

Cappoquin Notes.

DEATH OF MR. MICHAEL TRACY, POSTMASTER, AGLISH.

Deep regret has been caused in the Aglish district by the death of one of its oldest and most respected inhabitants, Mr. Michl. Tracy, which occurred on Saturday week after a rather brief illness. Deceased had been postmaster in Aglish for close on 20 years, and was always noted for his kind, courteous and obliging manner, as well as for the great efficiency which he displayed at all times in the discharge of the duties of this responsible position. For nearly half a century he conducted a most extensive business in the bakery, flour and meal trade, and had won a very high place in the esteem of all owing to his irrefragable character and his sterling honesty and uprightness in all his business dealings with the public. His wife, to whom he was greatly devoted, died only a month previously, and this seemed to have a serious effect on his health, as he became ill less than a week afterwards, and despite the most skilful medical attention on the part of Dr. White, Cappoquin, his condition rapidly grew worse until the end came peacefully on Saturday week to the great grief of his loving daughter and a wide circle of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Deceased had reached the ripe age of 79 years, and throughout his long and blameless life he was a most devout and God-fearing Catholic, and his last moments were made happy by the kind ministrations of the Very Rev. J. Gleeson, P.P., and the Rev. Patrick Sheehy, C.C., Aglish, who were unremitting in their spiritual attentions towards him to the end. On Sunday evening the remains were removed from his late residence to Aglish Catholic Church, and although it was raining in torrents at the time, there was a remarkably large and representative gathering of mourners from all parts of the surrounding districts to pay their last sad tribute of respect to the memory of one who had been held in such high regard by all classes.

On Monday morning Requiem Masses for the repose of his soul were offered up by the Rev. P. Sheehy, C.C., Aglish, and the Rev. John McEniry, C.C., Ballinacree, after which the interment took place in the family burial ground in the Old Cemetery, Aglish, in the presence of another very large gathering of relatives and friends. The final prayers were read at the graveside by the Rev. Father Sheehy, C.C.

The chief mourners were—Miss Mary Tracy (daughter), William and Mrs. Tracy and family, Bleach, Miss M. Tracy, Villierstown; Mrs. and L. D. Dunne, Cappoquin; Thos. Fives, do.; John, James, Edmond and Bert Fitzgerald, Ballinaparka; Redmond Tracy, Villierstown; Redmond and Mrs. Moore, do.; John and Mrs. Ryan, Coonoch, Wm. and Mrs. Walsh, Cappoquin; M. F. Walsh, do.; P. J. Walsh, do.; John and Mrs. Keating, Dromore; Thos. O'Brien, Aglish; Laurence and the Misses Magie and Killy O'Brien, do.; Miss Fitzgerald, Ballinaparka; Mrs. O'Shea, Kinsalebeg Post Office; Miss O'Neill, Piltown; Michael, Mrs. and Declan Flynn, Dungarvan; Patrick and Mrs. Collender, Cappoquin; Redmond and Mrs. Kenna, Curradarra, Clashmore; Redmond Bransfield, Villierstown; Michael and Miss Ronayne, Clashmore; Michael O'Brien, Kereen, etc. (cousins and relatives).

Several beautiful floral tributes were laid on the grave.

THE IRISH RHINE.

Now that we are promised a great but welcome "invasion" of American and other tourists during the coming summer months, what a pity it is that no move has been made to provide either a passenger steamer or motor boat for traffic on the Blackwater between Youghal and Cappoquin during this busy season. Not so many years ago, when the leading business men of Youghal, Lismore and Cappoquin displayed a spirit of co-operation and enterprise which we should wish to see repeated to-day, a regular passenger service was maintained over this delightful stretch of river by the Youghal and Blackwater Tourist Steamer Co., Ltd., of which Mr. M. H. Bowen, Youghal, was the efficient secretary. Mr. Michael Kennedy, Youghal, and Mr. R. H. Keane, Cappoquin, were then the able and enterprising managing directors, but since the regretted deaths of those two popular gentlemen, nobody has been found to fill the void, with the result that the beautiful Irish Rhine has been completely closed to passenger traffic for several years now. Apart altogether from the economic and commercial aspects of the weather, it is a shame that when we are endeavouring to attract tourists from overseas to enjoy the many beauty spots which the South of Ireland can boast of, the unrivalled scenic charms of the famed Blackwater Valley should be shut away from public gaze through the absence of a suitable river service such as existed and proved so enjoyable and successful in the past. We recall with pleasure the many gay scenes of bustle and animation which were witnessed in Cappoquin in those good old days when large numbers of tourists travelled by steamer from Youghal to visit the famous Cistercian Monastery at Mount Melleray, the beautiful castle at Lismore, and the various other points of interest in West Waterford, as this always proved a trip of happy memories to all concerned. Nor could it be otherwise for it has always been admitted that, with the possible exception of Killarney, no more delightful scenery can be found anywhere in the South of Ireland. Sailing up by steamer from Youghal on the gently-swelling bosom of a spring tide on a fine summer evening with a band playing lively music and passing by the storied and ivy-clad ruins of Templemichael, or the more modern and imposing buildings of Strancally Castle, and the fine mansions of Dromana and Tourin, with the town of Cappoquin snugly sheltered amid the trees at the end of the journey, and the blue lofty peaks of the stately Knockmealdown mountains forming a magnificent setting in the background was an experience never to be forgotten by those who once enjoyed such a trip. As the months of July, August and September have always been the principal months for tourist traffic in the past, is it too much to hope that a concerted effort be now made by the Cork Tourist Association and the other parties concerned to hire a suitable boat for those months this year and once again open up to the travelling public this beautiful route, which has been closed too long already?

IMPRESSIVE RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.

A most interesting and impressive religious ceremony, which was carried out with all the beautiful ritual of the Catholic Church, took place in the pretty chapel of the Mercy Convent here on Sunday week, when four young ladies were solemnly consecrated as members of the Sodality of the Children of Mary. The ladies who had the happiness of being consecrated were Miss M. E. Morrissey, Cappoquin; Miss Mary O'Shea, do.; Miss M. O'Mara, Ballyhane, and Miss M. Smiddy, Youghal. All the members of the Sodality in Cappoquin attended, wearing their white veils and medals, and lent a special air of impressiveness to the interesting proceedings. It had been the original intention to have a procession of all the Children of Mary held through the beautiful convent grounds, but owing to the great inclemency of the weather this had to be abandoned, and the procession had to be confined from the convent proper to the adjoining chapel. Large numbers of relatives of the four young ladies, as well as many other ladies from the town and district, were present, and also Mother Patrick, Directress, and all the community members of the chapel choir. The ceremony of consecration was performed by the Very Rev. D. Canon Whelan, P.P., D.D., after which Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given, the members of the Convent Choir being augmented by all the Children of Mary in the rendering of the music, which brought the edifying and interesting proceedings to a close.

DEATH OF MR. MICHAEL WALSH. One of the oldest and most respected inhabitants of the Old Cornerstone, Mr. Michael Walsh, Upper Main St., passed to his eternal reward on Sunday week at an advanced age and after a protracted illness. He was father of Mr. Wm. Walsh, Green street, and for a long number of years conducted a successful posting establishment in Cappoquin, and was well and popularly known by all the tourists and other visitors travelling between Cappoquin and Mount Melleray in those good old days. A man of rare honesty and uprightness, he was held in the highest respect by all, and his death now in the fullness of years, is much regretted in Cappoquin. His remains were removed to St. Mary's Catholic Church on Monday evening, and after Requiem Mass for the repose of his soul on Tuesday, the interment took place in Affane Cemetery, the funeral being of a most respectable and representative character. The Rev. J. Crotty, C.C., read the last prayers at the graveside. R.I.P.

THE SPORTSFIELD.

The fine sportsfield adjoining the beautiful Tennis Courts has now been thrown open to the public of the town and parish from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on week-days, and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sundays. This concession on the part of the Town Park and Athletic Club has been gladly availed of by all the young Gaels of the town, and interesting juvenile hurling and football matches between the residents of the various streets are held every Sunday to the delight of the younger generation and their supporters, who are glad to have some safe place to play in away from the dangers of the public streets.

PUBLIC PROCESSION IN CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

A public procession of the Blessed Sacrament will be held in Carrick-on-Suir on Sunday afternoon next, 10th inst. The procession will leave St. Nicholas' Church at 4 p.m. and will proceed via William street, Green side to the Church through William st. Much interest is taken in the procession in town. The houses along the route of the procession will be decorated. On the same day there will be the annual procession of the Blessed Sacrament from the Franciscan Church, Carrickbeg, after 11.30 Mass at the Friary. The procession will proceed through the parts of the urban district that lie in Carrickbeg and wind up at Friary grounds. The people of Carrickbeg have always been much interested in the Franciscan Fathers' annual procession of the Blessed Sacrament.

Liquor Duties.

MOTION TO REDUCE THEM.

MR. DE VALERA ON THE LICENSED TRADE.

In the Dail on Thursday week, Mr. A. Byrne moved the following amendment to insert a new section as follows:—(1) There shall be allowed in respect of beer brewed in Saorstal Eireann, on or after the 1st day of June, 1928, the following rebate from excise duty now payable in respect thereof, that is to say: in the case of beer brewed by a brewer for sale for every 36 gallons of beer of whatever original gravity charged with duty and delivered from the brewery, a rebate of £1; or where the duty now payable in respect of 36 gallons of any beer so charged and delivered is less than £2 4s., a rebate equal to the amount by which that duty exceeds the sum of £1 4s., and so in proportion for any less quantity.

(2) The Excise drawback, now payable on the exportation of any beer or on the deposit thereof in a warehouse for exportation from Saorstal Eireann as merchandise or for ship's stores, shall, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Revenue Commissioners that no rebate has been allowed in respect of that beer under this section, be reduced by an amount equal to the amount of the rebate allowable under this section in respect thereof. This subsection shall be deemed to have had effect as from the 1st day of June, 1928.

(3) The Revenue Commissioners may make such regulations as they consider necessary for the purpose of carrying this section into effect, and, in particular, for the purpose of facilitating and controlling the calculation of the amount of the rebate to be allowed under this section, and with respect to the method of computing the quantity of the beer in respect of which rebate is to be allowed.

He said he was convinced the time had arrived, even with the possibility of some loss of revenue, when some relief should be given. Something should be done to check the destruction that was taking place. If the beer duties were kept at the present level, the source of revenue would be largely dried up in the near future. A reduction in duty would also mean a reduction in price to the consumer. With a corresponding increase in output, there was every reason to think the fall in revenue would not be so large as calculated. The duty pre-war was 7s. 9d. per barrel, and was now £, and the amendment asked for the same rates as obtained in Northern Ireland and England.

Mr. Rice, K.C., supported the amendment, and said that the Minister would have to revise his view of 1926—that the brewing industry was a prosperous one. Not only was that not the case, but the revenue from it had immensely decreased. He would like to know on what grounds the reduction was refused. Was it for revenue or as an aid to the advocates of temperance? It was not for that House, in pursuing the shadowy case of increasing temperance, to cause further unemployment in the State by forcing more breweries and distilleries to close down.

Mr. Sheehy said he was a licensed vintner for 50 years and they were as straightforward, honourable and good citizens as any other section of the community. They were not asking for charity, but justice and fair play. If the Government had the courage it would treat fairly this great industry and the exports of their breweries and distilleries would make up the leeway on any loss to revenue. If they were satisfied that prohibition would be good for the Saorstal, let them put it up as an honest proposition and advocate it. The publicans would have no objection to that, but they demanded justice, for they looked on their interests in licensed houses in the same way as the farmer looked on his interest in the land. Farmers, fishermen and artisans would appreciate the Minister if he came to the rescue and gave the reliefs that had been given across the Channel.

Mr. John Daly—I am a publican, too. I was called to the bar at 26 (laughter). He could see by the attitude of the House there was little hope for a reduction that year. But they were not getting fair play. Lloyd George, as bad as he was, while he slaughtered the trade, reduced the licensed duties. Their Minister for Finance did not do any such thing. He would like to see a change in the licensing law, for in a short time some publicans would be eliminated, and the remainder would have to pay their passage out of public life (laughter).

Mr. De Valera said that his party was definitely against the amendment. They had carefully considered the question and felt that to speak of a reduction of the liquor tax at the same time as there was a question of increasing the tax on sugar was ridiculous. The alternative was to get an increase in consumption to make up the deficiency, and he thought it most unlikely that there would be an increase in consumption if the tax were reduced. In any case, were they prepared to face an increase? Would it be wise from the national or social standpoint to take steps that would lead to an increase in consumption? The argument was put up that a reduction would benefit the working-man, but it was questionable whether the relief would be passed on. He thought there was no case for a reduction. It was an industry which was ultimately going to go down, and it would be unwise to hold out hopes of improvement in the future. The falling off in the trade was due mainly to the falling off in exports, and it was unlikely that it could be made up by an increase in the home consumption. The liquor trade in this country was very strongly organised, and they were a menace to the political parties in the country. His party would support any Government or party that would stand up against influence of that particular kind. They were prepared to stand up against it themselves and to assist anybody to prevent interests of that kind having power to make or unmake Governments. They believed it would not be justifiable from any standpoint to reduce the duties, and that it would be in the national interests the most possible thing that could happen.

Mr. Blythe said they were told there would be no loss in revenue, but that consumption would increase if the duty were reduced. That argument was not correct. There had been a reduction in the beer duty in England in 1923-24, and the result of it was, roughly, that there was an increase of about 10 per cent. in consumption, and a decrease in duty yield of about 18 per cent. He believed that if this amendment were passed there might be an increase of 10 per cent. in consumption, and if there were it would mean a loss to the Exchequer of £450,000, which would have to be made up by the taxation of articles of necessity. There was really only one difficulty in this matter, and it was that the consumption of alcoholic liquor had declined at an exceedingly rapid rate. He was glad to see that decline, and he thought the country had benefited not by it. A great change for the better had taken place in comparatively recent years, but the continuance of this decline did undoubtedly cause a great deal of dislocation. It meant that people, after being engaged in a legitimate livelihood for a number of years, were finding it almost impossible to make a livelihood. A year or two ago they thought the consumption of liquor had almost been stabilised, and that the decline, if continued, would be very slow. In these circumstances he could see no necessity for giving very serious consideration to the matter. As it stood now he did think it merited serious consideration, but he would go this far with Deputy De Valera, that there was no chance that he could see, next year or the year after, of such an amendment being passed.

The Minister went on to say that, while a small increase in the consumption of alcoholic liquor would do little harm, he would not like to see an increase of 20 or 25 per cent. He thought it might be possible by some adjustments of taxation to stop the comparatively rapid decline of the industry, so that people in the various businesses would be able to adjust themselves to the new conditions. A great deal more beer was brewed here than was required by the people, and it was possible in one sense that the brewing industry was comparatively prosperous. Undoubtedly a number of small breweries had gone out of commission, but that was largely due to the fact that they had been unable to compete with the big industry in Dublin.

So far as the distilleries were concerned, what had happened was that they had lost their export market. They manufactured a special article by a special process, but their competitors produced another article by a cheaper process, and had a margin for advertising. The Irish distilleries could recover their export market by trying to make an article of superlative excellence, and catering for the special trade that would not compete with the article produced by the cheaper process. No concessions that could be given here would restore the prosperity of the distilling trade. That would only come about from a substantial recovery of the export market. If the home consumption increased by 33-13 per cent. it would not put the distillers on their feet. They must look for their salvation to regaining the export market. He did not agree with Deputy De Valera that publicans and people associated with the manufacture of beer and whiskey constituted a danger to the political life of the country. He added that there was every hope that these two industries would continue to bring in a very substantial sum, and they should not turn down the possibility of giving assistance or relief.

Mr. De Valera asked would the Minister consider the question of protecting the Irish industry by securing identity for Irish and imported whiskey as regards the standard of proof.

Mr. Blythe said that the matter of the difference of five per cent. in the proof standard of Irish and imported whiskey had been under consideration, but he would not like to proceed in any direction without having consulted the trade, because the problem they were up against was the recovery of the export market. There was also the question of the period during which whiskey should be kept in bond. Scotch whiskey matured more quickly than Irish whiskey, and it had been suggested that the period of five years should be increased. They might eventually propose to increase the period for the maturity of Irish whiskey from five to seven, and even nine, years.

Mr. A. Byrne said that in view of the sympathetic tone of the Minister's speech (laughter), he asked leave to withdraw the amendment. The amendment was withdrawn.

AMERICAN HURLERS.

Hurling is slowly but surely becoming an international game. Wherever the youth of Ireland have made their homes, this great soul-stirring pastime has been preserved, and nowhere with so much zest and endeavour as in America. Perhaps it was that the bravest of our race, and those who loved Ireland, her manners and customs best, and who in dark and evil days because of their feelings were forced to flee to a land where the suffering Gael was always welcome, in a great measure accounts for the preservation of our National game and its proud and popular position in America to-day.

The invasion of the land of Stars and Stripes by two hurling teams in 1887, and the tour of the Tipperary All-Ireland Champion Hurling team in 1926, were unquestionably of great assistance in popularising the game there. American citizens who witnessed those displays were emphatic in declaring hurling as a game unequalled from the point of science, skill and pluck—a game for men with cool dare-devil courage and endurance. Whatever the cause it is certain that from the point of view of organisation and widespread popularity of the hurling game the United States of America leads all countries outside of Ireland, and her teams if properly selected will give displays equal to any we can boast of at the moment.

The geographical position of New York and the ceaseless activity of the County Association Hurling Clubs in securing the service of famous Irish hurlers in a great degree accounts for its being the best organised centre in the States. Here we have Gaelic games brought to a high state of perfection as evidenced by the displays given by their hurlers against the Tipperary Champions in 1926, and the defeat of Kerry by the New York footballers in 1927. For a long time Gaelic players in New York suffered a great disadvantage from lack of proper practice grounds and being obliged to play the matches on a playing pitch much smaller than the minimum allowed by rule. This disability has now been removed, and New York can to-day boast of two Parks, the Innisfall Park being equal to any of our pitches in Ireland with a splendid surface and perfect ac-

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL AT RING IRISH COLLEGE, DUNGARVAN.

The scholastic year of the Children's School carried on at Ring Irish College, Dungarvan, terminated on Saturday last, when the pupils left for their homes. They came from places as far apart as Dublin and Kerry. All the subjects on the school programme are taught through Irish only. A large number of the pupils secured the Fainne for proficiency in spoken Irish.

Hurling Championship.

TIPPERARY v. LIMERICK.

At Cork on Sunday last, before a big attendance, Tipperary and Limerick met in the Senior Hurling Championship, and after an exciting game Tipperary won by a good margin.

The teams took their places at the appointed time, and received a rousing reception. Limerick playing with the advantage, tackled well in the opening stages, Conway sending over at the Tipperary end. After a further brisk test the Tipperary backs had a lively time, and were beaten by Hartigan, who was unlucky to have missed the penalty by a narrow margin. Tipperary rallied splendidly in the next duel, but had to give way a free, taken by Gleeson, who neatly centred, and Butler was forced to concede a seventy in order to save his net. Nothing eventuated from the advantage. Not many minutes after this Limerick secured another seventy for Gleeson to clear the bar with a telling effort. Sharp exchanges marked the delivery, Tipperary getting a free. Purcell landed favourably for his forwards, who made the most of the opportunity, but failed to penetrate, and play reverted to the centre, where there was considerable activity in all departments. Tipperary had again the advantage, and getting a foul-in, Cahill pulled off a spectacular minor. Shinney having sent along a good length ball, his side followed up sturdily, and the Tipperary posts were in immediate danger for some moments. The tussle finished in a lucky over for Tipperary. Conway was temporarily knocked out, and on resuming Limerick had a free for Gleeson to convert. This point was well deserved and was obtained by a great effort. Limerick showed up smartly in the ensuing play with a short visit to their rivals stronghold, and it was only the clever work of Leahy that averted a possible score. Centre field was the scene of hard exchanges from the send-out delivery, Tipperary pressing their opponents all the way, and Callinan shooting a wide. The next movement saw Hartigan, McConkey and Cross figuring prominently on the Limerick side. The attack was stubbornly maintained for the ball to go out. Tom McCarthy came into the picture in the next movement, and Limerick forwards attacked for all they were worth, to be met with a splendid defence. Tipperary were soon at the other end for Martin Kennedy to send over after a well-directed effort. The resumption saw Limerick get an opening, and McConkey seizing his chance, landed a goal which entirely baffled Butler. Callinan having replied to Lucy, a vigorous exchange ensued for McConkey and Conway to take a hand, the bout closing in a wide at the Tipperary line. The hurling was now more attractive, and there was less missing witnessed. T. Leahy having sent out at Limerick's end, a free followed to the Limerick men, but nothing resulted against the defence of Arthur O'Donnell. Play was now interrupted by an injury to one of the Limerick side. He quickly resumed, and play continued with T. O'Brien registering a point for Limerick. Tipperary's ground was next in danger, and Callinan proved too much for his opponents and brought off a fine clearance. In the next tussle Purcell lifted far out to lose a fine effort, and Limerick replied per Conway, whose shot was spoiled by Butler at the expense of a seventy. Gleeson sent out. There was nothing very much to impress the spectators so far, due to the closeness with which men were marked. Limerick were penalised in the following struggle, but Treacy was unlucky with the free. Play was again stopped owing to accidents to Callinan and Dwyer and the game was continued with frees to each side. Limerick moved up and O'Donnell had to give a seventy, off which Gleeson ran up a point. Another free against a Tipperary player for chopping saw Gleeson repeat the score, and soon after the short whistle went with the score standing—

LIMERICK—1 goal 5 points.
TIPPERARY—1 point.

The second half opened with a free against Tipperary. It was checked, and T. O'Brien sending along a long field shot, which went out by inches. Tipperary had the better of the subsequent dash for Gleeson to check and Clohessy to support. The ensuing play was quite good, and the spectators warmed to it. A free went to Tipperary, which was replied to by Hartigan and O'Brien in particularly fine efforts, and McConkey joining in the tussle, Limerick were well away on their own, and Hartigan taking a pass, Limerick got through for a goal, for which the credit was due to Conway, who was playing a sound game. Tipperary pressed for a 70, which was taken by Treacy, whose steady shot landed in the mouth of the goal, and Martin Kennedy butted in with a stinging goal which set the spectators applauding. After further exchanges Tipperary pressed for a 70, and Treacy was again to the fore with a point. Tipperary were now all out, and repeatedly charged the opposing backs, the game taking a very remarkable turn. Martin Kennedy put up the best goal of the match with a splendid feat, and received the plaudits of the spectators. Tipperary had now got the measure of the opposition, and a fur-

Irish Ireland News

NA BREATHNAIGH.

The party of Welsh teachers who have visited the Free State to study the progress being made in regard to instruction through the medium of Irish in the schools have expressed the view that the work to be done before them in Wales is similar to that which is being done in Ireland, and they are anxious that the experiences of the two countries should be pooled.

Mr. Titus Lewis, B.Sc., a member of the party, stated, in an interview, that the fluency with which the pupils whom he had examined in Galway spoke Gaelic had surprised him. He had read some very good essays written by the children, and he had formed the opinion that the teaching of English did not suffer through the greater attention being paid to the teaching of Gaelic in the Irish Free State.

Practically all the speakers of Welsh in Wales are native speakers. There are no classes for Welsh similar to our Gaelic League and Technical Classes or summer courses. The Welsh language is still in a very strong position, but the Welsh Nationalist knows that the English language has time on its side, that it will eventually, unless some countering movement is started, oust the native language. We in Ireland are sometimes pessimistic about the future of Gaelic, but the Welshman who knows exactly how near the Gaelic had gone to dying out appreciates the remarkable progress we have made and are steadily making in restoring our language.

Eighty per cent. of the adult speakers of Welsh can read the language, and they are well supplied with newspapers printed exclusively in Welsh, and a great number of bilingual papers and papers with Welsh columns. These Welsh papers have a circulation of from 10 to 15 thousand each. Compare this with the poor support given to our Gaelic papers. Still we are making progress and we appreciate the compliment these Welsh teachers have paid us in visiting our schools to study the methods and success of compulsory Irish.

AUSTRALIA.

The latest member of "An DORD FEINNE," the official magazine of the Australian Gaelic League is to hand, and is full of interesting and encouraging reading. This paper is now six years of age, and has done splendid work for the Gaelic cause during its lifetime, in Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, Newfoundland, Canada, America, and is read in every country in Europe where Gaels are, and where are they not. We heartily recommend Gaels in Ireland to become subscribers to this bright paper. Yearly, 4s. post free, c/o Secretary Gaelic League, 104 George street West, Sydney.

Another very interesting item in "An Dord Feinne" is a Gaelic column of matter collected from native speakers in Australia.

AN TGUISCEART.

The Annual Convention of the Gaelic League of Ulster was held in Belfast on Whit-Monday. Delegates attended from the nine Ulster counties and County Louth. Father Lorcan O Muireadhachain presided, Cormac Breathnach, President of the Gaelic League was also present.

Most Rev. Dr. MacBryde, Bishop of Down and Connor, in apologising for non-attendance, said in his letter: "Whatever may be Ireland's political future, if her ancient soil is to survive, her song and story, her dances and games, her music and language cannot be allowed to perish."

His Lordship added that it was because the Gaelic League stood for the things so distinctive of their race and civilisation, while leaving its members free in religion and politics, that it deserved the encouragement and support of all who loved our country.

PROGRESS MADE.

The Rev. Chairman, speaking in Irish, said that considerable advances had been made in the work of organisation in Ulster. There was considerable work before them, and he hoped that the year would see further improvement. Twenty-six branches were now operating in the Six Counties. The monthly fair took place at Ballybricken on Monday. The demand for all sorts of cattle was very quiet, and the majority of the beasts shown were lacking in condition owing to the dry, harsh weather and the very inclement winter. All classes of cattle were very poor and short of flesh, and in the majority of cases the store cattle had not shed their winter hair. Beef was very scarce and the little shown made not less than £5 per cwt. (dead). The trade for yearlings was not so good on account of the inclemency of the weather in England and Scotland. The best yearlings made from £13 to £15; secondary class from £9 to £11; inferior ones, £6 to £8. The best two-year-olds fetched from £14 to £16, and other sorts from £10 to £12, according to condition. Two-and-a-half year-olds averaged about £10 10s., and three-year-olds and upwards made from £22 to £26 each. There was a very bad trade in beef cows on account of restrictions at the ports owing to indurated udders, and it was very hard to dispose of a beast with the slightest sign of this. Bulls were very scarce, and any well-finished bull made from 32s. 6d. to 35s. per cwt. (live); inferior sorts neglected. There was a great drop in the price of fat sheep of from 40s. to 15s. apiece. Fat lambs were shown in small number and made at least 1s. 4d. to 1s. 6d. per lb. on foot. There was a limited supply of pigs, inquiry being good for all sorts of store pigs. The horse fair was small.

ATTENDANCE AND RECEIPTS.
The gate takings have been stated to be £240, and the attendance has been estimated at 11,000.

ties. In the remarkable progress that had been made in the past three years, Ulster had been in the forefront. He hoped that the result of the proceedings would speed the work. Their financial position was satisfactory.

IRISH IN THE SCHOOLS.

The Executive Committee's report, read by Mr. Sean MacMullain, stated that as the result of the continuous representations made by the Executive Committee to the Northern Ministry of Education, Irish now appeared in the Ministry's programme for public elementary schools as an ordinary optional subject from Standard III. upwards. It is hoped that the managers of schools who make a certificate of competency to teach Irish a stipulation when advertising for teachers would not rest satisfied with obtaining teachers competent to teach the subject, but would see that it is taught.

CO-OPERATION WITH G.A.A.

The Executive made several attempts to further the movement for closer co-operation with the G.A.A. The latest of these, and the one most likely to be successful, resulted in having responsibility for calling county conferences placed upon two of the Executive members of each county. In places where the Irish-Ireland movement had been retarded by the political events of the past few years. It was felt that it would be better to allow the Gaelic League and the G.A.A. time to re-organise and strengthen themselves by co-operation, rather than take up the work of raising funds for the new paper in their present weakened condition. More propaganda work had been done in the past year than was the case for many years past.

A GOOD TIP.

"The old objection," the report added, "to Irish, based upon its alleged inability as a business language remained very much alive in the North. The obvious way to meet the objection was by having the organisation use whatever means it might have of impressing on our friends in the Free State the importance of communicating in Irish with business people in the North."

THE GAELTACHT.

Cormac Breathnach, President Gaelic League, said that the organisation was alive to the good work being done in Ulster. The problem of carrying on the work in the North was different from that in the remainder of Ireland, and Ulstermen would understand their own difficulties. He regretted that nothing had been done to save the Gaeltacht. The only result of the Commission appointed by the Dail was the presentation of the White Paper, which he described as a red herring designed to cover up the failure to grapple with the problem of saving the native speaking districts. He believed that the Saorstát Government did not intend to do anything, and that the findings of the Commission would be killed by inaction. The Government had not the courage to tackle the problem.

WATERFORD FAIR.

The monthly fair took place at Ballybricken on Monday. The demand for all sorts of cattle was very quiet, and the majority of the beasts shown were lacking in condition owing to the dry, harsh weather and the very inclement winter. All classes of cattle were very poor and short of flesh, and in the majority of cases the store cattle had not shed their winter hair. Beef was very scarce and the little shown made not less than £5 per cwt. (dead). The trade for yearlings was not so good on account of the inclemency of the weather in England and Scotland. W. & G. Hadden, Ltd., Dungarvan.

An interesting minor football match was played at Ballylannan last Sunday between Ballinard and Ballylannan school-boys sets the latter winning by 1 point to nil. Much local interest was centred on the game, which panned out a real ding-dong affair from end to end. Master Thomas Cunningham raised the white flag for the Ballylannan bunch. Others who played well for the winners were: Master Ned Foley (capt.), David Mill, and Billy and Patk. Dunphy. Masters Nicholas Roche and Michael O'Meara served best for the Ballinard boys. Mr. Michael Keane refereed. A return match at an early date is anticipated.

About eight hundred spectators witnessed the brace of County Championship Ties brought off at Ballyduff Sportsfield on the 3rd inst. The opening bout lay between the junior camanists of Windgap and Butlerstown with Mr. Thomas Heffernan, Ferrybank, in charge of the whistle.

Weather and sod conditions favoured the clash and both teams rendered a tip-top display. At full-time blast the register read:

Table with 2 columns: Team Name, Score. WINDGAP 1-4, BUTLERSTOWN 2-1

O'Rourke's Waterford, and Kill junior footballers next lined out in opposition. This proved a highly spirited set-to, the exhibition of the code all round being voted very good. The gallant gaels of Kill maintained their fine nerve and execution to the finish of the fray. The victory was with Capt. O'Sullivan's troupe, before whom apparently there is a strenuous career. The Kill kickers are splendid, and their style and dash in action commanded general admiration. The final figures were:

Table with 2 columns: Team Name, Score. KILL 4 points, O'ROURKES 1 point.

Mr. Jim Hunt, Ballyduff Club, had charge of the whistle and his decisions were to the satisfaction of all concerned.

THE OPTIMISTIC SPRITE

Who would be a pessimist these bright and golden days when almost all material things promise well. On all sides the spring-sown seeds seem to be much favoured with the fostering hand of nature. Fields of abundant grain are imbuing with avidity the glorious sunshine and night-dews, and fill the happy farmer with pleasant dreams of gold what time the August breezes sing amid the ripened ears. He will shortly be harvesting a hay-crop that promises plenteous and good and the "spud Murphy" tubers are already commencing to shoulder each other in the drills and ridges. All round, the farmer is faring well, and herein lies the great hope of the country. In the town trade is showing an appreciable improvement, though it seems vain to keep tugging at the profiteering kite which will not budge an inch from its altitude. And, "for a that," one may as well keep winking at the sweltering ruins, the crowd of idle men, and the emigrant ship. Soon, surely some Government must take up the great and necessary work of improving the country. The rivers and streams will be deepened, embanked and kept within bounds, waste land will be drained and made to produce better than flags; and those chains of lovely, bare, brown hills, where only a comparatively few sheep, and dry cattle roam half starved, will appear none the worse for a clothing of spruce and pine, which will help to give stability to our climate, and wealth to our exchequer. These things must come to pass. If not, why, can be pessimists again?

DEATH OF MR. DANIEL COLLINS, EX R.D.C., KNOCKANORE, TALLOW.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret we chronicle the death of the above popular and much respected resident of Knockanore, Tallow, which sad event took place at his late residence on Saturday last, fortified by the rites of Holy Church. The deceased, who was a man of middle age, conducted a licensed premises at Carnglass for years, besides managing a farm also. For a period of 21 years he was a member of the Lismore Board of Guardians and Rural District Council, and during his term of office at Lismore Boardroom he looked after the interests of the poor and his constituents to the best of his ability, and the fact his term of office was 21 years is the best testimony to the confidence reposed in him and to the manner in which the ratepayers' interests were safeguarded by him. In politics he did not interest himself, but all his spare moments were devoted to sport of all descriptions, but particularly football and the G.A.A. and in him until the last an able player, and when the Knockanore football team won fame on the gaelic field it was the deceased who led them as captain. He was a striking personality in the district and highly respected by legions of friends from far and near. Since November, 1927, his health had not been the best, and despite the best medical skill of Cork City, the end took place as stated.

The funeral on Monday last to the family burial ground at Killeokillyn reached large dimensions and amply testified to the esteem and popularity entertained for deceased and family. The Rev. Fathers McCarthy and Hally, the respected C.C. of the parish of Knockanore, officiated at the graveside.

The chief mourners at the graveside included: Mrs. Collins (widow), J. P. and Dan Collins (sons), Mrs. O'Connell (sister), Thos. Kiely and Denis Kiely (brothers-in-law), Bridget Kiely (sister-in-law), Mrs. Power, Youghal; Annie Ahearne, Stranally; Thomas Hennessy, Glendine; relatives.

Wreaths were sent by the following: From Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Smyth, Ballinacray; David and Thomas Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Montayne; Mr. and Miss Dunne.

Among general public present at the funeral were noticed the following: Messrs. John and Thomas Neville, Ballyroe; Miss Emie Neville, do; Rd. Mansfield, Michael O'Neill and Miss O'Neill, Newport; Edmond and Pat Fitzgerald, Thomas and Nicholas Hynes, of Ballybrack; Michael Lynch, Old Stranally; Michael and Daniel Moloney, Michael and Mrs. Ahearne, Patrick and Miss White; Michael and Kathleen O'Neill, Ballyphilip; Thos. Denis and the Misses Montayne, James Dunne, David and Anastatia Conway, Stranally; Patrick and Martin Morrissey, Michael Conway, Stranally; Pat O'Connell, John Carroll, Julia Tobin, M. J. Fleming and Edmond Keniry, Merchants, Youghal; Joseph O'Keefe, Corn Merchant, Tallow; Mr. and Mrs. William Baldwin, N.T., Campshire; Michael Phelan, Ex R.D.C. do; Thomas and Bridget O'Brien, J.J. Budds, Michael and Batt Budds, Thos. and Patrick Sheeran, Daniel and Miss O'Leahy, John and Mrs. O'Neill, Palk and William O'Neill, James Fitzgerald, Seary; John and Mrs. O'Neill, Stranally; etc., etc.

DUNGARVAN, COUNTY WATERFORD. HIGHLY-IMPORTANT SALE BY PUBLIC AUCTION OF TWO VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE FARMS.

MR. M. F. DAVIN has received instructions from Thomas M. Kelly, Esq., TO SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, ON SATURDAY, 16th JUNE, 1928.

At the Hour of one o'clock (summer time), AT THE COURTHOUSE, DUNGARVAN. All his Fee-Simple Estate and Interest in the undermentioned Farms.

LOT 1.—All that and those the Lands of BALLYMETHA EAST, containing 122 acres of Freehold, statute measure, situate in the Parish of Kilmacolumbkille, Barony of Decies Without, County of Waterford, held in Fee-Simple subject to a certain leasehold tenancy of 203 3/4 acres, available to the Irish Land Commission under the provisions of the Land Purchase Act, 1914, & 1919.

LOT 2.—All that and those part of the Lands of GARRAHAM, containing 46 acres of Freehold, statute measure, situate in the Parish of Kilmacolumbkille, Barony of Decies Without, County of Waterford, held in Fee-Simple subject to a certain leasehold tenancy of 127 1/2 acres, available to the Irish Land Commission under the provisions of the Land Purchase Act, 1914, & 1919.

DISCUTIVE PRIZE LOTS.

The following lots are BALLYMETHA EAST'S boundary parcels on a plan now deposited at the office of the County Surveyor, Dungarvan, and on the application of the applicant, Mr. M. F. Davin, Esq., are being offered for sale by public auction on the day and at the hour above specified. The lots are:—(1) A parcel of 15 acres, being a well-watered Orchard of 15 acres. The land is well watered and sheltered and has rich fattening soil, and is well known to be the best grass land in the locality. They are all laid out under grass, except 5 acres under white Oats, Mangolds and Potatoes. The Farm is divided by the public road, and there is a stream of spring water running through each portion. The Farm, which is popularly known as FRIETHILL FARM, is situate about two miles from the Town of Dungarvan.

The Garrahan Farm is of good sound grassland, well fenced and watered. It is equally suited for winter or for summer grazing, and will carry a considerable number of cattle all the year round, and offers a splendid investment for an outside Farm with no cost for upkeep. The Land will be offered for sale either in One or Two Lots.

If the Farms are sold either before or on the day of the Auction there will be a Clearance Sale on Friday, the 22nd June, 1928, at 12 o'clock (summer time) on the lands of the following Stock:—25 Dairy Cows (valued), 6 Cows and Heifers in calf, Pure-bred Shorthorn Dairy Bull (2 years), "Broadbuds Star"; 21 Yearling Heifers and 4 Yearling Bulls by "Ballyglassin Cinnellor" (purebred bull), 20 Polties (2 year old), Working Horses, Carts, Ploughs, Harrows, Manure Distributor (as new), Traps, etc., and also Household Furniture.

Private Offers will be received by the undersigned up to the date of Sale.

For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to E. A. RYAN, Esq., Solicitor (having Charge of Sale), Dungarvan; or to M. F. DAVIN, Auctioneer, Carrick-on-Suir.

NOTICE TO SLATERS AND PLASTERERS.

TENDERS are required from Competent Slaters and Plasterers for the Erection of a fairly large House at Ring. Plan and Specification may be seen at the County Surveyor's Office any day during the coming week.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

A Princely Welcome.—The warmth, the affection and the reverence of the reception extended to our beloved Bishop, Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, on his visit to his native Dungarvan to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation on Sunday last was in keeping with the piety, fervour and deep Catholicity of the citizens and the personal esteem entertained for His Lordship and his distinguished brother, Dr. J. Hackett, whose name and fame in the world of science and medicine rank so high, not forgetting Mr. Joseph Hackett, foremost of men in affability and sport. In honouring their illustrious Bishop the citizens were honouring themselves.

Interesting Presentation.—After administering the Sacrament of Confirmation in Dungarvan on Sunday last, His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Hackett adjourned to the Christian Brothers' Schools, where in a magnificent temple he presented to the G.B.S. hurling team his Perpetual Challenge Cup for hurling in the Schools and College Competition, which they won this year. His Lordship received an ovation from the boys. During the week the cup has been on exhibition in Mr. Frater's window and has been much admired.

Death of Mr. Thomas Connolly, O'Connell Street, Dungarvan.—The death of Mr. Thomas Connolly, O'Connell Street, on the 29th May at his residence is deeply regretted by his family and a wide circle of relatives and friends. He had reached the fullness of years, and passed peacefully away fortified by the ties of Holy Church to whose ministrations he was so attentive during his life. The late Mr. Connolly was a man of splendid physique, tall and athletic. He spent a number of years in the R.I.C. retiring with the rank of sergeant. A courteous and capable officer, broadminded and intelligent, he was held in the highest esteem wherever his lot cast him, and his friends were legion. While in Dungarvan he won the esteem and admiration of all for his estimable qualities of head and heart, and his death is deeply regretted by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. To his bereaved wife and relatives deep sympathy is extended in the great loss they have sustained. R.I.P. On Thursday evening the remains were removed to the Parish Church, the cortege being fully representative of all classes in the town. On Friday the interment took place in the adjoining graveyard in the presence of a large gathering of relatives, friends and the general public.

Waterford County Committee of Agriculture.—SHEEP BREEDING SCHEME, 1928. For the purpose of improving the breeds of Mountain Sheep in County Waterford, the Waterford County Committee of Agriculture are prepared, subject to the approval of the Department of Agriculture, to locate a limited number of High-Grade Black-faced Rams on the commonage areas of the Comeragh Mountains and the Waterford Area of the Knockmeidown Mountains on the following conditions:— 1.—The Committee shall grant to each selected applicant a Premium of £5 towards the purchase price. The Ram to be maintained in good and healthy breeding condition for two breeding seasons. 2.—Purchasers of Rams shall be required to insure the animals against death for one year for the proportion of the price payable by them. 3.—In the allocation of Rams preference will be given to applicants who apply on behalf of Sheep Owners who are prepared to mate the Rams to selected ewes. 4.—The Committee will endeavour to secure that only Rams of a high standard of quality will be supplied, but they cannot undertake responsibility in case any animal should subsequently prove unfruitful or otherwise unsuitable for breeding purposes. 5.—In all cases of dispute in matters connected with this Scheme, the decision of the Department shall be final. Application Forms, which must be returned on or before June 23rd, may be had from the undersigned. J. O'DWYER, Secretary, Courthouse, Dungarvan, 7th June, 1928.

Dungarvan v. Ballyduff.—On Sunday next at Dungarvan Gaelic Field, Ballyduff (Lower) will meet Dungarvan in senior hurling. In view of the great record held by both teams, their meeting on Sunday should be most interesting, and a really good scientific contest should be witnessed by all.

A Proper Step.—In order to keep up with the times and to make Tramway what it should be, a meeting of the citizens has been called to consider the advisability of making Tramway an urban area. At present this grand seaside resort is a rural area under the jurisdiction of the Waterford County Council, and the residents naturally feel that they are unable to get all the conveniences they require for the place. They have a grievance, but that can be easily remedied. At present Tramway, being under the County Council has the pleasure of seeing the county-at-large contribute to make their roads beautiful, the promenade ideal, and all their amenities attractive. Now they want shelter for bathers, a park for mothers, and many other necessities which, of course, the county cannot afford to give them, but which with an Urban Council they could have at their own expense. And if they are prepared to pay for luxuries they can have them. The County Council will, we are sure, raise no objection to Tramway becoming an urban area. It will be an advantage to the county and a greater advantage to this town, which will then have the pleasure of mortgaging its property to raise loans to make it what they wish, and they will also have the pleasure of taxing themselves to their hearts' content. By all means urbanise Tramway.

Cloona Strand is again the Mecca of thousands in search of health and pleasure, and Ocean View Hotel, where dances are being held every Sunday night, is very popular. It would be a great improvement, and at the same time a safeguard from danger, if the County Council would spend some money in widening the few sharp and dangerous turns on this road from Garrynageeragh School to the Strand. At present it is a danger to everyone, and with the heavy traffic on this road, it is miraculous how people escape. If these corners were removed and the road continued from Ocean View Hotel to join the Cloona road at the other end, it would be possible to have one way traffic, and at the same time make the silvery strand more charming still. At present the world's professional Tango Champions and ballroom dancers—Brian and Dolores—are giving special exhibitions in dancing as also a daily practice dance.

Cinema News.—Extra Special Attraction at the Cinema on next Monday, June 11th, at 8.30 p.m. Brian and Dolores, World's Champion Tango Dancers, direct from the Capitol Theatre, Dublin, and Pavilion, Cork, in exhibition dances of the Blues, Tango, Charleston and New Waltz. Special picture programme. For further particulars see posters.

The Derby was won on Wednesday by Felstead (33/1), Flamingo was second (9/2), and Black Watch third (33/1). The favourite, Fairway, was nowhere. It was a great sporting and backing event in which the bookmakers had all the fat.

Cappoquin Band.—We are glad to see that practical steps have now been taken to re-organise the Cappoquin Brass and Reed Band, which had gone completely out of action for a considerable time. The Very Rev. Canon Whelan, P.P., D.D., has now taken the matter in hand, and this is the surest guarantee that the movement will be a success. He presided at a meeting held on last Saturday night, which was also attended by the Rev. J. Crotty, C.C., and many of the prominent townspeople, including several members of the former Band Committee. A new committee was formed for the purpose, and with Canon Whelan as president, Father Crotty as treasurer, and Mr. George Russell as hon. sec., no better officers could be selected at the head of the movement. The members of the committee are Messrs. Thomas Daly, E. Dunne, Thos. F. Olden and James Hogan (conductor), and a subscription list having been opened, it was headed by the Canon with £2, while Father Crotty subscribed 10s. and Messrs. Dunne and Russell also 10s. each. Public subscriptions are now to be invited from the townspeople, and we trust there will be a generous response to the appeal, so that we may soon hope to hear the welcome music of the band once more in Cappoquin.

Touransena C.T.A. Dance held at The Hall, Halfway House, on Sunday night, was a tremendous success, over 200 couples being present. Excellent music was provided by the Dungarvan Pierrot Band, while the catering by Miss Barron, Clonmel, was excellent. The arrangements left nothing to be desired, thanks to the efforts of Messrs. T. Flynn and J. Desmond, hon. secs. Dancing was kept up until morning with zest, when all present left for home with the full intention of having another equally enjoyable night ere long.

Dungarvan Markets.—Meal (special), 31s.; middiecut, 30s.; flour, 24s. 6d.; bran, 13s. per cwt.; coal, £2 per ton; butter, 1s. 7d. per lb.; fresh butter, 1s. 2d. per lb.; eggs, 1s. per dozen.

County Council.—A special meeting of the County Council will be held in Dungarvan on Tuesday to elect a rate collector for Kilmacthomas area. There is keen competition for the position.

Lismore Town Commissioners
WHO HAS THE APPOINTMENT OF LIBRARIAN?
Mr. Thomas Crotty, chairman, presided at the usual monthly meeting of the above body. Others present were—Messrs. T. E. O'Shea, Co. C.; E. A. Murphy, P.C.; Andrew Hickey, P.C.; John Keyes and John C. Heelan.
The Clerk (Mr. Ormond) informed the meeting that the fire hose box had been erected since last meeting, and payment of £2 2s. 6d. for same was passed to Mr. G. O'Brien, contractor for same.
Mr. Ormond also reported that the hose required to be cleaned and oiled before being put into the box; and that one length of hose required small repairs. He thought that to give the hose a proper bath three gallons of oil at least should be obtained, and all the Commissioners and he would have the work carried out.
In reply to Mr. O'Shea, the Clerk said he had one key for the hydrants, and there was another spare key about the town which he would collect and hand over to the sergeant of the Civic Guards for retention at Lismore barracks, and the key he had he would place into the fire box with the hose as he considered such a course best in the case of fire.
The members agreed with the suggestion of the Clerk, and ordered that three gallons of Neat's oil be procured for the work.
The Library.
Mr. Heelan said a large number of people had been complaining to him about the Lismore Carnegie Library being closed against the public as regards the distribution of books, and even to-day he was called on by a prominent ratepayer on the subject, who justly asked him what were they paying rates for? Mr. Heelan said since the death of the librarian the building had been more or less closed to the public as regards the distribution of books. In the first instance this was done while stocktaking of books was taking place and indexing, but he understood this was now completed, and he would move that Lismore Town Commissioners by resolution ask the Waterford County Council to appoint a Librarian for Lismore and have the books handed out as usual.
Mr. Keyes seconded the proposition.
Mr. Heelan said this period of masterly inactivity should pass away and the library should be open to the public without undue delay.
Mr. O'Shea said he was a member of the County Council and the Libraries Committee, and explained to the members how matters stood and that these bodies were not to blame. The L.G.B. had got all the particulars they asked for regarding the hours, duties and salary of the librarian to be appointed and they did not hear from them since.
Mr. Heelan asked were not the County Council the supreme authority? Was it not the County Council that appointed the Librarian's Committee?
Mr. O'Shea: Yes, the Libraries Committee are appointed annually. They are constituted from members of the County Council, the seven local county councillors and the clergy of the Lismore electoral area. This matter was brought forward at the Libraries meeting by himself, Mr. O'Shea, but they could not say who had the appointment of a Librarian—whether it was the Appointment Commissioners or who?
Mr. Heelan: There is a state of "masterly inactivity" all round, and the public are deprived of benefits which they are paying for.
Mr. O'Shea said the library rate was now only 1d. in the £ as against 1 1/2d. in the £ previously.
After further discussion a resolution, the terms suggested by Mr. Heelan, seconded by Mr. Keyes, was unanimously passed.

Lismore Courthouse.
The Chairman asked a question about re-erection of Lismore Courthouse.
Mr. O'Shea replied that the County Council had the matter in hands, and at the next meeting he was sure something definite would be known on the subject.
The members considered this satisfactory.
The tender at 25s. for manure in scavenger's yard from Michl. Crowley, Glounthane, was accepted.

HIGH PRICES FOR GREYHOUNDS.
KRIESELER FETCHES £500.
The famous greyhound, Kriesler, has been sold by Mr. M. F. Kent, Nelson street, Clonmel, to an English buyer for £500. Kriesler is the Irish track record holder. By Three Speed—Waltzway, Kriesler was bred by Mr. Messy Walsn, Churchtown, Carrick-on-Suir.
The purchaser of Kriesler is Mr. J. W. Boyle, who is well known in theatrical circles, and who has many dogs running on Metropolitan tracks. Kriesler made his first appearance in England on Monday at Wembley, where he won his heat in the Stadium Stakes, of which the value to the winner is £450 and a cup valued at £25.
Since greyhound racing began in England the value of that breed of dog has risen almost phenomenally, the most outstanding case being that of Sheep Dipping in 1928.

As the Sheep Dipping season commences on 1st June, the Department of Agriculture desire to direct the attention of sheep owners and all concerned in the execution and enforcement of the Sheep Dipping Orders to the urgent necessity for securing the dipping of all sheep in the Irish Free State during the prescribed dipping periods, and in accordance with the requirements of the Orders.
The principal object of the Order of 1915, and the supplementary Orders which enable Local Authorities to require the prescribed dippings to be carried out under the supervision of local Inspectors, is the eradication of scab, a disease which has done much to retard the development of the sheep industry and to injure the country's valuable export trade in sheep and lambs. Under these Orders the Local Authorities have ample means of ensuring the freedom from scab of all sheep in their respective districts, and of thereby enhancing to a very considerable degree the value of the sheep industry as a whole.
In the last resort, however, responsibility for the cleanliness of Irish flocks rests on sheep owners themselves. Every owner of sheep is bound to dip his sheep in the manner and during the periods prescribed by the Sheep Dipping Order, and every consideration of duty and self-interest should urge him to discharge his obligation. If regulations of the Local Authority require him to have his sheep dipped at a time and place appointed by the Local Authority, he should make arrangements to have the whole of his flock dipped in accordance with these regulations; otherwise he should fix a time and place himself, and give the Local Authority due notice, so that they may be represented at the dipping should they so desire. Forms for the purpose of this notice, and of the declarations required respectively (1) to accompany sheep to fairs, and (2) to be made at the end of each dipping period, can be obtained from the Local Authority or from the Garda Síochána.
Whether the dipping takes place under local regulations or not, or under supervision or not, the dipping should be by thorough immersion of the sheep in an approved dip, and the greatest care should be taken in carrying out the directions given as to the mixing of the dip and the length of time during which the sheep should be kept immersed. Except where otherwise directed, the period of immersion should be for at least one minute. In the Summer Dipping Period (from 1st June to 31st July) the sheep must be dipped once, and must have been shorn before dipping, unless they are lambs under nine months old. In the Autumn Dipping Period (1st August to 15th November) unshorn sheep must be dipped twice within an interval of not less than 7 or more than 14 days. The interval is important, having regard to the life history of the scab parasite. The first dipping will probably kill the parasites, but their eggs may remain and get hatched out, and the second dipping is necessary to kill the young parasites before they, in turn, lay their eggs. Where a poisonous dip is used, it is advisable that the interval between the dipping should be at least 19 days. Where an arsenical dip is used for a first dipping of sheep, it is recommended that a non-poisonous dip should be used for the second dipping. Every approved dip is retained in a packet or vessel bearing a label indicating that the use of the dip in certain proportions has been approved by the Department for the purpose of their Orders relating to Sheep Scab and Sheep Dipping, and containing directions (which should be carefully followed) as to the preparation of the dipping bath.
It is a matter of great importance that sheep owners should, from time to time, carefully examine their sheep for indications of scab. This should always be done before sending them to a fair, market or port for shipment, as in the event of any sheep being found diseased at these places the infected animals and also those which have been in contact with them will be seized by the Veterinary Authorities and dealt with in accordance with the provisions of the Sheep Scab Order. In such circumstances the owner of the diseased sheep inflicts grievous harm on the owners of the other sheep, as well as rendering himself liable to prosecution for not reporting the existence of the disease on his farm and for exposing diseased sheep in the fair or market or for sending them to a port, as the case may be. The authorities of the fair, market or port are, moreover, involved in expenditure which might have been avoided, as they are required to have the place in which the sheep in question were exposed specially cleaned and disinfected.

Mr. Edwin Baxter's Entry Badge. who won last year's Greyhound Derby, and subsequently could not be bought for £1,000. Solar Plexus, who is favourite for the final of the National Greyhound Club Cup at the White City, is on offer for sale, and the price wanted is reported to be in the neighbourhood also of £1,000. Beaded Biddy, now dead, was purchased for £400 and a contingency, and afterwards an offer of £500 was refused for her. Dick's Son was sold to Beaded Biddy's Owner for £450 and the stake of the N.G.R.C. Cup, but was defeated in the semi-final at the White City.

CARRICK-ON-SUIR URBAN RATE.

The rate for Carrick-on-Suir Urban District for the year 1928-29 has been fixed at 13/6 in the £. Provision has been made for nearly £900 poor law relief for the current year. £450 has had to be struck out as irrecoverable rates.

Blackwater Fish Conservators

The usual monthly meeting of the No. 4 or Lismore Board of Fishery Conservators was held at the Courthouse, Tallow, on Thursday. Mr. J. Kennedy, chairman, presided, and the others present were—Messrs. T. Murphy, T. McCarthy, Capt. P. Dunne, E. C. Penrose, E. A. Rice, solr., vice-chairman; R. G. Annesley, T. Stafford, Messrs. T. Drohan, Secretary and Inspector, and W. Barry, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

Artificial Propagation.

A letter was read from the Department asking whether any operations in connection with the artificial propagation of fish had been carried out during last winter, and if so, to state the number of salmon, etc., hatched.

The Secretary said that last April he had put out at Mallow well over two million salmon fry, all healthy and in good condition. They had no trout hatched last winter.

Salmon Mortality.

The Department forwarded result of analysis of fish received from Ballyhooley on 18th April. It was 364 inches long, weighing 184 lbs., 4 year old, one in river, three in sea. Had ceased to feed early last winter, and erosion of the scales had begun, indicating that the fish had been in the river some time. It was not in a fresh condition, probably five or six days dead. One eye was missing, perhaps picked out by a bird, and the liver was liquifying. Ovaries firm and dark; would probably have ripened next winter. No sign of disease or of wounds or bruises.

The Secretary read the letter from the Department, which has already appeared in the Press, regarding three fish suffering from furunculosis.

Replying to Capt. Dunne, the Clerk said the first fish referred to was not blown up.

Mr. Rice said they all knew that some fish had been blown up. His argument all the time was that whilst undoubtedly some fish had been blown up here and there all over the river in the fresh water, for the abnormal number of dead fish that year, not only during the spawning, but of open season, there was some other cause besides malicious injury. Last February they were discussing the danger to the fish of the use of tar on the roads. There was nobody blowing up salmon there and the dead fish were coming down.

Capt. Dunne—Was the object of using explosives to frighten strangers?

Mr. Rice—Not at all, but to get fish.

The Finish River.

Mr. McCarthy said as regards the Finish, which was referred to at a recent meeting, there was no malicious injury to the fish.

Report on "Daily Mail."

The Secretary drew attention to a report on Wednesday's "Daily Mail" regarding fishing in the lower reaches of the river Dee, Aberdeen. In the close season no fewer than 2,000 dead fish, both clean-run and kelts, were removed from the river. Nearly one-tenth of the number was taken from the river in the neighbourhood of Polarch.

Mr. McCarthy said that showed that a similar state of things prevailed in Scotland as well as the Blackwater and other Irish rivers.

Mr. Penrose pointed out that the report in the "Daily Mail" didn't mention the cause of the mortality on the Dee.

Chairman—Have you any grounds to suspect that fish fish in the Blackwater were blown up?

Secretary—I have, sir. It was done for poaching purposes.

Capt. Dunne—I don't believe it was done for poaching, but with some other object.

The Chairman said it appeared that two causes had been operating.

Mr. Annesley said they had got it both ways. He had a gentleman from the river Tweed, who told him that it was awful to see the fish across suffering from fungus. He had never seen a case of furunculosis. He (Mr. Annesley) was pleased to say that the disease had almost entirely disappeared of late. He had not seen any diseased fish for several weeks past.

Explosives.

The Chairman said what concerned them now was could they trace the explosives to anybody?

The Secretary said the Detective Branch of the Civic Guards at Mallow were doing everything possible to locate it. He supposed the Guards at Fermoy were doing the same.

Mr. Stafford said some thought that the mortality was due to explosives and others to disease. If it was the latter, why hadn't they found any recently?

Mr. Annesley said the reply to that was that it might come in bursts and die down then altogether. They hadn't seen a case for the past month. If it therefore appeared that the disease had died out.

Mr. McCarthy said it was remarkable that there was an abnormal mortality in Scotland and at home at the same time. It appeared that the Blackwater was not the only Irish river that suffered.

After a further lengthened discussion, Mr. Annesley proposed that, in view of the serious injury caused to fish life by road washings impregnated with tar, they urgently requested the County Councils of Cork and Waterford and all Urban District Councils within those counties to undertake that in future they would use bitumen or some bituminous preparation in lieu of tar for all repairs of roads within their jurisdiction.

This was seconded by Mr. McCarthy and passed unanimously.

Secretary's Monthly Report.

In his monthly report the Secretary stated that at Cappoquin on the 22nd May a snap net was forfeited which was found at 2.30 a.m. on Sunday 8/4 at Villierstown Quay. On 4/5 a fixed net 416 yards long found near Pilmore Strand was forfeited at Youghal Court. At the same court on the 18th a net 130 yards long found fixed near Knockadon was forfeited. Two cases are pending against fishermen for having nets on board boat during weekly close season, and for using nets over the prescribed limit on Saturday, 5th May. On 8th May a net measuring 60 yards long was seized by Bailiffs Ellis and D. Coleman at Pilmore. On 8th and 11th May six moored nets found near Old Stranally were seized by bailiffs from Cooneen and Villierstown. On 19th the same bailiffs came upon a cot fishing at Ballinacash. Two of the bailiffs who were concealed on the land rushed the cot crew as they were about to land with the nets. The poachers were chased and made good their escape, leaving three salmon behind. On the 21st a Bailiff T. Coleman, accompanied by Sergt. Acton and a Civic Guard from Clashmore measured a draft net near Youghal Bridge and found same 43 yards over prescribed length. At same place two drift nets were measured and found to be 80 and 60 yards over the legal limit. Prosecutions will follow in these cases. On 24th he (the Inspector) measured over 77 boat nets and found them 122 yards over length. He was prosecuting the crew for fishing in prohibited waters and using an over-length of net. 300 yards of netting was seized on tideway at Ardsalagh by Bailiffs Barry.

Fishing was remarkably good at Youghal and tideway during the month. The price for salmon was good. The season compared very favourably with last year. He had not heard of any diseased fish being caught at Youghal or tideway that season. A remarkable run of fish took place on the 27th and 28th (Whit Monday) in the upper reaches of river as a result of recent rains. At Mallow the run of fish was very noticeable.

Revised Valuations.

The Secretary submitted the list of revised valuations on the river.

Exception was taken by some of the reductions made in certain valuations. In one case it was stated that the valuation had been reduced to £3 in spite of the fact that the owner had received £150 for last year's fishing. In regard to other cases in which the valuation had been increased, the opinion was expressed that the increase was not justified.

The Chairman asked had they the power to interfere with the revised list?

Mr. Rice said the lists were sent down to them for their views.

Capt. Dunne said he would be in favour of calling on the Department to re-value all the fishings on the river.

It was ultimately decided that a committee of the Conservators should meet and examine the list and report to the meeting.

Rods and Nets.

During a subsequent discussion, Capt. Dunne said he could never understand why the rod-men in the upper waters could fish the seven days of the week, while the poor fishermen in the tideway were confined to five days.

As it was they were practically closed up altogether at Youghal for there were no fish going.

The Secretary said some people thought it was rather hard that the rod-men had to pay a £2 license, while the drift net men had to pay only £3.

Mr. Rice—In the case of the rod man, the fish attacks him; in the case of the drift nets, they attack the fish (laughter).

Capt. Dunne—What about the Lismore Weir—the license ought be £300.

Mr. Rice—I'd put it at £1,500.

Mr. Murphy said £2,000 would be nearer the just mark.

Capt. Dunne—Careysville is as good as Lismore. Last February the Duke of Devonshire got 500 fish in a number.

Mr. Rice—Because he left them up from Lismore.

Capt. Dunne—But they had to pass Mr. Stafford (laughter).

River Cots.

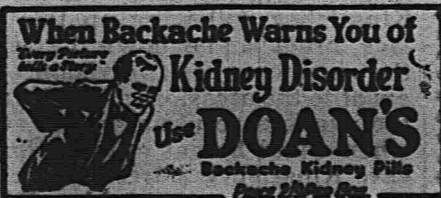

Mr. Penrose inquired if fishing cots on the river were legally bound to be numbered or marked?

Mr. Rice said they were. All boats on the river were legally required to be distinguished by numbers or by the names of the owners (Mr. Rice here quoted the requirements of the Fishery Acts in the matter).

Mr. Penrose asked in that case if the bailiffs knew that it was their duty to see the law carried out.

The Secretary said the bailiffs should be acquainted with the requirements.

Mr. Penrose said that in some parts of the river the cots were not marked with numbers or names.

Dungarvan Urban Council

At the weekly meeting of the above held on Friday night last Mr. M. Brennock, chairman, presided. Also present were—Messrs. M. J. Keane, J. Curran, P. McGrath, T. McCarthy and T. J. Power.

Expenditure.

The expenditure for the week amounted to—General account, £10 14s. 11d.; harbour account, £12 6s. Payment was passed.

Excavation at Square.

Arising out of the minutes of the previous meeting when the letter read from Mr. Bowen, county surveyor, was, on the proposition of Mr. McGrath, seconded by Mr. Power, referred to Mr. Williams, solr., for his opinion, the following reply was read from Mr. Williams:—I return you herewith Mr. Bowen's letter of the 26th May. I am of opinion that the Urban Council should before making any excavations or otherwise interfering with the main roads, whose maintenance is the duty of the County Council, obtain the permission of the county surveyor. At the same time I think that if the county surveyor were to refuse his permission in a case where the demand of the Urban Council were reasonable and proper, then the Urban Council would be justified in taking the law into their own hands and disregarding the refusal of the county surveyor to permit the work necessary. I am further of the opinion that the Urban Council would be liable for the costs of any repairs to the main roads that might be made necessary by their interfering with the same. At the same time I would like to remind you again that the ownership of Gratlan Square and the main roads passing through the town remain in the Urban Council, and that the County Council is concerned solely with the maintenance of same, and that any attempt by the latter body to assert rights which they do not possess might be with advantage resisted.

After a short discussion no order was made on the letter.

Shandon Road.

The following proposition was passed:—Proposed by Mr. Power, seconded by Mr. McGrath:—That owing to the abnormal traffic on the Shandon road caused by the carting of stones from the quarry to the main roads in the county, we respectfully ask the L.G. Department to have the road scheduled a main road.

Inspector's Report on Dairies and Cowsheds.

The following report was read from Mr. R. P. Byrne, V.S., and approved:—

Dear Sirs—I have inspected most of the cowsheds and dairies and cows therein in your area and I find the conditions under which milk is produced and distributed in some cases satisfactory, others fairly satisfactory and others bad.

Cows.—There are approximately 350 cows, and of those I found 17 with abnormal udders. I have had samples from those cows examined both microscopically and biologically, and in every case the result was ordinary mastitis. There was not one case of tuberculosis amongst them. However, I have advised that all cows with defective udders be eliminated from the herds. That is fairly satisfactory.

Sheds.—I find a certain amount of carelessness amongst the owners in the manner in which their sheds are kept. In one case the houses are totally unsatisfactory and the drainage bad, and there is no provision made for either the cleansing of the cows' udders before milking or the washing of the milkers' hands during the milking. Milk produced under those conditions is not fit for human consumption, and I find those conditions prevailing in the case of a large purveyor of milk in your area. I have given the necessary instructions and caution in this case and shall report later. Others will require to pay more attention to the walls and washing of the floors.

Milkers.—I find a fair amount of improvement in the milkers themselves. They are making a reasonable effort to have my instructions carried out.

You will find details of portion of your area attached, the remainder for your next meeting. I'd be very glad if you would give me a supply of forms similar to the attached for future use.

Sympathy.

Mr. McCarthy proposed and Mr. McGrath seconded, a resolution of sympathy with Mrs. Connolly and family, O'Connell street, on the death of her husband.

Thanks.

A letter thanking the council for resolution of sympathy passed by them on the occasion of the death of Mr. Mce Walsh, Kilrossanty, was read from his family.

FOOTBALL MATCH AT VILLIERSTOWN.

What had promised to be a great senior football contest was billed to be played in Villierstown on last Sunday between Kinsalebeg and Clashmore against Lismore, this being a friendly challenge match arranged between those well-known teams by the local Gaels of Villierstown, who are certainly sparing no effort to keep our Gaelic games alive in the district at a time when they are being allowed to die out in other parts of West Waterford. The day proved gloriously fine for the event, a warm summer sun being gently tempered by a refreshing north-westerly breeze, which made the weather conditions simply ideal for players and spectators alike. The result was that there was an unusually large gathering of spectators, the young ladies from Villierstown and all the surrounding districts attending in great numbers, which showed the keen interest which they take in this particular form of Gaelic sport. Attired in all the latest and lightest summer creations, they lent a brilliant touch of colour to the scene, which formed a pleasing contrast to the rich and picturesque woodland scenery which surrounds the well-laid-out Gaelic grounds between Droimna Avenue and the fertile valley of the "Irish Rhine." All the arrangements for the game were in perfect order under the capable supervision of Mr. T. Crowe. Mr. J. Sullivan, Guards Furlong and Fallon, and other local Gaels, and it speaks volumes for their great enterprise to be able to announce that a junior football tournament is shortly to be started under the auspices of the Villierstown Football Club which promises to be a great success owing to the large number of entries already received from all parts of the country. It was a matter for regret that the game on Sunday fell far below expectations, as had both teams travelled at full strength a close and exciting struggle for supremacy would have been witnessed. As it was, however, Kinsalebeg had to travel minus some of their more prominent players, while Lismore suffered even to a greater extent, as several of their most reliable players had gone to the hurling match in Cork, and they had to pick some untrained players from Cappoquin to enable them to field a full team. Although there were occasional flashes of brilliant play on both sides, the game on the whole was rather tame and uninteresting, and although Kinsalebeg emerged the victors on the score of 1 goal 3 points to 3 points for Lismore, the latter should have won by a big score if they showed more accurate shooting in the forward division, as they had their opponents on the defensive for the best part of the second half, but wide shooting gave them between 20 and 25 "overs" when several scores should have resulted. A feature of the game was the brilliant defensive work of Guard Furlong as full back for Kinsalebeg, as he repulsed every attack made during the first 25 minutes of play, and was passed only once in the last few minutes when Lismore made a wonderful attack, reminiscent of the best days of the old "Blackwater Ramblers," and a desperate scrimmage at the mouth of the Kinsalebeg goal was only ended by the sound of the half-time whistle.

"Jacky" Murphy, in the Lismore forward division, was a host in himself, and played a remarkably brilliant and well-judged game, and if there were only a few others like him in the attacking line the result would have been vastly different on Sunday. Details—Kinsalebeg played down towards the river end, and after some mid-field play Lismore broke away, and carrying the ball up to their opponents back division were looking dangerous when Furlong, by a long kick, beautifully saved the situation. Kinsalebeg, following up this advantage, brought play down the field, but the Lismore back division proved equal to the occasion, and returning to the attack gave promise of scoring, when a foul by one of their forwards gave Kinsalebeg a free which transferred play to mid-field. Breaking through, Kinsalebeg quickly invaded Lismore territory, but were as quickly driven back and once again the Kinsalebeg backs were kept busy until Furlong effected another beautiful clearance. Kinsalebeg now began to put more heart into their work, and working down the field in determined fashion they drew "first blood" with a very easily scored goal. Another shot for a major score soon afterwards struck the cross-bar and went overhead for a point, and this was followed by two further points, Lismore being now kept mainly on the defensive. Towards the close of the first moiety Lismore made a magnificent dash up the field, and breaking through Furlong's "stone-wall" defence for the first time, were soon swarming around the goal posts where Kinsalebeg put up a wonderful defence, and they had only just succeeded in effecting a difficult clearance when the half-time whistle went, leaving the score as follows:

KINSALEBEG 1-3
LISMORE 0-3

On resuming for the second moiety, Lismore at once became aggressive, and several times severely tested the Kinsalebeg back division, which proved fully equal to the test. Kinsalebeg length broke away and carrying play up to their opponents' posts looked like scoring, but an "over" resulted. Lismore again returned to the attack when several shots for a score were wide. The latter got a free within 40 yards of the goal, but again went wide, and appeared to be in very hard luck. After a good deal of give-and-take play up and down the field, Lismore again came on to the attack and were rewarded with their first score, when "Jacky" Murphy got a point. Lismore continued to have the best of matters from this stage forward and added two further points, but try as they would they could not score the equalising goal, and the full-time whistle found the final score as follows:

KINSALEBEG 1-3
LISMORE 0-3

Mr. Moloney, Aghish, referred his match in a capable and impartial manner.

FAMILY OF MONKS AND NUNS.

A family of monks and nuns—father, mother, son and two daughters, met in the church of St. Hildegardes, Rudesheim, when the Bishop of Limburg ordained the father a priest.

It would be hard to find a parallel to the history of this family in modern or even in mediaeval times. The father was headmaster of the famous school in the castle of Bedburg, near Cologne. His only son became a Benedictine monk in the Abbey Maria Laach. One of his daughters took the veil in a convent of teaching sisters in Luxembourg, and the other became a novice in a Franciscan Friary, and the mother a novice in the Benedictine Abbey in which her daughter was a nun. If either of them had found the life too difficult and had left the cloister the other would also have had to return to secular life.

As it is, both persevered, and the ordination of the husband was in the church of his wife's convent, so that they could be united in that supreme moment. And with them knelt the son and the daughters whose example had inspired them.

HARPUR BROTHERS, Sporting Depot, WATERFORD.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present—Messrs. M. Whelan, chairman; M. J. Fleming, P. J. McMahon, P.C.; J. Troy, T. Beausang, P. Kennelly, R. C. Farrell, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; T. Harrington, W. J. Broderick, M. D. Broderick, T. Curran, J. Kennedy, A. J. Fowkes.

The Secretaryship Harbour Board. Several applications for the position of the Secretary to the Harbour Board having been read, including one from Mr. M. H. Walsh, Town Clerk, Mr. W. J. Broderick proposed the appointment of Mr. Walsh. They all remembered Mr. Walsh's action on the occasion of the appointment of Miss O'Shea, paying a generous tribute to the memory of his predecessor, the late Mr. J. J. O'Shea. In conformance with the promise made on that occasion, he moved his proposition. Mr. McMahon seconded.

There being no other candidate proposed. The Chairman said he had very great pleasure in declaring Mr. Walsh Secretary of the Harbour Board. They hoped he would live for many years to continue his good work.

Mr. McMahon—And when he gets married we'll raise his salary (laughter).

Mr. W. Broderick proposed a resolution complimenting Miss O'Shea in the manner in which she fulfilled her duties as Secretary to the Board, to the entire satisfaction of the Board. She had displayed the utmost efficiency and courtesy during her term of office. Mr. Kennelly seconded.

The Chairman said they all agreed with that proposition. They were only too sorry that she was leaving them. Miss O'Shea suitably replied.

The meeting then took up the ordinary business.

Wards.

On the proposition of Mr. McMahon, moved by Mr. Troy, a cheque of £27 8s. 8d. was passed for the week's wages.

The New Street Road.

On a query regarding the clearing of the new street, the Chairman said that the majority of the people had been complaining with the Council's request, to clear the rubbish out of receptacles.

Several members said that people complained that buckets and other receptacles had been stolen.

Mr. Broderick said that he had seen a new bin which cost some £22 and it was stolen the very first night it was put out.

Mr. Harrington said he had heard of cases where both rubbish and receptacles were thrown into the road.

Mr. O'Gorman said he had seen rubbish lying on the street from a receptacle which had been thrown out.

The Chairman said the members were asked to make a good job of their own receptacles.

Mr. McMahon, but it is the responsibility of the Council (laughter).

Mr. O'Gorman—On this subject we've got to make a good job of our own receptacles.

Mr. McMahon proposed a vote of sympathy with the bereaved relatives of Mr. John Forrest on the death of his brother.

Mr. W. Broderick, in moving, said that Mr. Forrest, a most respected member of the Council, had the sympathy of all.

Mr. O'Gorman, the Chairman, the Clerk and others, having associated themselves to the proposition, it was passed.

Merry-go-Rounds.

The following letter was read:—Dear Sir—We, the undersigned, object strongly to a merry-go-round being erected as a nuisance, next the last house on Claveston Strand, and ask you, eight gentlemen of the Council to prevent it. Merry-go-round belongs to Mr. Field.

The letter was signed by a number of residents and ratepayers.

The Clerk said there was no section of the Towns Improvement Act dealing with such a nuisance.

Mr. McMahon—We cannot object. Mr. Broderick—We have no power to interfere in the circumstances.

Chairman—Is it on Mrs. Slattery's land? Clerk—Yes.

Chairman—That is private property.

A Strand Awning.

The following letter was read:—Gentlemen—I beg to apply for permission to allow the awning at the side of my cafe to remain in position. I did not know that it was necessary to apply for permission until your engineer called on me to-day. I may add that it is only a top covering, no side trappings of any kind. I regret if I have caused any inconvenience. Yours truly (Mrs.) Nora Hughes.

The Clerk said that the residents living opposite had a right under the terms of their leases to object to any obstructions to their view. It was decided that they could not grant the permission asked for.
