Kilmacthomas District Court.

Held on Wednesday, before Mr. P. J. McCabe, D.J.

Mr. P. Kierney applied for and was granted a petroleum license.

Serjt. O'Donnell, at the suit of the Attorney-General, presented William McGrath, Coppinger, for using a motor bicycle without the necessary license.

Defendant did not appear. A fine of 1s. and 10s. special costs was imposed.

Guard Sheehan summoned Peter Mulcahy for being drunk and disorderly on the public street at Kilmacthomas.

Adjusted for 3 months to see how Mulcahy would conduct himself in the meantime.

Some complainant summoned Jas. Hennessy for cruelty to an animal.

Complainant deposed he found Hennessy using a jenny while the animal was suffering from sores.

Adjusted for a month in the absence of defendant.

Serjt. O'Donnell v. Mary Dee. The sergeant deposed he found defendant using a pony and trap at Kilmacthomas at 12.35 p.m. on the 10th June last. Fined 2/6 and costs.

Same v. John Gleeson for a like offence. Adjudged to next court in the absence of defendant.

Serjt. O'Donnell v. Paul Heame, pony and trap at Kilmacthomas on the night of the 15th August last without a light. Fined 5s. and costs.

NO LIGHT.
Same v. David Duggan, owner of a motor car. Defendant was charged with exceeding the speed limit in the vicinity of Carroll's Cross on the 18th ult. He was travelling at 34 miles an hour by the cross where five roads converge.

Duggan stated he drove a Dodge car on the occasion. He was conveying a party to King College. The car was missing in one place and he put on extra speed facing the hill at Carroll's Cross.

Replying to his Worship, he said the road at this site of Carroll's Cross was made of a fine clay hill.

District Justice—I hope you are not trying to take a rise out of the (laughter).

Fining him 21 and costs, the Justice told him that when he found the party missing he should not have endangered the safety of the public by running his Dodge at top speed, but should have changed his mind sooner.

State v. O'Connell for exceeding the speed limit within the Kilmacthomas police area. The sergeant stated that defendant's car covered 400 yards in 15 seconds. Fined 21 and costs.

A similar fine was imposed on a chauffeur named John O'Brien for a like offence on the same occasion.

Serjt. Rochford v. Stephen Meade drunk in charge of a motor car on the 22nd August at Ballinacorney.

Maber stated that he was out all that day and was returning from a hurling match at Dungarvan when the sergeant saw him. He did not feel very well in the early part of the day and he took a few drinks of whiskey. These did not serve him as he was not used to whiskey. He takes a bottle of stout occasionally.

His Worship said it was a scandalous thing to find a motor driver in a drunken state while using his car, and in this case he inflicted the highest penalty he could impose, viz.—40s. and costs.

Same v. Miss Phibbens Ryan, teacher, for exceeding the speed limit at Kilmacthomas on the 10th August. She travelled at 27 1/2 miles an hour. Serjt. Hunt, Thurles, proved service of summons.

Defendant was stating that she could not appear that day. She assured the J. she would be more careful in future.

Justice—She evidently admits the offence. I will fine her 21 and 10s. costs.

Guard O'Leary v. Michael O'Brien, Ballygomas, for using a motor bicycle without a light at 10.30 p.m. on the 20th ult. Defendant stated he had a breakdown in Dungarvan and consequently was out longer than he anticipated. Fined 10s. and costs.

Same v. Thos. McGrath for a like offence. Fined 10s. and costs.

Youghal Notes.

Youghal Trading Fleet.—There are many of the inhabitants of Youghal who still remember the time when the town had a trading fleet of from 20 to 30 "wind-jammers," if not even more—schooners, brigantines, brigs, three-masted schooners, barques, etc. Not to go further back, some of those in their "fifties" or "sixties" have a lively recollection of the "Jerry Tar," "Mynnyenny," "Artil," "Anderda," "Albert," "Ocellan," "Comites," "Stierlinghin," "Assacuride," etc., etc., and so on, if not ad infinitum, at least for a long time as far as far off, for all practical purposes. They were not alone engaged in "coasting" and cross-Channel trade, but some of the larger craft traded across "the pond" frequently, bringing cargoes of timber from Memphich, etc., for instance. But those good old days are gone, into the "luzum of oblivion," never to return, even in the remotest degree. Some of those enumerated above as well as their colleagues, went the way of all vessels—some sunk to the bottom of the deep while battling bravely against storm and sea. Others were dashed to pieces on treacherous rocky shores; others again ended their career of usefulness in the "honeysuck" at Green's Quay. During the past week our local fleet has sustained another loss—a loss that is some other port's gain—in the sale of the schooner "B. I." The worst feature of the gradual diminution of the local trading fleet is that each one adds to the unemployment list. As each craft while in commission meant the regular employment of some five hands upwards, besides many more in the process of loading and discharging, it will not require much logic to prove how grievous a blow the loss of even one means to the place. It would appear that the No. 1 "fleet" at present can be counted on the fingers of one hand, even though that added were minus a digit or two. In addition to her own "fleet" in former years, many foreign craft from the Continent traded here. The writer has shinned through the books of an old defunct local business concern, and under one date alone there were lists of goods supplied to some 8 or 10 foreign vessels of different nationalities! Now the arrival of "foreigners" is quite a novelty in our lives. How the mighty have fallen!

Ballymores Choir.—We hear that the members of the Ballymores Choir were treated to an excursion by motor recently. It appears that the choir is trained by a local lady, with the result that they sing excellent pieces during the Mass on Sundays.

As a reward for the assiduity shown by them, a number of the parishioners gave the motor cars for a day's trip to the Youghal Choir Excursion was an annual fixture of great interest. Now it is like the choir itself, now it is certainly very encouraging to learn that our village choir are making such progress in some places. It need hardly be said that a good choir lends additional solemnity to our deeply religious religious functions, and that therefore no church ought to be without one.

Technical Classes and Dances.—At the last meeting of the Urban Council applications were received from several persons and institutions for the use of the hall-room, Town Hall, with the object of holding practice classes. There being no objection, all the applications were granted, and as these will be renewed from week to week, it means that from 4 to 5 nights each week will be taken up by dances during the autumn, winter and spring months.

Councillor Kennedy made a very appropriate comment in connection with the subject. He said that, with all the dancing and other amusements on the round he feared the attendance at the evening Technical Classes would be seriously affected.

Let us hope he will prove a false prophet. It would be too bad, indeed, if, in times like these when practical education is of such great importance and necessity, our youth should devote all their leisure evenings to amusements to the entire neglect of self-improvement. Of course there can be no objection to dancing properly conducted, per se. But like any other amusement or luxury, one can have too much of it. Up to the present Youghal has had the advantage of having two tip-top teachers (Messrs. B. A. Ryall and J. J. Higgins) in their midst, but their efforts were handicapped to some extent by the accommodation at their disposal. That will not be the case much longer, for during the coming session a new Technical School, fitted with all the necessary equipment and requirements, will be at their hands, and they are making such progress that we may look forward to its satisfactory completion within a couple of months. Furthermore, Mr. Ryall has been appointed Headmaster. With his many qualifications, large and varied experience, and his go-ahead character, the people of Youghal especially the young people, will have only themselves to blame if the Church Street Technical School does not turn out many pupils well prepared to fight the battle of life and make their way to the front, each in his chosen sphere.

Christian Brothers' School.—The successes of the local Christian Brothers' School at the recent Intermediate Examinations are a source of pride to all concerned. The percentage of passes in the Intermediate and Leaving Certificate Examinations for the Maestri was 92.7 per cent. and 65.6 per cent., respectively. The percentages for Youghal were 70 per cent. and 100 per cent., respectively. Irish has for a long time been a strong subject in the school. This year is no exception, 100 per cent. of the students passed in Irish, 60 per cent. of the Intermediate candidates taking Honours. Special merit is due to Martin Beaussant, who secured 7th place in the Sursaut in English and 17th place in Irish, and Stephen Abern 20th place in Mathematics.

The Pictures.—The following will give some idea of how well and elaborately the picture-galleries of Youghal are catered for by the proprietors of the local cinema—On Sunday and Monday nights Messrs. Horgan Bros. showed a powerful tragedy entitled "The Fire Patrol," with exciting scenes by land and sea. Messrs. J. Hurst and Son exhibited a very fine picture, "The Gentry Girl," the scene shifting from a medieval castle in Wales to Central Africa and the big city of London. There was a matinee in both halls on Sunday afternoon. On Tuesday night Messrs. Horgan showed an interesting picture with the strange title, "Laird Lathomy." On Wednesday and Thursday Messrs. Hunt gave an exciting piece, "Hacking for Life," and Messrs. Horgan another good picture called "The Rustle of Silk." Both houses gave an entire change of programme on Friday night. If that is not enough to satisfy the most exacting picture lovers amongst us then nothing will. In addition to this big programme, there was a capital orchestra, piano and violin, and Messrs. Horgan's, and a very lively and enjoyable jazz band and a jazz chorus by Miss Maggie Harrington at Messrs. Hunt's.

Mr. Robert Kelly, Manager of the National Bank, Tallow, was charged with having charge of a motor car on the public highway...

LADIES AT LAW.

Mrs. Mary Collins charged Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, both of Cork lane, with various and insolent behaviour...

MILK CASES.

Sergt. Kennedy, Constabulary, charged Wm. Conroy, do., with selling milk 25 per cent. deficient in fat.

There was a similar charge against Mrs. Mary Hennessy, of the same place, the alleged deficiency being 42 per cent.

Mr. J. L. Keane, solicitor for the defence in both cases, said he had forwarded samples to an independent analyst as his clients had come to the conclusion that there must have been some mistake.

ROULETTE GAMING.

Sergt. O'Sullivan charged John Field, Fermoy, with playing roulette on a public place, the Strand, Youghal.

Mr. J. L. Keane defended. Evidence having been given by complainant...

Mr. Keane—You don't have a little fitter yourself, sergeant? Not at that time (laughter).

Mr. Keane said his client was at that game for 18 years, and now for the first time and without warning he was brought up under the Vagrancy Act to defend himself against the charge of being a "rogue and vagabond."

SHREK WITHOUT DECLARATION.

Guard Madden charged Lee, O'S. with exposing four sheep for sale without the usual declaration.

Defendant said he had them dipped, but being so busy about the harvest he had forgotten to get the form.

Justice—How many times should you have them dipped? Twice.

Fixed 20s.

FALSE NAME.

Sergt. Kennedy, Constabulary, charged Timothy Loughlin, Dover, with using a bicycle without a light and giving a false name.

Justice—Was he "diddled"? It was stated on the face of the permit that it expired on the 21st July.

Mr. Rice said he thought he would get into the circumstances. It was a foolish pique on Daly's part. But he subsequently confessed and helped to get the form.

Mr. Rice said he thought he would get into the circumstances. It was a foolish pique on Daly's part. But he subsequently confessed and helped to get the form.

ROAD TAX UNPAID.

Guard Flanagan charged Clifford Lockyer, Rochestown Hill, with using a motor car, the road tax on which having expired on the 24th March last.

Defendant deposed he took her out for a test run trying to sell her for as he could not afford to pay the tax. He was a musician, but was idle at present.

The Justice said he must impose the penalty of 45s, but as he believed defendant he would reduce it to 15s. and 11s. costs.

STRAYING ANIMALS.

A number of farmers were charged with allowing animals to wander on the public road, fines of 2s, being imposed in each case.

Guard Troy charged Ed. Donovan, Ballyrobert, with a similar offence in regard to a cattle.

Defendant said he had travelled 18 miles to answer the charge (laughter).

The Justice said he would let the defendant off in the circumstances.

MOTOR LORRY WITHOUT LIGHT.

Guard Charles charged Joseph Kavanagh, Mill road, with driving a motor lorry without a light.

In fine defendant 10s, and costs, the Justice said if the owner was before him he would have imposed a severe penalty.

BALLYQUINN AERODROME.

Mr. Charles O'Brien, Kilsheg, was charged on remand with having received materials removed from the Ballyquinn Aerodrome, leaving same to have been stolen.

Mr. J. L. Keane, solr., Youghal, appeared on behalf of Mr. Wm. J. Barry, solr., Milltown, who defended last court day.

Mr. Casey said Mr. O'Brien had written in his statement that he was prepared to hand over the stuff. He had communicated with his authorities on the subject, but having received no reply up to the present, he would press that the case be returned for trial. If the authorities were satisfied with the return of the goods they could enter a nolle prosequo. Even though he had made a prima facie case he would ask to put in one little deposition.

The Justice said he did not think that necessary in the circumstances?

Mr. Casey said his reason for doing so was that if the case came for trial it would be in Dublin and not in Cork, and he wanted to have the evidence as completed as possible before it left his hands.

On last court-day the name of Lieut. Cott was mentioned, and the case was adjourned to hear his evidence. They had summoned him and he was in attendance.

The Justice then granted Mr. Casey's application.

Guard Madden, Kilsheg, deposed that acting on instructions he called on Mr. O'Brien on the 9th April, 1925. He stated that he was giving his notice to have the Ballyquinn stuff left back within 10 days or if not would be paid for it, and if he didn't do either within that time he would be charged with larceny. He then asked Mr. O'Brien if he had any statement to make about it and he would take it in and public place?" as the defendant was tenant, paid his rent, and had a right to exclude anybody.

The case was dismissed.

The same complainant charged Michael Phillips with a similar offence, the venue being the Fair Field.

Mr. Keane defended. Complainant having given evidence, the Justice asked him were there anything wrong with the table or the wheel, and he replied in the negative. The defendant offered a 30 to 1 chance on the feather, harp, etc.

Cross-examined by Mr. Keane—Do you know he offers the whole to any number of the public to work it and that he will stand down? I believe he does. And that he pays rent for this particular place to the Urban Council? Yes. They let it to defendant for this particular purpose? Yes. It is partly surrounded by walls? Yes.

Justice—Is that the only thing he has going on there?

Mr. Keane—It is only a side-show. Michael Phillips deposed that he paid the Urban Council a weekly rent for the use of the place. (Except produced).

To Complainant—Can you put anybody out of the Fair Field while playing? Yes.

The Justice said the case was on all fours with the previous one. He was satisfied that neither of the places were "public places" within the meaning of the Act, and he also dismissed the present case.

NO LIGHT.

Sergt. Flynn charged James Butler with cycling without a light after prescribed hour.

Fixed 10s.

Guard Quinlan charged James Doolan, Ballymore, with cycling without a light. Fixed 5s, and costs.

STRAYING ANIMALS.

The same complainant charged John Smiddy, Ballymore, with allowing his horse and cart on the public street at Kilsheg on fair day. Fixed 5s.

The same complainant charged Timothy McCarthy with a similar offence on the same occasion.

Complainant said he had to remove the horse out of a motorist's way. Fixed 10s.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present—Messrs. M. Whelan, chairman; J. Bennett, vice-chairman; W. Coughlan, T. Harrington, P. J. McMahon, P.C.; P. Kennedy, M. J. Fleming, J. Troy, M. D. Broderick, J. Barrett, B. G. Farrell, M. Moloney, solr.; E. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; A. J. Fowler, A. W. D. Murphy, T. Curran.

STRAWD REPORT.

The straw caretaker reported that the water supply had continued satisfactory for the past few days.

Mr. Broderick said he was sure that the many friends of Mr. Tom Roche were delighted to learn that he had been raised to the dignity of Canon. During his stay in Youghal he had endeared himself to the whole community.

Mr. McMahon said it afforded him much pleasure to second the proposition.

The Town Clerk, on behalf of the officials and himself, desired to be associated with the proposition.

The Chairman said that Canon Roche during his stay of a quarter of a century in that town had won the esteem and affection of the whole community, rich and poor, irrespective of creed or class. He always did everything he could for the betterment of the town, religiously and otherwise. Above all he was ever first with zeal for the welfare of the deserving poor. It was the earnest prayer of the people of Youghal that Canon Roche might long and prosper to rear his new abode in the Vicarage of the Divine Master.

Others having supported the proposition, the Clerk was directed to convey it to the rev. pastor.

TOWN SUPERINTENDENTSHIP.

The Clerk said they were summoned specially to consider the question of the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. McNally, Town Superintendent.

The Chairman said that Mr. Farrell had proposed the subject last meeting.

Mr. Farrell said it had occurred to him that the position might be suitably filled by the Town Surveyor. It was apparent there had been a certain amount of overlapping between the Town Superintendent and Town Surveyor. So far as experience was concerned he would fit the position suitably and his honesty was undoubted.

His present salary as Town Surveyor was only 65s, and undoubtedly he got a considerable share of work from time to time. At times he had not been altogether satisfied, but they could hardly expect a man to give up a small remuneration to (throw his whole soul into his work. The Chairman said 12 months' probation would be too long. Six months would be sufficient.

Mr. Farrell agreed with the Chairman's suggestion.

The Chairman said whether they amalgamated the positions or not six months' probation was long enough. Some 40,000 passes under the hands of whoever gets the position, which was an enormous one, and the holder would have to be up and about at 7 a.m. to look after the working staff, and all over the place during the day seeing that they do their work properly.

Mr. Coughlan proposed that the jobs be amalgamated and that they adjourn the position.

TECHNICAL AND OLD AGE PENSION COMMITTEE.

The following letter was read:—"Permanently Sick, Penarth, Cornwall, 2nd September, 1925. Dear Sir—Your letter of the 22nd ult. has been forwarded to me here. Will you please convey to your council my thanks for copying me on the local Technical and Old Age Pensions Committee and my assurance of my willingness to act upon both committees—Yours faithfully—V. W. Darling."

PETROL PUMP IN STRAND STREET.

A letter was read from Mr. J. V. Halpin, Consulting Engineer, enclosing a plan of the proposed petrol pump in Strand.

Mr. O'Gorman said Strand street was very narrow—too narrow for the erection of a petrol-pump.

The Chairman said they should take all the necessary steps to safeguard the public. There was a pump in Friar street, and anybody could see that it was dangerous to the public.

DANCES.

Applications were received from the Sinn Fein Club, Hurst's Orchestra and R. Broderick for the use of the Town Hall for practice dances on the 7th, 10th and 14th inst.

Mr. Kennedy said he feared with all the dances and other amusements there would be but a very poor attendance at the Technical Classes.

The applications were granted.

TOWN RESERVOIR.

In reply to Mr. Broderick, the Clerk said the level in the town reservoir at present was 17ft. 9ins.

Chairman—That is three inches under overflow level.

QUAY LANE.

Mr. O'Gorman asked when was the work of removing the dilapidated buildings in Quay lane to go on?

The Clerk read a letter from Messrs. Hobbs and Sons, solicitors, dealing with the matter. Notice had been duly served on the landlord and agent.

It was unanimously decided that if the work was not begun on the 7th, the work should be charged to the landlord.

FERRY, TENNIS, BATHING.

The Clerk reported that the profits on the Ferry for the week was 41 6s.; the receipts at the Green Park Tennis Court, had done or got anything for him he would stand by it. Mr. O'Brien informed him that his case was being tried at Castlemary and asked witness if he would go. Witness said if he had got anything for him he would, but he wanted to think over the matter. When Mr. O'Brien was leaving and entering his motor car he turned back and said that the case was on a very bad day as it was the day of Tallow Races. He also stated that he would get his solicitor—Mr. Barry—to have the case called early and that witness could go in his car in the noon and see him. Witness said it was immaterial to him, that he had no intention of going to Tallow Races. Witness began to think over the happenings of a couple of years, when it dawned on him that it was a permit for a shlopup. Witness wrote to Mr. O'Brien and met him some time afterwards at a hurling match either at Kilsheg, Castlemary or Ballymore, and asked him if he had received the letter. He said yes and passed on. He never received on his own behalf or on behalf of the Government any money from defendant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Keane—Witness's memory was good. The first interview happened at his house at Ballincorra. He didn't know that the Tallow Races were in February.

Did you give Mr. Moloney a permit for Mr. O'Brien? No. No written permit? No. Did you sign any permit for Mr. O'Brien to take any staff? No, sir, Council. J. P. O'Connell was in charge of the army at Milltown and of that area, including the Ballyquinn. At that time there might or might not be a record kept of a permit for a gun. He would contradict Mr. O'Brien if he swore that he (the defendant) didn't apply for a permit for a gun until 12 months ago.

By Mr. Keane—You say by February, March or April that defendant called to see, but it was a Milltown fair day.

That charge having been fair day, defendant pleaded "not guilty."

Defendant was returned for trial, bail being ordered, himself in 420 and one surety of 100 pounds.

A similar charge against Edwin Cronin, Council, was adjourned to next Youghal Court.

Youghal Urban Council.

FARMERS' MEETING IN DUNGARVAN.

ADDRESSES BY DEPUTY GOREY, T.D., AND MR. M. F. O'HANLON.

ENTHUSIASTIC PROCEEDINGS.

A large and representative farmers' meeting was held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, last Saturday under the auspices of the County Waterford Branch of the Farmers' Union.

Congratulating Sir John.

Mr. M. O'Brien--As this is the first meeting at which you, Mr. Chairman, have been present since the recent County Council Elections, I beg to move that this Executive congratulate you on your success at the poll which you led in Lisnacroghna.

Mr. Robert Murphy seconded, and the resolution was passed with acclamation. Mr. John Keane--By your selection I presume I am justified in assuming you all assent to the proposition, and on that assumption I thank you very much for the kind manner in which the resolution was proposed, seconded and received.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Sir John Keane said he welcomed to that meeting the members and non-members. There were other distinguished gentlemen present--Mr. M. F. O'Hanlon, General Secretary of the Union, who was a candidate for the Senate on behalf of their party, and also Deputy Gorey, Leader of the Farmers' Party in the Dail, who has a tower of strength to their party said a thorn in the side of many of their adversaries. He would ask them to remember that now that they had proved their strength as electing members, when the occasion arose they could prove their strength at the Senate Election.

DEPUTY GOREY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Denis Gorey, T.D., who was warmly received, said those of them outside Waterford who were deeply interested in the Farmers' Union, the country and agriculture, had a better opportunity of judging the fight made by the farmers of the County Waterford in 1923 when they won a victory which was of great consequence to the farmers of Ireland. They felt honored at coming before them. They were going to have an opportunity in the very near future of fighting something different from what they had at the recent Local Government Election when most of the Irish counties gave a gesture of what they really meant. In nearly all the counties they elected a majority of the members of the Farmers' Union. That gesture was good in its way, but they wanted to go further and confirm what they had already done. There had been hostility to the Farmers' Union and the Farmers' Party, most of which came from the Government Party. The Farmers' Union welcomed that hostility, which did more to organize them and weld them together than anything else. Hostility was not the greatest enemy they had in the Farmers' Union. Their greatest enemy was the spathy of their own people. The legislation of the immediate future was going to be framed on the result of the coming Senate Election. The economic legislation now will get to be inspired by it. Those living on the land, no matter what their politics are, will find that the economic legislation introduced will be framed on this election. If the farmers were apathetic and hostile to their own candidates, the legislation framed would be hostile to them. No farmer can now afford to sit on the side and let things go on regardless of what might happen. The future economic position is going to mean your prosperity or ruin. He was not one of those who believed in sitting on the side. He wanted the people to live in the present and all who depended on agriculture to vote for the farmers' candidates at the election.

Referring to the recent anxiety of certain people about farming matters, he said many letters had appeared in the Press and a committee had been appointed to look after the Farmers' interests. And why? The reason was there was some other body in the field at present catering for the farmers' interests, and this feverish competition with the Farmers' Party was brought about by the growth of the Farmers' Party throughout the country. It was up to them if that competition would remain or be increased. When competition started for their farmers then they would fall into their own. If they did not maintain that competition their interests would not be cared for. The way to maintain that competition was to send to the Senate and the Dail a party sufficiently strong to command attention and respect. It was for them to insure that their own people would be their representatives in the future. It had been a custom in this country for Dublin and the learned professions to represent the whole country in the past with few exceptions. Recently they decided to send forward men from their own class, and the public could judge if these men had been a success. In the last Dail and the present Dail he claimed they were capable of representing the agricultural interests. It was true the farmers looked after their own business and saw to it that none but their own nominees represented them.

As to the present Senate Election, they had 76 candidates on the panel, and that list contained everybody. They had ex-military men, ex-British army men, ex-school teachers, who had big pensions; ex-teachers who were going to get pensions, but none of your candidates are ex-farmers (laughter). They are still in their jobs. They cannot afford to be ex-farmers. They have to work. If they could not split the farmers up into sections then the competition of the politicians and the professional men were gone. Recently a Minister of the Government said "the bullock must go." He agreed with him. The bullock always went out of this country. They said--he was gone, and the question was as to what state he should leave--as a wandering calf or the finished article? Was it the policy of Mr. J. J. Walsh that the calf should be exported or that he be finished off and the beef exported? Any one who used that kind of cry was either a clown who did not know what he was talking about and did not understand the position, or a blackguard, because he was appealing to the worst instincts of the prejudiced and ignorant mob. They should have the bullock in the country and they should fatten him and get the most out of him. But whether the land was divided into ranches or small farms, the bullock should be finished or there was a National loss, and no sane man would question it. The Walshs and the Driscolls have been putting you on the back lately and a marble partition from Drumcondra claims to be the leader of the farmers. They did not all live under the shadow of Nelson's Pillar, and they had not Dublin as a market. They could not bring in a load of vegetables to the market and bring back a load of manure and be home at 12 o'clock. He said a market garden was not a representative Irish farmer.

What they wanted was a return for their work. In the Dungarvan area a grower of early potatoes got £16 per ton for them delivered in Kilkenny, and the man who sold them afterwards got 3/4 per stone for them at £10 per ton for selling them. Dealing with a recent letter to the Press which suggested that the farmers should all come together and adopt a different system of farming, he said they had too many parasites living on their backs. It was time to get rid of that. In a recent discussion on the agricultural vote in the Dail they proposed that in place of demonstration plots they should have two or three demonstration farms in each county. That was a commendable proposition. The Government at the time proposed would not have that. The Walsh's and the O'Driscoll's would not have a test or demonstration farm, as it would knock the bottom out of all their theories and their occupation would be gone. An attack had been made upon them because they did not adopt a protectionist policy, and they had been abused and black-guarded on that account. They did not adopt it for the reason that they wanted to know at the time it was started where they were and what it would mean to them, but they could be shown nothing. Some of them were prepared to give a leaf, but they were not prepared to give it and take back only a crust in return. Until they were convinced they were going to remain where they were. They were not going to do what some did and sell themselves for a mess of pottage. Jacob must be a better citizen, as he was engaged in agriculture while Ben was hunting, and afterwards, he went to blind Jesse and pulled his leg. The Walsh's and the O'Driscoll's are an example of the same and trying to pull your legs, and it is time a stop was put to it. All the recent theories about farming could be put to the test on a demonstration farm, but they would not have it, because it would expose their theories. They did not want experimental plots or farms, but demonstration farms, where the results of all experiments could be put to the test. They wanted the results of the experiments demonstrated to the people. There were a considerable number living on the back of the people, and there was only one community able to explain that question properly, and that was the hive of bees, where at a certain season of the year the drones were put outside the hive and made work. He would say to all the drones of the country--let them go out and work. Look at the class of people 70 out of the 76 candidates for the Senate Election were? If he were asked about the selection he would adopt the principles of the bees and throw out a big percentage of them. The time was ripe yet, but their children or their children's children may have to turn them out.

Dealing with the recent Land Bill, he said it was intended to amend that Bill in the next Session, and it was not going to be received with open arms by the Government. Some of the provisions are to have the hostility of the Ministry, and the fate of that Bill is dependent on the vote of the election for the Senate. It was for them to give the answer to that whether it became law or not. They should vote on the 17th for their own 7 candidates first and for whoever they wished afterwards. Though they were told the Cuman no gaediall Party were going to take no part in the election, their organizers had been all over the country looking for support for their men on the panel, and they put the names of the farmers down after their own name. There was an attempt to pull their legs. An Organizer of Cuman no gaediall told a friend of his recently that Cuman no gaediall were out against the Farmers' Party and they did not want them. Why? Because they (the farmers) were pushing on their preserve, and the farmers have declared they have sufficient intelligence, integrity and honesty to represent their own interests. He appealed to the people not to be apathetic at the coming election, but to vote for their own sons and daughters and all belonging to them qualified cast their votes. They should realize what it meant to them. For if things happened afterwards that they did not like, the fault would be their own. The Farmers' Party representatives were not gifted with a flow of language, but they meant what they said, and were not like the clever politicians, who did not mean a word of what they say. When they claimed to represent the farmers of the country on economic questions they were not with the query--where were you in 1916? He said the whole of them were in the Post Office in Easter Week it would be as upon the claim of 99 out of every 100 who say they were there. They were not in the Post Office in 1916. He asked them to vote for the farmers' candidates on the 17th September and see that their neighbors did the same and loyally support the principles of the Farmers' Union (hears). MR. O'HANLON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. M. F. O'Hanlon, General Secretary Farmers' Union and farmers' candidate at the Senate Election, next addressed the meeting. Having paid a high tribute to the ability of Sir John Keane as the champion of the farmers' rights and the enlightened mind he brought to bear on all big and broad issues, he said Mr. Gorey, T.D., was a fine type of representative--brave, blunt and sincere, a hard hitter, who called a spade a spade, and not a man of the type of Professor McGee, who covered his remarks with nicely coined phrases, with the result that at the end of his speech one did not know what he was driving at. He thanked the meeting sincerely for the honor they did him in giving him the farmers' No. 1 vote at the Senate Election. And though he was a Westfordian, yet on the question of agricultural organization, if it were left to himself to select a county he would select the County Waterford. He did not want to repeat them by praising them, but they did not act as the Railway Company was now acting by going to their employees and asking them to reduce their wages. They look upon themselves and fought a just cause and won a victory, and the farmers of the whole of Ireland were proud of them and looked to them as their champions in the future as in the past (cheers). They had put up seven official candidates, and having voted for them they could then vote for Mr. O'Hanlon. That election was a matter of persons and persuasions. They were putting up 7 men, and if the farmers returned then they would hearten their brothers who did not see eye to eye with them, and they would encourage to the men in the movement all the time. They would show they were a power in the land and make the Government believe they were a power to be dealt with. By so doing they would be advancing to the day when they would take their proper place in the Government of the country. All persons over 20 years of age had a vote in this election. The only thing that could defeat the farmers' candidates was apathy of the farmers themselves. If the voters stay at home their cause will be forgotten. They had only put forward 7 out of the 76 candidates on the panel. They would be better served by leaving in the Senate men of their own class who would interest themselves in the life of the country--men who will appreciate the farmers' position and who would be responsible to them and carry out their instructions. The professional classes and the ex-service men were behind their representatives, and the same applied to the doctor. They did not begrudge those men their representation. The farmers had their remedy, and if they did not support their own men they would have only themselves to blame later. Were they quite satisfied with the legislation they were getting? Last year the Government legislation concentrated upon the Shannon Scheme, Beet and Tariffs. There was not very much concentration on drainage or livestock, etc. One result of the election was that the cost of living had increased and life made more difficult. They may tell them that tariffs will put more workers into industry. That is doubtful. As to the Shannon Scheme, they did not object to it, but they knew that every scheme was either a success or a failure. If the Shannon Scheme was going to be a failure it would be a catastrophe for their young country, and it was a success it was going to be a disaster for their young country, and it was a success it was going to be a disaster for their young country, and it was a success it was going to be a disaster for their young country.

Messrs. Gorey and O'Hanlon for the comprehensive addresses they had delivered. They were well represented in the Dail, and after the local, clear and eloquent address they had just heard from Mr. O'Hanlon they would be, he is, highly represented in the next Senate. He asked the meeting to pass the speakers a vote of thanks by acclamation.

That being done in a whole-hearted manner, Deputy Gorey returned thanks. Dealing with the rash of people who had been nominated on the Senate panel, he said the lives of Deputies was an actual hell with people wanting to be put on the panel. The men they put on the panel were selected by the Farmers' Union without their knowledge, and he wanted them to vote for them. They were offered 9s. or 10s. a barrel for oats, and yet they heard all this talk about tillage from men who knew nothing about it. A few thousand pounds could not be got for a demonstration farm, but they could give millions for subsidies. The way to bring back the land to those people was at the Senate Election (hears). Mr. O'Hanlon also returned thanks and the meeting concluded.

YOUGHAL NOTES.

"Dramas" or "Dramas"— recent issue in this column account of some of the amusements and variations ded to both visitors and people during the summer
now well on the wane.
writer included, or intended include, in the list, "dramas" which there were several,
by travelling companies,
some of them of an ex-order of merit. However, some mischievous mistake
the part of somebody or the "note" in question gave "dramas" Now, Mr. Editor, was a rather hard hit. Of
we are not all teteloliers Youghal. By no means means. We have in our most up-to-date branch a very important and laudable situation, the League of Cross, with "fine spacious in Catherine street, fitted billiard rooms, card rooms, ing room, etc.—in fact,
thing that would tend to our men to "join up." Now less, there are numbers have not yielded to the fluence, but have remaine side the fold, and who are good judges of the quality
"gloria," or a "lighthouse," "smalian," etc., etc. All the Youghal is no worse than other of our towns, and ated. Be the cause what it there is no gainsaying that whether due to the present price or otherwise. In the old days a pint was "tupp now it is quadruple that The "half" was about the same, now it is quintuple so on. Whoever made that mistake of putting "dramas"
"dramas" was guilty, of siously, perhaps, of a slight justice to the old town.

Our Trading Fleet.—From quiries made during the week, it would appear the estimate of the size of the trading fleet as given in the vious "Notes," was very below the mark. One was counted a story of his days, which while making temporary impression on hands, made a lasting imon his mind. Somewhere
"seventies"—that is about century ago—he was sailing desk in the Christian Bro-Schools. Next him sat a named Dunne, at present a minent electrical engineer, of the big American cities was the custom in those lot of the written work was on "slates," so out of place those days of high pressure favourite practice in those old times of low pressure ation was the drawing of and sea scenes, and the two were indulging their tastes in this manner when suggested to the other that should draw up a list of names of the various vessels longing to the "port" of You-
—now a "creek" of the Gork. They both tackled the and my informant says he remembers that he had down names of no less than 80 or all kinds, when along came "master," caught them red-ded in the act, and left them handed and tingling with manual castigan. There's ing like leather! At least, wasn't in those far-off days, whatever opinion we have of it now.

Sprats.—For many years
the local sprat fishery have a practical failure here, and demand for this tasty little the local demand at least—very easy to supply. When was met, it was generally a of giving up the fishing, for their hard, wet and often job of filling a seine boat the very gunwale, the poor had often to turn to again throw the whole take over-back into the sea. Some ago there was a local curi-lory situated at the Mall D but it got wound up like other well-meant local unings. While it lasted the fishermen were able to dis-their fish, a large number of and women being also emin cleaning and curing it.
Since it closed it is only a very rare occasion that but
