Antrim, writes : Received the 6 bottles CATALINE which had not arrived half-an-hour before the head stockman sent for a bottle. He says be has never used the like of it in all his 40 years' experience 'with sheep and all class of stock.' It saved a Ewe which cast its Lamb dead; the first he ever knew to live! He says he has not lost a Ewe at lambing, whereas in other years we lost several; in fact, he says, 'it works like magic."

A SHEPHERD'S LAMBING WORRIES are over if he uses CATALINE. A single drench will arrest the chill stage and prevent udder troubles. It acts instantly and saves all labour. No matter how swollen or inflamed the udder, a drench or two will immediately disperse the inflammation, reduce the udder to normal, and render the milk quite good. Perfectly safe for young stock.
