Plotholders Want Land.

INQUIRY AT DUNGARVAN. OBJECTIONS BY LANDHOLDERS

On Tuesday last in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, Mr. A. P. Delany, L.G.B. Inspector, held an inquiry into the question of getting land under Compulsory Powers for the allotment holders of Dungarvan in accordance with the memorial of the Urban Council and the petition of the allotment holders of Bungarvan.

Mr. J. F. Williams, solr., appeared for the allotment holders; Mr. E. A. Rvan, solr., appeared on the allotment holders.

Humble, D.L.; Col. S. F. Kirkwood, Thos. Harty, J.P., and Wm. Berestord, Skehacrine, also objected to giving plots. Messrs. P. Sexton, J.P.; Thos. Power, W. Stack, J. Lanigan, J. McGrath, A.B.S., and T. Walsh, S.S.O., P. E. Curran, M. Healy, J. Daly, etc.,

at St. Colman's College, Fermoy, had a plot? Yes. And the Excise Offieer? Yes. And an assistant in the National Bank? No, I did not hear

Inspector—And why not?
Dr. Williams—It was never intended that land should be taken for the benefit of people of that kind. Do you know Messrs. Stokes had plots there? Yes. Are not all those people well off? I would not say the S.S.O. and the borough engineer are anything like well off. Had the Urban Council anything to say to it last year? They went security for the plotholders. How many acres of good arable land are there inside the urban area? I can't

Mr. T. Walsh, secretary to the plot-holders, said he had received 70 applications for plots from residents of the town. He would want plots for 100, as now that the benefits of the scheme were known the people were auxious to get them. The members of the Transport Workers would consider the matter that evening. matter that evening.

matter that evening.

Inspector—This is the latest inquiry in all Ireland, and the Transport Workers only consider the matter to-clay. How much land do you want? Witness—12½ acres. We are satisfied others will come along. Inspector—I den't think you are entitled to apply for more people than you have got. Witness—Last year we had 90 plotholders and 64 in 1917. I have no doubt about the necessity of making provision for 100 plots.

Cross-examined by Mr. Williams-There are 46 acres within the urban boundary. It is let on the 11 months' system. There is no tillage on that.

Mr. Williams—The 25 cattle on Ring-crehy must be fed? Yes.

Mr. Williams—And what about the workingmen of the town? They must be fed, too.

KILRUSH LAND. Col. Kirkwood, agent for Dromana Estate, opposed the application to take any of the 50 acres at Kilcush, which was the only fattening land on the estate. Between 250 and 300 acres at Dromana were tilled and they keep 500 people alive. They employ 100 hands and give them milk, potatoes, etc. From the county point of view they had deventing them. they had done their share. That land was bought as accommodation land, and in his opinion it should not be broken up for tillage, as it had not been tilled for years. made the story is the same. No man has enough land for his cattle. Why not apply on the other fellow? The bullocks should be fed, and the poor inave plenty of sympathy, but nothing could be done for them. There is land by the thousand acres around, but a plot of half a rood would not be given voluntary to feed the poor man and his family. Sympathy galore and his family. Sympathy galore they mave, but sympathy will not fill empty stomachs like, potatoes and vegetables. No wonder people are turning Bolshevists or by whatever name you call a demand for part of what God made the common heritage for all. On the broad scres around us the bullock walks supreme, and man, "the image of His Maker," dare not tread thereon. The bullock must be ted; the children must starve, and yet a small plot of "6 x 3" will be the largest farm available in the end for the biggest landholder.
