Cappoquin District Court

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.

Alleged Shooting of Game.

Sir John Keane, Bart., summoned Mr. Michael Kenny, Cappoquin, for the alleged shooting of game and trespass in pursuit of game in his wood at Turbeha on two occasions in August and September.

Mr. M. Moloney, solicitor, Youghal, appeared for complainant, and Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, defended.

John Hughes, gamekeeper, examined by Mr. Moloney, said that on the evening of August 22nd at about 8 o'clock (old time) he met the defendant in Turbeha woods with a shotgun and dogs and also some rabbits which he had shot. When witness spoke to him defendant said he was only going down to a field where he had permission to shoot rabbits, and passed on very quickly. Witness had previously warned him about shooting in Sir John Keane's property, and told him he would not allow any more guns to be brought through the wood. On the evening of September 3rd he also found defendant in the same wood with a gun and dogs, but he had no rabbits with him on that occasion. Witness did not speak to him at all on the second occasion.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ryan: Is there any game whatever in that wood—anything besides rabbits? Witness—Yes, I often saw pheasants there also.

Mr. Ryan—How long ago? Witness—Oh, it is some time ago.

Mr. Ryan—Two years ago perhaps? Oh, yes, and later than that.

Mr. Ryan—Was it a year ago? Witness—Yes, it would be about a year ago.

Replying to further questions, witness admitted that defendant was walking along a pathway through the wood when he first met him, but he denied that it was a "Mass-path" over which the public had a right of way. It was on a cart track he met him where the public had no right to go. Defendant was, however, coming along the "Mass-path" when he saw him on the second occasion. He had heard no shots whatever in the wood on either occasion.

Mr. Ryan submitted that on the form of the summons under which the prosecution was brought this case should fall without going into any defence.

Mr. Farrell—Do you maintain that rabbits are not game?

Mr. Ryan—Decidedly yes, and moreover we have it on the evidence of Hughes himself that he saw no game in the wood for the past year, so that Mr. Kenny cannot be convicted of shooting what was not there. Furthermore, he has admitted that he heard no shots fired in the wood on either occasion, so I respectfully submit I have no case to meet.

Mr. Moloney replied by proceeding to quote from an old Act showing that rabbits were game, when Mr. Ryan interjected: "Oh, this was an Act passed by the British Government nearly two centuries ago—in 1787—for the preservation of game for the privileged few who were then in power, and who not only claimed the right then to shoot pheasants, but also peasants (laughter)."

Mr. Ryan, continuing, said this Act referred to the case where a judicial tenancy existed and where the game was reserved by the landlord, but there were no judicial tenancies now, as the land had been vested in the Irish Land Commission.

Mr. Moloney then referred to a decision of Mr. Justice Murphy and Mr. Justice Boyd (the Lord Chief Justice dissenting) holding that rabbits were game.

Mr. Ryan—Oh, we all know that Mr. Justice Boyd was a hopeless case as a Judge (laughter).

After a long legal argument between both solicitors, the Justice said he would hear the case on the merits, and Mr. Ryan then called the defendant, who stated that he was well licensed to carry a gun and had been in the habit for some years past of shooting rabbits on the lands at Turbeha at the request of the owners of the land, as the rabbits were a nuisance there. On the evening of the 22nd August he was returning through the short cut in the wood after shooting over Noonan's and Veale's lands for rabbits when he met Hughes, who said that "he wasn't going to have any more shotguns coming down his way." Defendant said he was only making a short cut down to Declan Foley's field, where he had permission to shoot rabbits, and as he was then getting dark and he was getting out of the wood, he went on quickly and had no further conversation with Hughes. He was coming along what he believed to be the "Mass-path" at the time, and had not fired a shot in the wood. On the second occasion he was coming out from Declan Foley's field when Hughes met him, but he made no remark to him then. A man named Boland was snaring rabbits near by at the time, and Hughes must have known it, as Boland asked defendant if his dogs had interfered with any of the snares which he had set up.

Cross-examined by Mr. Moloney—He would swear that he had not fired a shot in the wood. He would not contradict Hughes when he swore that he was not on the "Mass-path" on the first occasion, but he then believed it was the public path and that he had a right to be there.

Mr. John Noonan, farmer, Turbeha, in reply to Mr. Ryan, gave evidence of the existence of a public "Mass-path" or right of way through the wood, which extended to a field. This path was regularly used by all the farmers in his townland as it was a great short cut to Cappoquin. He had seen no pheasants nor other game in Turbeha wood for over a year, but his place was infested with rabbits, and he never raised any objection to Mr. Kenny shooting rabbits on his land.

To Mr. Moloney—The cart track on which Hughes swore he had found the defendant on the first occasion was distinct from the "Mass-path," and they had never claimed a right of way over it.

Mr. Ryan said he had Mr. Declan Foley also present to prove that he had given Mr. Kenny permission to shoot rabbits on his land, but Mr. Farrell intimated that it was not necessary to hear his evidence.

Mr. Ryan then asked for a dismissal of both cases on the merits, and commented on the "Antique and antediluvian Act" under which the cases were brought.

Mr. Moloney, in reply, said if these cases were dismissed it would mean that every Tom, Dick and Harry could assert their right to carry guns through Sir John Keane's property, which would be a very dangerous precedent to set up, and on the entire evidence he submitted he was entitled to a conviction.

Mr. Farrell said he had to act on the evidence before him, and although he could draw his own inference about the matter, still he should have to consider the merits of the case in its entirety. Having reviewed the evidence very fully, he said he was satisfied that the defendant's evidence was quite consistent with the case made for the defence, and he would therefore dismiss both cases, but this decision was not to be taken as giving "carte blanche" to everyone who wished to claim the right to carry guns through Sir John Keane's property, and it should be clearly understood that anybody doing so in future would be doing so at his own risk.

Larceny of Timber.

Sir John Keane summoned a farmer named Wm. O'Donnell, Lyre, for the larceny of a tree of Glenshelane wood on July 30th.

Mr. M. Moloney, solicitor, prosecuted, and the defendant conducted his own defence.

The evidence of John Hughes, woodranger, was to the effect that on the date in question he heard the noise of the chopping of timber in the wood, and on going in that direction he found the defendant with a billhook and a freshly-cut young tree on his shoulder.

Defendant vehemently denied that he had a young tree in his possession, and said the only thing he had was a rotten piece of a stick which he broke in two with his hands in the presence of Hughes.

Mr. Farrell having asked defendant to be sworn, he agreed, and repeated this statement on oath. He further stated that he had purchased a big lot of timber out of the same wood from Mr. Bell, land steward, about a year ago, and while removing some of it for firewood from time to time he broke down portion of the fence dividing his land from the wood, and it was in order to get a piece of stick to put across the gap to keep his cattle from trespassing that he went into the wood on the date in question.

Mr. Moloney—I suggest that you deliberately cut down this tree with your billhook? Defendant—Do you? (Laughter).

The defendant had a cross-case against Sir John Keane for the trespass of 14 head of cattle on the 11th, 12th and 13th April, the cattle being delivered up to the herd, Dan Ormond, on each occasion.

Mr. Moloney said the claim for trespass was simply a counter-claim which he had never made, and which he had been served with the summons in connection with the timber.

O'Donnell—No, nor I wouldn't make any claim nor if I was treated fairly by Sir John.

Mr. Moloney then pointed out that a claim for trespass should be made within two months from the date of the offence, so that present summons was "Statute barred" and should fail.

The cases of trespass were accordingly dismissed, and in the case of larceny O'Donnell was fined 1s. and costs of court.

Mr. Moloney applied for professional costs in addition, but the Justice refused the application, remarking that it was too trivial a case in which to grant solicitor's costs.

Obstruction.

Guard Seanson had a local farmer summoned for obstructing the thoroughfare with his horse and cart on the August fair day, and a fine of 40s. was imposed.

Guards Fallon and Duffy, Villiersstown, had a case of drunkenness and a case under the Lighting of Vehicles Act, respectively, in which the usual fines were imposed.

Guard Conannon, Cappagh, had two men summoned for riding bicycles without lights on the night of September 11th, and fines of 1s. and costs and 6d. costs were imposed.

Licensing Certificates.

This being the Annual Licensing Sessions, all the local publicans' certificates were signed, Supt. Glennon stating that there was no objection on the part of the Guards.

Exemption Orders empowering publicans to open their premises at 7 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock on fair mornings were also granted to all those who had held similar orders during the past year.

THE WATERFORD FACTORY CONTRACT.

BRITISH FIRM TO BUILD.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Waterford Dressed Meat Factory, held at the Land Bank Chambers, on Monday, the tender of a London firm was accepted as being the most suitable from the point of view of price, conditions and materials to the Directors, and also in view of the fact that England will be the best customer of the factory.

The acceptance of the tender, in addition, was agreed to as most nearly in accordance with the specifications and plans drawn up by the engineers appointed by the Directors, and as most likely to suit the particular class of work.

Not alone has an English firm secured the contract of erection of the buildings, but it provides for the inclusion of Gravel pits, roofing, a local manufacturer for the covering. The material used will, as far as possible, be purchased locally, and practically all local labour (except where skilled labour is not available) will be employed.

The representative of the successful firm was in Waterford some time ago, and the tender was submitted from a study of local conditions, prices, etc.

The engineering portion is also entrusted to a British firm. The well-known National Gas Engine Company, Ashton-under-Lyne, will supply the suction gas installation. The steam plant will be supplied by Messrs. The Robey Company of Lincoln, the boilers by Messrs. Gainsborough.

The only part of the equipment which will go outside Britain will be the refrigerating and killing plants, and although the tenders for these two installations have not yet been given, it is probable they will be placed in Denmark.

The foundation stone, it is hoped, will be down within the next fortnight or three weeks at the outside, and the Directors anticipate any further delay in the commencement of the work on the contractor is notified of the acceptance of his tender. The erection work will take from six to eight months.

The factory will be the best equipped of its size in the Free State. It is proposed at first to deal with pigs and cattle, finished good enough to meet London's highest trade. No second grade cattle will be dealt with. The Directors hope with the promise of the Department of Agriculture to educate the Irish farmer to provide two-year heasts finished to the requirements of London's highest class trade.

In the pig, sheep and lamb department, farmers will be encouraged to breed animals in sufficient numbers to meet the requirements of the factory; and as the whole basis is co-operative, it is presumed they will see the advantage in that light.

The Irish Co-operative Meat Co., Ltd., consists of 6,000 farmer shareholders distributed over seven counties in Ireland. Sir John Keane, Bart., is chairman, and one can readily see that such a claim should be maintained. In addition, 68 of the best creameries in the South of Ireland are shareholders, and for the cold storage their support alone is very considerable. Everything possible has been done to secure that the materials, labour, etc., obtainable locally, or in Ireland shall be used. This was one of the factors which led the directors to accept the London firm. They regret no Irish firm tendered, and it is reasonable to distance of the price, but they feel that they have done the next best thing in insuring that as much of the contract money as can reasonably be expected will be spent at home.

YOUGHAL NOTES.

New Ferry Boat.—There is a present a new ferry boat rapidly approaching completion, lying on the Mall Strand, having been recently launched by Messrs. Aherne Brothers, boat builders, etc., from their yard at Strand street, Mall. Let our readers run away with the idea that she is intended to oust and replace the antiquated, centuries-out-of-date old craft that ply between East Cork and West Waterford. Not a bit of it. The powers that be are so enamoured with this old-fashioned link with the past that they cannot bring themselves to do anything practical in the way of painting with these relics of old decency handed down by our ancient forefathers. There is no gaining by the fact that money is scarce and that the overburthened ratepayers are hard pushed enough to find the wherewithal to meet the demands calling on them without increasing them and perhaps adding some argument could have been put forward when they provided the funds to lay out the new Tennis Court in the Green Park, which it is confidently expected will go a long way on the road to paying for themselves in the coming year. Why should not something similar be done in regard to the Ferry? The present method of conveyance is nothing short of a municipal disgrace in these days of great development in motor traffic by land and sea. And many persons capable of forming a sound opinion on the matter believe that if there were an up-to-date ferry service installed, the increase in traffic during the summer months would very soon pay off both principal and interest. Now is the time to make a preliminary move and not wait till March or April. Coming back to the new ferry, it has been built to the order of the Waterford County Council for the ferry across the Blackwater at Villiersstown. It would seem that the small County of Waterford can give a headline in many things to the big County of Cork—for example, the roads.

Evening Technical Classes.

The local evening Technical Classes will start the work of the coming session this week. Until the new Technical School at present in course of erection in Church street is completed, the woodwork classes will be held in the League of Cross Hall under Mr. E. A. Ryall, the newly-appointed Principal. The other classes, under Mr. J. J. Higgins, will be held in the Parochial Hall. Probably when the new building is transferred there, it is said that other classes are in contemplation for the near future. It is sincerely to be hoped in the interest of the youth of the place, the whole community, and of the nation at large, that our boys' club and girls' club will register their names in larger numbers, that they will do so at once, and that having made a start, they will attend punctually and regularly in the full course, thereby availing of the advantages held out to them by these admirable classes.

Entertainments.—There was no shortage of amusements locally during the summer months, and now that practically all the "Olishers" (Dungarvan, "Gaybricks") are gone back to their homes, there is still a fair supply of a number of various kinds. For instance, during the past week we had one of the best, if not the very best, pictures ever shown in Youghal, running three nights before crowded houses in Messrs. Hogan's Picture Theatre, Friar street, viz., "The 10 Commandments." Everyone who had the pleasure of seeing it were loud in their praises of its wonderful scenes and acting. And, what cannot be said of many pictures, it preached a most eloquent sermon in a very striking manner—the text of which was summed up on the words: "If you break the Ten Commandments the Ten Commandments will break you." If all, or even a decent majority, of the "Movies" were anything like the "Ten Commandments," there could not be nearly so many well-founded objections to them as there are. Although the picture was very long—some 12 parts—it was followed with a deep interest shown by an almost unbroken eloquent silence from beginning to end. Quite a number of other interesting pictures were shown both in Messrs. Hogan's and Messrs. Hurst's Theatres. To top the climax, a very good Opera Co., the West Wood Bowyer, staged a number of the old favourites in the Town Hall during the week. Local music lovers were afforded an opportunity of renewing their acquaintance with "Il Trovatore," "Maritana," "Carmen," etc., etc. The company's efforts were awarded a fair amount of patronage. The puzzle is how, in times like the present, there is always such good support for all the forms of amusement and recreation that come along the way.

It goes far to confirm the assertion recently made by an eminent principal industries at present are "amusements and recreations of all kinds."

Mr. R. J. Flavin.—The many friends of Mr. R. J. Flavin, the efficient and deservedly popular clerk of the late Youghal Board of Guards and of the Nos. 1 and 2 Rural District Councils were highly delighted to learn of his appointment as Assistant Secretary of the South County Board of Health. Not a shadow of doubt about it, but he is the "right man in the right place."

During his long time of successful service of the first-named public bodies, Mr. Flavin acquired a wide and practical knowledge of public administration, which will undoubtedly prove a great utility in his new and extended sphere of duties. In the world of sport, Gaelic and otherwise, he was always to be fore. Indeed, it may be said, without the slightest tint of exaggeration, that "Dick Flavin" by his disinterested zeal and untimely energy, kept our national pastimes "alive and kicking" in our midst at a period when, without his help, they would have died of inanition. Not alone did he devote his abilities as an organiser to the good work, but he was ever ready to "take a hand" or "kick a leg" in a game. In every-day life his unassuming and genial personality made friends of everybody he came into contact with—it is not in him to make an enemy. Confident that we were the feelings of the whole community, we wish him "fad saoghal agus laethanta geala" in his new sphere.

Sunday.—The G.S.R. dropped a nice bit of money—hundreds of pounds—not running a train last Sunday. The weather was simply perfect with "parting summer's lingering bloom" over the sea-side. Again there was an interesting county championship semi-final fight for Midleton between Youghal and Nils (Cork). So that the train from Cork to Youghal could have taken a big crowd to the venue and back again, winding up by a return journey with the trippers to the beach. But they didn't, and the result was that more and more words do the roaring trade. As regards the match, it was a case of "so near and yet so far." The home team were beaten by a margin of only one point by the city men.

Kilmachthomas News

G.A.A.—At Bonmahon on Sunday last a fairly large gathering of spectators were treated to an appreciably interesting bit of fare in the shape of two lively, well-fought football contests. The weather was ideal and the venue in excellent trim. The principal match was between Bonmahon 1st Team and Tramore. The homesters set a rattling pace from the outset, and within a minute of the throw-in had opened the scoring with a brilliantly rushed goal. Tramore backs bore the brunt of the play during the first moiety. The visitors were slow in settling down, but improved as the game progressed. Bonmahon added a further goal and a point to their credit prior to the turn-over. Tramore struggled desperately in the closing period, but their forwards were outclassed time and again. At full-time the scoring stood: Bonmahon, 3 goals 3 points; Tramore, 1 goal, 1 point. In the second contest between Bonmahon 2nd Team and Ballylone, the latter emerged victorious by the narrow margin of 1 point. Mr. Thomas McCarthy, Friar street, was the most impartial referee.

The October Devotions at the Convent Church, Kilmachthomas, are being exceedingly well attended by the faithful of the town and district. It is really too bad that the public lamps are not to be lighted in our midst this season, and already the people are feeling the need of some out of doors after sunset. On old men, women and children going to and coming from devotions the darkness inflicts greatest hardship.

A Whist Drive under the auspices of the Temperance Hall Committee, will be brought off here on the night of the first Sunday of next month. The proceeds will be devoted to clearing off a debt on Carrabaha National School. The event is being eagerly looked forward to locally.

DEATH OF MRS. POWER, GLENSTOWN.

On Friday week the death occurred of Mrs. K. Power, wife of Mr. David Power, Glenstown. She was the great grief of all who had the pleasure of knowing her. Deceased, who had only reached the comparatively early age of 63, belonged to a well-known, widely-connected East Waterford family, and was deservedly held in the highest esteem by all whose pleasure it was to have known her. She was a devout Catholic, a model Irish mother, and a warm, generous-hearted friend and neighbour. Of such as she is surely the Kingdom of Heaven, and one cannot doubt that her pure soul is already in the company of her favourite saints in the realm of the blessed. Accompanied by a remarkably large and representative cortege, she remains not seen for years, the remains of the late Mrs. Power were removed from Glenstown to the Parish Church at Clones on Saturday. How highly-respected she was by those who knew her was typified by the many open manifestations of regret witnessed in the cortege. After late Mass on Sunday the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. Fr. Hackett, C.C., Clones, recited the last prayers at the graveside. A number of beautiful wreaths were placed on the grave.

Youghal District Court

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

Licensing Business.

This was the annual licensing day. There being no objection on the part of the Civic Guards, the usual renewal of the licensing certificates of Ardmore, Castleknock and Youghal, were granted.

Messrs. M. Moloney and J. L. Keane, solrs., applied for a renewal of the Exemption Order on behalf of a number of Killageh publicans.

There being no objection, all the applications were granted.

Mr. S. E. Williams, solr., Dunarvan, applied for a confirmation of the ad interim transfer of the license held by his deceased mother, to Mr. Wm. Walsh, Knockree, the ad interim having been granted at the Ardmore District Court last May.

The application was granted. Mr. J. L. Keane made a similar application on behalf of Mrs. Murphy, Grattan street, and the application was granted.

Mr. Moloney made a like application for Mrs. Bridget Carey, Brown street. Granted.

Mr. Keane applied for a whole sale beer dealer's license on behalf of Mr. P. Woods, Killeagh. Mr. Woods, applicant, deposited he had a license already. At certain times—harvest, etc.—he was called on to supply more than he was entitled by law. That was his reason for applying for the extra license.

The application was adjourned to next court day by the court.

Civil Bills.

The court then took up the hearing of civil bills. During the hearing of some cases by default, the Justice said he made no secret of the fact that he intended to be very strict in regard to those cases. They must be absolutely correct.

Milk Cases.

Guard Charles charged Thomas Fitzgerald with selling drink deficient in fat 18 per cent.

Mr. J. L. Keane defended. Complainant gave evidence and produced analyst's certificate. Cross-examined by Mr. Keane. Defendant had two churns? Yes. Did he tell you all his own milk had been sold? Yes. And that this sample was belonging to Mrs. Slattery? Yes.

Mr. Keane said his defence was that the milk was genuine and as it came from the cow.

Mr. Fitzgerald deposed he had a dairy farm at Dysert. On the day in question he had not sufficient milk for his customers and he got 6 gallons from Mrs. Slattery, Summerfield. When the Guard came up he had all his own sold and there was only 5 or 6 pints left of Mrs. Slattery's. The milk was not interfered with in any way.

Witness was cross-examined by Guard Charles.

Justice—Do you sell in small quantities? Yes. I had the milk about two hours when the Guard came along. Can you account for this deficiency in any way? I could not, but the day before was one of the wettest in August.

Mr. Keane quoted a Press extract regarding the heavy rainfall on August 10th.

Justice—Very direct action (laughter).

Mrs. Slattery and her daughter deposed that they had milked the cows on that morning and the milk was not tampered with in any way.

Replying to the Justice, they said they could not account for the deficiency except it was caused by the wet weather.

The Justice said he had no reason to disbelieve the evidence for defendant. He didn't think that the milk had been tampered with, but there was no real attempt to explain the deficiency.

The case was dismissed.

Guard Charles charged Martin Hyde, Ballyhubbard, with selling milk deficient in fat 13 per cent.

Mr. J. L. Keane defended. The defendant and his sisters gave evidence to the effect that the milk had been in no way tampered with.

The Justice said the milk was deficient in 2 respects—milk solids and milk fat. Could Miss Hyde give any explanation? No, except the weather or because she had not drained the cow out. She took 1 1/2 gallons to send to town and a quart afterwards. Do you always do that? Not now.

Replying to the court, the defendant said the weather was wet and the cows had been shifted in to a new meadow, which caused them to give extra milk and therefore it might not be as strong as it should be.

The Justice said the evidence had not broken down in any way and he therefore dismissed the case, but he did so with reluctance.

Larceny of Jewellery, Etc.

A young girl, Maria Donovan, Ballyglanna, Clonakilly, was brought up in custody charged by Sergt. O'Sullivan, Youghal, with the larceny of a number of articles of jewellery, etc., to the value of £60, the property of her late employer, Mrs. Evelyn G. Murphy, Harewood, Upper Strand, Youghal.

Sergt. O'Sullivan deposed he arrested the girl on the 24th inst. at Ballyglanna, Clonakilly, in her father's house. He told her who he was and she said she knew him (Sergt. Sullivan). She said she had nothing belonging to Mrs. Murphy. He then read the search warrant to her. As he read the warrant in detail she replied to each article: haven't got that. Until the final article, a small tin trunk (produced) she said: "Mrs. Murphy lent me that. I was going to send it back."

He asked her to save searching the house and she repeated: "I have nothing at all belonging to Mrs. Murphy." He then searched the house and in her trunk in the bedroom—only one bedroom in the house—he found a lady's handbag (produced). He asked her to account for it and she said Mrs. Murphy gave it to her. Inside the bag amongst sundry articles he found a diamond set in gold arrow-shaped brooch with single pearl in middle of gold bar 2 to 3 inches long (produced). She said: "Mrs. Murphy gave me that."

In the same bag he found a pendant (produced). It had an oval stone set in gold, open at the back, oval shape with small green stones around it, about one inch long. She said: "Mrs. Murphy knew I had it."

In another part of the trunk he found six ladies' linen handkerchiefs (produced) marked with letter "M." She said: "I always had them."

He then arrested her and brought her to the barracks at Clonakilly where he charged her with having stolen the various articles from her late employer and cautioned her. She said: "I haven't. The only thing I have got belonging to Mrs. Murphy is there—the handbag and the pendant and brooch and the six handkerchiefs."

He further charged her with receiving the goods and she said, "No, sir, I haven't." He was still pursuing inquiries and asked for a remand for 8 days.

Accused did not ask any questions.

She was remanded in custody to next court.

Ballyquirk Cases.

Mrs. Nora Kelly, Ballyquirk, and her son William were charged on remand with the larceny of a quantity of stuff from the Airship Station at Ballyquirk to the value of £75.

Mr. D. Casey, Free State Solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. C. T. F. Russell, solicitor, Cork, defended.

Mr. Russell said Mrs. Kelly was very old—80 years—and too ill to attend court. He produced a certificate from Dr. O'Brien, Killeagh.

Mr. Casey said his authorities had decided that the case should go on that day. However, Mr. Russell had made a certain suggestion which he would submit to headquarters.

Mr. Russell said that Mrs. Kelly was scarcely a technical defendant. She knew nothing about the proceedings. There would not have been so much difficulty had the State acted reasonably at the start and asked for a return of the goods.

Justice—Sufficient for the day, Mr. Russell (laughter).

Mr. Russell—That may be so, sir.

The cases were adjourned for a week.

A similar case against Mrs. Ellen Cronin, Dungourc, (Mr. W. J. Barry, solr., for the defence) was also adjourned.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

Maria O'Donovan, Ballyglanna, near Clonakilly, was charged on remand with having between 12th June, 1925, and 19th September, 1925, at Knockaverry, Youghal, unlawfully stolen various articles of clothing and bed linen and several other articles of different kinds, all the property of Mrs. E. C. Murphy from her premises at Hareville, Upper Strand, and further that the said defendant received the said property well knowing same to have been stolen and obtained under circumstances which amounted to a felony, the property is valued at £217 0s. 8d.

Mr. M. Moloney, solr., Youghal (for Mr. J. L. Keane) defended.

Sergt. Sullivan deposed he had made a previous deposition in this case. In pursuance of his inquiries into the case, which were still proceeding, he obtained a further search warrant and proceeded to the house in which the accused resided at Ballyglanna and made a search. He there found all the articles mentioned in the following list—Diamond, set in gold arrow-shaped brooch, with single pearl in middle of gold bar, about 2 to 3 inches long; pendant, oval stone, set (open at back) in gold, oval shape with small green

LATE REV. J. CASEY, C.C., BALLYMACODA.

The historic churchyard at Ballymacoda—where rest the remains of the martyr patriot of '98, Father Peter O'Neill, P.P., and of his nephew, Peter O'Neill Crowley—was the scene of a solemn and impressive ceremony on Wednesday, when a beautiful memorial cross to another patriot of a later day, the Rev. J. Casey, C.C., was unveiled. A genuine Irish sarsaparilla, Father Casey laboured zealously for some seven years in this interesting corner of the Gaeltacht till called to his reward in the prime of life. He was a true and thorough Irishman in every best sense of the term, doubling the joys and halving the sorrows of his beloved people, young and old, on every possible occasion. An ardent and consistent patriot, he took an active part in the various national movements, language and otherwise, and the esteem and affection in which he was held was deeply evidenced by the large attendance at Wednesday's function to his memory. The monument consists of a beautiful Celtic Cross, executed by the well-known Cork artist, S. O'Connell. The front panel bears the following eloquent inscription—"Pobal Baile Ma Mhacoda agus Droichead na sqaib do choinn an crois so leis an Aghair, Eoin O'Callaghan, S.C., do purgadh i mbaile nuad sa xarail la nodag, 1899, d'ear i mbaile Mhacoda domnach Cirgise, 1924, dilis do Dhia agus da thir duthchas taca a cu phobal le linn a ngnair feal fhuathneach bail le hochaidh do chonsta ceann sa le each. Bi gnath agus gan ag og agus aosta dho. Go dtuairth Dhia suaimhneas siorraidhe d'a Anah. Amen."

On the side panels were the following: "The people of Ballymacoda and Lady'sbridge have erected this cross in loving memory of the Rev. John Casey, C.C., who died on Whit-Sunday, 1925, in the 54th year of his age and 29th of his sacred ministry. R.I.P. Blessed are they who die in the Lord. A zealous and devoted priest and a tower of strength to his people, kind and generous to God's poor, gentle and charitable to all. Beloved in life, lamented in death. May he rest in peace. Amen."

At 11 o'clock Office for the Dead was recited in the Parish Church, followed by Solemn Requiem Mass, the spacious building being crowded in all parts. The Rev. Wm. Lillis, P.P., presided. The Rev. P. Casey, C.C., Mallow (brother of the deceased priest) was celebrant; Rev. D. O'Connell, C.C., Mitchelstown, deacon; Rev. M. Rea, C.C., Mallow, sub-deacon, and Rev. Wm. Walsh, C.C., Middleton, master of ceremonies. The chanters were: Rev. D. Scannell, C.C., Youghal, and Rev. M. Corbett, C.C., Lady'sbridge. Amongst the priests in the choir were—Very Rev. Canon O'Donoghue, P.P., Youghal; Rev. J. Pouty, P.P., Coma; Very Rev. P. Tobin, C.C., Colman's College, Fermoy; Rev. M. Coughlan, C.C., Conna; Rev. J. Casey, C.C., Ballyindangan; Rev. D. Duane, C.C., Mourne Abbey; Rev. M. Corbett, C.C., Lady'sbridge; Rev. J. Thornhill, C.C., St. Colman's College; Rev. J. O'Brien, do.; Rev. D. Scannell, C.C., Youghal; Rev. D. Dinneen, C.C., Youghal; Rev. P. Casey, C.C.; Rev. D. O'Connell, C.C.; Rev. M. Rea, C.C.; Rev. W. Walsh, C.C.

At the conclusion of the Mass the clergy left the church followed by the congregation and proceeded to the front where the monument had been erected. Here the blessing and absolution were pronounced at the graveside by the celebrant and the Benedictus sung by the assembled clergy, the people devoutly kneeling and joining in the last prayers.

Long after the solemn function had concluded groups of the deceased's beloved and loving parishioners continue their visits to the graveside, where they kneel and pray for his "suaimhneas siorraidhe."

WATERFORD CO. INFIRMARY.

SERIOUS FINANCIAL CRUX.

A serious financial crux has occurred in the affairs of the Waterford County and City Infirmary, as disclosed in the Master's report to be submitted at the annual meeting on Tuesday next.

The following is the extract from the report referred to: "The financial position of the infirmary is causing the gravest anxiety to the committee. Up to the outbreak of the war the ordinary income of the hospital just sufficed to meet current expenditure. But since then the increased cost of maintenance steadily exceeded the ordinary income. Up to this the hospital has been enabled to carry on the work by a generous response by the public to special appeals, but the committee feel that this course cannot be continued. The expenses of the year exceeded the receipts by £254, and the debt due to the bank has now reached £1,412. The receipts from paying Senatorial Thanks.—Mr. Michl. Curran, late Irish Guards, writes—I am asked by Senator Major-General Sir W. B. Hickie, K.C.B., to thank all in Dungarvan and district who voted for him at the recent Senate Election. The gallant General promises to do all he possibly can in return. He also wishes to thank all Imperial servicemen who stood so faithful to him, and as he carried his own dear 16th Irish Division to victory, so also will he carry their cause.

Another Dungarvan Blaze.—On Tuesday evening an exciting incident occurred outside the Town Hall where the fire engine and appliances are kept when the tank machinery used for tarring the streets went on fire. The tank in the tank blazed up and the boiling tar in full blaze ran down the channel to Mr. Keohan's corner with terrible risk of setting on fire the Town Hall and the Methodist Church adjoining. As the tar boiled over the flames increased and burned the point of the doors, while there was blinding smoke on all sides. The fire engine under the Town Hall could not be approached with the flames. When things were looking very blue Messrs. Hadden's assistants came to the rescue with several fire extinguishers, and they put out the fire at once. Terrible excitement prevailed at the time. One woman fainted, one of the Urban Council workmen named James Davis was severely burned and attended by Dr. Moloney, and later removed to hospital; a horse under a load of gravel near the scene was scorched in the limbs. But for the timely arrival of the extinguishers, Heaven knows where the fire would stop.

What a Change.—In 1914 Brian Boru threw the Danes into the sea at Clontarf. In 1925 the Danes regally entertained the Irish farmers who went over to see how they were getting on.

Fire at Ballyneely.—Last Thursday night the dwelling-house and furniture of Mr. L. Dalton, Ballyneely, were completely destroyed by fire.

Action Necessary.—In view of the number of recent fires in the town and the helplessness of the fire appliances, hose, etc., on every occasion when required, it would be time for the Urban Council to take strong action and devise some definite steps for the formation of a Fire Brigade that could deal effectively with quelling fire at any time. The citizens at present have no protection in that way.

Resigned.—Mr. Wm. O'Brien, Income Tax Collector, Lismore, has resigned his position after 42 years' service. He was a capable official and very popular with all.

A PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION Under the Auspices of Cumann Na nGaedheal. Will be held in DUNGARVAN ON SUNDAY, OCTOBER 18th, 1925.

Death of the P.P.,
Passing of a G.

It is with feelings of regret we announce the death of the Right Rev. Monsignor Power, P.P., V.G., who occurred at the Parish of Dungarvan, on Thursday, the 9th inst., at his 79th year. Saturday last he had been seized with an illness which was constant attendance, since, as also his health, but his hour had come, gradually he passed peacefully day morning to the great beyond. He was a devoted parishioner and his friends in Church and Right Rev. Monsignor Power was born in the Parish of Dungarvan, in 1846, educated locally at first, then at the University of Maynooth, where after much brilliancy as a student he passed on to St. John's Waterford. After a year there he went to the University of Paris, to pursue his theological studies, and he obtained a priest's tonsure in his ordination he returned to his native diocese on which to shed such lustre in to come, and was appointed curate in Rathgormack many years there he transferred to Cappoquin, where he ministered at Caher, and Grangeoekler. He was appointed Parish of Dungarvan in 1880, and in 1882 on the death of the late Monsignor Power he was transferred to Suir as P.P., but his standing ability that was destined for his ward. In every parish he laboured he left behind him a record of priestly service which was unequalled. He was a man of splendid athletic and well built, and he was a great favourite wherever he went. He was a man of high moral and spiritual attainments, and he was a man of high moral and spiritual attainments, and he was a man of high moral and spiritual attainments.
