

DRAIN OR SEWER

URBAN COUNCIL PROSECUTES AND IS CHARGED ITSELF WITH NEGLIGENCE.

INTERESTING BURGERS CASE.

At the Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday, before Mr. J. S. Troy, D.J., the Dungarvan Urban Council summoned Messrs. P. J. Moloney, Ed. Keohan and Mrs. Eves, the Burgers, for failure to abate a nuisance at their premises at the Burgery.

Mr. Murphy, solicitor, represented the Urban Council and Mr. E. A. Ryan, solicitor, appeared for Mr. Moloney and Mr. Keohan.

Mr. Walsh, S.D.O., said he served the notices on the three defendants. He subsequently inspected the premises and the requirements of the notices had not been complied with. In each case there was a pipe drain coming from the three houses out to the open channel. Mr. Moloney had been asking the Urban Council to abate the nuisance, and he was prepared to do anything to abate it at his own place. The matter had been before the Urban Council for a considerable time.

Mr. Murphy—What is the nature of the discharge into the channel? General drainage matter, washing cups, potatoes, etc.

Don't people wash the flags and clean out their shops in the channel? As a general rule they follow it down the channel to the sewer.

Why should not the scavenger visit this place and clean it away? I don't see why he should come out there to do it.

Mr. Troy—When did the nuisance arise? Witness—While I am in the Urban Council, it is going on for 10 or 12 years.

Mr. Ryan—Have the ratepayers who live there been complaining that the Urban Council will do nothing and nothing has been done? I think they are taking steps to abate the nuisance.

What has the Urban Council done for these ratepayers? They are starting now.

Mr. Ryan—Yes, by prosecuting them, but what value are they getting for their rates? It would cost too much money to do anything.

If in a certain district sewer was threatened which would live up the people, is it your idea it would be too dear to do anything? They could construct cesspits.

Mr. Troy—Supposing it is the duty of the Urban Council to take this nuisance away is it because the Urban Council must do this duty that private people must provide cesspits? They should do it if it is their duty.

Mr. Troy—And the question of cost would not come in? No.

Mr. Ryan—There are 3 or 4 most respectable people living there who are heavy ratepayers, and you know you have power to enter any land and construct anything to carry off sewage matter. Are not there open wide fields in front of these houses? Yes.

If it were necessary for the health of the inhabitants that the place should be properly drained could not the cesspit be made in the adjoining field at a cost of £100 or so, and is not it your duty to do so? I don't think so.

In reply to Mr. Troy, Mr. McGrath said it was very hard to know what to do as the ground was so level and the distance so great from the foreman to drain it.

Mr. Troy—If that part of the gullet opposite Five's was kept clean would not that remedy it? No.

Mr. Ryan—There should be no great engineering skill required to make a fall there.

Mr. Troy, Mr. McGrath admitted if the gullet opposite Five's was kept clean it would do much to drain the road.

Mr. Troy said when the gullet was closed the Urban Council were as bad as the people they charged.

Mr. McGrath said he told Mr. Five he could only make a gullet for the breadth of a car.

Mr. Ryan—It is public property and as public property, and no one has any right to do anything without your permission? Mr. McGrath—It is done 15 or 16 years.

Mr. Ryan—The gullet is blocked and why is not it remedied?

Mr. McGrath—The channel is a dead level, to give it a proper fall it should be dug up. Mr. Moloney's, but the pipe out will not allow that.

Mr. Ryan—What do you suggest to do? Mr. Troy—Take away the pipes and build a cesspool inside? Mr. McGrath—Yes.

Mr. Ryan—Has not Mr. Moloney spent hundreds of pounds on that? Yes.

And is not this channel most objectionable outside his house? Yes.

And due to the fact that the place has not been cleaned by you? No.

Dr. McCarthy, M.O., gave evidence of the danger to public health through the nuisance existing at the place. The discharge into the channel consisted of inter alia food refuse—pieces of bread, meat, vegetables, etc., and there was no more favourable ground for microbes. The channel was quite stagnant. The discharge from the houses was one of the greatest nuisances to health that could be imagined. He suggested that the domestic refuse, done etc., was adopted.

Dungarvan Urban Council

WHIST DRIVE.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society were granted the Hall for Sunday night, 31st October, for a Whist Drive.

ABBEYSIDE SEA WALL.
For repairing the above from the angle at the schoolhouse to the bridge, two tenders were received, viz.—Michael Drohan at £30 and Ed. Fitzgerald at 1s. 6d. per square yard.

Borough Surveyor—Fitzgerald's tender is the only one in order, as the specification states to be tendered for per square yard.

Mr. Craig—What about the portion down by Tierney's?

Borough Surveyor—There is practically nothing wrong there.

Mr. Griffin—The wall is undermined there.

Chairman—We will accept Fitzgerald's tender.

Mr. Craig—Will anything be done down by Tierney's?

Chairman—The Borough Surveyor is after stating there is nothing wrong there.

Mr. Craig—I hope the Press will note that and let those ratepayers down there see for themselves. There were two letters before the board from Mr. Tierney complaining of the condition of the wall.

Mr. Griffin—Will all the wall that requires repairs at Abbeyside be done? Borough Surveyor—Yes.

The matter then ended.

OLD GAS LAMPS.
Mr. Butler asked that the Borough Surveyor be directed to get the old gas lamp near the Provincial Bank removed as it was out on the roadway and an obstruction.

The Borough Surveyor was directed to have it removed.

Mr. Craig—You ought also remove one which is in danger of falling at the corner of Sarsfield street, Abbeyside. This was agreed to.

CO. WATERFORD FISHERIES.

PROPOSED CURING STATION AT HELVICK.

MINISTER OF FISHERIES VISIT.

Mr. Fionan O'Leighigh, Minister for Fisheries, accompanied by an official from his Department, has just completed a tour of inspection of the more important fishing ports in County Waterford. The Minister arrived in Dungarvan on Tuesday, 19th inst., where he was joined by Mr. James Daly and also by Mr. M. Clancy to whom the Ballynagold fishermen dispose of their catch. The party then proceeded in Mr. Clancy's car to Ring College, where they were welcomed by An Fear Mor. In company with An Fear Mor the Minister interviewed a number of the Ballynagold fishermen. The representations made to him by these men mainly concerned the repair of and provision of nets for the old sail boats still in use, and also a supply of fishing gear and a new captain for the one motor fishing boat of which this little place boasts. The question of providing additional motor boats either on charter or through the Department's loan system was also discussed. The Minister explained that while he was of course bound by Government regulations as to the conditions on which boats and gear could be supplied, he would on his return to his office give the matter his very careful consideration and do his utmost to meet the wishes of the local fishermen.

Mr. O'Leighigh next visited Helvick Harbour, which, although specially cordoned off at heavy expense some years ago as a landing place for the fishing fleet operating in the area of which Helvick is the natural centre, has not yet been availed of to any considerable extent. The Minister explained to the local fishermen that his Department had now obtained a definite assurance from some of the leading Irish fish curers that they would set up a station at Helvick early next year, provided a supply of fish was assured and that reasonable facilities in the way of curing "plants" were provided. He added that a number of Arklow boat owners had agreed to co-operate in the scheme and would land their catch at Helvick during the next herring season. The question of providing certain comparatively small facilities, and his Department was at present engaged in negotiating with the Waterford County Council on that point. The Minister also stated that the property of that body, the first move lay with them. On his return to Dungarvan the Minister had an interview with Mr. Brannock, Co. C., who promised to support at the next meeting of the County Council the proposals by the Department of Fisheries which had already been transmitted in writing to the Council. The Minister also saw the County Secretary and the County Surveyor on the subject.

On Wednesday morning Mr. O'Leighigh arrived in Waterford and in company with Dr. White visited Checkpoint, Passage East and Dunmore East. At the first-mentioned place the Minister repeated the promise already made by his Department that if the County Council would formulate a scheme for certain improvements required at the harbour his Department would certainly co-operate. At Passage East the question of dredging the harbour was discussed with a number of fishermen who were present, and here again the Minister reminded his hearers that his Department had already offered to assist in having the harbour cleared of silt provided some contribution was forthcoming from council funds. The cases of one or two fishermen from whom applications for boats on the loan system were pending were also discussed with the applicants by the Minister. At Dunmore East the Minister was met by Major Lloyd, harbour-master; Mr. T. Shipsey, fish merchant, and Mr. P. J. Power, Co. C. An inspection was made of the new kipering kiln recently erected by the Department, and also of two other kilns lately set up by enterprising young men resident in the locality. The Minister stated that from the number of applications which had reached his Department from various parts of the county in the early summer herring fishing of 1927, it was obvious that the harbour accommodation would be taxed to its utmost capacity, if, indeed, the place were to accommodate the fleet at all, and this in his mind made it all the more necessary that some of the boats ought to be deflected to Helvick, standing as the latter did in the area where a great proportion of the landings at Dunmore was caught. The local gentlemen present cordially agreed with this view, and Mr. Power stated that he, too, would support the Department's proposal at present before the County Council.

The question of the water supply at Dunmore was also discussed, and Mr. O'Leighigh stated that while of course he could not bind the Minister for Finance in any way, he felt that if the local people by means of a loan or otherwise could get a suitable scheme started, the Commissioners of Public Works, as owners of the harbour, would not unlikely succeed in securing a grant-in-aid towards the scheme. Such grant, however, would of course be

DIRTY MILK

PROSECUTIONS AT DUNGARVAN.

At the Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday, before Mr. J. S. Troy, D.J., M. Ahsara, Kildangan, was charged with an offence under the Dairy Produce Act.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. Murphy, solicitor, defended.

Mr. Murphy, Inspector, said he found milk belonging to the defendant being delivered at the Glanidan Dairy. The drums were dirty and had slime inside in contact with the milk. They were positively dirty. The cans were not in a fit and proper state for the milk, and they contaminated it. The milk was rejected at the creamery because of its dirty condition. A notice was posted up in the creamery warning suppliers of the danger of sending dirty milk.

Cross-examined by Mr. Murphy—There may be three churns in the car. They were not properly washed. It was decomposed milk he saw, and it was there for some considerable time. It was lying on the ground in the case in question.

To Mr. Troy—This is the first case I had in this district. There are a few other cases pending. Taken all round things have improved wonderfully that way.

Miss Ahsara said she washed the churns herself with hot water and washing soda. After rinsing them out with cold water first on that particular morning she washed them.

Mr. Ryan—It must be a cat's lick.

To Mr. Troy—I would take some days to get alone on the churn.

Mr. Ryan—I don't ask for a heavy penalty, but I ask for a small penalty in view of the seriousness of the charge.

Mr. Troy—I take a very serious view of those cases, and I have no hesitation in putting on the full penalty. This Act was passed for the benefit of the farmers and to improve the standard of butter, and if people send dirty milk to the creamery they damage themselves, damage the creamery by deteriorating the quality of the butter, and damage their fellow-suppliers. It is a very serious thing when efforts are being made to get things into better condition, and the people should take advantage of it. This is one of the first cases in this district, and as the Inspector says it is not very bad, I will impose a fine of 10s. and 20s. costs.

REPORT ON WEEKLY WORK.

Arising out of the payments for the week.

Mr. Keane suggested that the Borough Surveyor be asked to send in a brief report every week as people outside would like to know what exactly the men were employed at and what the money was being spent on.

Mr. McGrath—Personally I would like to see more money being spent provided we got results. Other works of similar size spend very much more.

Chairman—What particular work will the men be at next week?

Borough Surveyor—They will be employed at the Kifalangan reservoir for some days and covering hydrants for some time.

Chairman—There is one job I would like to bring to your notice and that is a channel at the end of Patrick street. Some old people were nearly getting hurt there.

Borough Surveyor—I can get that settled next week.

Mr. McGrath—When will the channel in the Main street be done?

Chairman—We invited tenders, but did not receive any.

To Mr. Keane, the Borough Surveyor said he was expecting to be able to procure a roller very soon and roll it in stone in Main street.

Clerk—I would like to advise the Council that if they go on spending money on work which is not estimated for they will soon be finished. There was a lot of money spent on the Hall. I only want to advise the Council.

Mr. Keane—My point is we are spending up to £200 per week. Could not all the men be brought into the Main street until it is in order? It is in a bad state.

Clerk—As regards the Main street, I must mention that several ratepayers were sour on paying the rates owing to the condition of the street.

Mr. Butler—We should all agree with Mr. Keane's suggestion and allow the Borough Surveyor to concentrate all his staff on the Main street for a week or two.

Mr. Craig—On the night the estimates were being considered all these new works were withdrawn. I was the only member who did not withdraw, and put my proposition for a new footpath at Abbeyside to a vote.

Mr. McGrath—Is improving the Main street a new work?

Mr. Craig—It was classed as such on the night the estimates were being considered.

Mr. O'Donnell—While agreeing that the Main street requires to be repaired, Mr. Craig is right.

Mr. Keane then proposed—"That the Borough Surveyor be directed to concentrate all his efforts and workmen in Main street during the next two or three weeks towards constructing concrete channels and bringing roadway into a good state of repair."

Mr. McGrath seconded the proposition, which was passed, Mr. Craig dissenting.

Mr. Keane suggested that the Borough Surveyor send in a weekly report to be considered by the Urban Council.

After the court Mr. Troy proceeded to the Burgery and inspected the place.

THE PARK.

Mr. Clancy asked if the services of the caretaker of the Park were dispensed with.

Mr. Clancy asked if the services of the caretaker of the Park were dispensed with. Mr. Keane said that there was no caretaker now, he would propose the following resolution—"That this Council respectfully ask Inspector Murray to send a patrol of Garda's to the Park during the winter months with a view to preventing destruction of public property there."

The resolution was passed.

SARFIELD STREET HOUSES.

Mr. Griffin proposed the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Craig—"That we ask the contractor for houses at Sarsfield street to supplement a wall in lieu of railings there."

TENDERS FOR ASBESTOS.

Three tenders were received for asbestos for ceiling the staircase of the Town Hall, viz.—Reps. of Mrs. Flynn, Main street, 200 square yards, £16 13s. 4d.; Eustace and Co., Cork, 200 square yards, £16 13s. 6d.; Mrs. Crotty, Square 200 square yards at 1s. 10d. per square yard.

THANKS.

Miss Devereux, Mitchell street, on behalf of herself, sisters and brother, wrote thanking the Council for resolution of sympathy passed to them on the death of their father.

SYMPATHY.

Mr. Butler proposed, and Mr. McCarthy seconded, the following resolution, which was passed in unison—"That we tender our deepest sympathy to the relatives of the late Nicholas Towler on his death and on the recent death of Miss Towler and Mrs. Towler."

TURF PRICES.

Several hundred cressets of turf from Connemara arrived in Galway market, and these were being bought at prices 500 per cent over those which obtained a month ago. The cressets in many cases contained only 300 cressets and as much as £1 6s. was demanded, and was given without any bargaining.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO INTERVENE.

The Galway Urban Council has asked the Government to regulate prices.

Exciting scenes were witnessed at the Galway Gas Co.'s works. At an early hour in the morning about 70 women carrying bags anxiously awaited the opening of the gates to purchase coke. While they waited a cart entered by another gate and the driver proceeded to load his cart with coke. The waiting women forced the gates and ordered the man to desist. They rushed him back through the gate and ultimately secured their supplies.

A Galway merchant has opened negotiations for the purchase of a 5,000-ton cargo of American coal. The vessel is expected to arrive next week with a portion of the cargo.

SAME Y. MORRISSEY.

Mrs. K. Morrissey was charged with the same offence.

Mrs. K. Morrissey was charged with the same offence. Mr. Ryan, State Solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. Murphy, solicitor, defended. Inspector Cass said at the Ballynagold Creamery he found yellow slime in the churns in which the defendant's milk was brought to the creamery, while in addition one of her cans had been painted with aluminium on the inside. The slime was adhering to the aluminium paint.

To Mr. Troy—On a previous occasion the defendant was warned about that. When we find a dirty churn or dirty milk we are not supposed to go back and find out when we warned the parties.

Mrs. Morrissey, the defendant, said as the churn was old she had it painted inside and outside. It was one of the boys at the creamery told her to do so.

Mr. Ryan—This paint is not for internal use just as some medicines.

Witness—Last May the milk was sent back on one churn and it was on the second occasion she was told she had no right to paint the churn inside. She had got a new churn since. She washed the churn in cold water and afterwards scalded them in hot water.

Mr. Murphy—It was not a cat's lick as Mr. Ryan suggested? Witness—No.

Mr. Murphy asked that the case be dealt with as lightly as possible.

Mr. Troy—I am quite satisfied the aluminium paint inside was a serious mistake. Now she has got a new churn, and before that she was warned for dirty milk, and that makes it a very serious offence, and I will impose a fine of 10s. and 9s. costs.

Rev. T. Williams, who has been appointed Parish Priest of St. Mary's, Aherilly, is a native of Dungarvan.

proportionate to the interest which the Commissioners had in the whole matter, and which the Minister pointed out was restricted to the supply of water for vessels during the seasonal fishing at the port; whereas the interest of the local people was one which continued for household purposes throughout the entire year.

Free Trade or Protection

For some time past quite a considerable amount of talk has been expended and ink wasted on the question of whether Free Trade or Protection would be the better for the Free State. There are supporters of both policies, but the great mass of the people seem to think little and care less about such abstract questions at the same time very necessary problems. So long as they have work to do, money to spend and a good time withal, the vast majority of our people never worry about policies. They leave such questions to the politicians to solve.

For a long term of years up to the signing of the Treaty in 1921 England had declared that Free Trade was the most suitable policy for us and made us live accordingly. But when our own Government took up the reins of office they examined this question and put on tariffs on many articles of import in order to stimulate some production. A big import duty now hangs over quite a lot of necessary articles, and somehow or other there does not seem to be the return there should be. Undoubtedly a big revenue is derived from the import duty on boots, clothes, glass, etc., but they have not fallen in price to the consumer though being protected. On the contrary, the cost of living is increased and as much foreign materials is imported as ever, which shows that the home industries are not thriving as they should. It is a strange but true fact that the greatest export of goods manufactured in the Free State—porter and biscuits—is in connection with two firms who have no protection, and yet compete freely in the markets of the world with all comers on their merits. Neither Guinness nor Jacobs claim Protection. They seek a free and open market and more than hold their own, which is a tribute to the quality of what they offer. The linen factories of the South thrive in the same way, and the same can be said of horse and cattle breeding and bacon-curing in the Free State. Everything that goes to make our people prosperous is unprotected, and experiments in Protection, small though they be, have so far shown that the results achieved are very meagre, and if we are to prosper industrially then there must be a tariff wall built around the country to keep out all manufactured goods. Of course if you could have Free Trade for our horses, beef and bacon, butter, eggs, fowl and fish and protection for all we import, it would be quite the correct thing, but in an age of worry, with nations dogging each other heels for trade, it would be very hard to have it both ways, and we certainly cannot afford a tariff on our agricultural produce, which is three-fourths the wealth of the Nation.

Then, again, it must not be forgotten that the Irish people are by no means akin to those of European countries in the matter of wearing apparel, boots, etc., as also in many other details of every-day life. We are more highly civilized than they, and so demand more of the up-to-dateness of life. There is a vast difference between the workers of Czecho-Slovakia and their brothers in Ireland. Our people eat well, dress well, look well and are well shod, while on the Continent the rank and file are of a different outlook on life. For any legislative assembly to get up and say: "You must pay more for your hats and boots and clothes," without being consulted, is an injustice. Tariffs should only be applied after careful inquiry and then should be imposed in full or not at all. There should be no half-measures, and a full dose of Tariff Reform would show our people whether they are self-supporting or not. At present we have a tariff on coal and see the result. Very little coal and what little there is ranging from the top price of 9s. per cwt. in Dublin to 4s. 6d. per cwt. in Dungarvan—the lowest in the land. In Waterford the price is 6s. per cwt. and they have facilities denied the Dungarvan merchants. Fancy a similar state of affairs in the clothes, boots and underwear lines. If we were cut off from outside supplies and left dependent altogether on our own factories, what would happen in the cold weather? Sufficient supplies would not be available to clothe and shoe everybody, with the consequence that a big number would be the subject of a Coroner's quest and the verdict "perished."

Free Trade and Protection are part and parcel of the inevitable law of supply and demand, and before definite action is taken on such a matter the electorate would require 10 years' education, as hitherto no attention has been paid to it. Our Government are part of the Reformers; Mr. De Valera declares for unequivocal Protection; the Farmers' Party swear by Free Trade; while the man round the corner wonders what all the bother is about. During the next ten months we are bound to hear much on the subject from many suffrage seekers.

In the afternoon a similar demonstration was given on the farm of Mr. P. Morrissey, Afane, which was also well attended. On Tuesday a demonstration of a like nature was given on the lands of Mr. George Brown, Kilmacthomas.

In view of the big acreage of the best in the County Waterford, it is not surprising that a deep interest was taken in these lifting and cutting operations.

WATERFORD FAIR.

The Old Union Fair held at Ballybricken on Monday was the largest fair for months past, and, despite the unpropitious weather farmers and buyers attended in large numbers. The stock on offer was generally the best quality at Ballybricken this year, and business was brisk, milk cows and springers especially being in good demand. Prices—Three-year-olds, from 22s. to 24s.; 2-year-olds, 21s. to 23s.; 1-year-olds, 21s. to 24s.; yearlings, 21s. to 24s. Beef was scarce and sold quickly at 24s. per cwt. dead weight. There was very little mutton and lamb on offer, but what there was sold easily at 1s. and 1s. 3d. per lb. Pigs were in great demand, local buyers and South of Ireland buyers being in attendance, and offering fair prices for the stocks as follows—Store pigs from 23 10s. to 25, according to age; boars, 25s. for very small ones, and up to 29 10s. for the handier sort; sows with litters from 24 to 28s.

At the horse fair little business was done and only a limited number of animals were on offer, for which buying was slow.

DEATH OF MRS. HANNAH KELLEHER, LISMORE.

With Rev. John Kelleher, S.T.L., St. John's College, Waterford, and Mr. Martin Kelleher Bishopstow, Lismore, sympathy is now expressed occasioned by the death of Mrs. Hannah Kelleher, their mother, which sad event took place at Bishopstow on Thursday, 21st inst., fortified by the rites of Holy Church.

The deceased was a good living Catholic Christian, a good mother, and a kind and generous neighbour, who was always willing to help those in distress. She enjoyed good health through life, and had many very many friends, and the best index of this statement was witnessed at the extraordinary attendance at the funeral. From far and near people travelled to be present at the obsequies, and testified to the popularity entertained for the departed and her family.

At the Office and Requiem High Mass on Saturday morning at St. Carthage's Church, DUNGARVAN, with the latest equipment on Mondays and Thursdays—8 hours continuous run. If over-discharged can have 4 or 5 hours extra on Tuesdays and Fridays. Wireless Batteries—High or Low Tension—emailed at Shortest Notice. POWER'S GARAGE, DUNGARVAN.

SUGAR BEET LIFTING.

DEMONSTRATIONS AT DUNGARVAN, AFANE AND KILMACTHOMAS.

On Wednesday morning a very interesting demonstration of the lifting and topping of sugar beet was given by Mr. Bookner, expert of the Sugar Manufacturing Co., Carlow, on Mr. P. Sheridan's farm at Kilmacthomas, Dungarvan. Considering the inclemency of the weather there was a big attendance of farmers. Mr. Bookner was accompanied by Mr. O'Keefe, Instructor in Agriculture. The various qualities of the beet root crop having been explained in detail by Mr. Bookner and questions answered, Mr. Bookner demonstrated with a one-horse lifter how the roots should be lifted without breaking the tops, and he also showed how the tops should be cut off to a certain depth and the roots finally prepared for despatch to the Carlow factory. Both demonstrations in lifting and cutting were cleverly carried out, and the various processes were intelligently followed by all present. Subsequently Mr. Hutchinson, of the firm of Messrs. Ransome, who was accompanied by Mr. P. J. McGrath (Reps. Moe. Flynn Dungarvan) gave a very effective demonstration with the new sugar beet lifter made by Ransome's, and for which Reps. Moe. Flynn are the sole local agents. The expert manner in which this machine performed the severe operations was a revelation to all, and as a result Mr. McGrath looked several orders for these machines.

Youghal Notes.

EVENING TECHNICAL CLASSES. The Evening Technical Classes, held in the new school in Church street are progressing most satisfactorily. Practically all the classes—with one striking exception, the Irish language one—are full to overflow. For some of them more names have been given in that can be taken on in the present circumstances. A large number of students have also entered for the classes in Commercial subjects—Short-hand, Bookkeeping and Typewriting. Owing to the fact that the Commercial teacher originally appointed by the County Joint Technical Committee was not sanctioned by the Department, those classes have not yet been started but this want will be made good next week. Recognizing the necessity and the demand for the teaching of these subjects, the local Technical Committee recommended the County Committee to appoint a local teacher for the work, and that recommendation was adopted by the County Committee at their last meeting. The success of the scheme so far reflects great credit on the recently appointed Head Master, Mr. E. A. Ryall. For months past he has devoted himself assiduously to the equipment and organization of the school, and week by week the successful results of his untiring labours are becoming more and more evident. Judging by the large numbers in attendance night after night, as compared with former years, to attend night classes is not a new thing. Hitherto, or, to be more accurate, since the cessation of the "troubles," the minds of the youth tended largely in the direction of amusement and fun, and while the Evening Technical Classes were availed of by only a very small number, the dance halls, of almost a nightly occurrence, were crowded by happy and merry, who lived on the present feeling hour, to the exclusion of all thought or care for the future. Missions avow change tout cela! It is difficult, however, to explain the sparse attendance at the Irish classes. Not so long ago, when it was almost rank treason to take part in the Gaelic League movement, the number attending the classes conducted by Dr. Kelly ran into three figures locally. Now when there is no Gaelic League locally at all, and when the powers that be supply a comfortable schoolroom and an able teacher, with both his and hers, in the person of Miss O'Foghda of Balle Mhic Coda, the number of students of the native language who have registered so far barely reaches two figures. This is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that just now, and to even a greater extent in the near future, a knowledge of Irish is necessary before a young man or woman can complete for a public position. In the case of candidates for positions in the Post Office service, Irish will be an obligatory subject from January 1st, 1927, and that date is only a short two months ahead now.

THE COAL STRIKE. As long as the winter weather lasted, the coal strike didn't bother the people as a whole, very much. Of course traders and manufacturers, who required large and regularly replenished stocks, were a bit hard hit by the scarcity and the upward trend in prices. However, the recent break in the weather has changed all that, and just now almost every member of the community has been feeling the pinch. That bleak easterly wind has a knack of getting under one's skin and making itself very felt to the backbone and the bone beyond it. As one says, "put it, we are cold, but unfortunately not cooled." As a subject of conversation, the weather, bitter and biting as it is—fear, fitch—has taken a very back seat. It is now all about "Old King Coal." A traveller up to Dublin on Sunday to the great hurling match—Cork v. Kilkenny—states that the coal question was the talk and the joke everywhere. "How's the coal with ye?" "Oh! very slack." And "slack" it is in all truth. The last cargo—perhaps it would be more correct to say, the "latest," if it were to be the "last," cabin De chughaun—imported by Messrs. Fleming took less than a week to go. It was bought up as fast as it could be delivered. It is stated that Messrs. Fleming expect another cargo any day now, and that Messrs. Farrell will have another by this week-end. Another local firm—Messrs. Murray—had a part cargo consigned via Cork, but unfortunately it took fire on the voyage and went to blazes. In the meantime people are managing as best they can between gas, coke, blocks and turf. Only a small quantity of the last has been brought in and the price is 1s. per 1 cwt. God help the poor folk who will have to wait. The miners' leaders declare that the owners are trying to beat them by starvation. But what are the miners doing? Does it not look like trying to beat the owners by starving the community at large, including themselves. Between the owners and the miners, the unfortunate public are suffering physically and financially.

NEWS. Like everything else worth having just now news is very, very scarce. And, for a wonder, even that false, rumour, and her cousin, gossip, are almost out of business. Mum's the word! This has been an unusually dull week of it. There has been no District Court on either the 22nd or the 29th, but it is said that there are several interesting cases listed for hearing on next Friday, including larceny, ejectment, etc. There was no court at Talbot this month, the new rules having come into effect on the 1st inst. The business at the usual weekly meeting of the Urban Council was of a very tame character, being largely routine or of no public importance. All round there is a big slump. Farmers cannot dispose of their barley, with the inevitable result that traders and others must wait for their debts. Things were never so dead as they are in our country towns. In spite of all this

KILMACHTOMAS NEWS.

Obituary.—We regret to announce the death of Mr. Michael Curran, Bonmahon, which sad event occurred on the 29th inst. after an illness of some months' duration. The deceased gentleman was a member of one of the oldest and best known families in these parts, and his demise at a comparatively early age, was occasioned by profound and widespread regret. He was highly respected by all classes of the people, and many and fervent were the prayers sent up to the great White Throne for the eternal welfare of his soul. To his bereaved sisters, brother and relatives, the deepest sympathy is extended in the great loss they have sustained. R.I.P. On the evening of the 21st inst. the remains of the late Mr. Curran were removed to the Parish Church of St. Anne's, Ballymahon, where they rested overnight, and on the following morning Solemn Office and Requiem High Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. The officiating clergymen were—Rev. W. Burke, C.C., Stradbally, celebrant; Rev. J. O'Shea, C.C., do, deacon, and Rev. M. Dowley, C.C., Kill, sub-deacon. In the choir were—Very Rev. J. Lennon, P.P., Stradbally; Very Rev. J. O'Donnell, P.P., Newtown; Very Rev. J. A. Kirwan, P.P., Kilsenny; Rev. P. Kearney, C.C., do; Rev. M. Carroll, C.C., Ballybricken; Rev. M. Ahearn, C.C., Kilmacshom; Rev. M. Power, Chaplain Carriaga Convent, Dungarvan. The funeral subsequently took place to Fews Cemetery, where in the family burial site all that was mortal of this good young Irish Catholic was reverently consigned to its natal dust in the presence of a remarkably large and representative gathering of sorrowing relatives, friends and acquaintances. Rev. M. Power, C.C., recited the last prayers at the graveside. A large number of beautiful floral tributes were placed upon the fresh-piled mound. The chief mourners were—The Misses Kate and Ellen Curran, Bonmahon (sisters), and Mr. John Curran, Waterford (brother). The funeral arrangements were admirably carried out by Messrs. D. O'Reilly and Sons, Kilmacshom.

Again it is our sad duty to place on record the death of Mr. Martin Whelan, which occurred recently at the Waterford County Hospital. Deceased belonged to an old-established Bonmahon stock and was a general favourite with all. At the Stradbally, Falls and Ballyhenan Churches on Sunday last prayers were offered up during the Masses for the repose of his soul. May he rest in peace.

The All-Ireland Hurling Final.—Owing to the wooded state of the weather on Sunday morning last but a comparatively small number of the local canon enthusiastically availed of the excursion train to Kingsbridge. By the way we learn that it took this train 64 hours to make the return journey, and that the majority of its passengers had to be content with "standing room" practically the whole way. If such be true—and we have no reason to doubt it—it looks as if the Railway Company doesn't care the proverbial "straw" for the comfort and welfare of their paying patrons, the "sheehy" are their chief and sole concern, seemingly, and the more of these they can rake in the more satisfied they become, regardless of the painful overcrowding of carriage compartments. Certainly the travelling public should rack against this unhealthy state of affairs. And that's that!

The Fair.—Held on Tuesday. Large supply of stock and good demand for stores and much cows of superior quality. Buyers were fairly numerous, yet many cattle remained unsold. Quotations—3-year-old stores, 1st class, 41s to 43s; 2nd class, 41s 10s to 41s 10s; yearlings, 1st class, 41s to 43s; 2nd class, 39s to 41s; weanling calves, 2s 10s to 4s; sucking calves, 7s to 9s; heifers, under 60s to 57s 6d; wethers, 47s 6d to 55s; lambs, 57s 6d to 45s; inferior lambs went as low as 30s; bonhams, 35s to 50s; store pigs, 10 weeks to 4 months, 6s to 7s.

Coming Events.—In connection with the Kilmacshom Gold Medal Tournament (Senior Hurling), Ballyduff and Ballytruckle will cross blades in the opening round at the local sportsfield on to-morrow week. Mr. Frank Drohan will have charge of the whistle, and after the hurling contest he will referee a friendly football challenge between Kilsenny and Rathgormack. Granted favourable weather conditions two rattling games are anticipated. The Bonmahon Prize Fife and Drum Band will be in attendance. The gate receipts are to be devoted to the Durrus Handball Club, of which Mr. David Power is president, Mr. James Fleming treasurer, and Mr. Pat Burke, secretary.

A Kilsenny Death.—The passing of Mrs. Mary Quinlan, late of Comaragh, removes from the parish of Kilsenny one of its oldest and best-known residents. The deceased lady had reached a venerable ripe old age and breathed her last fortified by the final consolations of holy religion. She was buried in the parish graveyard in presence of her grief-stricken family and a large attendance of the general public. R.I.P. The chief mourners were—Martin Quinlan (husband); Patrick and Edmund (sons); Minnie and Kate (daughters), and Wm. Drohan (son-in-law).

we are told that "things are looking up," "we are on the high road to progress," "we have turned the corner," etc. It was undoubtedly bad to pessimistic, but it is much worse to turn a blind eye to the facts of the situation.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present.—Messrs. M. Whelan, chairman; T. Harrington, R. C. Farrell, A. J. Fowkes, W. Coughlan, M. D. Bodrick, J. Troy, A. W. D. Murphy, J. Kennedy.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS. The following letters were read and ordered to be inserted in the minutes:—"The Bush, Youghal. Dear Mr. Walsh—Will you please convey to my colleagues on the council my sincere thanks for their resolution of sympathy on the death of my sister-in-law, Mrs. Barry. I thank you for associating yourself with the resolution.—Yours sincerely—Pat. Kennedy."

"Knockmolas. A Chair.—Please convey to the Youghal Urban District Council my sincere thanks for their kind congratulations on my success at the recent Clerical Officers' Examination. I am also deeply grateful to you for your kindness.—Miss Le Meas—John Foley."

PRICE OF GAS. In the Gas Manager's report it was stated that there would be a loss on the year's working owing to the increased cost of coal due to the strike and the recent reduction in the price of gas.

The Chairman said it would be only reasonable to restore the price to the previous figure temporarily. Mr. Bodrick said it wasn't a question of price, but of being able to supply the gas for lighting and cooking. The Chairman said he believed some 75 per cent. of the people depended on the gas for cooking and lighting, and they would be in a desperate way without it. He had reduced the price from 7s. 6d. to 6s. 8d., and he suggested that it should be raised again if it could be brought up for revision in January if circumstances permitted.

TREES AT GREEN PARK. A report of the Improvements Committee was read recommending that the large old trees at the Green Park, which were decaying, be cut down and removed. Mr. Coughlan suggested that they be cut down and sold to the poor at a price to cover the cost involved. Owing to the complete absence of coal supplies, the poor were in a desperate condition. He visited a poor neighbour with a child who was threatened with pneumonia sitting before the stove of a fire. She had none of her own. That unfortunately was a very general case in the town at that time.

Chairman.—That was a case for the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Mr. Coughlan said he was dealing with the question of the trees. The Chairman said he feared the council as custodians of the public funds could hardly give the trees to anybody. Mr. Coughlan said the trees were a danger to the public and must be removed at the public expense, and in the circumstances prevailing he didn't think the Government would object to the council disposing of them to the poor at a price to cover the cost. The Chairman said he would be only too pleased to do as suggested if they could. Ultimately it was decided to invite tenders for the cutting and removal of the trees and to lay Mr. Coughlan's suggestion before the L.G. Department in the meantime.

LARGENY OF A BICYCLE. A young man named Patrick O'Brien, MacCurtainstown, Youghal, was charged before Mr. P. J. McMahon P.C. on Friday evening last by Sgt. O'Shaughnessy with the larceny of a bicycle, the property of John Donovan, Ballymahon. The sergeant having made a deposition, the accused was remanded in custody to meet Youghal District Court.

NEW P.C. Mr. Wm. Curran, the Glebe, Clashmore, has been appointed a Peace Commissioner. This is a very popular appointment in the locality where Mr. Curran is deservedly appreciated for his many good qualities.

PRIEST'S INCOME TAX. At a meeting in Ballymahon on Sunday last Canon Hackett, P.P., Killary declared that those in favour of partition were traitors to their country. Taxation was simply enormous, and beyond the capacity of the people to bear. For the first time, except in the case of big parishes, they were following priests for income tax, and he had been decreed for £10 for the upkeep of men drawing big salaries who were going riding throughout the country on motor cars, while he had to do the work of his parish on a push bicycle. "If I have to pay it," Canon Hackett said, "I will let the world know of their tyranny." Commenting on the National Party, he said they could not expect much from it, as it was led by an ex-British officer, Capt. Redmond, supported by another ex-British officer, Capt. Harrison. Father Coyle said he was sorry he had anything to do with Mr. Rhye at the last election. Mr. Rhye declared to him that he would not stand for partition, that anyone who did so was a traitor, and that rather than allow partition he would split the Cabinet from top to bottom.

TRANSFER OF STATIONMASTER. Mr. George Mulcahy, who had been in charge of Cappagh Station for the past 14 years, left on last Monday week on transfer to Carrmore Station, in the County Bliogo. No permanent appointment has yet been made as regards his successor, but in the meantime the duties of temporary stationmaster are being most efficiently carried out by Mr. J. Power, of the Waterford Relief Staff.

Hurling Final.

CORK'S VICTORY.

Cork had a comparatively easy passage through the All-Ireland Hurling Championship Final, and brought the honours to Munster by a substantial margin. Kilkenny showed up well in the first half, but disappointed in the closing moiety, and Cork, fresh from their victory over Tipperary (1926 champions) in the Munster Final, romped home deserving winners.

The weather was all against the game from the spectators' standpoint, and must have kept thousands of intending visitors away. Considering this adverse factor, however, and the recent heavy travelling, the crowd of nearly 37,000 must have been something of a record in its own way. The gate receipts totalled £2,200. It was a lively game in all opening stages, but the heavy mud militated against a stylish display. In this respect Kilkenny would appear to have been at a greater disadvantage. They seemed to be in no way injured to the slippery surface, which told against their hurling in practically every quarter. They fought pluckily on even when the score had gone heavily against them, but Cork, though they suffered from scoring chances in the opening half never lost confidence, and played in winning vein all the way.

Cork dominated the situation in the closing stages, and can be said to have won as they pleased in the end. The game was fought out in a genuine sporting spirit, Cork taking their success easily. Kilkenny went down fighting a forlorn hope with the courage and persistence that might be expected of a county which has won the All-Ireland title.

On the general run Cork had the better of the first half, but their forwards did not too well. They combined badly, and there was a looseness in their finish that would have counted heavily against a sturdier opposition. The Cork backs excelled, and were more than a match for the gritty Kilkenny forwards. In beating off the Kilkenny assaults the Cork captain (Sean Oge Murray) added to his already high reputation, and where starling assistance was forthcoming on every side, a special merit of credit is due to Regan, who showed up in the same reliable fashion that marked him out as a brilliant unit in the great games against Tipperary at Thurles.

The Cork midfield men, Hurley and Higgins, lost nothing of the name they had earned against Tipperary. They kept the forwards well fed, but it was only in the second half that their efforts met with due reward. The Cork forwards showed wonderful improvement in the closing stages, and the Kilkenny defence was hampered in great style on towards the end. E. Coughlan, on the Cork right wing, though suffering from an indisposition, got in telling work all the time; and P. Aherne, when opportunity offered, captured few scoring chances to slip. So weak was the Cork finish in the first half that Kilkenny were far from having lost hope on the turn over. Up to this the backs had been holding the game for Cork. With the breeze in their favour however, Cork were soon in a winning stride, and their point margin was quickly improved upon. Midway in the closing moiety there was no doubt about the result, the battle having resolved itself into a dispute as to the margin by which Cork would win.

Doyle particularly, and Reilly were best in the Kilkenny defence. Cantwell got more than his own share of hurling in the Kilkenny goal. Saving well betimes his clearances were invariably sound, and many of the shots that beat him reflected in no way on his ability as a custodian. The Kilkenny forwards fought hard, but they were beaten by a superb defence that since the start of the championship had more than any other part of the field helped to bring the honours to Cork.

Cork, beyond any shadow of doubt, merited the award. They outclassed a well-trained Kilkenny side that were more than hopeful of bringing the title to Leinster. All things considered, it was a successful termination to a memorable championship. Cork won well, and their victory is enhanced by the splendid spirit shown by the Kilkenny men, who, when confronted with an awkward situation, declined in any circumstances to accept a bloodless victory. Kilkenny played the game; they were beaten, but they went down fighting, and took their defeat in a manner that stamps them as worthy members of the Gaelic Athletic Association, and trusty upholders of the proud tradition of their country.

If we overlook their defeat by the London-Irish in 1901 are now second on the winning list to Tipperary. Tipperary have ten championships, Cork nine, Kilkenny eight, Dublin four, Limerick three, and Kerry, Clare, Leix, Wexford and Galway one each. Cork last won the championship in 1919, and the counties successful in the intervening years were—1920, Dublin; 1921, Limerick; 1922, Kilkenny; 1923, Galway; 1924 Dublin; 1925, Tipperary.

WATERFORD WOMAN'S DEATH. CAR DRIVER CHARGED. A sequel to the fatal accident at Drummahaire, Waterford, on September 29th, which was investigated by a Waterford Coroner's jury, and who held that deceased's death was accelerated by the accident for which the driver was to blame, occurred on Saturday in the street of Declan Keogh, the driver. He was charged that he did wilfully kill and slay one, Bridget Rockett, of Drummahaire, and on being cautioned, replied: "I could not help it; I did not see her." A remand on bail was granted.

DEATH OF MR. M. CONWAY, GARRICK-GH-STR. The death is much regretted in Carrick-on-Suir of Mr. Michael Conway, Carrick-on-Suir. Deceased had been for many years a member of the local Urban Council, and it was mainly by his activities that the Council introduced the water supply into the town. He died after a brief illness.

ENQUIRIES PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

MR. KEVIN O'HIGGINS ON AGRICULTURE'S PROGRESS.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

At the meeting of the Imperial Conference on Friday, when economic questions affecting the Empire were discussed, Mr. Kevin O'Higgins spoke as follows:—

Those of us who represent the Free State of Ireland have listened with real interest to the statements of the representatives of the British and Dominion Governments on the question of trade development. In common with most other Dominions, our interest in the economic centres largely on the agricultural and allied industries where, without being over sanguine, I think we can report satisfactory progress.

My colleague, the Minister for Lands and Agriculture (Mr. Hogan), after a careful study of the problem, has embarked upon and has almost completed a systematic overhaul of the industry. Far-reaching schemes for the improvement of the education of the farmer and for the advancement of the science of farming and dairy produce have within the life of the present Government, passed from the stage of almost age-long discussion into legislative and executive fact. In these reforms the past work of the Irish Department of Agriculture and also of the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society represents a factor of considerable help. Greatly increased facilities are now provided for technical education, both in the secondary and university stages. A comprehensive scheme of licensing—after close scrutiny by Government Inspectors of the suitability of premises and equipment—of egg exporters, with serious penalties for infringement of Government regulations, is in full working order. By the spring of next year similar complete control of creamery production will have been established.

Although the ink is scarcely dry on the Parliamentary sanction for these measures, we are able to tell you that, in the opinion of competent critics in Great Britain, the best of our Irish produce for certain parts of this year have been higher in quality than the best of our foreign competitors—long established and highly organised as they are—have been able to place on the British market.

When the peculiar difficulties of our internal conditions in the past three years are borne in mind, it will, I think, be agreed that it is most encouraging to find practically all our agricultural institutions, schemes and activities, functioning more effectively than ever they did before. There is an increase in the local rate for county schemes, there is an increase in the number of Co-Operative Societies, the number of farmers grading up their breeding stocks is increasing every month. New creameries are being built and equipped, and existing creameries are co-operating with active goodwill with the Government, and there is a definite recognition throughout the agricultural community that by organisation, efficiency and hard work we can face without fear the hitherto triumphant competition of foreign countries.

I should like to add my word of appreciation to that of Mr. Amery of the Imperial Economic Committee. It is pertinent to say here that we, too, had recognised the need and had taken steps accordingly to bring the advantages of the most recent research within the grasp and understanding of the small farmer.

Similarly we are at one with the Imperial Economic Committee in its insistence upon the supreme importance of securing in our produce both uniformity of quality and continuity of supply. We recognise that it is better to have it said of our produce that it is consistently good than that it is occasionally excellent. Mr. Amery's observations on the important work of the Empire Marketing Board were of special interest to me and my colleagues, because both producers and the Government in Ireland are at the present moment co-operating in the work of improving our marketing methods. The Government of the Free State are dealing also with the question of agricultural credit.

The influence of geography on trade is both immediate and obvious, and whilst it may not be generally appreciated, it is nevertheless true that in the near neighbourhood of the Free State Great Britain being one of her best customers, the total value of our exports from Great Britain being greater than the total value of all our exports. We welcome the opportunity of taking our part in this Conference, representing as it does a great clearing house of thought and action, since we are convinced that from the interdependence of

HELD UP CIVIC GUARDS.

AMUSING COURT DIALOGUE IN CLONMEL.

Stated to have served in several armies, including the Foreign Legion, and in many quarters of the globe, Thos. Shortin (36), Newcastle, was arraigned at Clonmel on five charges of obstructing and assaulting Civic Guards in 1923 and 1924.

The charges included the stripping of Sergeant McDonnell and Meahan of their uniforms and threatening them with a revolver; discharging a revolver at James Fitzpatrick, Newcastle; presenting a revolver at Sgt. Meahan and Guard Hand in February, 1924 and presenting a revolver at Guard Conroy in December, 1923.

Judge Sealy sentenced accused to 12 months' hard labour on each charge, not to be enforced if he did not offend again and behaved himself as a good citizen.

Accused thanked the judge and was discharged. Mr. Skinner, for accused, said the latter had been in the movement in Ireland before the Truce, and after that he joined the Republicans. He was on the run at the time and the affair in connection with Sgt. McDonnell was a pure piece of bravado. The other incidents arose out of some trouble with a man named Fitzpatrick.

Accused said notices spoken of were threatening some people to leave the district, but he had nothing to do with them. He fought against the Black and Tans and subsequently served with the Republicans. Judge Sealy—Is there any army you could join, because you seem to be a fighting man (laughter)?

Accused—I served in a patrol division of the British Army, and after the war I accompanied the British Army to Poland. Later I joined the Foreign Legion in the fighting in Morocco (laughter).

Mr. Skinner—And freedom shirked when Shortin fell (laughter). Judge Sealy—I thought nobody came alive out of the Foreign Legion. Did many of the Legion escape from the fighting in Morocco?

Accused—A lot of us were killed. I was in the 3rd Legion and under a general called Silverter (laughter). Judge Sealy—Did you kill any Moors?

Accused—Oh, I couldn't tell you that (laughter). Mr. Skinner—I did not know my client was so distinguished (laughter). Accused further stated that he went on a boat for a time and was working on the docks at Bordeaux. He returned to Ireland via Paris and Dover.

Mr. Skinner—Newcastle was your uncle (laughter). Judge Sealy—You think you have had enough fighting now and you want to settle down.

Accused—I would like to get back to work in Newcastle (laughter). Judge Sealy—At the same class of work as you were at in 1923 and 1924 (laughter).

Accused—No. I was working in Wales, and when the strike came on I had to leave. Since I came back I did not interfere with the police. Judge Sealy—I suppose you were running away from them (laughter). Accused—I did not want to come in contact with them at all. If the strike was over I could go back to work in Wales and leave this country altogether.

Judge Sealy—I think you would be better out of this country. I think the air here must be bad for you (laughter). Accused said he had been two months in custody, and Sgt. Gahan said there was nothing against him prior to 1923. Judge Sealy—A lot of men did queer things in 1923. He added that accused seemed to be a wild specimen, but he would give him a chance, as he seemed to be inclined to turn over a new leaf. He then ruled as above stated.

BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

LORD BIRKENHEAD ON TREATY SETTLEMENT.

Speaking at the Irish Club House dinner in London, Lord Birkenhead, in proposing "Our Guests," referring to the Irish settlement, said he did not think that any settlement would have been arrived at, but for two very remarkable Irishmen, General Collins and Mr. Arthur Griffith. There was not one who took part in that conference who did not take his political life in his hands.

He remembered that one day General Collins made a very decisive observation. He said: "You cannot treat us like Canada or Australia. You cannot put us that way. We do not care how great your daughter nations are. We are not a parent nation" (loud applause).

The past should be forgotten, went on Lord Birkenhead. Even the present was not as important as the future. Ireland and England lived side by side and must look to the future together. Ireland had been in the past a great treasure and a laudable ground for our wealthy classes, but it had other qualities than that. It had also the qualities of its great people. See what quality of men had been created in Ireland in the last three hundred years, he said, referring among others to Burke, Goldsmith and "if you take the figure of a demagogue against whom even the great Cook would pale his ineffectual fires"—O'Connell and Parnell.

The British Government knew and appreciated the difficulties of the Irish Free State as the Irish Government knew and appreciated ours. Nevertheless, he was confident that the Irish Government would ultimately win through to the goal of a great success. What did that success mean? It meant that on terms of absolute equality Ireland would play its part as a great partner with ourselves in the future of the British Empire (applause).

Mr. Kevin O'Higgins responding, said that his people knew Lord Birkenhead as being a very real and sincere friend of their country (cheers). Always when things were difficult Lord Birkenhead had shown himself a real friend (cheers), and he (the speaker) was glad to have the opportunity of stating that fact publicly. Referring to the signing of the Treaty, and the difficulties and problems that had to be faced, he said they were problems which had been the growth of centuries. There followed in the months after the signing of the Treaty very difficult times for the signatories. It was well in those days that they had men of the type of Lord Birkenhead, Mr. Winston Churchill and Sir Austen Chamberlain to deal with—men who would peace. Had those men wilted otherwise there was certainly no lack of material for them. The only true answer to the question, how does the Free State stand? was that she did not stand at all (laughter and cheers). She was going ahead peacefully, putting behind her the bitter and evil memories which had rightly been referred to that night. She was going forward building up a State that would be worthy of those who signed the Treaty (cheers).

The Irish delegates welcomed the opportunity of meeting in friendly conference the representatives of the other component States of the British Empire (cheers).

DEATH OF MRS. B. McDONAGH, LISMORE.

After a tedious illness, which was borne with true perfect resignation, the death took place on Friday last of Mrs. Bernard McDonagh, Chapel street, Lismore, in his 38th year. Deceased was grandson of Mrs. Margaret O'Shea and son of Mr. and Mrs. McDonagh, and was a popular young man. His health for a considerable time was not the best, and the end was not unexpected. His remains were removed on Saturday afternoon to St. Carthage's Church, where they rested overnight, and on Sunday last the interment took place in St. Carthage's Cemetery. On both occasions the funeral cortege reached large proportions and was ample testimony of the esteem and regard in which the deceased and family were held in the district. Rev. Thos. O'Gorman, C.C., officiated at the graveside. With the relatives of the deceased we offer our sympathy in their bereavement.

EMBEZZLEMENT OF COTTAGES.

THREE WATERFORD MEN REMANDED.

John Kennedy, Ballymolee, Waterford, against whom informations were refused on a charge of embezzlement by the District Justice a short time ago, was re-arrested at Waterford on Friday on a charge that while being a servant of the Waterford No. 1 Rural District Council and on Sunday last he did embezzle as alleged, sums of money amounting to nearly £800.

A brother of the accused, Martin Kennedy, and their father, Palk Kennedy, late Clerk of the Waterford Union, were subsequently arrested on a charge of conspiring in the alleged embezzlement. All three accused were remanded on a consent of bail.

STOLEN SHOES.

FATHER AND SON CHARGED AT CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court, before Mr. McCabe, D.J., in an adjourned fishery case against Edward Power, Carrickbeg, the Justice convicted defendant and fined him £2 for illegal fishing, and in addition £2 each for six salmon found in his house by the Civic Guards—total, £14.

The Justice bound over, to come up for judgment when called upon, Wm. Bracken, aged 15, and his father (Wm. Bracken, senr.), the lad on a charge of having stolen a pair of running shoes, the property of the Christian Brothers, Carrick-on-Suir, and the latter on a charge of illegal possession of shoes.

The shoes were taken from the field during a sports practice by the Christian Brothers boys.

The Justice said it was very sad and disgraceful to see a lad like the defendant commit perjury. He did not believe a word he had sworn, nor a word his father had sworn.

Denis Healy was fined 10s. for assaulting Mr. Thomas Morrissey, Fishery Inspector.

Mr. Morrissey said defendant attacked him after last court day and said he had perjured himself in a fishery case against his (Healy's) brother. He struck him in the eye. Defendant denied the assault, but admitted having lectured defendant on perjury.

DEATH OF MRS. M. CREEDON, LISMORE.

The death has taken place of Mrs. Margaret Creedon, of Ballyn, Lismore, much to the regret of those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and a large circle of friends. Deceased was mother of Messrs. Alex and John Creedon, two of the most respected citizens in the district. She had reached close on the octogenarian span of years, and through life enjoyed splendid health. She was one of the old school, and a native of the Ballinacorney district. Most industrious, hardworking and inoffensive, she made many friends, and always was a kind and obliging neighbour. She was a kind and obliging neighbour, and always was a kind and obliging neighbour. She was a kind and obliging neighbour, and always was a kind and obliging neighbour.

INJURED ON BOAT.

SUIR NAVIGATION COMPANY SUED.—£1,250 DAMAGES CLAIM.

Before Mr. Justice Sullivan and a special jury, in the High Court, in the action of Mrs. Ellen Goldsmith and another against Thomas Walsh and Son, Mrs. Ellen Goldsmith, 9 Fulham place, Baddington, London, and her husband, Alfred J. Goldsmith, a Government clerk, claimed damages against Thomas Walsh and Son, Carrick-on-Suir, proprietors of the Suir Steam Navigation Co., for personal injuries received by Mrs. Goldsmith while a passenger on the defendant's boat on August 22nd, 1925, caused, it was alleged, by the negligence of the defective condition of the boat.

Mr. Lynch, K.C.; Mr. Lupton, K.C. and Mr. M. J. Conolly (instructed by Mr. H. D. Keane) were for the plaintiffs; and Mr. A. Wood, K.C., Mr. K. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. C. F. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. J. J. O'Shea and Co.) for the defendants.

Plaintiff claimed £3,000 damages in respect of personal injuries. The plaintiff, Alfred A. Goldsmith, claimed £1,250 for the loss of the society and services of his wife and medical and domestic expenses incurred. The defendant denied negligence. Judgment was given for defendant.

AN IRISHMAN'S TOAST.

Here's to the men of our hills so green, Here's to each one and his Irish colleen; Here's to the one they love dearest and most, It's the green, white and gold, that's an Irishman's toast.

Here's to the flag they put floating on high, When for you, dear old Ireland, they went out to die; They unfurled the flag of which they can boast, It's the green, white and gold, that's an Irishman's toast. J.O., late of Youghal.

DUNGARVAN SWIMMING CLUB.

The Club shall be known as the Dungarvan Swimming Club, having Registered Office at Stokes's Baths, and its primary object shall be to provide facilities to any one who may aspire to swim Stokes's Pond. The financial liability of members as such, has never been discussed, but it shall be considered most improper for any member to undertake the discharge of private debts of a fellow-member. Members desiring to swim the Pond must undergo all expenses of training; they shall give due notice of the day and hour on which they will attempt the swim, so as to enable the coastal watchers to divert the traffic of the incoming and outgoing boats.

RULES.

The Roll shall be called each morning at 8.15 a.m. sharp. Should a member absent himself from roll-call on a frosty morning, his name shall be proclaimed from the Pump on the Square, and he shall forego his morning dip for one week. Members shall not be permitted to swim beyond the Cunningham. Non-swimmers may, however, use their own discretion in this respect. Members should satisfy themselves that there is water in the Pond before venturing to dive from the roof of the bathing boxes.

It will not be necessary for members to undress for their swim during the month of January, as Turkish Baths are at the disposal of those who may foolishly desire to dry their clothes.

Should any member wish to quench his thirst he shall be supplied, free of charge, with two quarts of salt water. On no account may a member be permitted to indulge in more than the quantity allowed by this rule.

Smoking shall be strictly prohibited before the morning swim, but members may indulge in one "Woodbine" before breakfast.

Intending members will please note that there is no age limit; that the Club is non-political and non-sectarian; that there are no unnecessary tests as to physical fitness or swimming propensities; and, finally, that no swimming lessons are given as our motto is "SINK OR SWIM."

When Coal is Short, mother of invention, the mind were never so busy as when the coal shortage has been so long. In town has been and is dire. Poor to provide fire for winter. Even to make matter of extreme difficulty is every indication that will last for months with coal strikes were over in steps should be taken to want of the poor. In and wintry weather it is most pressing importance attended to at once. No or turf available in quantity should be made supply. Not far from are big supplies of turf could be procured under the present reasonable price for the poor through the Vincent de Paul Society, the done under the care of the poor as the better to too far advanced and be a difficulty.

Tribe to Local Community at large, to Messrs. A. M. Ltd., and K. Williams, the success of their coal supplies on the selling same at the Free State, viz., 4s. 2d 10s. per ton. Had provisions they made to Dungarvan, our people would be very glad to complain. As further, one any day in town there will be no fear of another bit. But means some of our charitable take up the question of supplies locally for the advisability of raising a posse. Those who are to with the world's goods to lend a helping hand, their less favourable is not because God, it has a fire in his beard, people should go to bed.

MARRIAGES.

CAROLAN AND HAYES—On Wednesday, October 28th, 1926, at Carrigart, Co. Down, by the Rev. J. Sheridan, P.P., with Nuptial Mass, Andrew James, only son of the late Charles E. and Annie Carolan, then of Jocelyn street, Dundalk, to Theresa Eleanor, second daughter of the late Thomas and of M. K. Hayes, Carrigart.

PHILAN AND POWER—On Tuesday, October 26th, 1926, at the Parish Church, Dungarvan, with Nuptial Mass, by the Rev. David Power, C.C., Kilgobnet (brother of the bride), assisted by Canon Purdon, Margaret A. Power, daughter of the late John and Mrs. Power, Glenmore, Touranema, was united in wedlock with Walter H. Philan, Waterford, son of the late James and Mrs. Philan, Graignagower, Ballymacarty.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Co. Waterford Hurling Final.—Lismore and Dungarvan met in the Gaelic Field on Sunday to decide who will be the Hurling Champions for 1926. Both teams can give an excellent account of themselves, and having trained consistently for weeks past, they are sure to be in readiness for the clash of camans when the referee sets the game afoot. It will be a fast and scientific display in which nothing will be left to chance, and only the best trained team can win. This great match should not be missed by all who love the sporting code. For special train see advt.

When Coal is Short.—Necessity is the mother of invention, and the resources of the mind were never so taxed as they have been over the coal shortage, where every device has been resorted to keep the home fires burning. In town and country there has been and is dire distress among the poor to provide fuel in this cold and icy season. Even to make tea has been a matter of extreme difficulty, and as there is every indication that the coal shortage will last for months with us, even if the coal strike were over in the morning, some steps should be taken to provide for the wants of the poor. In the present hard and wintry weather it is a matter of the most pressing importance and should be attended to at once. As there is little or no turf available in this area, a concentration should be made on the timber supply. Not far from Dungarvan there are big supplies of timber, which are sure to be procured from the owners under the present circumstances at a reasonable price for distribution among the poor through the medium of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Something must be done under the circumstances in the interests of the poor and distressed, and the sooner the better before the winter is too far advanced and entering woods will be a difficulty.

Tribute to Local Coal Merchants.—The community at large owes a debt of gratitude to Messrs. A. Moloney and Sons, Ltd., and K. Williams and Co., Ltd., for the success of their endeavours in procuring coal supplies on the Continent and selling same at the lowest price in the Free State, viz., 4s. 6d. per cwt. and 24 10s. per ton. Had it not been for the provisions they made to secure cargoes for Dungarvan, our plight was very bad, and we would have had far more reason to complain. As further cargoes of coal are due any day in town for the same firms, there will be no fear of a famine for yet another bit. But meantime we hope that some of our charitable organisations will take up the question of securing timber supplies locally for the poor, and consider the advisability of raising funds for the purpose. Those who are fairly well supplied with the world's goods will not hesitate to lend a helping hand to relieve the distress of their less favoured neighbours. It is not because Coal, the miners' leader, has a fire in his bedroom that our honest people should go to bed with cold feet.

Pinnac Traveling.—The big contingent from Dungarvan and the intermediate districts to Waterford who travelled to Dublin on Sunday to witness the All-Ireland Hurling Final had a rather doubtful pleasure in returning home on a cold, raw, wintry night. The train left King'sbridge at 7.45 p.m. and arrived in Dungarvan at 4 a.m. It was not a joy-ride, never did an excursionist get value for his money. In addition to the misery of the journey, spectators were treated to a third-rate contest at Croke Park, as the Kerry men were not in form at all and put up a very poor fight for the honours of the fray. Only 26,000 people were present, while last year's assembly at the Final at Thurles recently. It is evident that Munster monopolises hurling, and it is more or less a waste of energy to have hurling finals played in Dublin, as the populace there do not turn out to witness the contests. Last Sunday's match if played in Thurles or Dungarvan would be an attendance of over 45,000 people.

Cappoquin Meats.—The replay for the Cappoquin Meats takes place on Sunday, November 7th. On the last occasion the match ended in a draw after one of the most exciting and interesting events witnessed in West Waterford for many a day. The return match should prove a real treat for lovers of the game.

Dungarvan Literary Club.—The annual meeting of the above Club will be held on Sunday night next at 8.30 p.m.

Smart Flat.—For having no light and no name on his cart, James Power was fined at Dungarvan District Court 2s. and 15s., respectively.

Old Institution Leaves Dungarvan.

The first house erected in Dungarvan by the Normans was that where the Post Office now is, and it was built for the Sheriff of the Borough. That was 800 years ago, and from that time until this week we always had a Sheriff occupying amongst us. On Monday last in accordance with the new order of things the office of the Sheriff in Dungarvan was closed and the business transferred to the Courthouse, Waterford, where the County Registrar—as the Sheriff is now styled—now operates. Mr. W. Brazil, who was the able and efficient Sheriff's representative for many years past in Dungarvan, has been promoted to the rank and pay of a Civil Servant and appointed to the County Registrar's Office, where he has taken up duty. And we are sure that both Mr. Colbert and Mr. Brazil will give the same perfect satisfaction to the community in their new sphere of operations as they did in the days of their Sheriffship. Of course their duties remain the same. A writ is a writ and a decree a decree. No more and no less as defaulters will specify find out. Henceforth all business in the Sheriff's department will be transacted at the Courthouse, Waterford. Following his transfer to Waterford, we understand Mr. Brazil will dispose of his well-located and attractive residence situated in Church street, Dungarvan.

Fest of the Kingship of Christ.—In the Diocese of Waterford the Feast of the Kingship of Christ will be celebrated next Sunday with all the pomp and splendour of the Catholic ritual.

Dungarvan Markets.—Oats, 10s. per barrel; eggs, 2s. per dozen; butter, 1s. 5d. (retail) per lb.; meal, 24s. dead fine; 28s. middle-cut; flour, 37s.; bran, 11s.; pollard, 11s. per cwt.

Death of Mr. Nicholas Towler, Gurteen.—Deep regret is felt at the death of Mr. Nicholas Towler, which occurred at his residence, Gurteen, on Friday last at the early age of 30 years, fortified by the rites of Holy Church. He was one of the most popular young men in the country. Being a bonsetter of high repute people travelled from near and far to avail of his skillful services when in need, and they did tribute on Sunday last to pay a last tribute of respect to his memory as his coffin was sorrowfully borne to his last resting-place at Clashmore. His funeral was nearly four miles long. He was beloved by all, and many a tear was shed at the news of his untimely death. The deepest sympathy is extended to his brother and sisters in their sad bereavement. Very Rev. T. Mochler, P.P., Clashmore, and Rev. L. Egan, C.C., Dungarvan, officiated at the graveside. The chief mourners were—William (brother); Kate, Nell, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Curran and Mrs. Barry (sisters); G. Troy (nephew); W. Murphy, E. Curran, M. Foley and J. Barry (brothers-in-law); Mrs. Troy, Herwick (aunt); Margaret and Nellie Foley, Glenmore; Mary and Margaret Foley, Piltown (nieces); James, John and J. Murphy and J. Foley (nephews), and an immense circle of cousins and friends. R.I.P.

40-43 per cent. Basic Slag.—The up-to-date farmer always makes sure to apply Basic Slag early to obtain best results. We have been fortunate in securing a small quantity of this High-grade Fertiliser, which we are offering at tempting prices. Early looking advisable as we were only able to secure a limited supply at present.—Crotty's Manure Merchants, Dungarvan.

County Council.—A special meeting of the County Council will be held in Dungarvan on Tuesday next at 1 p.m. There is a lot of important business to be dealt with affecting the public life of the county.

Tallow Coursing Meeting on November 2d promises to be a great event. All the arrangements for the meeting are as perfect as they can be, and the committee are having nothing to chance. Tallow is the only Club in the County Waterford, and it is up to our sportsmen to stand by the sportsman of Tallow and make the meeting a thorough success. The draw will take place on Monday next, and with the three arenas well filled with the best dogs, Wednesday next should be a record for the Club on their new grounds.

Value of Land.—On last Tuesday Mr. M. F. Walsh held a successful auction of a nice compact farm containing 38 acres with dwelling-house, out-offices, etc., the property of Miss Kitty Foley, Mountstuart. An Extensive and Valuable Farm of Land situated at Stranacally, containing 134 Acres or thereabouts, statute measure. Annuity 47s. 1s. 6d. P.L.V. 4133 12s. This Fertile Holding is about six miles from Tallow and the same distance from Lismore. The Lands are noted for their richness and possess a never-failing and ample supply of water and a large quantity of valuable growing timber. Further particulars on application to DAVID NOONAN, M.A., Auctioneer and Valuer, Lismore.

Accident.—An old woman named Kate Fitzsimons was knocked down by a saddle horse near the Boys' School, Cappoquin, on Monday afternoon and sustained some cuts and abrasions about the face and nose, but fortunately escaped any serious injury.

Cappoquin Coal Shortage.—The pinch felt in other towns owing to the coal shortage has not been so acutely felt in Cappoquin so far owing to the large amount of timber available, but the public would still prefer to see a speedy return to normal conditions again, especially bakers and others, who find timber alone but a very poor substitute for coal.

Tons of Fire Bricks cut to short sizes suitable for ranges and grates, oak and ash, at 2s. per cwt. in our yard.—Messrs. Flynn, Dungarvan.

WEST WATERFORD HUNT. Now I hope that I won't be intruding. If a space in your paper I seek. To remind all our jolly good sportsmen that the opening "meet" is next week. Lay aside all your cares and your trouble. Leave the things of this future to fate; Take a gallop or a hillside and stable. But whatever you do—don't be late. Hark! poor Reynard feels trouble is brewing. When he finds his door barred up with stone. Says, "I must travel away o'er the mountain. For I know 'T'Y' be safer from home."

We shall hear once again the sweet music of the hounds in the valley below. And the Master's reply on the horn. As his forefathers did years ago. KATHLEEN F. MILLS, Drogheda.

SCIENCE AND THE GRAMOPHONE.
A NEW INSTRUMENT.
ELECTRIC RECORDS.
The expenditure of some fifty thousand pounds on investigation in the laboratories of the Columbia Company has culminated in the production of what is called the new Viva-sonal Columbia gramophone. A generally accepted limitation of the gramophone has been the unequal response or balance of the instrument making for a preponderance of certain notes and musical instruments at the expense of others. The aim, therefore, behind the new investigation was to produce an instrument giving an even response throughout the entire musical range.

Chemists, scientists and musicians joined forces to ensure perfect results, and each of those bodies had to be satisfied before any new step was taken. Gradually, the separate and combined experimental work was merged into one unit, but not until every chart, graph and diagram registered the pre-determined standard of perfection.

The new Viva-sonal Columbia was the subject of an interesting demonstration at the Comnaught Rooms, London, the other day before a distinguished company of musicians and journalists. Sir Henry Wood, Sir Hamilton Harty, Sir Henry Coward, Sir Alexander C. Mackenzie, Sir Frederic Cowen, Gustav Edouard, Edward German, Professor Granville Bantock, Albert W. Ketelbey, and many other musicians were among those present, the interest in the invention being such that some visitors had travelled from New Zealand, South Africa, Germany and France to hear it.

An important feature of the demonstration, too, was the first public use of new electric records, in the making of which, particularly those of orchestral music, Sir Henry Wood said there had been an immense improvement.
The new Viva-sonal Columbia, although dated 1927, has been released for the present season, and is now on show at MOLONEY'S STORES, DUNGARVAN, who are Sole Distributors for this wonderful gramophone.

Fish Cur

At the special meeting of the County Council on Monday night last, Mr. Kiersey, chairman, read a letter from the Department of Fisheries, Dublin, dated October 27th, 1926, in which was read—
"With reference to the correspondence relating to the proposed fishing pier at Helix, I have the honor to inform you that the Minister for Fisheries has given his attention to the matter, and it seems to me that the pier should be constructed on public funds and not on the funds of the fishing pier. It is a matter which is of great importance to the fishing industry, and it is a matter which is of great importance to the fishing industry, and it is a matter which is of great importance to the fishing industry."
The Minister has been endeavoring to fish curers to interest matter from their side, but he believes he is finally that about willing to make a several boats will take rings to them there. The question of providing facilities which are of the conduct of their business for their "fishing" together with a supply of fish for the fish curers to interest matter from their side, but he believes he is finally that about willing to make a several boats will take rings to them there.

I am to point out of £200 by the council would, of course, be a shape of next year, but hour dues on fishing pier—
It is, of course, if not already done, essential.

As there is not yet a fishing pier, the shape of next year, in favour of a reply at of the council.
Mr. Rush, of the came there to urge the return for the large of hour, which was cost £47,000, of which the tribute £2,000. Since 1921 it had been a plant. Dunmore has a fishing pier and a congested. They are some of the boats of Wick, but the boats unless guaranteed by Messrs. Shipsey, Mr. O'Hagan had agreed would mean a lot of beginning curers there was no reason not to take up the business quired at Helix was provide for a subsid a lamp. The council charge rents for the ships. In a few years revenue apart from the provide for five plots, 46 or 47 per plot of the lamp would be partment of Fisheries tribute that. The D give a grant for the Mr. Galgey—Who Harbor master and Mr. Rush—The must meet the expense Mr. Galgey—How think they can deal ing at Helix for Mr. Rush—I can Mr. Galgey—Four discharge there. The feet of water at low sea sinking in the sea being congested last year that was so considerable steamships as well as at the same time, to go at the same time. He did not think it was but the whole fact of had Scotch curers in 1924 the burrings up all these people were the poor fishermen when the Scotch were give to a crane. Mr. Dunmore pay a big an attempt is made the way it will not be the Scotchmen to Mr. Stack—I think against Helix, which
