Cappoquin Rowing Club

SUCCESSFUL SCRATCH RACES.

The scratch races held under the auspices of the above club on last Monday evening proved eminently successful from every point of view and provided one of the most enjoyable evenings sports witnessed in Cappoquin for a long time. It will be remembered that this event had been originally fixed for Monday fortnight, but owing to a sudden and torrential down-pour of rain a postponement was rendered inevitable when only two heats in the outrigger races had been decided. This was held back on the promoters, who had gone to considerable trouble and expense in organising the fixture, but we are glad to say that the races were eventually held on the evening of Monday last, and were successful beyond all expectations. For a local event the programme was most varied and attractive, comprising races for four and eight-oared outriggers, salmon yaws, fishing cuts, etc., while an especially interesting item was the swimming race, the whole programme being wound up with the ever-popular greasy pole, at the end of which a large pig's head was the tempting bait, which attracted four of the best known local swimmers and divers, the prize being eventually won by Mr. Simon Driscoll and much applause for his clever and intrepid performance.

It must be said that all the arrangements were very efficiently carried out by the various members of the committee, but particular mention must be made of the energetic services rendered by Messrs. M. J. Sargent and B. J. Colander, vice-presidents, as well as by Messrs. Wm. McCarthy, treasurer, and John A. Walsh, sec., on whose shoulders the lion's share of the work fell during the evening. Master "Bobby" Keane, son of the late Col. R. H. Keane, who was for so many years the popular and efficient captain of the club, and whose son is now the hon. president, was present during the evening accompanied by his sister, Miss Freda Keane, Fervilliam House, and the great interest which both took in the proceedings from start to finish gives every indication that they have both fully inherited all the sporting propensities of their worthy and esteemed father, whose memory will be forever revered and cherished by all classes of the public in Cappoquin and district, but more particularly by the members of the Rowing Club, which he adorned by his able and distinguished captaincy for so many years. Mr. Ion Villiers-Stuart, the present captain of the club, and his charming and amiable sister, Miss N. Villiers-Stuart, were also present during the evening, and the presence of all these representatives of honoured and sporting families in the district proves that they have not yet lost interest in the old-established Rowing Club with which their respective families have been so prominently identified for so many years past.

Master Keane, assisted by Mr. R. J. Colander, acted as Judge during the evening and gave every satisfaction by his prompt and impartial decisions in all cases. He took part in one of the eight-oared outrigger races, in which he rowed "low," and although he had never previously sat in a racing boat with a local crew, he displayed such a finished and polished style of oarsmanship as gives promise of his developing into a first-class oarsman with more mature years, and he received quite an enthusiastic ovation when his crew won against the more seasoned eight opposed to him. Two English young gentlemen, who were with him during the evening, the Messrs. Hunt, Humphrey, also took part in some of the events, one of them cleverly winning the swimming race from a local champion, Mr. P. J. Flavin, while his brother rowed No. 2 in the eight-oared crew which was defeated by Master Keane's crew.

All the boat races were rowed from "O'Connell's Boatshouse" down to the Rowing Club premises, so that the beautiful stone bridge spanning the Blackwater proved a splendid "grand stand" for most of the spectators, while a fine promenade was provided along the terrace at the end of Mr. T. Daly's garden for a large number, and the enjoyment of all was greatly enhanced by the presence of the Cappoquin Brass and Band, which discoursed a choice programme of music during the evening. DEATH OF THE VERY REV. P. BURKE, P.P., KILGUBINET.

We regret to announce the death of Very Rev. Patrick Burke, P.P., Kilgubinet, which occurred rather suddenly at Limerick on Tuesday night. Father Burke had been for the past few weeks on holidays at Lisdoonvara, and on Tuesday was returning home. He put up overnight in a Limerick hotel, and prior to retiring to bed he went to his room to read his breviary. While so engaged he was taken suddenly ill and was attended by Dr. Roberts, but he passed away in a short time, heart failure being the cause of death. The unexpected news of his death created a painful sensation among his parishioners and at the same time, and henceforth, the prayers offered for the repose of his soul.

Born at Ballinacorney, Grange, Clonmel, over 60 years ago, the late Fr. Burke was sprung from a highly-respected stock, and evincing a vocation for the Church, he went in due time to St. John's College, Waterford, where he was ordained priest 35 years ago. His first mission was in Liverpool, where after a number of years' strenuous work he was recalled home and appointed to the curacy of Powerstown and Liscroagh. There he spent 16 years after which he was transferred to Clonca and Rathgoran, from which he was promoted five years ago to the pastoral charge of Kilgubinet.

Standing over 6 feet 3 inches, Father Burke was of commanding appearance. In every parish in which he laboured he was beloved by his people, and his whole life was devoted to their spiritual and temporal welfare. His early and unrepented desire in the prime of life is deeply regretted by the clergy of the diocese and by his parishioners in Kilgubinet, who loved him. R.I.P.

On Wednesday evening the remains were removed from Limerick to the Parish Church, Powerstown, where there will be Requiem Office and High Mass for the repose of his soul this (Friday) morning at 11.30 a.m. The interment will take place subsequently.

Dungarvan District Court

Before Mr. Connor, Acting Justice.
Dr. Casey was summoned for having no red light on the rear of his motor. Defendant told the Court that the axle had been stolen. Fined 2/6.

FIRST OFFENDERS ACT.
Three young boys named Wall, Roche and Wright were charged by the State with the larceny of some sheaves of corn. Mr. W. J. Skinner, solicitor, for the defendant said that was the first time they were up in any court. The owners of the corn were not anxious to prosecute them, but at the same time the Garda was only protecting the people's property. He asked the Court to treat them as lightly as possible by having the defendants let off under the First Offenders Act. This was done.

POSSESSION OF A HOUSE.
Mr. Nugent Humble summoned M. Power, Ballinacorney, for possession of a house, his property.
Mr. Carroll, solicitor, for Mr. Humble, said Power was employed by his client, but as the lands had been sold to the Irish Land Commission he wanted to remove the man from one farm to another. As Mr. Ryan, solicitor, was giving the defendant a house he understood Mr. Humble could have possession of his house in a fortnight. The case was adjourned.

A DUNGARVAN ROW.
In every parish in which he laboured he was beloved by his people, and his whole life was devoted to their spiritual and temporal welfare. His early and unrepented desire in the prime of life is deeply regretted by the clergy of the diocese and by his parishioners in Kilgubinet, who loved him. R.I.P.

On Wednesday evening the remains were removed from Limerick to the Parish Church, Powerstown, where there will be Requiem Office and High Mass for the repose of his soul this (Friday) morning at 11.30 a.m. The interment will take place subsequently.

IN MEMORIAM.
Miss May Cummins, Ballyhanna, Died August 26, 1926, Aged 19 Years.
Under the daisies we laid her to rest,
Under the weeping daisies;
Crossed are her hands on her gentle breast,
Under the weeping daisies.

In Newtown Churchyard she peacefully lies,
Under the white-capped daisies,
And closely veiled are her mild blue eyes,
Under the weeping daisies.
Smooth are her tresses of golden hair,
Under the whispering daisies;
On her cold white brow loving hands laid
Under the weeping daisies.

Whiter her soul than virgin snow,
Under the white-capped daisies,
Her life a model for high and low,
Under the weeping daisies.
Sainly and fair, so bright and good,
Like the modest April daisy,
For a calous and cold world's daily food,
She sleeps beneath the daisies!

The Saviour called her to Heavenly rest,
The door lies under the daisies,
To the grief of all—but God knows best,
She sleeps beneath the daisies!
A friend in life—a mourner in death,
Of the dear child "beast" the daisies,
On her new-made grave I place this wreath,
Beside the weeping daisies.

M. P. SHEEHAN, P.C.
August 10th, 1926.

How Many?—The total population of the Free State according to the Census taken last April is only 2,972,802. If you were to deduct from that total all the old age pensioners and people over 70 generally, as also children under 14 years, soldiers, Civic Guards, pensioners, Government and Civil officials, teachers and unemployed, etc., it would be interesting to find how many people are working. It seems strange in spite of all the Land Acts and movements to put the people on the land, that the rural population was never so low. That is serious, for as Goldsmith said:
"A bold peasantry their country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

Despite the fact of Duffy's Circus proving a stronger counter-attraction, the prize-winners in the Ladies' Class being Miss M. Lincoln, 14, and Miss M. Kerfoot, 2nd, while in the Gentlemen's Class 1st and 2nd prizes were won by Messrs. John Regan and M. J. Sargent, respectively.

Dungarvan Urban Council

A meeting of the above was held on Friday last. Mr. M. Brennock, chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. W. O'Donnell, T. Power, M. Keane, J. Butler, T. D. McCarthy, M. Clancy, M. Griffin, R. Craig, P. McGrath, J. Moore, J. Curran, J. Hackett.

OBSTRUCTION.
Mr. Clancy—There are three obstructions on the Square—the pump, weigh-house and a pole. I agree with the suggestion to put up a small structure at a small cost instead of the weigh-house.
Chairman—I regard the removal of the pump as a pity, and I believe that the townpeople would object to it. The pump is a fine old building.

MR. BUTLER.—The Borough Surveyor estimates that a new concrete structure for Mr. Keane proposed, and Mr. Clancy seconded, that a new concrete structure be built instead of the old weigh-house, the cost not to exceed £50.

MR. KEANE proposed, and Mr. Clancy seconded, that a new concrete structure be built instead of the old weigh-house, the cost not to exceed £50.

TOWN HALL.
Tenders were received for the painting and lining up of the Town Hall. Messrs. Comans and McGrath tendered for £71, and Mr. Wm. Burke tendered for £55. After a discussion Burke's tender was accepted.

HAWKERS.
Mr. Walsh, S.E.O., reported that he had prosecuted two hawkers for selling goods on the Square on the fair day.
Mr. Walsh was granted 14 days' leave of absence.

COUNTY ROADS.
Mr. Butler stated that he inquired as to who were responsible for the upkeep of the Square. It is the County Council's work.
Mr. Hackett—Before the meeting I met a man in O'Connell street who had to clean the mud from the channel opposite his premises. He asked me whether the Urban Council should do that work. I was not in a position to state whose work it was.

FAST DRIVE.
Guard Sweeney summoned Mr. W. J. Christopher, Dungarvan, for dangerous driving at Abbeyside on the 3rd August. Mr. F. Murphy, solicitor, defended.
Guard Sweeney said on the 3rd August at Abbeyside he found the defendant driving a motor car in a dangerous manner. He was driving so fast that witness could hardly get the number of the car. He was going so quick he could not stop him, but when returning he met him. Two men coming behind drew the attention of witness to the fact that the car was being driven at a dangerous speed. Defendant was coming from Clones at the time.
Mr. Murphy—He was driving the car rather recklessly and he could not favor a proper control over it. He would estimate the speed at 35 to 40 miles an hour. The car did not slow down when approaching the cross at Abbeyside. Witness could not contradict the defendant if he swore the car was doing only 32 miles an hour.
Mr. Christopher said on the occasion he had some nuts from Carrigera in the car. According to the specifications he was going at 32 miles an hour. He did not know what the speed was. The car did not slow down when approaching the cross at Abbeyside. Witness could not contradict the defendant if he swore the car was doing only 32 miles an hour.
Mr. Connor—Just I must convict. The map produced shows this as a corner where particular caution should be used. That caution was not used and I impose a fine of 10s.

OVERLOOKED LORRY.
When the adjourned case of Sergeant Kelleher against A. Moloney and Sons, Ltd., in respect of the overlooking of a lorry was called.
Mr. Carroll, solicitor, for the defence, said he had gone into the case carefully and had discussed the matter with Mr. Moloney and his assistants and he admitted there was an excessive load put on the lorry on the occasion. The load was put on through an oversight. There was not the proper supervision on the occasion there should be. It took him (Mr. Carroll) two hours to find out what was the proper load.
Mr. Ryan (for the State)—It only took me two minutes.
Mr. Carroll—Mr. Ryan knows Irish and I don't. This is the first case I have come across where the Irish is interwoven with the English and the Irish got to stand up on technicalities where there had been a technical offence committed. He would enter a plea of guilty on behalf of the defendants and ask his Worship as that was the first case of the kind brought to their knowledge to treat it under the First Offenders Act. Messrs. A. Moloney and Sons were traders of repute and gave large employment. No one will contest that you are dealing with a high-class firm and

THE CENSUS.

DECREASES IN EVERY COUNTY.

RURAL POPULATION DECLINES.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN IN IRELAND.

The preliminary report of the Census of 1926, which reveals the depressing fact that the population has shrunk from 3,130,688 in 1911 to 2,972,802 in the present year—a decrease of 157,886, or 5.04 per cent. In all Ireland the population has dropped from 4,800,219 to 4,329,124, or a 3.7 per cent. decrease.

The decline is most marked in the rural areas, but even in the towns and cities there is a decrease in population. In some urban areas, the latter, as a whole, show a slight increase on 1911. Every county in the South, except Dublin, shows a decrease in population. The rural population is little more than one-third of what it was in 1841.

The steady growth of Dublin City continues unchecked, and the population shows an increase of over 21,000, the figures now, inclusive of four suburban townships, being 419,186.

A striking feature of the returns is that men now outnumber women both in the country and in the towns. In Dublin, however, there are 27,000 more women than men. The heavy drain of emigration is held largely responsible for the decline in the female population.

As regards the town populations, the most significant feature is that in general the smaller the town the worse it fared. All the county boroughs, except Waterford, show increases, but many towns with a population of under 10,000 show remarkable falls. Dundonagh, with a slump of 36 per cent., heading the list.

WATERFORD COUNTY.
In 1911 Waterford had a population of 56,692. In 1926 the population was 51,892, composed of 26,755 males and 25,137 females, which is a decrease of 4,810 or 8.3 per cent. on the previous census.

In 1911 Dungarvan urban area had a population of 6,977, while to-day the population is 6,302, which is an increase of 325, but that increase is accounted for by the County Home, which now houses hundreds of people more than it did as the Dungarvan Workhouse in the past. At present Dungarvan has 6,419 males and 2,983 females or 364 more females than males. All the rural districts in the Co. Waterford have decreased in population by 4,983 since 1911. Cappoquin rural district is down by 967, Clonmel No. 2 by 924; Dungarvan rural district by 693; Kilmacrossa rural district by 515; Lisnore rural district by 1,807. Waterford No. 1 by 614, and Troughal No. 2 by 616.

Carrick rural district population is now 4,627 made up of 2,307 males, 2,320 females. Clonmel No. 2 is 2,765, made up of 1,320 males, 1,245 females. Dungarvan rural district has 8,367 people, made up of 4,418 men and 3,949 women. Kilmacrossa has 6,315 people, made up of 3,268 males and 3,047 females. Lisnore has 10,730 people, made up of 5,751 males and 5,979 females. Waterford No. 1 has 10,838 people, made up of 5,144 males and 5,694 females. Troughal No. 2 has 8,495 people, made up of 4,188 males and 1,647 females.

Waterford City had in 1911, 27,464 persons, and now it has only 26,646, made up of 12,645 males and 14,001 females. The decrease in the population of the city since the last census is 818.

In 1841 Dungarvan had a population of 9,484; in 1851, 8,779; in 1861, 7,266; in 1871, 6,618; in 1881, 5,387; in 1891, 5,263; in 1901, 4,850; in 1911, 4,977, and in 1926, 6,302.

Youghal had 5,648 persons in 1911, and now it has 5,840 or a decrease of 308. The present population of 5,840 is made up of 2,831 males and 3,009 females. Youghal Rural District No. 1 had in 1911 a population of 4,139, and now it is only 2,848, made up of 1,404 males and 1,444 females.

Clonmel in 1911 had a population of 10,890 and to-day it has only 8,989, made up of 4,336 males and 4,653 females. Tipperary town had a population of 6,645 in 1911, and to-day it has only 5,554, made up of 2,716 male and 2,838 females.

In 1841 Munster had a population of 1,411,956; to-day it has only 552,747. The Free State area in 1841 had a population of 6,647,662; to-day it has 2,972,802, of which 1,877,614 live in the rural areas and 1,095,188 in the cities, towns and villages.

DEATH OF MR. PATR. O'DONNELL, LYRE EAST, CAPPOQUIN.

Much regret has been caused in the Cappoquin and Mallow districts by the death of the above gentleman, which occurred at his residence on the 10th inst. at the comparatively early age of 68 years. Deceased belonged to one of the oldest and most respectable families in Lyre East, midway between Cappoquin and Mount Mellary, as it is claimed that the O'Donnell's of Lyre hold the distinction of being the oldest tenants on the Keane estate in that part of the country. Living, as he was, within the shadow of the stately and impressive monastery of Mount Mellary, the late Mr. O'Donnell was well known and highly respected by the people of the district.

Mr. O'Donnell, Lord Abbot, and all the members of the saintly and distinguished Clonmel Order, and during his illness of four months' duration he was regularly attended by the Rev. Father Dominic, Mount Mellary, and the Rev. P. Meekill, A.M., Cappoquin, who were unremitting in their attention to him, so that his death proved a happy and peaceful one, fully justified as he was with the last rites of the Catholic Church which he loved so well. An extensive and prosperous farmer, deceased was always held in the greatest esteem by all who knew him, as his upright and straightforward character and his great kindness and devotion towards all, made him a general favorite everywhere. The death of such a popular and well-known gentleman, while still little past the prime of life, has not caused very sincere regret amongst a wide circle of sorrowing relatives and friends, and the deepest sympathy of all will be extended to the members of his respected family in their sad affliction.

On Thursday, 12th inst., after Requiem Masses had been offered up for the repose of his soul, the funeral took place to the old family ground in Affane Churchyard, and proved one of the largest and most respectable of its kind seen passing through Cappoquin for a long time. Mr. John Keane, deceased's former landlord, was represented by Mr. B. Dell, manager, Cappoquin estate, and representatives attended from Dungarvan, Ballinacorney, Cappoquin and all the districts around Mellary, so that the imposing cortege which followed his remains to their last resting-place in "Green Affane" proved a fitting and striking tribute of respect to the memory of one who had been held in such high esteem during life.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.
The monthly meeting of the above was held on Tuesday last in the Technical Schools, Dungarvan. Mr. T. Power, chairman, presided. Also present were Messrs. J. Curran, M. Brennock, M. Griffin and Wm. Stack.

RECENT SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS.
The Secretary read the following letter on the above from the Department—
Sir—With reference to your letters of the 28th ult. enclosing particulars of the marks obtained by candidates for the Girl Scholarships offered by your committee during the academic year 1925-26, I have to state that, in the opinion of the Department, the terms of the advertisement for these scholarships were such as to lead candidates and others interested in the matter to assume that the awards would be made in accordance with the results of the prescribed competitive examination. In the circumstances and also on grounds of public policy, the Department are not prepared to sanction the proposed award to Miss H. Devine, who took eleventh place in the order of merit, while the candidate obtaining the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth places have been passed over. They consider that the sixth scholarship should therefore be awarded to Miss S. Shanahan, who obtained seventh place in the examination with 1873 marks, as compared with Miss Devine's 135 marks, and they will be glad to learn that this has been done.

The Department are willing to approve, exceptionally, of the proposed award to Miss A. Broekert, who is slightly under age, in view of the fact that she is a native Irish speaker and that the committee desired three scholarships to be confined to such candidates.

Mr. Curran proposed, and Mr. Stack seconded—"That the Department be asked to sanction the candidates as selected by the committee."

Mr. Brennock proposed, and Mr. Griffin seconded, an amendment that the Department's letter be adopted.

On a vote the amendment was lost by one vote.

Where is Knockree?—According to the Census returns the town of Knockree had a population of 704 in 1841, 2,031 in 1911, and 2,552 in 1926. Where Knockree is no one knows.

SEQUEL TO WASHING SHEEP.

LIMMOR ASSAULT CASE.

At Lismore District Court before Mr. Farrell, D.J.

The Attorney-General, at the suit of Supt. O'Riordan, Cappoquin, charged Mr. Scanlon, Ballynelligan, farmer, with assault and causing grievous bodily harm to one John Gough, Chapel street, on 12th May, 1926.

The case had been previously adjourned from the June and July courts for the attendance of the injured man, and after the taking of some depositions published below had at 6.30 p.m. to be again adjourned to Cappoquin District Court.

John Gough, Chapel street, Lismore, stated he remembered 12th May, 1926, and went to his land at Ballynelligan with some sheep on that day about 3 o'clock to collect them with Joseph East's sheep.

He met there two men, Michael Morrissey and Patrick Hickey. Witness gave them some instructions to accompany his sheep to the river Blackwater to get them washed. These men drove the sheep and witness followed them in a donkey and cart and went into James Aherne's public-house and bought a naggin of whiskey and then proceeded to the river Blackwater.

In order to get to the river witness had to pass through a passage leading down to the back of Mr. Scanlon's farm. There is a gateway in the passage to the river which witness passed. Mr. Morrissey was in the car with witness and Hickey was at the river-side with the sheep when the Gough-arrived. Mr. Scanlon (accused) later on came on the scene. He is a farmer residing at Ballynelligan. He threatened witness he would not allow him pass back up the passage, and witness asked him why, and accused said "Because witness was a Co. Waterford man."

"What harm is that?" said witness, adding, "You may meet as good a man in Co. Waterford as any other county in Ireland." Witness added: "You are a Ballynelligan man, in Co. Cork, and you had to come down to Lismore, in Co. Waterford, to make a living there." On being asked to give him a sup of whiskey witness replied: "He does not deserve it. However, Mr. Scanlon, I have a little drop of whiskey; come down and have a drop of it." "No, Gough," he replied, "I will not drink a drop of your whiskey." Scanlon had nothing in his hand then. When the work was done he gave the two men, Hickey and Morrissey, the whiskey. When the sheep were washed witness came along in front of the two men with the donkey leading the animals by the head until they came to the iron gate. Mr. Scanlon was standing at the south side of the gate and he said to witness: "Gough, I won't think you to pass up through this gate for you broke my lock."

Witness replied: "Mr. Scanlon, I did not break your lock for Michl. Morrissey had the key for me and opened it going down. Accused stood at the gate and he had an old imitation of a rusty lock and was shaking the lock over the gate and saying: 'Gough, you broke my lock. I will not admit you up through the gate.'" "Oh, Mr. Scanlon," said witness, "your tongue is the worst part of you, and how your neighbors as yourself, and if I trespass on you, Mr. Scanlon, I'll pay for the trespass, and if there's toll I'll pay so much a head on the sheep and for any damage done." He said he would let Hickey and Morrissey pass through the gate, but said he would not allow him to pass. Morrissey made an effort to break the gate and witness would not allow him. Witness got over the stile first and Morrissey followed, and witness threatened Scanlon that he would go for Sergt. Daly, lock, and walked about two paces towards Lismore and Mr. Scanlon followed witness. He (Gough) said: "I mean to go in for Sergt. Daly," and said so for the last time. Mr. Scanlon made a dash at witness and struck him on the side of the neck and knocked him down, and as he was falling to the ground accused gave him a kick with his shoe on his foot. Witness was on the ground unconscious for some time, and Mr. Morrissey came to his assistance. Witness got on his feet after some time and walked out in the direction of the iron gate. Morrissey came out of Mr. Scanlon's yard then and said he would break the gate and bring up the sheep and donkey. Witness said: "No; death be diahon!" Some women came out of Scanlon's house and said: "Come in now, Michael, you have fighting enough done." Morrissey and Hickey took the gate of the hinges the opposite way. Scanlon went in with the woman and witness started to go home. Scanlon rested on a wall then at his own house and said: "I'll pay dear for this."

Witness felt that that night Mrs. Gough sent for Dr. Healy. Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll—I have told the whole occurrence. I had a blackberry tick. I was 10 or 15 minutes at the river side before accused came down. I was not in donkey cart when accused arrived. There is a smooth passage for a donkey, but a bit hilly. I was minding the sheep when accused came. Hickey was in the river and Morrissey was handling the 18 sheep. Six of them were his. Joseph Beets owned the 12 others. Going down Morrissey was with him—that was the second time. Morrissey did not tell me he saw Scanlon. Morrissey opened the gate for him and the WATERFORD v. KERRY.

At Cork on Sunday week Waterford met Kerry in the Junior Football Munster Championship. The opening stages were characterized by some hard exchanges, and after about seven minutes' play Kerry invaded in full force for Harle of Conway to capture the Waterford net.

Waterford looked dangerous in the next movement, but the attack was cleared and Kerry missed an opening. McEweny restricted the play to their opponents' grounds, and had all but again registered. Kerry were once more on the aggressive for Keene to clear, but the clearance was only short-lived, the Kerry forwards getting up well for Donoghue off Lander's end to send up the Kingdom's second major.

Another hard tussle saw Kerry send a wide from a lot of wing play, and a minute later the Waterford net had an escape. Waterford were next to show up for a promising movement to be destroyed by the Kerry custodian. Following up a smart clearance, Donoghue was placed in possession and passing rapidly to Sweeney the latter was responsible for Kerry's third goal. A free to Waterford, close in, gave rise to a stiff encounter, which resulted in Waterford sending a goal. Waterford renewed the attack. It was a close thing, but Buckley defended splendidly, and Kerry immediately transferred, a movement which Gorman finished with a further goal to the Kerry side. Shortly after a Waterford man had to retire hurt and on resuming Kerry landed their fifth major, per Harle. Half-time score:

KERRY—5 goals. WATERFORD—Nil.

SECOND HALF. The second moiety of the game was opened with a strong attack on the Waterford posts. The backs proved effective, and the forwards coming into action, Walsh shot a neat point, to which Gorman, for Kerry, replied with a like goal. Gorman having raised the point flag, Kerry maintained a prolonged offensive. The final score was—

KERRY—5 goals 3 points. WATERFORD—3 points.

The teams were— Kerry—J. J. Buckley, J. Hanafin, T. Kavanagh, J. Sullivan, M. Coffey, D. Ryan, D. Moriarty, B. Whitty, J. Conway, N. O'Leary, W. Gorman, J. J. Lander, N. Sweeney, S. Donoghue, T. Harle. Waterford—L. Cotter, M. Cowley, M. Began, M. O'Neill, W. Hayes, P. Geary, J. Walsh, J. Howe, M. Ryan, R. Began, J. Ryan, C. Keane, D. Grady, J. Carey M. Connors.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present—Messrs. M. Whelan, chairman (presiding); P. J. McMahon, P.O.; A. W. D. Murphy, T. Harrington, J. Forrest, J. Bennett, vice-chairman; W. Coughlan, R. Farrell, A. J. Fowkes.

The following letter was read and ordered to be inserted in the minutes: "Tallow street, Youghal. Dear Mr. Walsh—Please convey to the chairman and my colleagues of the Urban Council my sincere thanks for their kind vote of sympathy and adjournment of the meeting on the death of my father. R.I.P. It was indeed a great consolation to the other members of the family and to myself to learn that I had the sympathy of my fellow-members of the council. I also desire to thank yourself for kindly associating with the vote—Faithfully yours—J. Kennedy."

Mr. Piper applied for the use of the Fair Field for his amusements and his application was granted on condition that he would remove them in time for the fair. Mr. Bennett, vice-chairman, made a suggestion regarding the construction of cattle pens in the Fair Field. In places like Middleton they had them and dealers were charged a small fee for the use of them. It would be a great advantage to the farmers and buyers.

It was decided to refer the matter to the Improvement Committee to report on and also the probable cost. Mr. Coughlan referred to the rescue that took place last week. Three youths all under 16 went to the rescue of a lady visitor who was in danger of drowning. He proposed that the council bring this very plucky action to the notice of the Humane Society.

Messrs. Broderick and McMahon seconded the proposition. The Clerk said he had anticipated the matter, and consequently communicated with the Royal Humane Society. The water curator's report having been read and noted, Mr. Bennett asked had members power to give orders between meetings to officials of the council? After some discussion it was decided that in future the clerk and the chairman were the only persons to issue orders between meetings and all the officials were to be informed of this.

The Town Superintendent reported as follows:—"I wish to draw the council's attention to one of the quaysmen. He wants to be his own boss. He doesn't want to carry out the foreman's instructions." Mr. Bennett (as representing labor) said the man referred to was John Norris, an old employee of the council, who had been trying, on behalf of his fellow-workers, to assert his rights as a labouring man. He requested the chairman to

CHARABANO LICENSE.

A letter was received from the C.A.B. Motor Co. applying for a renewal of the hackney license for their charabans. The application was granted unanimously.

MIXED BATHING. The Strand caretaker reported that he found two city ladies bathing with their husbands on the Strand. Mr. Harrington—Pass it over. Husbands and wives! Chairman—It is mixed bathing anyway. Mr. Smyth—Go quietly about it. Clerk—The council's edicts have sent the people out of the caretaker's parview, beyond the urban bounds where they can do as they like—No man's Land (laughter).

Mr. McMahon—That was my argument in the last case dismissed here. Chairman—We have no jurisdiction out there. Clerk—I received several complaints about mixed bathing, but it wasn't mixed bathing at all—the bathers were girls with bobbed hair (laughter). You would not know one from the other in the water. Mr. Smyth—I'm glad you didn't forget that important aspect of the matter (laughter).

Clerk—Jokes aside, when bathers are out a bit in the water you don't know whether they are male or female (laughter). Chairman—What action will the council take? Mr. McMahon—I propose we take no action. Mr. Broderick said time enough had already been wasted on that matter. Mr. Bennett, interrupting, said that it wasn't a waste of time. He was coming here to get his rights and he was going to stand up for them. Mr. Broderick said that the council should stand behind their Town Superintendent. Accordingly he proposed that the council had every confidence in Mr. Troy and approved of his action in asking men at present at work in the quarry to start at 8 a.m. (breakfast eaten). He considered the hour late enough in view of the fact that the men working on the streets started at 6.30 a.m. There were plenty idle men in town, unfortunately, who would only be too glad to accept work at the quarry and start at the hour mentioned without complaint.

Mr. McMahon seconded. Mr. Bennett proposed an amendment that the men start in future at 8.30 a.m. Mr. Forrest seconded. Mr. Forrest asked could there not be a compromise and make the hour 8.15? Mr. McMahon said they could not compromise, as any compromise would mean a vote of censure on the Town Superintendent. Accordingly a poll was taken on the amendment resulting as follows:— For—Messrs. Bennett, Forrest, Farrell, Fowkes, Harrington—5. Against—Messrs. Broderick, McMahon, Coughlan and the Chairman—4. Mr. A. W. D. Murphy did not vote. The amendment was carried and the proposition having been taken next, the voting was the same, Mr. Murphy again refraining from voting. The Chairman declared the proposition defeated and the amendment carried.

WORKMEN'S HOURS. The Town Superintendent reported that all the men in the quarry now started work at the regular hour of 8 o'clock, breakfast eaten, and they were prepared to adhere to it. The Clerk said in accordance with instructions he had a notice put up to the effect that the men were to be at work not later than 8.30. Mr. McMahon—If they started at 7.8 would be all the better. Mr. Harrington—No use pursuing the matter any further.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT. The following letter was read and ordered to be inserted on the minutes:—"Pearse's Square, Youghal, 16th August, 1926. Dear Mr. Walsh—Please convey to the Chairman and members of the Council my very sincere thanks for the kind vote of sympathy passed to me and the members of my family on the death of my dear father. I also thank yourself for your association with the resolution—Yours faithfully—T. Kennedy."

FISH CURING YARD. The following letter was read:—"McDonald's Quay, Youghal, 19th August, 1926. Sir—I beg to apply for permission to connect and bring into my yard a 1-inch water pipe. Mr. Wheeler of Messrs. Taber, Ltd., London (fish curers) has arrived here and taken my yard over for the purpose of buying and curing fish. He is driving at an absolutely reckless speed considering the traffic on that day, had to stop then. Witness got out and questioned defendant, but he would neither give an explanation of his conduct nor show his driver's license. Defendant deposed that he was coming from Waterford. Approaching the town he saw the horse vehicle before him in the middle of the road. When he found he could not pass he pulled up. He was going at about 10-15 miles per hour. Replying to the court, witness said Mr. Moloney was wrong in saying the speed was 20-30. Mr. Moloney was on his right side of the road and witness had to turn in to avoid hitting him. Cross-examined by the Superintendent, witness said the cart was turned towards the middle of the road. Mr. Moloney was only married about 15 months or so, and her demise under extremely sad circumstances is deeply regretted in the locality.

THE COURT AND COURTHOUSE. A deputation of Lismore traders waited on District Justice Farrell prior to the sitting of the monthly court seeking his influence and advice regarding the ways and means, etc., of having Lismore Court-house rebuilt. Indeed, the Justice was extremely courteous—a trait of character very perceptible in Mr. Farrell since his advent to Lismore and District. He simply reiterated utterances already published in the Lismore and Cappoquin Courts and promised to do all in his power in the matter. Indeed, later on at the sitting of the court Mr. Farrell once again expressed his displeasure at being buffeted from post to pillar holding his court. We hope now that the local bodies interested will do their part and the remarks of the District Justice will not once again fall on deaf ears.

LAND COMMISSION CASES. In a number of adjourned cases of the Land Commission against annuitants, Mr. Hodnett appeared for Mr. D. Casey, State Solicitor. The necessary certificates having been handed in, decrees were granted.

LIGHTS CASES. Guard Moloney charged Wm. Bessing, with using a pony and cart without a light. Fined 2s. 6d. Guard Kenny charged Thos. Foley, Ballynecook, with using a bicycle without a light. Fined 2s. 6d.

LIMMOR NOTES. B.A.D. The death of Mrs. John Crotty, Shrough, Lismore, which took place at her late residence on Wednesday week. Youghal District Court.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L. Mr. J. L. Keane, solicitor, applied on behalf of Mr. D. McCarthy, North Main Street, for a wholesale beer dealer's license. Formal evidence having been given and there being no objection by the Guards, the application was granted.

WOMEN AT WAR.

The court was occupied for nearly two hours hearing a number of charges of riotous conduct and threatening language between four young women, two of them married, from the south end of the town. Mr. Wm. F. O'Connor, solicitor, appeared for the complainants and Mr. J. L. Keane, solicitor, Youghal, for the defendant. The case between the principal litigants—Mrs. M. Lynch, complainant, and Mrs. K. Hann, defendant, apparently arose out of a family difference, the complaint being made to defendant's nephew, and various allegations were made regarding unpleasant events going back many years. The evidence was of a most contradictory character, and, in reply to questions in cross-examination, accusations of perjury were made by both sides.

The Justice said he thought it necessary to bind the two principal parties, Mrs. Hann and her niece-in-law, Mrs. Lynch, to the peace, themselves in £10 and two sureties of £5 each, and he hoped he would hear no more of it. He believed that the gesture complained of was made to Mrs. Hann's daughter, but he also believed that Mrs. Hann had lost her temper on the occasion. She had no right to interfere between husband and wife. RECKLESS MOTORING. Cyril Steele, chauffeur, Waterford, was charged with reckless driving. Supt. Dreen prosecuted. Mr. G. Moloney, solicitor, Cork, deposed that on August 2nd he was driving from Youghal Strand towards Waterford direction. There was a very heavy traffic in the streets—motorists, cyclists and foot passengers. He had to slow down to 8 or 10 miles per hour and stop up three or four times. When he got to the end of the town he saw a horse vehicle coming towards him on the opposite side of the road about 40 yards away. There was only room for two cars to pass at the place. At the same time he saw a Ford car coming on behind the cart. It was at the wrong side of the road and going from 20 to 30 miles per hour. The defendant made no effort to get to his proper side of the road or to decrease his speed. Witness had to jam on his brakes and tear his tyres to stop. The defendant's cart approached and got between the cart and witness's car. The defendant, who was considering the traffic on that day, had to stop then. Witness got out and questioned defendant, but he would neither give an explanation of his conduct nor show his driver's license. Defendant deposed that he was coming from Waterford. Approaching the town he saw the horse vehicle before him in the middle of the road. When he found he could not pass he pulled up. He was going at about 10-15 miles per hour. Replying to the court, witness said Mr. Moloney was wrong in saying the speed was 20-30. Mr. Moloney was on his right side of the road and witness had to turn in to avoid hitting him. Cross-examined by the Superintendent, witness said the cart was turned towards the middle of the road. Mr. Moloney was only married about 15 months or so, and her demise under extremely sad circumstances is deeply regretted in the locality.

SAME v. O'BRIEN. This was a similar case for £2 balance due. Plaintiff said the agreement was for 60s., of which he was paid 10s. Defendant said there was only 22 bags of oats threshed and the agreement was for 30s. of which he had paid 10s. A decree for 20s. was granted with 15s. costs over the two cases. Plaintiff said he would appeal in both cases.

LAND COMMISSION CASES. In a number of adjourned cases of the Land Commission against annuitants, Mr. Hodnett appeared for Mr. D. Casey, State Solicitor. The necessary certificates having been handed in, decrees were granted.

LIMMOROUGH COURTHOUSE.

DISTRICT JUSTICE AGAIN APPEARS OUT.

Owing to repairs being presently executed at Limmoragh Courthouse where the monthly court had been held, the court for the month of August had to be held at the boardroom of the workhouse, which is situated out of the town.

Sitting at the District Court Mr. Farrell, District Justice, said he once again had to draw attention to the want of a courthouse for the district. He now found himself in this little room, which was not at all adequate for the needs of a court.

For three years he (Justice) sat in the Carnegie Library—whose property it was he did not know—whether there was a trustee or what—but he got permission from someone to use that room for the court. It was absolutely unfit for the purpose; it was not a courthouse. Now today it is undergoing repairs and litigants are turned away up here. This was an old Quarter Sessions town where formerly civil bills were disposed of. The District Court is successor of the County Court in that respect, as 75 per cent. of the civil bill work is disposed at the District Court, where it used to be done at the County Court.

The work of the courts has substantially increased, and Cappoquin Courthouse is worse in some respects than this. At Tallow the courthouse was good enough in former years, but something must be done to meet the new situation. The walls of the old courthouses at Limmoragh are extensive, and it seems that much expense need not be incurred to supply the roof, etc., and in (Mr. Farrell) under the local authorities were taking up the matter. It was the statutory duty of County Councils to provide suitable courthouses, and he had put up with very adverse conditions for three years and did not want to inconvenience the public. There were a larger crowd here to-day than this room can accommodate, and then again there is no furniture suitable for a court in these places. The clerk's office at the courthouse was only partially roofed and the clerk nearly got his death there, getting a severe cold from the damp draughts, and should not be treated in that way. It was his (Mr. Farrell's) intention to make representation to the Ministry of Justice on the subject.

Youghal Notes.

Coal and Cold.—As announced last week, a cargo of something over 500 tons arrived in the harbour from Antwerp.

That won't go very far considering the big demand there is bound to be for that very necessary commodity in view of the general shortage existing all round. We are told on very good authority that, even if the strike were settled the day before tomorrow, it will be some months before the trade in "black diamonds" can assume its normal course.

That would mean that before supplies can be got as in the good old days of not long ago, the winter will be upon us. Aye, that's the rub. In some parts of the country the people will be able to use peat as a substitute, but that is not the case in the great majority of cases. What then? An interesting but rather alarming leader appeared in the columns of a metropolitan daily during the past week.

From the existing facts and the probable conditions of the near future, it argues that the winter will be, as far as coal is concerned, a time of short supplies and high prices. The community at large is so accustomed to a "high cost of living" that a high price for such a scarce commodity as coal won't be anything in the nature of a surprise. But the trouble will be that the material will be so scarce that they won't be able to procure a supply for either love or money. This brings home once more the economic truth that in some things we are to a large extent dependent on our old enemy "John Bull."

That "Corner."—Once again we are told, this time by an important daily paper, that all the signs and portents indicate that we have at last turned the blessed "corner." As some poet or other puts it, "it is a consummation devoutly to be wished." One of the facts upon which the journal referred to bases its opinion is the promising condition of the harvest. Taking it all round, the crops are very good, but if we have more rain, and weather that prevails on Saturday night and during the early hours of Sunday morning and again that night and Monday morning, the question of what proportion of the harvest can be saved becomes most important. For hours it rained as heavily as it could. It was a steady, persistent downpour. As only a small part of the corn has been cut and saved so far, and as it is a rich crop, heavy rain is bound to lodge it, if it does not do even greater damage. For this reason, it would seem nearer the truth to say that we have, perhaps, reached that "corner." But it seems rather too optimistic to jump to the final conclusion that we have turned it. Let us rather be cautious.

Whigs on the Green—or is it "wigs" anyone you know what is meant by the expression. Since the amalgamation of the unions and the abolition of the Rural District Councils—outstanding examples of great statesmanship, as per results—there has been a great dearth of those "lively scenes," "interesting interludes" and "exciting interchanges," which so frequently occurred at the meetings of those bodies in the past, rendering our morning papers such a weary reading. Under the new dispensation or regime our public bodies are largely become models of business and administrative efficiency. Indeed, it is only by chance or mischance the Pressman is saved the ignominious short cut of saying that the "rest of the business was principally routine, or of no public importance." Such a scene, it is said, sprang up rather unexpectedly at the last meeting of the Urban Council. The Town workman wanted to be his own "boss." A lively discussion arose, which brought back to mind the good old days when almost every meeting of almost every public board put the poor Pressman on his mettle to keep up with the trend of the argument and to record some of the many exciting incidents which intervened. Uncontrollable circumstances prevent a full report this time, but care will be taken that the like does not occur again.

Money by False Pretences.—Last Wednesday evening three young men named John O'Brien, Wm. Ryan and Pierce Foley were arrested by Sgt. Keane, Ardmore, on a charge of obtaining various sums of money from different persons by false pretences. They stated they were collecting for funds to organize a sports and regatta in Ardmore. Having been brought before Mr. J. Galvin, P.C., Ardmore (Supt. Murray, Dungarvan prosecuting), it transpired that the accused were in no way authorized to collect for the above-mentioned purpose. They had spent some of the money on drink and divided the remainder between them. They were remanded on bail to the next district court to be held at Ardmore.

NOTES ON THE NEW SYSTEM OF GRASSLAND MANAGEMENT.

By T. H. J. Carroll, B.Sc. (Agric.).

The science of grassland management has progressed considerably since the introduction of the wild white clover and lucerne sward movements. Undoubtedly the use of wild white clover has very often resulted in the formation of first-class pastures where formerly the land was practically of no value from a stock-carrying point of view.

The British farmer has now got to the stage when he looks for a good plant of clover in his permanent pasture, and he estimates the value of a pasture by the amount of clover it contains. If there is a good plant of clover, well distributed over the field, he considers that he has gone about as far as he can go in the matter of improvement. If a field will carry rather more than a cow to the acre during the grazing season it is considered quite good, and the farmer continues with his applications of 5 cwt. basic slag every three years, and perhaps an occasional dose of kainit; but, in deference to the clearly expressed views of so many agricultural authorities, he readily refuses to apply any artificial nitrogenous fertilizer. He is told that there is no need to do so, since clovers take up nitrogen from the air, and are therefore entirely independent of any artificial supplies of nitrogen.

Those who are in close touch with the farming community in this country repeatedly come across very definite evidence that this order of things is changing. The more progressive farmer at the present day has found that he cannot rely entirely on phosphates and potash to give the maximum yield of his best sward. He has, in a very reasonable way, that if fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphates and potash, are necessary for other crops, there is a great likelihood that they will greatly benefit grass land. The number of farmers who to-day give a complete manure to permanent grass is greater than ever before, and generally speaking it is now the practice of those farmers who have for some years manured under the old phosphate system and then found that their profits could be materially increased by including nitrogen as well. Moreover, they have found that not only is the clover unharmed by nitrogenous fertilizers, but it is often very much improved in every way.

But even these progressive farmers have not yet fully realized the possibilities of our grass land. In no other country of the world will grass grow so readily and so abundantly as within our own shores, and, successful as the results of the new system may be in other countries, they are bound to be easily surpassed in our own country.

Briefly, the older method of grassland management relied on the stimulation of clovers by phosphate fertilizers, and when necessary by lime and potash also. The underlying idea was to produce as much clover as possible, and a pasture was classed as first-rate, second-rate or third-rate according to the amount of clover it contained. The amount and the nature of the grass and other herbage were only considered to be of secondary importance. Land was even valued by estate agents and surveyors by this arbitrary and totally unscientific method.

Meanwhile, for many years it has been known that there are many thousands of acres of the best pasture land in the country, capable of producing very large yields of milk or of fattening more than one bullock to the acre which are almost totally devoid of clover, and where the grasses which are present would be classified by any of our botanical experts as second-rate or third-rate grasses from a grazier's point of view. The fact remains that they do produce the milk and beef without clover, and the farmer naturally says: "If my fields do better than your clover pastures, why should I worry about clovers at all?" This brings us to the consideration of why agriculturalists have been so keen to introduce clovers into permanent grass. The reason generally given is because clovers provide rich, succulent feeding material, palatable to stock, and very rich in nitrogenous materials of an albuminoid nature. The grazier's difficulty has always been to provide his stock with an adequate supply of albuminoids.

The albuminoid constituents of foods, generally spoken of as carbohydrates, are a fairly plentiful, and little difficulty is experienced in providing an abundant supply of them for stock.

Assuming that the above is the true statement of the case, the question arises whether or not albuminoid materials can be provided in greater quantity and at the same time cheaper than by growing clovers. The answer is that they can be provided more economically to-day by growing grass as distinct from clover, giving to the relatively low price of artificial fertilizers at the present time and the ready response which grasses show to nitrogenous manuring. Intensive manuring is necessary, with fertilizers which are mainly nitrogenous in constitution to the old idea that they should be mainly phosphatic.

The stimulating effect of nitrogen on grass is too well known to be commented upon; it is sufficient to say that its effect is perhaps soonest visible and is more pronounced on grasses than on other plants of any other type of plant grown on the farm. The effect of an application of nitrogen to a grass field is evident within a very few days, and the sward so treated soon grows away from an untreated portion and produces larger and longer leaves, so that the difference, as farmers say, "can be seen a mile away."

A further point of paramount importance in connection with the system of intensive manuring grass, when in the early stages of growth, is very rich in albuminoid materials, frequently being richer than clovers. Provided, therefore, it is possible to arrange that the stock are constantly supplied with fresh green grass in the early stages of growth (say, no higher than 4 to 5 inches), it is easy to see that by the use of stimulating manures a very much greater quantity of albuminoids can be produced per acre than by the "clover" method.

A continuous succession of "flushes" of green grass can be arranged all through the grazing season, and the young of the cows allows 20 to 30 days for the grass to grow to the height which is calculated to provide the maximum proportion of albuminoids and the minimum proportion of carbohydrates and fibre. By thus ensuring the maximum production of albuminoids per acre and at the same time putting on sufficient stock to eat down the grass in four or five days, it is easy to understand why the production of milk, beef and mutton per acre of grassland is more than doubled and is frequently more than three times what it was when the same land was run on the old system.

The two essentials of the system therefore are:— (1) Applications of artificial fertilizers containing suitable forms of nitrogen, phosphates and potash the dominant material in every case being nitrogen.

(2) The systematic mowing of stock, so that they are never put on to grass more than 4 to 5 inches high, and they should be put on the land in such numbers that the plot is eaten well down in 4 to 5 days, after which an appropriate number of dry cows or "followers" are put on to finish the grazing within another 4 or 5 days.

For the practical farmer who wishes to adopt the new system of grassland management, the following suggestions will be helpful. He should communicate with Mr. H. L. Kelly, B.Sc. (Agric.), P.O. Box 121, Park Street, Dublin, who is in charge of the experiments at present being conducted in this country on the new system. Mr. Kelly will be able to offer very valuable advice as to the best way of setting about a trial, and will, if possible, arrange to visit the farm where the experiment is to be made. Farmers would be well advised to get into touch with Mr. Kelly before starting operations themselves. Mr. Kelly has spent the whole of the present season in registering and supervising all the details of management at a number of centres, and his experience gained in so doing may save the farmer a great deal of unnecessary expense. For a full-scale trial (and anything short of a full-scale trial is not recommended) it will be necessary to have a series of at least six plots available. Six is the minimum number and eight is preferable. The plots should be separated by hedges or fences capable of turning all classes of stock, and all plots should be supplied with water. Gates should be erected in the most convenient positions for turning stock through one field to get to another. The size of the plots varies according to the number of stock available. The most suitable size in the majority of cases is 4 to 5 acres, but plots of 1½ or 2 acres may be used when necessary. The system should be commenced at the back-end of the year, when the necessary fencing and watering can conveniently be done.

Manuring.—An autumn application of artificial fertilizers should be given consisting of nitrogen, phosphates and potash. The form in which these plant foods should be given naturally varies with the type of soil in the district. Generally speaking, North African Phosphate is the most suitable form of phosphates and kainit or potash salts the most suitable form of potash, considering in each case the present low price of these materials. Sulphate of ammonia is in every case the only form of nitrogenous fertilizer to use for this autumn dressing. The amounts to be used will also vary according to the conditions on each farm, but the following may be taken as a generally reliable guide for the autumn dressing:—

3 cwt. finely ground North African Phosphate or equivalent.

3 cwt. Kainit (14 per cent.) or equivalent.

1 cwt. Neutral Sulphate of Ammonia.

Applications of whatever nitrogenous fertilizer is considered best are given from the beginning of February onwards, at intervals. In deciding on the choice of nitrogenous fertilizer both soil conditions and time of application enter in, for instance, on some soils synthetic urea is found to be best for early applications and nitrate of lime for later use. On neutral or alkaline soils sulphate of ammonia or urea would both be suitable for February or March applications, and nitrate of lime for later use. Each plot should receive at least three or four applications of nitrogen during the season, each application consisting of twenty to twenty-five lbs. of pure nitrogen per acre. In practice it is found that the best time to apply the nitrogenous dressing is immediately after the stock are taken out of the plot. A heavy chain harrow, with short spikes, is then run over the whole field, and this both spreads the droppings (a very necessary operation under these conditions of intensive stocking) and helps to get the fertilizer into the ground.

Stocking.—It has been found by experience that if cows or bullocks are turned into a field when the grass is about four to five inches high, it is necessary to put about ten or twelve animals per acre in order that the grass may be well eaten down at the end of four or five days. After that there is usually enough grass left to keep five or six "followers," i.e., dry cows or young stock, for another four or five days. Milk cows are brought out of the plots to be milked in the ordinary way each day, and when the time comes for mowing them they are driven into another plot. No extra labour whatever is entailed in the management of cows during the grazing season. Sheep can be used along with horned stock, and in fact this is advisable.

NATIONAL ROAD SCHEME.—FIRST SECTION 4750,000.

At the last meeting of the Waterford County Council the following was read from the L.G.D.—

As intimated by the Minister for Finance in his Budget speech in an Address on the 21st April last, it has been decided to carry out a National Road Scheme at the cost of £2,000,000. The scheme contemplates the improvement of a selected mileage of the trunk roads of the State within a period of two years.

In order that the greatest benefit may immediately ensue both to the Road Authorities and to those in need of employment, it is the desire of the Government that the work will be started forthwith in every county in the State. Having regard to the progress made on the previous schemes financed out of the Road Fund to the extent of over £1,500,000 it is obvious that the scheme now proposed will entail a greater effort, a more extensive plant and a larger personnel than under the smaller schemes, if carried through to completion within the next two years. The first instalment of the scheme involves an expenditure of £750,000. Further instalments of a somewhat similar magnitude will be indicated as soon as practicable having regard to the progress made under the initial programme.

As will be seen from the accompanying sketch map, some of the selected roads to be improved are those of the Waterford County Council. The Minister for Local Government and Public Health directs me to inform the Waterford County Council that the first section of the scheme provides for the improvement of the stretches of roads at the cost stated, specified on the accompanying schedule.

A sum of £28,067 has accordingly been earmarked for this work in your county. The county surveyor should be instructed to get into communication without delay with the Chief Roads Engineer of the Department with a view to the settlement of details incidental to carrying out the work indicated. As soon as the Minister has an opportunity of considering the facilities available in your county he will indicate to the council whether direct labour or contract is to be adopted. He will also indicate the nature of any special requirement in relation to the method adopted.

The usual conditions as to men to be employed, wages to be paid and method and conditions respecting the payment of the grants set aside for the work indicated in this letter which were attached to previous grants apply also in the present instance save that there will be no condition with regard to withholding of 20 per cent. of the grant until completion of the works. Suitable demobilised men of the National Army, if available, are to get a preference for employment as already indicated in the terms governing previous grants.

The intimation conveyed in this letter is to be taken as of a general character and the Minister reserves to himself the right to specify such further requirements as may be necessary for the successful carrying out of the work having regard to the circumstances of each particular county.

ROMAN PRINCE SHOT DEAD.

ASSAILANT WOUNDED AND ARRESTED.

Prince Umberto Ruspoli, a member of one of the oldest families of the Roman nobility, was shot dead on Wednesday night by an alleged thief who was discovered in the grounds of the Prince's colliery at Genoa. Prince Ruspoli was the Mayor of Genoa. Prince Ruspoli was a fashionable summer resort on the outskirts of Rome.

The assailant, who was wounded by a shot from the Prince's chief hunter, was arrested. Prince Ruspoli, who was a retired Colonel of the Grenadier Corps, had been decorated for bravery. Many Roman noble families are in mourning on account of their relation to the Ruspoli family.

MR. DAVID NOONAN has been instructed by Mr. Edmund Casey, TO SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, ON THE LANDS, AT ONE O'CLOCK (NEW TIME), ON THURSDAY, 2nd SEPTEMBER, 1926.

The Farm of Lands consisting of all that part of the Lands of Drumrue Lower, formerly known as New Afane, containing 164 acres 1 rood 15 perches or thereabouts, statute measure, situate in the Barony of Coshmore and Cobhrade and County of Waterford, being the lands entered in Folio 306/1507 of the Register of the County of Waterford, held in FREE SIMPLE subject to a terminable annuity of £66 9s. 4d., payable to the Irish Land Commission subject to the provisions of the Ashbourne Act. The original annuity of the said Lands was £94, which has since been reduced by several reductions to the said sum of £66 9s. 4d., and will be further reduced until it terminates.

This magnificent Residential Farm is ideally situated on an eminence overlooking the river Blackwater, about 1 mile from Cappoquin and 9 1/2 miles from Lismore. Three convenient entrances from the main Cappoquin-Youghal road give an easy access to the Holding. The Land is of the very richest kind and especially noted for its fattening and milk-producing qualities.

In virtue of its southern aspect, the Farm is well sheltered from the north and east, and conveniently sited and well-fenced the field make its working both easy and economical. A well, centrally situated and famous for the quality and quantity of its water, supplied the Farm with an invaluable asset; also access to the river gives an ample and never-failing supply of water for live stock.

The value of this fine property is still further enhanced by the possession of a splendid Limestone Quarry and a superabundant supply of growing timber (principally beech and ash) as well as affording excellent shooting and fishing.

THE RESIDENCE—A splendid three-story Building contains on the Ground Floor a large hall, a sitting-room and dining-room, a kitchen and pantry and two servants' rooms. A quiet spiral staircase gives access to the Second Storey, which contains 7 bedrooms equipped with massive marble fireplaces, whilst the front rooms are further embellished by large bay windows. On the top storey there are 9 airy bedrooms.

OUT-OFFICES—Adjoining the Residence are 3 spacious yards containing 7 large stone built and slated buildings giving accommodation for 50 cows and 12 horses. Three of these buildings are furnished with large lofts. Convenient to the Residence there is also a splendid dairy shed, a large cement water tank and a roomy shed, stone built and roofed with corrugated iron.

To the importance of this Sale Subscribers direct the attention of intending purchasers, as the small annuity, the great fertility of the land, the picturesque residence, all combine to make this farm one of the finest in Munster.

For further particulars, see Conditions of Sale apply to E. A. RYAN, Solicitor (having Carriage of Sale), Dungarvan; or DAVID NOONAN, Auctioneer and Valuer, Lismore.

MISS LIZZIE DUFFY.

THE HANDSOME PRAIRIE GIRL.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that Miss Lizzie Duffy, "The Handsome Prairie Girl," so long associated with the John Duffys and Sons and Arizona Joe's Circus and Wild West Show in Ireland, has been discharged from the Banister Nursing Home quite recovered from the injuries inflicted some time ago by a balloon whilst engaged in training a Siberian goat. On her re-appearance recently during Horse Show week at Dublin her ovation was tremendous, and the huge water-proof tent was taxed to its utmost capacity.

We extend to Miss Duffy our sincere delight at her splendid recovery and hope she may live long to grace the arms with her charms and horsemanship combined.

Double. Duty. Power. Stationary. Mobile.

In actual operation what can the FORDSON mean to you? A power plant that you can shift from one job to another, from one Factory to another, just as occasion demands. A mobile power plant that will take the place of overhead power transmission and operate several different machines simultaneously. A mobile power plant that needs scarcely any mechanical conversion before it is ready for heavy duty-hauling up to six tons for 4 1/2 miles. In the FORDSON, you have a safeguard against the possible break-down of your existing plant, for if the FORDSON is part of your equipment, the break-down of other plant is no longer a serious misfortune, entailing loss of time and money.

It is this ability to do double duty, this adaptability to emergency demands, that is making the FORDSON an indispensable unit of equipment in a multitude of industrial enterprises. With these facts in front of you, can you afford to ignore the FORDSON? Isn't it worth your while to consider whether your own operations don't demand a "DOUBLE-DUTY" FORDSON?

Tipperary invaded, but a stoppage was caused as Tipperary's goalie retired. Martin Kennedy took his place. Limerick pressed from the re-start. Darcy shone.

Tallow District Court.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

Having disposed of a number of civil bills for shop debts, etc.

The Justice said he would like to call the attention of the members of the profession to the necessity of altering the Circuit Court forms used in such cases, otherwise it would appear as if they issued by the Circuit Court.

Mr. Skinner, solicitor, Mitchelstown, said that although they might not be in the forefront, they had anticipated his Worship's advice.

The Justice said at times the forms came before him unaltered.

In the adjourned case of Helena Barry, Conna, against John Turner, for abusive and threatening language.

Mr. Skinner—There is a happy end to that—they are all smiling at one another (laughter).

The Waterford County Board of Health summoned Margaret Linehan, Dunmore North, for possession of a labourer's cottage.

Mr. J. Cunningham, rent collector, appeared for the complainant. There was no appearance for defendant.

Mr. Cunningham deposed that there was £3 2s. due for rent and arrears. He produced the agreement signed by defendant to pay 4s. per month.

Mr. Skinner said he would have objected to Mr. Cunningham, but it appeared that he was entitled to appear as representing the Board of Health.

Justice—Has she ever paid you rent? Witness—Yes after the summons she paid 28s. without prejudice. She owes £3 2s. now.

Up to the date of the summons how much did she owe? She owes £3 2s. now.

Did you make any bargain with her when she paid the 28s? No. I took it without prejudice.

Did she ask you for time to pay the balance? Yes, for three weeks.

Mr. Skinner—He could give her no time without the consent of the Board of Health.

Justice—Having paid a very substantial sum? You made no bargain with her except to give her three weeks' time? Witness—No, sir.

A decree for possession was ultimately granted.

Mr. Maurice O'Donoghue, poor rate collector, summoned Mr. James Keni for £30 4s. 9d., rates due.

Mr. Skinner appeared for complainant and there was no appearance on defendant's part.

Mr. Skinner said they had expected "thunder and lightning" in connection with that case, but it had evidently fizzled out (laughter).

The Justice said there was a letter received by the Clerk of the Court from Mr. A. Carroll, solicitor, Fermoy.

The letter was handed to Mr. Skinner, who, having read it, said it was a peculiar document, stating that they were in a position to show that the rates were paid for the period ending 31st March, 1926.

Replying to Mr. Skinner, complainant said that had nothing to do with the present case.

Mr. Skinner said it was in connection with the fishery rate and all the others had paid.

Complainant having proved that the amount claimed was due, a decree was granted.

Mr. Skinner said if the defendant had paid the amount he would be exempt for 10 years according to the new Act. He asked for full costs. 20s. was allowed.

Guard Brophy, Ballynoe, charged Patrick Lane, Monaghan, farmer, with cycling without a light at 12.5 a.m. on the 26th ult. Fined 2s.

The same complainant charged Daniel Crennan with a like offence and he was fined similarly.

John Caplan, Clonahogan, was fined in a like amount for the same offence.

Guard Hickey, Ballynoe, charged John Curley, Tallow, with cycling in the foot-park outside the village.

Defendant said he was a distance outside and he thought it no harm.

The Justice said if that practice became prevalent it would become a great nuisance.

Guard Regan, Tallow, charged Daniel Murphy, Killybeg, Tallow, with allowing a horse, cow and calf to wander grazing on the public road. Fined 2s.

In the adjourned application for transfer of a license lately held by Margaret Callahan to Richard Roche in support of which Mr. Carroll, solicitor, Fermoy, appeared has day.

Supp. Riordan said there was no objection.

The application was granted.

Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solicitor, applied on behalf of Mr. John Murphy Kilmacross, for an ad interim of a license hitherto held by Anne Murphy, Tallow.

Evidence was granted to the effect that Miss Murphy had died on the 24th June last, having willed the house to applicant in trust for his daughter.

There being no objection by the Guards, the application was granted, subject to Probate being produced at next court.

Mr. Wm. J. O'Gorman, solicitor, Limerick, who obtained a decree in a number of civil bills cases was tendered a cordial welcome by Mr. Skinner, seconded by Mr. Hodnett.

Others had to go long distances to the nearest hotel or spring well for their supplies. When we consider that the owners of private taps have now to pay an extra rate of 2s. in the £ for the luxury, they are certainly entitled to far better treatment than this, and we hope that whoever was to blame for last week's disgraceful blunder will see that it does not happen again.

Kilmacthomas News.

DEATH.

Mr. John Fitzgerald, Ballynahogue, Kilmacthomas, died last week at the venerable ripe old age of 79 years.

During his last illness his spiritual and medical needs were most assiduously attended to. He retained all his faculties up to the end, which came peacefully and resignedly.

The deceased, who was a quiet, industrious hand-working man, was held in the deepest affection by his neighbours, and on Friday week a large and representative procession of mourners accompanied the remains to the New Cemetery, Ballynahogue, wherein the interment took place.

Very deep sympathy goes out to his bereaved widow, children and relatives. May he rest in peace.

ANOTHER DEATH.

The death of Mrs. Bridget Harne, Seafield, Broomhall, took place on last Thursday week. Following a rather brief illness, and at an advanced age, she passed into her eternal reward fully fortified by the final comforting ministrations of Holy Church, of which she was always an exemplary member. Big-hearted and generous almost to a fault, the deceased lady was a model Irish mother in the fullest sense of the term.

Sincere sympathy is extended to her family and friends upon the great loss they have sustained. R.I.P. Solemn Requiem High Mass was offered up for the repose of her soul on last Saturday morning at Stradbally Parish Church, after which the remains were buried in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of a vast assemblage of sorrowing relatives, friends and acquaintances. Rev. W. Burke, C.C., Stradbally, officiated at the grave-side. The chief mourners were—Mary Anne (daughter), and John and Michael (sons).

Mr. Quinan, solicitor, appeared on behalf of the publican.

Replying to Supt. Keenan, Sgt. Rochford, Kilmacross, stated that while on duty on Sunday last he concurred himself in the vicinity of Miss Harne's premises. He heard a person approaching the door by a road leading to the bar. A voice from inside asked "Who's there?" and the reply was "All right." He waited for about 5 or 7 minutes. He heard a voice at the door saying "Are you going to bed at all tonight?" to a number of people who were gathered on the other side of the road. A second man stepped across the road and went into the bar also. He instructed Guard Deles, who was with him, to go to the front door. He (witness) went to the back, but found that the small door leading into the back was locked. He stood for a minute or two and heard the door into the back yard open and two men came out. They stood for a while. One was saying to the other he had heard someone say "Guards on duty." He knew the two men. They were Patrick Roche and Walter Keefe. He caught hold of both of them and Keefe said "Don't say anything about it, sergeant." He discovered a pint of beer in the man's possession. He brought them into the premises, and on entering he saw Miss Lily Power (the barmaid) and Guard Deles and another man, who was a bona fide traveller. He asked Miss Power to account for the men. She said that she thought Walter Keefe was a traveller and Patrick Roche came in for a message. He asked her where Keefe slept the night before and she didn't know and never asked him (Keefe). He questioned both men. Patrick Roche said he came in for a message and Walter Keefe said he had no excuse to offer.

To Mr. Quinan—So far as he (sergeant) knew this was the first charge against Miss Harne over the past 9 or 10 years. He thought Miss Harne was sick in the spring of the year. He knew it was Miss Power who managed the bar, and it was satisfied that the third man on the premises was a traveller. He was from Dunhill. He did not connect the pint of beer he found in the yard with this man.

Addressing his Worship, Mr. Quinan intimated that his clients admitted the breach, and he did not propose calling any evidence. He thought the Probation of Offenders Act should apply, and mentioned that cases in violation of this kind the defendants entered into recognisance for three years, and its application in the city had been most successful. This made publicans realize their responsibilities towards the law. His client's record was good. He respectfully asked that the Court Summaries Jurisdiction, 1909, vide O'Connor, page 177, apply. If the publican were given this chance she would keep within the law. She would pay the costs of the prosecution, too.

Supt. Rochford, re-called, answering his Worship, stated that there was no previous conviction. On several occasions, however, he had noticed the defendant, Roche, signalling and watching when the Guards were approaching.

Giving his decision, the Justice remarked that in cases of a trivial nature the Probation of Offenders Act would be applicable, but the present was not a trivial or technical offence. It was a substantial breach and he could not see his way to deal lightly with it. He would convict the publican for selling beer on the occasion and impose a fine of 40s. and costs and order the conviction be endorsed on the license. He fined the other defendants (who were unable to be present) 10s. and costs in each case.

WATERFORD DEMONSTRATION COMMITTEE.

A meeting of above was held in the Imperial Hotel on Friday evening to make further arrangements in connection with the forthcoming demonstration to be held on Sunday, September 12th.

Councillor Edward Walsh presided and there was a very representative attendance. The Hon. Secretary received apologies from those unable to attend. The Chairman mentioned he had a visit the previous evening from Mr. B. C. Hackett of the Central Committee, Dublin, who had been present at the hurriedly convened opening meeting of the committee the week before. Mr. Hackett had just come from the very successful meeting held in Wexford, and would be very pleased to remain for their meeting on this occasion, but promised that Mr. T. O'Donnell, ex-M.P., or himself would attend their next meeting or a subsequent one, to help them in co-operating with the Central Committee.

Following upon the Chairman's statement, a discussion took place as to the form of the demonstration and place of holding the meeting. From the train arrangements made and the successful work of organisation proceeding throughout the country a big influx of contingents from all parts of Ireland may be expected; preparations are necessary to cope with same.

It was ultimately decided that the procession form up on the Mall at a given hour, and proceed along the Quay, Thomas street and the Glen to Ballybricken where the meeting will be held. Speeches will be delivered from a platform there by the numerous prominent leaders who have promised to attend.

Representatives of the city bands are to be invited to subsequent meetings with a view to arranging for their taking part in Kilmacthomas District Court.

Before Mr. McCarthy, D.J.

There was a large number of undefended civil bills listed for hearing. On the request of Mr. Quinan, solicitor, Waterford, and Mr. Quirk, solicitor, Carrick-on-Suir, these were gone through first, and decrees for full amounts claimed with costs were granted in most cases.

For using a donkey suffering from sores in Kilmacthomas on the 4th ult., Matthew Power was fined 10s. and costs. Guard McCormack was complainant.

Guard McCormack v. Ellen McCarthy, Killy for allowing 2 cows, her property, to wander on the public road on 14th July last. Her son, it was stated, was previously summoned for the like offence. A fine of 2s. and costs was imposed.

Sergt. Seymour v. Patrick Morrissey, of Leamybrien district, for allowing a donkey on the road on the 28th ult. Fined 2s. and costs.

Guard Cummins v. Thos. Duggan, Killy for allowing two horses to wander on 13th July. Fined 2s. and costs.

Guard Halloran v. Mary Collett, Stradbally, three donkeys straying. Fined 2s. and costs.

Sergt. Hughes and Matthew Power, Durrow, using animals suffering from sores on the 7th July. Fined 20s. and costs.

Same v. John Power (junr.) D.W.P.

LICENSING CASE.

The State, at the suit of Supt. Keenan, prosecuted Miss Margaret Harne, publican, The Sweep, Kilmacross, with a breach of the Licensing Act on Sunday last, August 8th. Patrick Roche and Walter Keefe were charged with being on the premises.

Mr. Quinan, solicitor, appeared on behalf of the publican.

Replying to Supt. Keenan, Sgt. Rochford, Kilmacross, stated that while on duty on Sunday last he concurred himself in the vicinity of Miss Harne's premises. Lismore District Court.

THE LATE MR. J. F. WILLIAMS, SOLICITOR, DUNGARVAN. Before the business of the Lismore District Court started Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J., said—Mr. Carroll, before I start I must say it is with the greatest regret I have heard of the death of an old colleague of yours and the profession in the person of Mr. John F. Williams, Dungarvan, who was one of the oldest and most respected members of the profession, and who was only known personally to him (Mr. Farrell) for the last two or three years since he presided at the courts. It was not necessary for the Justice to say anything about the ability of the deceased as a lawyer or of his outstanding qualities as a gentleman, but from what he had heard of Mr. Williams in the past and his own experience of him quite coincide. He (Mr. Farrell) had a good deal of experience of the deceased in the few years at the Cappoquin, Lismore and Tallow Courts, as he felt indeed a great sense of regret at his death, and wished officially that the sympathy of this court would be extended to Mr. Williams and family in the circumstances. Mr. A. Carroll said as senior member of the profession he wished to join in the remarks made by the Justice as regards Mr. Williams. For forty years he had personally known deceased and found in him a man of exceptional ability; a man with a knowledge of law second to none; a man discharging professional duties whose equals for honesty and industry I've yet to come across. His loss is not alone one to his family, but a loss to the public, whose affairs he administered from time to time with the greatest satisfaction to every client; a man whose work could be depended upon in any undertaking; the name of John F. Williams could be relied on as if it were reduced to writing and placed over his signature. That was one of the greatest tributes he could pay to one with whom he had dealings in an extensive way professionally. As well as performing the work competently he (Mr. Carroll) had never any hesitation in taking the name of Mr. John F. Williams for any undertaking. His loss will not even be replaced by his son, who it is expected will shortly be a member of the profession. However, he will be a worthy representative if he follows the footsteps of the father, who gave him such a head-start. Messrs. Spears and O'Gorman, solicitors, and Supt. O'Riordan, Civil Guards, also desired to be associated with the remarks of the Justice and Mr. Carroll.

NEIGHBOURS FALL OUT.

TORN AWAY ALL MY NECK. A LISMORE ASSAULT CASE. At Lismore District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell D.J. Patk. Fitzgibbon, Glengarra, charged James Farrell, of the same district, with assault and battery on 9th June (Lismore fair day). There was a cross-case of abuse and threatening language against Fitzgibbon by Farrell. The parties were neighbouring farmers residing at Glengarra, about 4 miles from Lismore. Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, for complainant, and Mr. Spears, solr., Dungarvan, defended. Patk. Fitzgibbon, who stated he was 65 years of age, gave evidence to the effect that on the fair day in June he was travelling home in an ass and cart in which was his wife and Mrs. Greehy. As Carriganon on the road Jas. Farrell, his sister and brother, came after them with a mare to fall gallop, and she was getting more of the stick. He kept to his side of the road and the two women jumped out of the cart and Farrell turned his horse and cart into the two women in the dyke. When passing defendant's gateway defendant ran out and drew a clout of a fist on his head and knocked witness senseless. Defendant was hitting him the third time and when he saw my blood he started savage and eat my neck and face and tore away all my neck. There were three or four present, who took him away. Cross-examined by Mr. Spears—He had breakfast about 9 or 10 that morning and came into the fair. This row was about 4 o'clock. Witness had one drink that day and addressing the District Justice said—"I was as sober as you are in the chair now, sir (laughter). For 64 years Farrell and himself were friends, but were not since he struck witness. He was a good neighbour. It was his woman that was on the back of the cart and saw Farrell coming. He was as his own side and was aware Farrell's mare had a foot as home." Amidst laughter witness answered Mr. Spears—"I wasn't in court since the Sinn Fein Court, and I fought them twice as I was again them." Mr. Spears—Who did you assault then? Witness made no answer. Justice—He treats that as a closed chapter (laughter). Further cross-examined—He knew Jas. Kearney and Dr. Bussell. To the Justice witness replied—Only for Mr. Greehy he would have killed me out. To Mr. Spears—Farrell struck him with a stone which was big enough to fill his fist. Wm. Greehy stated he saw Farrell strike Fitzgibbon with a stone 3 or 4 times. Farrell was brought away by his sister and brother and said "he had it a long time in for him." Cross-examined—He had no dinner that day and had 3 or 4 drinks. Farrell was forcing the mare, and he did not see Fitzgerald throw off his coat on the road. Re-examined by Mr. O'Gorman, solr.—He did not hear Fitzgibbon speak to Farrell when they passed on the road. James Farrell, defendant, examined, stated Fitzgibbon crossed the road twice with his donkey and cart and he driving home with the mare. Witness admitted that he came out and pulled Fitzgibbon back and gave him a good choking. He had no stone. Fitzgibbon did pull across the road twice on him and said: "I am a better man than you," and threw off the coat and had nothing but his shirt on then. Justice—I see this is a kind of triangle assault. In cross-examination by Mr. O'Gorman, the witness stated—I was bound to the peace. I did not want until the bonds were up. I was in jail on remand in connection with a spring I had in my hand through the hedge. I was always friendly with Fitzgibbon. 'Twas Mrs. Greehy spoke. Fitzgibbon abused and threatened him. The mare was stepping away and he pulled her up in 20 yards. To the Justice—He hit Fitzgibbon a few cracks and he fell back in the cart. Sonny Coleman then came up. There was nothing the matter with Fitzgibbon, who went home then. The next day he had a shawl around his head. Johannes Farrell, sister of the defendant, stated they were within 4 of an inch of being pitched over the wall, the mare and themselves, by Fitzgibbon crossing the road with the donkey. Fitzgibbon said he was a better man than her brother and threw off his coat and called us robbers. I tackled in my brother, added witness. Cross-examined by Mr. Fitzgibbon—I did see my brother strike Fitzgibbon with his left hand. He is left-handed. James had no stone and pulled up the mare in 5 or 6 yards. To the Justice—He best Fitzgibbon all right. Andrew Coleman stated he saw Farrell strike Fitzgibbon a couple of clouts. There was no stone used and he met John Farrell 30 yards from the scene. John Farrell in evidence stated Fitzgibbon crossed the road twice on them. They had a "skirmish" later. Justice—There is clearly an unjustifiable assault proved on Fitzgibbon by Farrell, who even waited and tackled complainant passing Farrell's gate. He (Justice) refused to believe that Fitzgibbon pulled deliberately across the road on Farrell. He now fined Farrell 10s. and 20s. costs and ordered that he enter into bonds himself in 20 and two sureties of 25 each or usual alternative. The cross-case he would dismiss.

WATERFORD COUNTY BOARD OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE.

A meeting of the Waterford County Board of Public Assistance was held in the Court House, Dungarvan, last week. Mr. Patrick O'Gorman and subsequently Mr. D. Conway, chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. J. O'Donnell, D. Ward, J. Kirwan, T. Cochrane, T. D. Connolly, J. Butler, T.D.; T. Tracey, T. Dunne and W. Stack.

Chairman—This will be subject to sanction? Secretary—Yes.
Mr. Moloney was unanimously granted £2 per week.

ANNUAL LEAVE.
Dr. Farrell, Waterford, and Dr. Casey, Ringville, were granted their usual leave of absence. Dr. Echan, Waterford, and Dr. Power (junr.) were appointed as locum.

RESIGNED.
Dr. Jackman, Waterford, wrote resigning his position under the board as from September 30th.

Chairman—What is his salary?
Secretary—£250. Dr. White is also attached to the institution.

Chairman—When one doctor is able to do the work in Dungarvan would not one doctor do there?
Mr. O'Gorman—I say one doctor should be sufficient there.

Mr. Connolly—Is it proposed to do anything about it to-day? I propose we adjourn the matter to the September meeting and in the meantime the Secretary can have put the matter before the Department.

The proposition was passed.
Arising out of a letter from the board's solicitor regarding the plot of ground at the rear of the County Hospital, Waterford, a deputation consisting of Messrs. Kiersey, Connolly, Cochrane and Tracey were appointed to visit the place with a view to purchasing same or getting a lease of the plot.

Mr. Kiersey said he attended the meetings regularly and as far as he can see we were not over-generous, but the numbers were greater, and if they don't get assistance, then you will have to provide for them in the County Home. It should be made a National charge and it would come lighter.

Mr. O'Gorman—It is very serious. What will the number reach in the winter time when it is so high now?
Mr. Connolly—Some time ago they got a grant in Waterford and I moved that those on the books of the Home Assistance Office be given employment, but that was not done.

The matter then ended.

NEW AMBULANCE.
The Secretary reported that the ambulance attached to the County Home was practically worn out. He suggested a new one instead of patching up the old one.
Mr. Butler said he was speaking to the patients who were taken in it and they were complaining of the shaking they got.

Mr. Kiersey—I imagine the old body would be all right, but as regards the motor, it would cost the price of a new one to give it a proper overhauling.
It was decided to procure a new Ford ambulance.

A letter was read from the Department regarding the appointment of Mr. R. Moloney as temporary Assistance Officer, stating that they would not sanction the payment of war bonus with the salary.
Mr. Connolly—Would you think, Mr. Secretary, that £3 would be an excessive salary without bonus?
Secretary—No, considering he has the whole of Waterford No. 1.

Mr. Kiersey—I would support Mr. Connolly that he be paid £3 per week while acting temporary.

Chairman—This will be subject to sanction? Secretary—Yes.
Mr. Moloney was unanimously granted £2 per week.
