on the same occasion.

Supt. M. English who prosecuted said that on the day in question the defendant came down a side street on to Sexton St. in Abbeyside. There were cars parked on both sides and he strayed off one parked on the left side of the street. The gardai were notified and when Garda J. Sletor arrived he found the opinion that the defendant had too much drink taken. A blood sample was taken at the Garda

Station and on analysis this showed a blood-alcohol concentration of 215 milligrammes.

Mr. E. P. King, Solicitor, who defended said that Kieley was a former employee of Quigley Magnesia until the plant closed. On the occasion of the offence his first cousin had died tragically and he took too much drink on that account. It was unfortunate that he became involved in a slight accident but his driving could not be said to have been dangerous.

Imposing the penalties stated, District Justice W.P. O'Connell said that the defendant had quite a high concentration of alcohol on the occasion. He agreed that there appeared to be no speeding or dangerous driving and he reduced this charge to one of careless driving.

TO ACQUIRE LAND AT ABBEYSIDE BY C.P.O.

Members of Dungarvan Urban Council at their December monthly meeting approved a proposal by the County Manager to acquire a portion of land at Friar's Walk, Abbeyside, owned by Messrs. E. O'Brien & Sons Ltd. by Compulsory Purchase Order.

The Co. Manager, Mr. Dan Hurley told the meeting that discussions were taking place with the owners of the land at present and he would use the CPO only if these broke down. Any break down would arise as to price and under the CPO this would then be decided by an arbitrator.

He said that the land was in a designated amenity area and was beside the parish church

AGLISH & CLASHMORE NOTES

GREETINGS
To the Editor, staff and readers of this paper every happiness and blessing for New Year.

CHRISTMAS
Christmas Day was observed in traditional manner and with appropriate religious fervour. Large and devout congregations attended midnight and morning Masses and big numbers received Holy Communion. Many people to employment from home returned for the festive season and there were many family reunions.

The weather was exceptionally fine—almost spring like—with pleasant sunshine prevail.

A big crowd attended the traditional meet of the West Waterford's in Clashmore on Monday last. A big "field" turned out in addition to hundreds of followers in cars and on foot. Again weather conditions were extremely fine and all had a pleasant day's sport in the picturesque countryside.

DEATH OF MR. P. SALMON, GRANGE
It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mr. Patrick Salmon, Ballyvris, Grange, Deceased, who was a member of a well known family, was a popular and respected figure, noted for his many outstanding qualities and amiable characteristics.

His demise is much regretted and deep and sincere sympathy is extended to his bereaved wife Margaret, son David, sister Mary, brothers, nephews, nieces and other relatives.

His remains were removed to Grange Church and the accompanying cortege was of large and representative proportions. Requiem Mass for the repose of his soul took place in the adjoining cemetery when there was a large attendance of mourners and sympathisers. Very Rev. Thomas Wall, P.P. and Rev. Thomas Flynn, C.C. officiated.

each centre and congratulated on his appointment.

T.D. IN CLASHMORE
Mr. Ned O'Keefe, recently elected for East Cork, paid a private visit to Clashmore to see friends. Popular Ned is former President of Cork County Executive L.P.A. and is a progressive farmer.

DEATH OF NUN
The death occurred in the U.S.A. of Rev. Sister Declan Conway, a native of Grange. She was sister of the late Fr. Conway, P.P. and the late Declan Conway, M.C.C.

DEATH OF MRS. JOANNE DROMGOOLE, KINSALEEG
The sad death, at a very early age, of Mrs. Joanne Dromgoole, Kinsaleeg, came as a profound shock to her numerous friends in Piltown, Youghal and Clashmore. Deceased (nee Miller), who was a native of Australia, was noted for her kindness and charm of manner.

The sympathy of the entire community goes to her bereaved husband, Detroit, family and relatives.

The funeral from Piltown Church to North Aston cemetery, Youghal, was one of the largest and most representative ever seen in the area.

Rev. Fr. O'Neill, C.C., officiated, assisted by Very Rev. Fr. Murray, P.P. Rev. Fr. Slattery, C.C., Rev. Fr. McManus, C.C., Rev. Fr. Quinn, C.C., Rev. Fr. Geary, Rev. Fr. Dromgoole, C.C. May her gentle soul rest in peace.

Memories of the Past

From the camera of TOM TOBIN

This is yet another photograph which looks back through the years in our new series "Memories Of The Past." If you can identify any of the faces or recall the occasion on which the photo was taken we would be pleased to hear from you as all of the photos in this series have been left without dates or captions and we are attempting to trace these, with the aid of our readers. So if you can recall anything about the above photo write us or call us and let us know.

LAST WEEK'S PHOTO was one taken in the early 1950's when the Dungarvan Pipe Band was very young. Taken outside the FCA Hall at the Youghal Road it showed baserunner Paddy Norris and also included band members John Kearney, Michael Moroney, John Whelan, Thomas Mahoney and Dossie Butler.

POPULAR PRIEST BEREAVED

Sympathy is extended to Very Rev. Fr. O'Connell, P.P. Ballynacole, on the recent death of his brother (R.I.P.).

Fr. Slattery served as C.C. in the adjoining parishes of Clashmore and Aghil for several years, during which period he became Chairman of West Waterford G.A.A. Board. He is former President of the Munster Council, N.A.C.A.I.

DATTLE KILLED

When on a recent foggy night an articulated lorry crashed into a herd of cattle on the main Youghal/Dungarvan road at Courage, it killed a number of animals.

CLASHMORE, F.F.

At a meeting of above matters discussed included organisation and discipline at national level. The national collection was a great success.

PRICE INCREASES

The pre-Christmas spate of price increases on many commodities came as an unwelcome surprise to the people of this area, who wonder when it will all end.

FOXHOUND ON THE LOOSE

For some weeks past a black and tan stray foxhound has been on the loose in the local village. It makes its presence felt by loud barking and howling. Fortunately it is not a sheep killer, so far at any rate.

MINISTER VISITS AREA

The recently appointed Minister for Agriculture, Mr. Austin Casey, T.D., recently visited Clashmore and other local areas to thank the people for their support in the recent general election and to assure them of his continuing interest in their welfare. The Minister was cordially received at

DUNGARVAN MAN BOUND OVER FOR "DRAWING A BELT" ON A WOMAN

An unemployed Dungarvan labourer, Michael O'Brien of Cathal Brugha Place, was fined £10 and bound to the peace for two years by District Justice W. P. O'Connell at Dungarvan court when convicted of assaulting Miss Bridget Nolan of 56 Cathal Brugha Place, on September 21.

Miss Nolan told the court that around 6.55 that evening she answered a knock on her front door, and O'Brien said he wanted to see her mother. She put O'Brien outside the gate, but he insisted on coming back in and when she refused to allow him in the defendant struck her in the face with his hand. She then rang for the gardai.

Witness added that O'Brien was insulting her every time he met her.

Garda E. Fitzpatrick said that when he interviewed O'Brien shortly afterwards he admitted "drawing a belt" on Miss Nolan, but he did not think he actually struck her.

Garda Fitzpatrick said Miss Nolan was in a very agitated state. While O'Brien had drink taken, he was not drunk.

The defendant said he was pushed out the gate by Miss Nolan. He, in turn, pushed her.

District Justice O'Connell, however, convicted the defendant, fined him £10, and bound him to the peace for two years.

Supt. M. English prosecuted.

South Eastern Health Board MEDICAL CARDS Review of Guidelines

Every application for a medical services card is considered on its merits. In order to assist the public to know who generally has entitlement to a card the Board publishes from time to time the income guidelines issued for assessing eligibility.

The income counted is the current gross weekly income of the husband and wife only. Special allowances are made for high rent and rates or house loan repayments and for reasonable cost of travelling to work.

After making these allowances any person can be entitled to a medical card with an income within these figures:

Single People:
£53.50 per week (living alone)
£45.50 per week (living with family)

Families:
Husband and Wife £77.00 per week

Children:
(under 16) £8.50 per week
(over 16) £10.00 per week

Example: Husband and wife and dependant children aged 4, 6, 12 and 16 will qualify if their gross income (after allowance) is £112.50 or less.

For information regarding entitlements and any other information apply to your local health board office at:

South Eastern Health Board, 32 The Mall, Waterford.

ABBEYSIDE SCOUT

THE WRENS DAY

On St. Stephen's Day we took to the road with the wren. Our pipe band led the way with Derek carrying our wren bush. Tony Colbert, with help from musicians from as far away as Cork and Dublin, at enormous expense, provided the music. Tom McShane had his singers in good voice but the real stars of our show were our dancers. These half-dozen girls added colour and verve to the proceedings. It's only a rumour that Cyril and Brian are looking for grass skirts for them for next year!

MELLERAY PARTY

On New Year's Day the staff of the Scout Centre assembled to celebrate the new year. Our first job after assembling and settling down was to set the tables in the dining room and get ready to eat our five course meal. The meal was enjoyed by all.

One of the highlights of the night was the presentation of the Intermediary Certificate by Mr. J. D. Hally to Brian Mulvihill, Tony O'Mahoney and Sean Wall.

FROM THE LOG: DECEMBER 1982

After a month's trial courtesy was confirmed in this office as Troop Secretary and received a badge with what I thought were two bits of wheat but was informed later that it was two crossed chills which is the insignia of the Troop Secretary.

Fourteen scouts volunteered in connection with the Air Raid Precautions Scheme. We hope this little batch will be able to teach the other members of the Troop something more in the line of First Aid when this international argument has blown over and provided our gallant 14 don't blow up!

GENERAL

This Saturday night sees our usual Troop meeting being held. All should be in good form and full uniform after the long Christmas holidays. Brian and company took advantage of the mild weather over the Christmas to go canoeing — we hear they managed not to fall in!

Which Scout Law is most often broken by members of the 4th Waterford Unit — even Cub Leaders?

The "plus" part of these notes was not much help this week — will next week's notes be written by Superman!

MINNIES SQUASH CLUB NOTES

As the season of "good cheer" draws to a close, 1982 sees a new sponsor involved in the first team event scheduled to commence on the 17th January next. Minnies Squash Club are very pleased indeed to receive generous sponsorship from the Trustee Savings Bank, Dungarvan.

DUNGARVAN CRYSTAL OPEN WEEK-END

Arrangements are at an advanced stage for the Highpoint of the squash season in Minnies when the Dungarvan Crystal Open Week-end takes place on the week-end of 28th to 30th January. The event, which has nationwide prestige attracts entries from all over Ireland, with an added bonus this year in the form of cash prizes to the winners and runners-up in the senior ladies and mens sections.

WEDDING BELLS

On behalf of everyone in Minnies congratulations are extended to Ursula Lynch, South Tee, and David Walsh, Ballinroad, on the occasion of their marriage on the 29th December last. We all know that David is very adept with the tennis racket, but no doubt Ursula will introduce him to the squash-court in the very near future.

A FLIGHT OF FANCY TO LONDON TOWN

Hear how the pigeons, on every autumn high with joyous "cooing" wake the Downing day.

I had got into trouble. Paddy Mulligan, Leaghlin, helped me to slow-down on the "Harvey" to London. That night, in a tavern, we met, Maggie Mackley, on "the sky". "Boys, when ye get tired, take a slug," she said. I had a full bottle of whiskey. Paddy said, "I spent the night in a Salvation Army Hostel. Next morning I took a stunt at a rigger. A certain Mrs. Wingate, who had to go to hospital, wanted someone to care for her two young boys, George and Ronald. I told Paddy I would try and get the job. He said, "You are three years ahead of your time." Mrs. Wingate's husband, a devoted pigeon fancier, had got killed at the battle of Verdun. I had full use of her house and garden. After breakfast I was to push the pram with the children to Trafalgar Square, there to watch the pigeons. I was fit to jump out of my skin with joy. In Trafalgar Square, with its fountains and statues, I was soon to find faithful friends amongst the birds.

Come Saturday, Paddy joined me. Now he could not resist pigeons. To my horror, I saw him put a grey "patner" under his coat and make for a tram to the docks, a five minutes journey. Out of the blue, appeared a policeman. To shorten my story in the court the following day a priest at St. Francis paid the fine for him. The Judge gave him a bit of a tongue-buzz. He said, "You did not care if the bird smothered?" On the contrary she showed no nervousness. I knew by the crackling of her hair she had a soft spot for me. She instinctively knew I would not harm her. Animals have a sixth sense? Afterwards Paddy took me aside. "You wouldn't mind, but the policeman is Irish, humpy Jack's daughter from Calcutta." Why didn't you try some of your "blarney" on her? Sure, I tried to soothe her, but you may as well be trying to soothe a weasel!

As I have said, I was soon to find new friends in the pigeons. High on the apartments, these happy creatures meet during the sunny hours in cheery conversation. But when a cloud crosses the sun they descend in wheeling eddies to the ground. I thought of the big matches at home in the Gaelic Field when players used to release the football scores on little tabs on their feet. These birds were of all colours and races, some hooded, some tufted, some bare-poled like skinheads, some were swanks, whose necks threw off a shimmer of gold and emerald. There were grey "patners" walking about with an air of importance. These birds were indifferent to traffic, to the hooves of drey horses, walking as if the horses were fixed posts, never getting a kick in the shins or suffering the quality of their courage.

In a little while they regarded me as a friend, picked crumbs from my hands, and even let me touch them. In fact they gave me something to live for. God's creatures can do this in a magical way. A couple of wings died in the mountain. His shop-dog lay on his bosom all night, to keep him company. My charges, George and Ronald, were thriving on the fare. The nurse couldn't understand their increased appetite, and seas for living. I had three pounds in pocket money each week. Then I had a brain-wave! I would substitute my job. I asked a street urchin if he would push the pram for a flat rate of four shillings per week. He could then resume his job of the jolly which seemed to be his principal occupation. He asked for five shillings to push the pram when empty. The final agreement was ten shillings, which included the children as passengers.

I grew passionately fond of one brown coloured pigeon, a gentle bird with delicate feathers, laced with white, which chose me as her patron, and would alight on my shoulder. I cried out "Delire!" She became my favourite and from many a breakfast, did I save a crust to seal our sad friendship.

Also, I had made friends with an old man, Phil Jenson, in an emerald green-vest, and white trousers, who considered himself "the self-appointed guardian of the pigeons." My fondness for his nest amused him. We had interesting chats, and a quaint way of describing things coupled with the cant of the bird-fancier struck me as extremely original. I told him about Gerald Crotty book house, whose pigeons were every noon in their battery back to their roosting-place, which had every comfort short of Casey's piped television.

One day I introduced Jenson to Nicky Flynn, who had taken his father, over from Killybegs to show him the sights of London. Looking at the moving crowd, the old man gasped. "Well now, that traffic beats the entire. When must it be like on a fair day?" The sun was smiling, and led to the fountain under Nelson's column when we departed.

December darkened over the city. The snow lay thick. Mrs. Wingate, now fully recovered has departed with my services. I felt lonely, depressed. One day I met a Cockney in the park smoking a pipe, feeding the ducks. He gave me a lot of tobacco. He said his wife had watched me from her flat feeding the pigeons. She would bake a little cake for me as a Christmas present. It restored my faith in myself. There comes a time when three words "God bless you" uttered from the heart with cheer and meekness, mean more to a man than three thousand books on psychology.

I was sharing a room with an Indian, who used to about selling silk dresses, wearing a red-ribbon round his forehead to keep the hair out of his eyes. At night he used to call me squeezing music from a hair-comb, wrapped in tissue paper. One night the landlord appeared and threatened to evict us for making noise. I told him a mountainous man with his bag of scotch, would bore better manners. The poor Indian wasn't worth a scullion after him. He had come from the Punjab and there the doctor is usually the local hangman. It knocked the stout out of me. We had one good day together, the celebration of the Queen's birthday. At the first sound of the cannon, joy was spread everywhere.Flags were suspended from the windows, and garlands of flowers were hung above the doors. Crowds in their Sunday attire filled the streets, where nothing was heard but national songs and exclamations. At the approach of night, all the public monuments were illuminated. Magnificent fire-works were let off, which eclipsed the stars with their fiery streams. We visited Trafalgar Square. A dog near Jenson had been found dead at the foot of the column. I drank my last shilling. I tossed about all night in confusion, unable to sleep.

Things were going from bad to worse. Like the Prodigal Son, I thought of home, of the large rolls of potatoes the farmers used to feed the pigs, the full of a three-legged pot, and three times a day. What would I not now give for a plate of soda-bread, a silver of bacon, a knob of home-made butter or a piece of Dungarvan hoke in milk thickened in arrowroot as Maggie used to serve it. I heard Bob Rossiter, a customer of ours, once say to my father: "young chaps who 'emigrate' don't know the hardship they are walking into. A man could live comfortably in Ireland, if it only meant going from one wake to the next."

A knock on the door: The postman handed me a parcel. I knew it came from my mother. She could never learn how to parcel a present and would waste a full ball of twine winding and unwinding, which however had the added value of keeping the recipient guessing as to the value of the contents. The parcel contained warm underwear and a letter imploring me to return. My father was heart-broken. His grief was increasing daily. I packed my kit and slipped off to say "good-bye" to the pigeons. What I wanted most was to bring home my favourite bird, Delire. The weight of the emotion of parting from her was overpowering. I threw them a loaf of bread. Then who should I meet, but the policeman, humpy Jack's daughter, who had summoned Paddy. She said nothing, but I noticed there were tears in her eyes.

I returned on the SS. Lady Belle. My parents received me with open arms. They did not reprove me. Sorrow is knowledge. I never left Ireland again. A lot of the clouds that interrupt the heavens from us, come not from the heavens but from the earth, of our own making.

Exciting Speculation About Western Convention Elections

G.A.A. Notes by Commentator

CONVENTION TIME

All the reports and balance sheets for the Western Convention are now in circulation and on Thursday night of next week about 150 delegates from every club in the division will assemble at Cappoquin to discuss these and other related matters.

The election of officers is another matter which will be taken care of here and there is some exciting speculation about the outcome. The two men for the chair are the present vice-chairman, Denis McGrath and a former holder of the same office and three times contender for the chairmanship, James Tobin, Shamrocks. Indications are that it will be a neck and neck affair and some of the forecasters reckon that not more than five or six votes will separate the candidates at the finish.

Just as close and exciting will be the election for County Board representatives, when with at least six of the seven nominees certain to stand, it will be some considerable time before a full result is known. The field includes the three outgoing members, John Jackson, James Walsh and Ned Keane with the retiring chairman, John Lyons. Paddy Joe Coleman, who was a poll-topper when he last stood for election to the same office and John Murphy, Senora, whose first involvement in the administrative side of things was his membership of the disciplinary committee that was the news quite recently of the six he would be the highest priced outsider, the other members who are challenging the holders, are tremendously strong candidates and neither I am sure would allow his name to go forward if he did not reckon his chances to be very good.

John Lyons is the outgoing chairman and during his term the popular Tallonians made very many friends and admirers and by his fair and impartial decisions in all matters where he had been called upon to act, he established himself as a very able and dependable administrator. He is serving his third term as a county secretary being elected.

Paddy Joe Coleman is a senior football selector and has the experience of having served in this representative post before. A tremendously efficient and active club secretary he is very popular.

John Jackson - Outside the three top-officials on the Board, Ballyduff's John Jackson is in the West over the past twelve months. Apart from his normal Board duties he has been very active in the West for all three Boards and is one of the leading members running the County Scor competition.

James Walsh - The popular Kilmogin club chairman, is the longest serving member as a County Representative and as well as having an excellent attendance record at all Board meetings he has been very active as an official at games played at the Premier field.

Ermon O'Gathain, although based at Abbeyside, has been very active in the West for the past few years and has been very active in the West for the past few years and has been very active in the West for the past few years.

SYMPATHY

Mr. Phyllis Foley, who died some weeks ago was one of the founder members of the Ardmore Club and in the early days was one of the more leading footballers. Con Downey who has been many times mentioned in these notes, was a former clubmate of Mr. Foley's and he has been very active in the West for the past few years.

LATE MRS. MORRISSEY

Our sincere sympathy is also expressed to Mervyn Morrissey, very well known Abbeyside man now domiciled in London, but who has always kept in contact with his former club and county on his bereavement occasioned by the accidental death of his wife, Mrs. Eileen Morrissey. The very sad event occurred some weeks before Christmas.

1984

The 1984 Olympic Games will conclude around the end of July and early August next year and the massive television coverage planned for these and other major events during that time, has likely affected the planning of the eight months long G.A.A. Centenary celebrations due to commence on March 16th and finish at Thurles on November 2nd. Hence the delay in publishing the full programme being arranged for the national pro-

FROM THE PAST

Quite a number of readers have written with me regarding the short article dealing with the 1939 county hurling team and I have been very glad to see the photographs, well known Tourist hurler, Ollie Wilkinson, pointed out that the names of two players, P. Sneddy (P. H. Peare's) and T. O'Donoghue, Lismore, were omitted from the line-up which I published. Sneddy was left out of error and I deliberately omitted the name of Tom O'Donoghue, Lismore, because I believed the name was included in the original and they were first cousins and one of them captained the team. As Lismore won the junior county championship in the previous year, Tom, who captained the team, did not play and Ollie Wilkinson played left-half back still in the team. Lismore continues to have a very keen interest in hurling, incidentally I understand from information on the matter that Paddy Moore, Lismore, was one of the outstanding players against Kilkenny in the semi-final and that P. Murray, who was a star of our past activities and perhaps we can return to writing about them in greater detail some time in the future.

ABBEYSIDE/BALLINACOURTY G.A.A. NOTES

FIELD DEVELOPMENTS - SPECIAL GENERAL MEETING

Members please take note that a special general meeting will be held on Friday of next week, January 14. The meeting will deal specifically with development plans for the next stage of our field development programme. The venue will be specified in this column next week.

CHRISTMAS GOODWILL GESTURE SAVES DUNGARVAN MAN FROM PRISON

At the last sitting of Dungarvan District Court before Christmas (and incidentally also the last for 1982) a "season of goodwill" gesture saved a Dungarvan man from prison. At the court, William Croft, 17 Cahal Brugha Place, was convicted of receiving a chain saw valued at £200, the property of a person unknown to him, it to have been stolen. He was acquitted however on a second charge of receiving a box of spanners valued at £100 the property of Barlow Farm Machinery Ltd. knowing them to have been stolen.

Detective Garda John Molloy told the court that Croft made a statement to him in which he said he had bought the chain saw for £100 and the spanners for £75 from a travelling salesman and knew that they were stolen property.

Detective Garda Molloy said that Croft made a statement to him in which he said he had bought the chain saw for £100 and the spanners for £75 from a travelling salesman and knew that they were stolen property.

District Justice O'Connell dismissed the larceny charge against Croft on the grounds that there had not been clear identification of them as the property of Barlow Farm Machinery Ltd. but he served a strong plea on the defendant's behalf and asked that the sentence be suspended.

Croft, who was prosecuted by the Garda Síochána, said that he would support giving him the benefit of a suspended sentence in this season of goodwill.

RECENT DEATHS

It is with much regret that we record the death of Mrs. Mary Duffy, Knockenower, Ring which occurred after a brief illness and at an early age at the Bon Secours Hospital, Cork on Saturday last, January 1. Wife of Mr. Michael Dully, proprietor of Merry's Meats, Premises, Main Street, Dungarvan, she was a native of Drumlish, Co. Longford and was mother of Miss Niamh and Susan as well as well as to her mother, brother, sisters and other relatives. Her death is a great loss to her family and other relatives. Her funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 10.30 a.m. at the parish church, St. Mary's, Dungarvan and the burial will take place at Drumlish Cemetery where the burial took place.

We also regret to record the death of Mr. P. J. McCarthy which took place at his residence at St. Bridget's Terrace, Dungarvan, on Saturday last, January 2. Very large and most representative cortages were present at the removal of his body to the Bon Secours Hospital, Dungarvan, on Monday evening and the funeral took place on Tuesday morning in the Old Churchyard.

We extend our deepest sympathy to his wife Bridget, son John, daughter Susan and to his parents, brothers, sisters and other relatives in their great sorrow.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE BY WATERFORD FARMERS

At the December meeting of the County Waterford committee of Agriculture in Dungarvan, Mr. G. Frost, CAO, reported on the activities of the advisory staff in November and on milk output for the past year.

100 MILLION GALLONS FOR FIRST TIME FOR WATERFORD CO-OP

Waterford Co-op had passed the 100,000,000 gallon mark and this represented an increase of 12 per cent over 1981. While this was mainly due to a growthy season for grass, it was an excellent performance by the farmers in this county.

At the end of the grazing season, thirteen Dairy Demonstrations were held throughout the county. These were attended by 450 people...

Mr. Frost stated that there was no better example or learning experience than for people to see their own neighbours doing top-class dairying.

It needs specialised advice for those who have already achieved high standards and wish to go higher still.

It needs encouragement for those who are at the point of breaking through their own production barriers, even if that means moving from 600 or 700 gallons to 800 or 900 gallons per acre.

It needs decisive measures to break the log-jam of thousands of acres that are stagnating—that are producing nothing or next to nothing in the hands of people who have not the will or the ability to bring about a change in their own farming pattern.

The CAO referred to recent remarks made by Mr. Tom Barry, ICOS President, in an article on the "Sunday Independent". In that article statements were made which were highly uncomplimentary to the County Advisory staff.

Another statement by Mr. Barry was that anyone other than the Co-op who approached a farmer and started talking to him about increasing his income would be treated with suspicion.

It was asserted in the article that the Co-op was aware of each farmer's capacity and would point out to the ACOT adviser those capable of being developed.

Tractor radiators should be kept topped up with anti-freeze. Leaks can occur through faulty pipes and connections.

If you have not done so already, see that your milking plant is overhauled for the coming season.

OTHER MEMORIES OF THE PAST

Prompted by our current photographic feature "Memories of the Past" which is proving so popular with readers (one of whom, under the pseudonym "Constant Reader", urges us to "keep up this interesting saga"), we publish here other memories of the past from Lismore. The prints were loaned to our Lismore Correspondent by Mrs. Hogan, New Street, Lismore for which we extend to her our sincere thanks. A few of those in the band print remain unidentified.

IVAN KING AGAIN THE MASTER AT LEOPARDSTOWN

No more acceptable Christmas present could be given to the racing public than the victory of Ivan King and his team at Leopardstown on Tuesday of Christmas week.

Indeed it was a great day also for Waterfordians but an hour earlier "Dawn Run" carried the colours of sporting Newtown (Waterford) owner Mrs. Charminn Hill to a spectacular all-the-way win in the 32,000 Fintona Beaufort Handicap at 12/1.

The big chase was full of incident, starting with the exit of Drumorgan at the first ditch where Door Step unseated his rider, Tommy Finn.

Bright Highway had gone second to Tabasco Time when he also came down five from home and Pat Kelly, who had been riding his time on Ivan King (8/1) favourable in the betting until a mile out, was now moving smoothly towards the leaders.

Chorrell recovering from a mistake at this crucial fence, rallied to go second at the last and it was thanks in great part to Kelly's powerful riding that Chorrell's challenge was beaten off by three parts of a length.

NOT A WHITE BUT INDEED A VERY QUIET CHRISTMAS

In one of the roughest Christmas breaks for years, many businesses, including the banks and post offices, did not re-open until last Thursday morning while others continued to remain closed.

Over the entire Christmas period the weather was exceptionally mild and with ice-free roads the traffic accident figures were notably down on other years.

The Christmas festivities on St. Stephen's Night saw the dances and discos at all venues fully patronised and this was also the case of all the functions held on New Year's Eve to welcome in 1983.

As usual the Christmas carols at all the churches drew packed congregations and the Midnight Masses, preceded by recitals of Christmas Carols, were all largely attended while Masses on Christmas morning again saw the churches crowded.

GALTEE CATTLE BREEDING SOCIETY E.E.C. CALF PREMIUM SCHEME 1982/83 - TAGGING ARRANGEMENTS

Eartags and tagging pliers may be purchased directly from the main and sub-centres of Galtee Cattle Breeding Society Ltd. The charge for eartags will be 25p each and the charge for pliers will be £25 each.

Eartags and tagging pliers may also be ordered from the main or sub-centres for delivery. A delivery charge of £1/consignment will be made for each delivery.

An on-farm tagging service will also be provided on request. The charge for this service will be £5 for the first calf tagged on each visit and £1 each for the second and subsequent calves. This charge includes the cost of the tags.

Herdowners should purchase their total requirements in one consignment and should do so as early as possible in the season in order to avoid delays in availability. Herdowners should have their T.B. Herd Number available when purchasing or ordering tags.

Sales and service under this scheme will be provided strictly on a cash basis.

CLIENTS SHOULD ALSO NOTE THAT AS FROM JANUARY 1ST, 1983, A.I. SERVICE will be provided only on a cash basis except in the case of milk suppliers to outlets which have account deduction arrangements with Galtee Cattle Breeding Society Ltd.

BALLYNOE ROUND-UP

Midnight Mass was celebrated in St. Catherine's Church, Ballynoe by Rev. Fr. Cogan, C.C. and a very large congregation attended. The choir under the baton of Patricia Conroy, Dungarvey, rendered appropriate hymns. Mrs. O'Keefe was organist with Pat Keogh, Fenway, on trumpet. They also performed at the 8.30 Mass and the children's choir sang at the 11 o'clock Mass.

PADDY HARTNETT, R.I.P. - It is hard to imagine that Paddy Hartnett is dead but the final curtain was brought down on his life when at Dunlough cemetery last Sunday he was laid to rest amidst one of the largest gatherings of people ever seen there. Even though the local papers were unpublicised on Saturday the news that one of the most popular men in the locality had breathed his last breath spread to every parish in the area.

Paddy after leaving school in the early thirties went to work at the newly opened Creamery in Coma. As a clerk in the store there he made hosts of friends with his courteous manner and ready wit. He quickly became involved in the social life of the parish and over the years many clubs benefited from his patronage.

He was a founder member of two clubs - Muintir Na Tire and the local football club in 1946. The Pioneer Council, Anglers Club, Dramatic Class and Gaelic League also had him as a member. Paddy's health forced him to retire prematurely from the creamery a few years ago but he was hospitalised on many occasions.

Despite this he attended meetings of the various clubs and he was always interested in all parish affairs. He could be classed as a true patriot and he would have been proud to see the flag flying at half-mast on the day of his death.

The funeral was held in the parish church on Thursday night, 30th December, The East Cork under 14 and under 16 medals were presented to both teams and given by Eddie Riordan of the Carrigrohilly club and Chairman of the East Cork Juvenile Board. A very enjoyable night was had by all with music supplied by the Starlights and the catering by the ladies committee attached to the Juveniles team.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to Billy and Frances Forrest on the birth of a baby girl on Christmas day.
